The sale of Christmas Seals to help fight tuberculosis began in Denmark in 1904 where a Copenhagen postal clerk, Einar Holboell, thought up the idea, because he observed so much suffering among the children and others of his time. The Belleville and District Tuberculosis Health Association proves, in the above picture, that postal employees still have a lot to do with the success of Christmas Seal Sales, by their helpful co-operation with the large appeal letter deliveries. To mark the opening of the 1955 campaign and as a tribute to all postal employees in Hastings County, Belleville postal carriers are pictured above. Second row: Gordon McClelland, John Coxon, Al Kellington, Arnold Revoy and Bill Brown. Patent Commission Schedules Further Hearings on Brief

OTTAWA (CP)—The Ilsley royal commission studying Canada's patent, copyright and trade mark laws has scheduled a new series of hearings next month for further argument on a submission that big corporations can hide behind multitudes of patents to gain control of an industrial art.

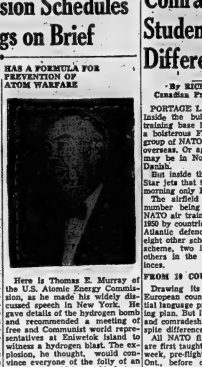
The submission was made by two Canadian newspapers, the Regina Leader - Post and the Saskatoon Star-Phoenix. Their 34-page brief, completed before the commission Tuesday, urged sweeping changes in the patent law to prevent corporate control of industry and manufacture and the setting of prices through patent pools.

WANT TO KEEP IT

Chief Justice J. L. Ilsley of Nova Scotia, commission chairman, set Dec. 1 as the start of new hearings after spokesmen for the Patent Institute of Canada, the Chemical Institute of Canada and the Canadian Manufacturers Association, requested time to reply. The Patent Institute spokesman said the newspapers' brief contained "inaccuracies."

Clifford Sifton, proprietor of the two newspapers, will be given an opportunity to reply to the rebuttal statements. He indicated his reply on behalf of the newspapers probably would be in written form.

The newspapers' brief argued that court injunctions prohibiting infringement of patents should be denied corporate patent pool holders who use their patents to monopolize trade and control industry. Royalties should be restricted, the brief said, and all patent pools should be required to register with the restrictive trade practices commission.



KEPT ON COLLECTING

The brief urged that patents found invalid by the courts should be invalid for all. There had been cases where a patent holder continued to collect royalties from users of inventions after one had got a court order of invalidity. It said the criminal law prohibiting the theft of trade secrets should be made applicable to patented goods.

Main submission on behalf of the newspapers was made by Judge Thurman Arnold, co-liner trade hosting United States assistant attorney-general and now a Washington attorney. He said corporate patent pool holders should be treated differently from the individual inventor. The corporate patent holdings, he said, should be viewed mainly in the light of the control and power they conveyed to their holders.

Ian M. MacKelgan, Halifax lawyer, and Dr. Wesley L. Hamilton, Montreal authority and one-time professor at Yale, aided in preparation of the brief which the two newspapers sponsored on behalf of their readers as consumers.

HAS A FORMULA FOR PREVENTION OF ATOM WARFARE

Here is Thomas E. Murray of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, who made his widely discussed speech in New York. He gave details of the hydrogen bomb explosion in Russia and revealed a free and Communist world representatives as Eniwetok island to witness a hydrogen blast. The explosion, he thought, would convince everyone of the folly of an atom war which could destroy mankind.

Comradeships Among NATO Student Pilots Disregard Differences in Nationalities

By RICHARD ANCO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE (CP)—Inside the buildings at the air training base here you may hear a boisterous French song from a group of NATO student pilots from overseas. Or again, a conversation may be in Norwegian, Italian or Danish.

But inside the sleek T-33 Silver Star jets that take to the air each morning only English is heard.

The airfield here is one of a number being used in Canada's NATO air training plan, started in 1950 by countries signing the North Atlantic defence pact. There are also other schools involved in the scheme, two in Ontario and the others in the three prairie provinces.

FROM 10 COUNTRIES

Drawing its students from 10 European countries placed an initial language problem on the training plan. But it is being overcome by comradeships arising, despite differences in nationality.

All NATO fliers and ground crews are first taught English in a three-week, pre-flight course in London Ont., before continuing with the 13-month practical training course.

Throughout their studies the students are mixed and work and play together. Dutchmen and Belgians often link to "do the town" on weekend leaves.

Malcolm Taylor, 24-year-old pilot from Yorkshire, England, sums up his feelings:

"You may be up there flying with a Frenchman on one side and a Norwegian on the other. The only thing you consider is their ability. In the end, companionship in flying breeds companionship on the ground."

TOUGH FOR TURKS

Of all the nationalities involved, the Turks perhaps are finding it the most difficult. Although it is a hard language for them and Canadian customs are radically different.

Bendri Cevher, of Amasya, Turkey, is the only pilot at the Portage La Prairie base at present. His problem is not the language but he misses the chance to speak to fellow countrymen.

"It's lonely," he says in remarkably good English. The 25-year-old student explains that he doesn't hide his longing to be with some of the 30 Turks he left behind at the Moose Jaw basic training school.

He was there the student crashed one day last spring. He had to be chopped out of the wreckage. Undriven Harvard trainer by a farmer, but suffered only minor cuts and bruises as he took to the air within two weeks. Now he finds the 200.00 a mile s of jets "much easier to handle."

GIRLS STAND-OFFISH

Many of the fliers say that Canadian girls they have met at dances are "stand-offish and sometimes "act superior."

On the other hand some European students have married Canadian girls; others brought sweethearts from overseas and married them here. And there have been several cases of international romances in Canadian cities and towns.

Ron Scott, 23, of Galashiels, Scotland, remembers the time he "got 13 brusques" from Canadian girls he had asked to dance.

"Then I went to a dance high school student from Chambery, France, tells the same story. Here surprised that girls go to a dance hall and then refuse to dance. It's something hardly ever seen back home, he says.

NORWEGIAN NEUTRAL

Mathias Krogh takes a more neutral view. "Canadian girls are not to get to know," he says. "But, then, I'm a little shy."

Johannes Oekeleon says the Dutch girl is more mature, serious and friendly. "She's more like a housewife even in her late teens. She thinks about getting married and starting a family. She doesn't have a long dating period."

Some from the Clarenholm and Penhold training schools in Alberta travelled 6,000 miles down the Pacific coast to Mexico and returned through the mid-western United States. Others based at Centralia, Ont., went to the Rockies.

When their training in Canada is completed—a cost to the Canadian government of $65,000 for each student—the fliers will return overseas to take their places in the defence organizations of their countries. Some 2,500 fliers and navigators have already graduated since 1951.

Bright Prospects For Industry Says Minister

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP) — Finance Minister Harris said Tuesday night prospects are "bright indeed" for Canadian industry which will show the same ability and initiative and imagination.

It is true, he said, that the present picture is changing and preparing to more normal competitive conditions. But despite the fact Canadian manufacturing had expanded greatly, there was still tremendous scope for further development.

He told the Brantford Board of Trade that "one must appreciate, however, that in a free enterprise economy it is not the function of the government to interfere actively in the natural direction of economic development."

"Essentially," he said, "the future of Canadian industry must depend on the industry itself."

CITY GROWTH RECORD

Canadian producers paid the second highest wages in the world and were called on to meet import competition from countries with lower wage standards like Germany and Japan.

He urged Canadian business men to keep abreast of the times in the fields of production, marketing, advertising, sales and public relations. Those who did not would fall behind.

Earlier, in Toronto, Mr. Harris said Canada's 1955 deficit, originally expected to exceed $160,000,000 will be less than half this first estimate. He told Toronto's Lions Businessmen's Club the improved financial picture could be attributed to the country's rapid recovery from last year's recession. Canada had the United States suffered a recession in 1953 and 1954, but Canada recovered quicker than expected.

Mr. Harris hinted there would be no increase in the levies but forecasw a need for between $60,000,000 and $70,000,000 more in government income than was provided for this year.

Will Take Year To Recover From Strike

TORONTO (CP)—Officials of de Havilland Aircraft of Canada Ltd. said Tuesday it will take a year to recover the production losses resulting from the recent four-month strike at the plant.

Planes began rolling off the production lines last weekend. The plant was closed when 1,700 production workers struck July 11.

Officials said they have set December, 1956 as a deadline before which they hope to recover production losses. The plant normally would have built about 80 planes during the three months of the strike.

There is a substantial backlog of orders for the company's three main products, Beaver and Otter utility planes and Chipmunk elementary trainers, officials said.

CBC Expenditures Outpace Receipts from Public Treasury

OTTAWA (CP)—The CBC, which received about 60 per cent of its revenues from the public treasury, spent more in the 1954-55 fiscal year than it received in government grants and allocation of taxes.

However, income from commercial broadcasting and other sources enabled the publicly-owned corporation to end the year with an excess of income over expenditures of $4,267,668 after depreciation.

The CBC's financial report for the year ended last March 31 contained a hint the corporation may operate at a loss in 1955-56, but suggest no way of getting more public funds.

The report issued today showed the public treasury paid $27,719,947 to the CBC, whose expenditures totalled $29,102,587.

COMMERCIAL INCOME

Income of $6,263,190 from commercial broadcasting and smaller amounts from other sources, such as broadcasting licence fees, gave the CBC total revenues of $34,735,-786.

Broadcasting licence fees amounts paid by privately-owned stations for licences to operate brought the CBC $293,500, an increase of almost $18,000. Interest on investments yielded another $247,638.

The CBC's $13,500,000 radio service operated at a loss of $211,753. Nearly half the service's income consisted of a $6,250,000 federal grant, while $4,509,982 came from the excise tax on radio sets and parts.

The report said the CBC faces a deficit of considerable size in radio to maintain the service against some increased cost rates . . . "The CBC was not in a position to make further commitments to extend radio service in areas still without it.

NET SURPLUS

The television service, the report said, received $18,959,983 from the excise tax on TV sets and parts, bringing its total income to $21,375,805. Television expenditures were $15,915,901. The service showed a net surplus of $4,479,421 after depreciation.

Looking to the current year in TV, the report said "it was apparent that the surplus built up in 1953-54 and 1954-55 would also be used to maintain operations in 1955-56."

Last year's net surplus brought to $10,722,557 the CBC's accumulated surplus from past years.

A. D. Dunton, chairman of the CBC board of governors, has forecast a deficit of $12,805,000 for the current fiscal year. His estimate was given last spring at hearings of the Commons broadcasting committee.

DOWN 35 PER CENT

The last fiscal year's net surplus of $4,267,668 was down about 35 per cent from the $6,567,862 surplus of 1953-54. The drop was due mainly to reduced income and increased spending on radio broadcasting and to higher television expenditures which outstripped advances in TV revenues.

In 1953-54, the CBC spent $19,-896,233, less than its $23,009,894 it received in government grants and allocation of taxes. Total revenues then were $27,430,725.

Capital expenditures for both radio and television programs and engineering works helped boost expenditures in 1954-55 to $29,102,587, up from $29,102,587 in 1954-55 from the previous fiscal year's total.

This left a gross surplus of $5,-632,201, down from $7,534,487. A revision of the corporation's system of allowance for depreciation and obsolescence resulted in a larger amount being deducted from the gross surplus.

SCIENTIFIC RATES

Depreciation costs were $1,364,-533, based on what the CBC's financial report described as scientific rates varying between five and 20 per cent, depending on the type of assets.

In 1953-54, the depreciation allowance was $966,625 based on rates of 2½ per cent on buildings and 10 per cent on equipment.

The CBC's income from commercial broadcasting was $6,263,-190, up from $3,806,254. The higher income was due to larger payments by sponsors for network programs.

These revenues from sponsors fell far short of program costs—the largest single expense item which totalled $17,538,866, a rise from $11,703,316.

TV COSTS RISE

For the first time since the CBC started its television service in September, 1952, television programs cost more than radio programs.

The CBC spent $9,016,850 on television programs, more than double the $4,128,139 it spent in 1953-54. Commercial television revenues tripled to $4,157,325 from $1,354,-765.

The radio service, with revenues of $13,459,983, spent $8,022,016 on programs.-Expenses of $13,187,686 and a depreciation allowance of $484,650 left a deficit of $211,753.

In 1953-54, the radio service had a net surplus of $1,283,896 after revenues of $14,359,969, expenditures of $12,531,857 and a depreciation allowance of $544,216.

The report said the corporation foresees some increase in commercial television revenue. There would be no increase in proceeds from the 15-per-cent excise tax, levied on the wholesale price of sets and parts.

The tax, collected by the revenue department and turned over to the CBC, last year brought in $21,-469,947, an increase from $16,795,-894 in 1953-54.

The income from the excise tax on radio sets and parts dropped to $4,509,982 from $50,056,745. On television sets and parts it increased to $16,959,965 from $11,703,149.

In 1954-55 the CBC opened two new television stations — CBMT, Halifax, and CBWT, Winnipeg—bringing its total to seven. In the current fiscal year it added CBOFT, the French-language TV station in Ottawa.

A government loan of $3,000,000 in 1954 and another $5,000,000 brought to $19,000,000 the amount granted by the CBC. The total includes $3,250,000 borrowed for radio and $15,750,000 for television. The CBC has also borrowed privately, operated by the CBC for the government, cost $2,095,939, an increase from $1,963,862.

Federation Will Oppose Plan

TORONTO (CP)—The federation of Women Teachers' Associations of Ontario said Tuesday it opposes a plan by the suburban Leaside board of education to pay allowances to married men teachers and women teachers with dependants.

The federation pledged support to Leaside women public school teachers who have announced their objection to the principle of dependants' allowances.

The proposed plan would provide $300 annually for married men and $200 for dependant children. Only women teachers who could prove dependants would be eligible.

Opposition to the plan was announced by the federation following a vote of women teachers throughout Ontario. Eva Walker, federation president, said "teachers' salaries should be paid on the basis of teaching service, without reference to such extraneous items as family responsibilities."

Motorists Warned Campaign Will Be Continued

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario motorists were warned Tuesday that there is to be no letup in the campaign to drive traffic-law violators from provincial highways.

Attorney-General Roberts said provincial police have been told to proceed with the campaign "with great diligence" and there should be no slackening in their efforts to get results.

The attorney-general said he has been told that drivers generally have had to undergo three or four spot checks while travelling in the province.

They asked that stickers be provided for their cars so they would not have to go through more tests.

Mr. Roberts also said a mandatory jail sentence is being considered for persons who drive motor vehicles while their licences are suspended.

At present a jail term is an alternative to a fine in convictions of driving while licences are suspended.

Stomach Most Frequent Site Of Fatal Cancer

TORONTO (CP)—The stomach has shown itself as the most frequent site of fatal cancer among Ontario men between 1949 and 1953.

A statistical report issued by the Ontario department of health said the most frequent sites among females were the breast, intestine and uterus. The respiratory system was the second major location of fatal cancer among men.

Figures showed that if both sexes are considered together, there have been no significant changes in the recorded cancer mortality during the 20-year period from 1934 to 1953 if growth and aging of population are taken into consideration.

When the two sexes are considered separately, however, there has been a real increase in cancer mortality for males and a decrease for females, the report said.

BIRTH AGE ADDED

For both sexes, the digestive tract accounted for more cancer deaths than any other system in the body. Cancer was an important cause of death in both sexes of all age groups. It was second among boys and girls between the ages of five and 14 years.

Cancer was the second-most-frequent cause of death for both sexes of all ages combined.

Last year 5,579 new cases were registered at eight Ontario cancer clinics, an increase of 2.1 per cent from 1953. About 58 per cent were recorded as treated for cure and 26 per cent for palliation.

Seventy-two was the most frequently recorded—treatment although methods varied from clinic to clinic.

Several new types of cameras have been developed as an aid in salvage operations, oceanographic research and underwater demolitions. The submarine photographers are equipped, like the frogmen of World War II, in rubber suits and flippers. (Central Press Canadian).

The Pope's recovery was said to have started the day after the vision of Christ appeared at his bedside while he prayed.

The Pope will make his first public appearance since announcement of his vision when he gives a public audience tonight at Castel Gandolfo, south of Rome.

Cypriot Students Ignore Church's Appeal for Order

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—Violence flared anew today between Greek Cypriot students and British troops in the wake of Tuesday's riots, the worst since the campaign for "enosis" (union with Greece) began earlier this year on this Mediterranean island.

New rioting here broke out when pupils from a high school gathered near Phaneromini Cathedral, scene of Tuesday's demonstrations, to ring church bells and stone police patrol cars.

Inflamed mobs of students today rioted in the east coast port of Famagusta, where they stoned police and British army cars. Demonstrators also stoned a British armed forces canteen there, but police took no immediate action.

Riots Tuesday in Nicosia and the south coast town of Larnaca were touched off by students protesting against the closing of two high schools by Governor Sir John Harding for student "absenteeism."

Today's demonstrations broke out despite an appeal Tuesday night from the Cypriot ethnarchy, supreme governing body of the Greek Orthodox Church on Cyprus, to students to return to classes.

Suspend Sentence On Mother Held For Abduction

OWEN SOUND (CP) — Mrs. Gladys Mabel McElrea Tuesday received a suspended sentence of one year on pleading guilty to two charges of abducting her son and daughter.

Mrs. McElrea was charged with abducting her son David, 11, and daughter Linda, 8, who live with their father, Herb McElrea, in Owen Sound. The children did not return from school at noon Nov. 1. A week later RCMP arrested Mrs. McElrea and Pte. Emil Melka of the Canadian Army in Halifax. They had the children with them.

Pte. Melka, also charged with abduction, is to appear today for preliminary hearing.

Mrs. McElrea, 32, testified she had been carried away emotionally by her need for the children.

She said she would like to return to her parents in England, but the pull of her children was too great, and she could not leave Canada while they were here.

Rest, Relaxation Only Cure For Amnesia Victim

BARRIE (CP) — Doctors said Tuesday rest and relaxation are the only cure for a 27-year-old man who says he cannot remember the last six years of his life.

John Guerin, a civilian employee at Camp Borden, wandered from his home Nov. 14. He was found five days later in a Toronto bus terminal, suffering temporary complete amnesia.

When he met his wife, his memory returned—except for the last six years. He said he remembered his eight-year-old son as a small boy of two, and he did not know his five-year-old daughter at all.

Mr. Guerin said his ailment dates from a wound suffered at Okinawa while he was serving with the United States Marines during the Second World War.

He was treated for his wound and loss of memory, and released from hospital.

In Montreal in 1949, however, he lost his memory again. After three months' treatment, he again was pronounced cured.

Doctors said it may take a long time, but his memory should gradually return.

Gas Refined By Use Of Atomic Energy

LINDEN, N.J. (AP)—The Esso Research and Engineering Company announced Tuesday that gasoline had been refined by the use of atomic energy in what it called the first such development.

Eger V. Murphree, company president, told reporters crude oil had been exposed to gamma radiation from a 13-inch cobalt pipe and the refining process had worked.

He emphasized that it was an experimental, small-scale development but said that, if further tests in larger pilot plants are successful, the refining costs might be cut tremendously.

In effect, the gamma radiation replaced the 1,000-degree fahrenheit temperatures needed to refine the oil. Heat, pressures and catalysts are normally used in making petroleum products.

Murphree said that, if gamma radiation can replace the heat in the larger tests, it might be possible to eliminate the giant external heat equipment and refine oil at room temperatures.

"GENTLEMEN'S DAY" BRINGS OWN REWARD

Abandon Search For Missing Ship

BOSTON (AP) — The United States coast guard gave up active searching today for the missing 3,300-ton Liberian freighter Daytona, carrying 24 men.

The Daytona, en route from Nova Scotia to Philadelphia, radioed early Sunday that she was in distress 75 miles east of Gloucester, Mass. She was caught in a storm with winds of more than hurricane force.

The coast guard cancelled active search last midnight but said all coast guard planes and vessels passing through the area "will remain on the alert for the missing vessel."

Heavy Oil Slick Could Poison Lake Michigan

CHICAGO (AP) — A patch of "heavy thick gumbo" 50 yards wide and several miles long drifted northward on Lake Michigan Tuesday along the Chicago shore. An official said it could poison all the fish in the lake.

Capt. Henry S. Michiels, the city park district's harbor captain, said the thick substance resembled crude oil and may have come either from a leak at gasoline refineries in Indiana or from an old barge.

Michiels said the slick is both a fire and pollution hazard.

Order New Trial For One of Two Convicted Killers

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada today ordered a new trial for Donald Keith Cathro on a charge of murdering a Chinese shopkeeper in Vancouver. It dismissed, however, an appeal by Chow Bew against his murder conviction for the same slaying.

Both Vancouver men had been found guilty in B. C. courts of murdering Ah Wing, shopkeeper who died of strangulation during an attempted robbery in his store last Jan. 6.

Lawyers for Chow Bew and Cathro argued before the court in last month's hearing that the convictions should be set aside because the trial judge did not mention in charging the jury the possibility of a manslaughter verdict.

The convictions were upheld by the British Columbia Court of Appeals by a four-to-one ruling in the Chow Bew case and three-to-two in the Cathro case. The two men were tried and appealed separately.

RAWDON

Mt. Pleasant-Rawdon Tea Bazaar Financially Successful

RAWDON—Approximately 150 ladies attended Mount Pleasant Rawdon tea and bazaar last Thursday afternoon, despite the high winds which swept this area with speeds of 60-70 miles per hour.

It was planned to have the program in the church, but that morning the high wind damaged the front door by loosening the hinges and so the church hall was used throughout.

The hall was decorated with baskets of chrysanthemums and the east side was used to seat the guests who came from Springbrook, Salem, West Huntingdon Presbyterian, Eggleton, Carmel, St. Paul's, Stirling, St. Andrew's, Stirling, English Line, Burnbrae, Hoards Wellman's and Bethel.

They were welcomed on their arrival by the Rev. and Mrs. W. G. Fletcher and Mrs. John Holmes.

Mrs. Kenneth Weaver president of the W.A. opened the meeting at 2.30 p.m., with the theme song and prayer and welcomed the guests, who had put forth an effort to attend. Mrs. Burton Sharpe officiated at the piano.

Mrs. Frank Jeffs, president of the W.M.S., conducted the devotional based on "The Peace of Mind and Heart." A short program followed.

Mrs. Gordon Webb, of Springbrook, W.A., sang "Alone" with Mrs. John McKeown as accompanist.

Mrs. Clayton Thompson, Hoard's W.A., read a poem "I Know Something Good About You"; Mrs. Lindzay Sills, West Huntingdon Presbyterian, contributed a piano solo; Mrs. Harry Heath, Bethel W.A., read an interesting story entitled "A Secret."

Mrs. Ross Hart and Mrs. E. Jarvis, Burnbrae sang "Building For Eternity," with Mrs. Gerald Clancy of Wellman's, as accompanist.

Mrs. Milton Hagerman, Carmel W.A., read a selection, "All About the new Machines to Lighten Housework."

The 25 cents fee was gathered by Mrs. Frances Wrightman, Mrs. Don Johnson, Mrs. Oscar Merrick and Mrs. Lloyd Cooney and Mrs. Fletcher dedicated the fees to W.A. work.

The southwest corner of the hall was decorated with evergreen and flags and resembled an old-fashioned country store complete with coal-oil lamps. This was in charge of Mrs. Herbert Smith and Mrs. Ross Jeffs. There were luscious red apples, Talmar Sweets, potatoes, pumpkins, citrons, carrots, onions, all kinds of relishes, jellies, and jams, cream, eggs, butter, cheese, home-made candy, popcorn, surprise parcels from ten cents to a quarter in price and a large assortment of saleable articles.

A large array of cacti, foliages, lilies and other small potted plants was displayed on a table with a centerpiece of real flowers. This was in charge of Mrs. Grant Hubble and Mrs. Milford Wrightman.

The fancywork booth, in charge of Mrs. Carleton Petch and Mrs. Douglas Campbell, had a variety of children's knitted suits, crocheted centrepieces, and children's outfits, embroidered articles, pot holders, household novelties and a large number of aprons. The aprons were displayed on a clothes line and a clothes-horse and were of all varieties of materials and sizes. There were also two large crib quilts.

HOME-BAKING

The hall platform was artistically decorated with evergreens, colored balloons, and "cut out" of food from magazine pages. The long table was laden with angel food cakes, chocolate, layer and loaf cakes with delectable icing; pies of all kinds; cookies, cup cakes; home-made bread and buns and this sold in record time to eager buyers. Mrs. Raymond McConnell, Mrs. Ralph Jeffs and Mrs. John Morgan were the saleswomen.

A large number of other ladies was in charge of kitchen duties, arranging plates of sandwiches and cookies and serving the guests and all of the ladies at Mount Pleasant assisted in some way with the bazaar.

The guests were served the proverbial cup of tea with attractive sandwiches and cookies.

The bazaar was a financial success and everyone was pleased with the results.

Victoria Cross In Existence Hundred Years

LONDON (CP) — The Victoria Cross, the Commonwealth's highest award for military valor, celebrates its 100th birthday in January.

And just possibly the centenary year may see the end of the delicate art of casting the medals in fine sand. Only a few craftsmen are left who can do it.

For the last 100 years, using a master mould made in 1856 and approved by Queen Victoria, each VC has been cast from the heavy bronze of Russian guns captured at Sebastopol during the Crimean War of 1855-56.

In sand - casting, the molten bronze is kept at a constant 2,000 degrees while it is being poured into a sand mould.

New methods which are replacing time-honored sand-casting techniques which won't work on the coarse bronze of the Russian artillery pieces.

It was found the coarse bronze breaks the ordinary wax mould. Another method tried by the Royal Mint was to cut a die. But the die broke and the attempt was abandoned.

Little Benny's Notebook

Us fellows were talking and arguwing about diffrent subjects such as the end of the werld and whether anybody will live long enough to see it, and what's the use even if they do, because they wont be able to remember it, and Sam Cross said, Believe me it's the end of the werld around here for me. I'm sicken tired of being ordered around, I'm going to run away. And I meen today, he said.

Him being the most famous liar around, and I said, Aw, tell us something new.

Sure, he's always saying that, Glasses Magee said, and Sam said, This is the ferst time I ever said positively.

Which just then his mother opened their frunt door and called him saying, Samuel, I want you to come in immsediltly.

And she went in again, and Puds Simkins said, Hay Sam, did you hear what your mother said?

I heard it all right, and if she calls me again I'm going to get up and delibrily walk the other way, and before she gets over her serprise I'll be out of alle forever, Sam said.

And pritty soon his mother opened the frunt door again, saying, Samuel, I'm giving you exactly 10 seconds to get in this house.

And she stood there like somebody counting up to 10 and Sam said, Now I'll show her.

And he counted up to 10 kind of quick, saying, There, that's 10 seconds and I'm not in the house yet. I guess that'll show who's boss, he said.

And he went home, walking pritty fast but not quite running.

Proving you can always depend on a good liar not to tell the truth.

RIVER OVERFLOWS

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Two days of torrential rains have flooded out more than 100 families in poorer suburban areas of Bogota. Heavy agricultural damage was reported in other areas, particularly around the overflowing Magdalena river.

GOING UP

You will likely pay more for your Christmas tree this year. Demand for Canadian trees in the U.S. is greater than ever before and that is sending the price of trees here up by 25 cents or more. But if two or three dollars seems a high tag for a tree, look at what is happening in Venezuela. North American and European families there have already paid $35 each.

Favors Indians Going to School With Whites

EDMONTON (CP) — Hon. J. W. Pickersgill, Canadian minister of citizenship and immigration, says it is better for Indians to attend the same schools as other children.

Mr. Pickersgill, in an address to the Kiwanis Club here, said the key to a better future for the Indian is education.

Traditionally Indians had been educated at residential schools but "we believe that wherever possible it is better for the Indian children to attend the same schools as other Canadian children" so Indians may one day become an integral part of the Canadian population.

In 1949 there had been 1,300 Canadian Indians enrolled in non-Indian schools. This year the total was more than 4,000—one-eighth of Indian children attending school—and "we expect it will be considerably higher next year."

Police Without Single Clue In Murder

TORONTO (CP) — Police said Tuesday they are without "a single clue" in the slaying of Walter Hewlett, beer store clerk shot Oct. 20 in an attempted robbery.

Detective chief Archie McCabhe said they checked a man, recently released from Kingston penitentiary where he served a term for bank robbery, but he had a "perfect alibi."

The man was named by a sister of the slain man, after a phone conversation with a friend. It was earlier reported the man was named in an anonymous call to the sister.

Mr. Hewlett was wounded three times when he tried to grapple with a bandit who entered the beer store shortly before closing time. He died a few minutes later.

Rewards totalling $4,000 have been posted for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killer.

Police said the man named by Mr. Hewlett's sister was only one of many checked since the shooting. No further evidence has been found, they said.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both— Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a famous research institute. Already, Bio-Dyne® is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H.® Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

OHA Forms Northern Int. C Group, 5 Teams Enter at Marmora Meeting

The OHA gathered at least five more teams under it's jurisdiction last night at a meeting in Marmora when the Northumberland-Hastings-Addington OHA Intermediate "C" hockey group was formed. A meetin gwill be held in the near future to attempt to form a similar group in the southern district.

Teams from Marmora, Campbellford, Madoc, Bancroft and Tamworth are definite entries in this Northern division with Stirling a possible entry. Stirling has until Thursday evening to decide.

Mr. Lorne Cook of Kingston, 1st vice president of the OHA was in charge of the meeting when 23 interested persons in attendance. Cook was named convener of the group while Cy Johnson is acting secretary.

Team managers spent considerable time firing questions at Mr. Cook concerning different rules and regulations of the OHA. He pointed out that Intermediate "C" teams are allowed two imports or two waivered players or one of each at that the imports must be in by November 1st. Since this date is passed the imports will be very few this season, allowing local youngsters an opportunity to play.

Mr. Cook explained the distance teams are allowed to travel from their village to obtain players, defining imports and waivered players.

The OHA states that only 12 players plus an extra goaltender can dress for an Intermediate "C" game. This cuts off a good number of young players in a one-team village and the ruling did not prove too popular with the team managers. Cook pointed out that such cases have came up in other leagues and OHA governing body has allowed the teams to dress more players until they enter the playdowns. Mr. Cook will enter a recommendation at the next executive meeting that the NOHA be allowed to dress 15 players for their league games.

Secretary Cy Johnson announced that Frankford had been approached as to entering but had declined. Tamworth was doubtful but finally decided to enter. All three teams were represented with the exception of Stirling.

All centres entered have natural ice areas with the exception of Marmora. This will present a problem in mild weather as well as making for a late start in the schedule. It was pointed out by Mr. Cook that the home team must notify Bill Hanley, business manager of the OHA, in Toronto, by 5.00 p.m. the day of the game if ice conditions are not suitable for play. They must also inform the visiting team and Mr. Hanley will notify the referees. The league is expected to open ground Christmas week.

A discussion took place on whether to use two referees or a referee and a linesman. The former was decided upon. Hanley will appoint officials for each game and they must be registered referees. The entry fee is $10.00 per team. This includes player's cards which each team manager must produce for the satisfaction of the opposing team officials at any time.

League games will be played on Friday, Monday and Wednesday nights and commence at 8.30 p.m. Any postponed game will be played at the earliest possible date thereafter. A double schedule will be played with Mr. Cook drafting a schedule for approval this week.

The top four teams at the end of the schedule will take part in the group playoffs with first and third place teams meeting in one series and second and fourth place teams in another. The group winner will advance.

Possible teams to form a southern division are Napanee, Wellington, Picton RCAF, Trenton and Brighton.

Little Benny's Notebook

I was watching ma darning holes out of socks in her room, and I said, Hay, ma, do you know that big stane on the dining room rug?

I know it only too well, what about it? ma said, and I said, Nuthing, only I hope you dont blaugh it on me.

For goodness sakes I made that stane myself when I got too carelessly ambitious and tried to carry too many things at once, ma said. But that's ancient history, and besides, am I in the habit of blaughing you without just and ample cause? she said, and I said, Sure you are, ma, every time you see muddy footprints in the house you accuse them of being stane, even without any proof.

My, such a marter, ma said. I'm sorry if I ever accused you wrongly, and I seriously doubt that I ever have, she said, and I said, Sure you have, ma, you did it just this morning when you accused me of going to be late for school just because I kept going back to sleep, and I wasn't late after all.

You had to gobble your breakfast down like a proverbial wolf, you wont deny that, I hope, ma said, and I said, No marm, when I really do something I'm the ferst to admit it.

That's very noble of you, and now let's descend from the sublime to the pathetic, ma said. What have you gone and done now? she said.

Robertson Davies Presents New Spicy Comedy

By ROBERT SMYLIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Robertson Davies, Canadian of many literary parts, Tuesday night presented a new comedy spiced with a merry mixture of comments on many things.

Written for Donald Davis in the lead role, the play, after a laborious first act, skipped lively along, dipping here and there into Mr. Davies' resources of wit, wisdom and nonsense.

Mr. Davies used just seven players and one setting to convey his multitude of ideas, and the relatively small first - night audience soaked them up.

ROYAL RELATIVES

Frances Tobias, Helene Winston, Max Helpmann, Barbara Chilcott, Eric Hoose and Diana Vanderville played the other roles. Robert Gill directed.

The play carried Henry Benedict Stuart, a minor Ottawa civil servant, back through his ancestry to reveal him as a direct descendant of Bonnie Prince Charlie, to the gratification of his peerage-obsessed wife.

Through a concoction of scientific sorcery and magic snuff powder, garnished by Mr. Davies with appropriate comments about psychologists, environment and heredity, Stuart becomes His Royal Highness, a wild devil with a mistress to his eye for beautiful cousins and an appetite for omelets and beer.

Mr. Davies denies Stuart the brandy but furnishes him with a beautiful cousin — and later the consolation to provide a setting for reflecting on marriage, love and principles.

FROLIC AND BARBS

The result is a frolic contrived to convey the author's wise saws and barbs on all manner of topics.

"Hunting Stuart," which runs to Dec. 3, is the author's second play to have its premiere at Toronto's repertory theatre. His "Jig For A Gypsy" opened here last year and later was performed in London.

Mr. Davies, editor of the Peterborough Examiner and literary editor of Saturday Night, recently received the 1955 Leacock Medal for humor for his book, "Leaven of Malice."

Other critical comment of Tuesday night's play in Toronto:

Herbert Whittaker of The Globe and Mail: "A good evening of theatre, with comedy, satire and magic well mixed, which marks a happy development in the career of Robertson Davies, playwright."

'Assignment India' Will Be Truly New Type TV Program

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — A new and truly different type of filmed television program appears on NBC-TV Thursday. It will be worth taking a look at "Assignment India" when Chester Bowles, former United States ambassador to India, guides you through that changing country.

"Let's not call it a documentary," says NBC executive producer Ted Mills, who conceived this different type of "byline" program. "Let's call it non - fiction. I think we have here the television equivalent of a first-rate magazine piece. We are sticking to the thinking of one authoritative person—the guide, who in the case of India is Chester Bowles. We operate as craftsmen and he as the guiding force."

Earlier this year a 12-man camera crew spent seven weeks color-film life in India under the direction of Robert Graff. Bowles, who was in India for much of the filming, "was the architect of the plan," says Graff.

Mills declines to say whether contracts have been signed for future films, but he lets it be known with such images as Sir Winston Churchill on the British Commonwealth and Noel Coward on London.

Edward R. Murrow plans to visit the home of Orson Welles on "Person to Person" (CBs-TV) next Friday evening — provided Welles has a home. As of late last week he still was looking for one.

When Welles and his beautiful Italian-born wife, Paoula Mori, returned recently they took quarters in a hotel. Then Mrs. Welles was rushed to a hospital where a daughter, Beatrice, was born prematurely. This left Welles with the responsibility of "not only finding a home for wife and daughter—but also of finding a home for Murrow to visit.

Canadiens 'Hare' Hops Along At Heap-Top; 'There Was Once A Tortoise'

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

THEY ASKED FOR IT!

Senior "B" group moguls unanimously agreed at pre-season confabs that the carrying of fourteen players, including a spare goalie was ample enough. Besides it would help cut transportation and other costs no end. Elimination or reduction of so-called unnecessary expenses was their theme song.

They didn't look an inch in front of their well-turned out nasal appendages. They did not take into consideration that unpredictable injuries would ruin the alleged bench-strength of any club whether at home or abroad. Woe unto the club that suffers injuries—and it has proven that way.

We are not trying to establish an alibi for the 7-1 defeat the TPT's shorbed at the hands and feet of the potent Whitby Dunlops last night. The powerful group leaders earned every inch of their victory. They are easily the best-balanced club in the group with power in all departments and potential goals in every stick but the goalie's shillalagh.

The TPT's were without Bill McMaster, benched because of a shoulder injury he got last year sidelined for four weeks. Gus Leonard did not show up for proper reasons. To add insult to injury or vice versa Davy Jones was sidelined midway through the first period with what was reported to be a few cracked ribs. That, indeed, the monkey-wrench into Coach Cox's well-laid line plans. He was forced to juggle his troops with what was left.

At that the Teeps tossed a mighty scare into the Blairmen in a first period that saw them come up with a fine brand of hard-checking hockey. They had a noticeable margin and poked home the only goal of the heat for good measure.

After that they faded. The power of the Dunnies asserted itself in no mean fashion as five goals rattled behind our nets in the second period. The flashing power disorganized the TPT's and they could do little or nothing with the roaring offensives of the league leaders. Parisi was terrific at times and kept the score to what it was.

And the facts should be faced. The TPT's need reinforcements, both fore and aft if they are to establish themselves as contenders for group honors. Last night they wound up with eleven men who could not get properly organized after a five opening period. Injuries are bound to occur—and there is nothing in the hockey book that can stop them. Nor is there anything in the scene to prevent any club from securing the necessary toelane help.

BOXING

Augmenting the main bouts between Eddie Schamerhorn and Les Blair, rugged Toronto middleweight, are six other battles that should please the fistic faithful hereabouts. According to Bill Eustace, who is handling the show for the Canadian Order of Foresters, the Ontario Boxing Association has okayed two other outstanding frays.

Eustace says he was at the OBA meeting in Hamilton when the fist moguls gave him the green light on Bob Gourley, winner of seven KO's in his last nine bouts and Tommy Chesser, star Toronto lightweight. Joe Italiano, hard-hitting Brantford welter, will clash with Ervin Pease of Toronto, in another go.

Seats are on sale at Cook's and Thomas' tobacco stores, and it is expected a large crowd will turn out to greet boxing's return to the city. The proceeds go to the hospital building fund.

* * *

DID THEY FORGET TO LOAD 'EM?

"This," boasted the city doctor, patting his brand new rifle," can pick off a pigeon on a klock in Moscow."

"This," needled an ex-M.P. (Conservative) stroking his gun, "will pick a feather off that pigeon when it flutters to earth."

"This," added another medical man from east o' here, fondling his weapon, "will bring down the pigeon as it takes off for Siberia."

"And this," quoth a former high-ranking police official, flubbing his trusty arquebuse, "will hit any of your bullets a second after they take off."

The quartet of well-known Belleville personages were camped in a deer lodge near Maxwesh, well into the deer country. As yet they had not tried their trusty gatlings on the forest denizens.

Stories of marvring shooting eyes and proud prowess had echoed far into the night. These "Dead-Shot Dicks" had records that would make a Shirley winner look like a tyro. They admitted it. Woe to the buck or doe that lined itself in sights of their lethal pieces. Their guns, they admitted, would shoot around corners, up trees, through dense foliage and heavy timbers. No deer was safe within at least five miles of these death-dealing, lead-spewing weapons.

Fog next morning they crouched in the leafy shadiness of a bush-bordered deer run. They had not long to wait. A proud buck sauntered slowly down the runway.] Then another.

The two "docs" quivered with excitement. They raised their weapons, fired. The bucks bounded away with not a loose hair fluttering in the breeze. The ex-MP and R. P. (retired policeman) guffawed with merriment. They measured the distance. Twenty-eight feet. Two scarlet-clad M.D.'s bent over their rifles, looking for trouble in the barrels.

Came a rustling in the undergrowth and two more deer bounded down the runway, paused and stopped. Two shots rang out as the rifles of the M.P. and R.P. blazed at the bucks.

The deer hesitated, turned, flipped their tails in disdain, and slowly walked into the underbrush.

Ripples of merriment emanated from the "docs" as they measured the distance. Fifty feet. From a distance came sounds that resembled the forest "horse-laughs' of four bucks.

But our heroes were undaunted. The MP and RP retraced their steps to the city and returned with fifty-foot extensions for rifle barrels. The "docs" too, came home temperanlus. They went back with shotguns loaded with assechiodos.

Enjoys Big Lead in 20 Games Nothing New for Habitants; Will History Repeat Itself?

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Currently Montreal Canadiens are first in offence, first in defence and first in the National Hockey League standings. Now all they have to do is disprove an old story about a hare and a tortoise.

With 20 games of this year's 70-game schedule behind them the Canadiens have a healthy eight-point margin over the second-place New York Rangers and an 11-point edge over Detroit Red Wings, who have held the NHL title for the last seven years.

But a lot of things can happen in 50 games.

For the last two years the Canadiens have reached the 20-game mark in first place. The year before they were tied with Detroit at that stage. And inevitably the Wings came on in the stretch to grab the marbles.

In fact, in the five years of the last seven that the Montrealers finished second they lost ground to Detroit over the last 50 games every time.

WORST SHOWING

The worst Montreal disaster of all was the 1952-53 season, when both clubs had 20 points after 20 games and Detroit pulled away to a 15-point lead at the finish.

The Montrealers get a chance to do something about the hare-tortoise business Thursday night when they play the Wings in Detroit. So far they have won two of their three engagements with the champions, tying the third.

Tonight's other game brings Boston Bruins to New York with a chance for their fourth straight victory over the Rangers and a second-place tie with the New Yorkers. Watching the proceedings will be Lester Patrick, who coached the Rangers for 20 years but is likely to be reasonably impartial since his sons, Lynn and Muzz, are general managers of the Bruins and Rangers respectively.

The Boston and Rangers go at it again in Boston Thursday night while the Leafs open Toronto Maple Leafs visit Chicago Black Hawks.

Television Fans Will Get Game The Hard Way

MONTREAL (CP) — Saturday's telecast of the Grey Cup game from Vancouver will reach eastern Canada fans the hard way, the CBC disclosed Tuesday.

The television signal will be transmitted from there to Spokane, Wash., where the American Telephone and Telegraph Company will take over, relaying it to Buffalo on facilities normally used by the National Broadcasting Company.

The transmission will be via Denver, Colo., Omaha, Neb., Des Moines, Iowa, Chicago, Toledo and Cleveland, Ohio, From Buffalo, it will be relayed to Toronto over the Bell Telephone Company's microwave link.

Jacques Plante Setting Envious Goalie Record

NEW YORK (CP)—The goaltender's bugaboo, an off-sight, cut two of Jacques Plante's National Hockey League rivals down to size last week, but the Montreal Canadien netminder continued to act as if he's never heard of the word.

The closest thing to it for Plante was the night nearly three weeks ago when Chicago Black Hawks beat him four times in 26 tries for a 4-1 victory. The Canadiens, incidentally, haven't lost in 11 subsequent starts, and it was the only time this season that anyone beat Jacques more than three times in an evening all season. Every other NHL goalie has watched six go by him on at least one occasion.

By contrast, four goals was the total Montreal's opposition managed to shove past Plante in the Canadiens' three games last week. Boston Bruins' Jack Gelineau stopped another 53 drives during the week for a .930 average, on the 37 fired at him, giving him an over-all mark of .940 for the year.

SAWCHUK TRIPS

The off-night caught up with Terry Sawchuk of Boston last Friday. Previously trailing Plante by only two points, the Bruin goalie fanned on six of 37 shots fired by Chicago Black Hawks and finished the week with a .832 mark, three eight points from the previous week's total.

Retribution caught up with New York's Worsley 24 hours later as he let in six Montreal shots out of 32 for his poorest night of the year. Previously within striking distance of the leaders, he dropped to .898, a point behind Sawchuk and five points off his mark a week ago.

The best performance of the week was turned in by Glen Hall, busiest goaltender, Chicago's Al Rollins, who blocked 111 shots out of 117 for a .949 mark for the week and a .925 average on the year.

Maroons Oust Coach Heller

CHATHAM (CP) — Player-coach Ott Heller, 43, has been relieved of his duties with Chatham Maroons of the Ontario Hockey Association's Senior A league, it was announced today.

Col. Thomas Weir, president of Chatham Hockey Association, Ltd., Maroons' parent organization, said Heller is considered not to have lived up to his contract.

Heller joined Chatham last June after finishing the 1954-55 year with Cleveland in the American League. He holds one of the longest records in professional hockey—26 years. Fifteen were with New York Rangers of the NHL. A native of Kitchener, Heller played in seven of Maroons' 13 games this season. Maroons have won four and lost nine.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

Mention of last year's Grey Cup game, in which the Edmonton Eskimos literally snatched the Grey Cup victory from the jaws of defeat by Montreal's powerful Alouettes, always recalls the picture of an athlete who sat sobbing, inconsolably, on a dressing room bench.

That was Chuck Hunsinger, a hard-boiled, hard-bitten old pro, who for two seasons had battled gamely and well for the Montreal team's leader the previous season, in touch-downs for his club. Suddenly, he was a broken man, who sat there sobbing, with tears streaking through his mud-grimed face.

He paid no heed to teammates who patted his heaving back and told him it was just the luck of the game. With mere minutes to play, the ball had slipped from his hands, gone spiralling off wildly, was caught up by Edmonton's fleet-footed Jackie Parker who raced 66 yards for the touch-down that won the Cup for the west by a scant point, 26-25.

It had been 25-20 for Alouettes after the desperately-fighting Eskimos had crashed through for a late touchdown, cutting down an apparently safe margin of 25-14. And even then, it seemed as though the east must triumph again. For the Alouettes were stung. They turned on their power, and very nearly snatched the ball back to the western 10-yard line. A pass was thrown to Hunsinger, he started to race, head-down, toward the Edmonton line.

Big Rollie Prather dived at him, the ball flew loose from Hunsinger's hands. Whether it was an attempted pass, or just a fumble, doesn't matter much. The ball rolled loosely, Parker swooped it in, sprinted over the Alouette line, and so turned defeat into victory.

That was tragedy for Hunsinger. A few weeks later, over 20,000 Montreal fans stirred a telegram urging him to return the next season. But we doubt even that overwhelming vote of confidence will ever efface the memory of that tragic split-second he was held to be the ball and his team lost the coveted Grey Cup.

TPTs Fade In Final Frames Dropping 7-1 Decision To Whitby Dunlops

Grab 1-0 First Period Lead Then Wilt Before Foe Drive; Winners Score 5 in Second

By GEORGE H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

The powerful Whitby Dunlops' senior "B" machine rolled merrily onward along the victory trail here last night, sweeping aside the Belleville TPT opposition 7-1 to register its eighth victory of the season.

Halted temporarily during the first period when the TPT's played their best hockey of the night to end the frame with a 1-0 lead, the Dunlops unleashed their power, scoring five goals in the 5-0 second and two in the third without a return.

The crippled TPT's were without the services of defenceman Bill McMurray, who will be out indefinitely with a shoulder separation, and Gus Leonard, who was unable to play. Davey Jones was carried from the ice midway through the first period after a hard bodycheck and did not return. It was reported he had suffered cracked ribs.

What started off to appear to be the best game of the season turned in more or less of a rout in the second and third frames with the TPT's highlight being the brilliant performance of Tony Parisi in the nets.

OFF STRIDE

The injury to Jones and the consequent juggling of lines appeared to throw the streamlined TPT squad off stride in the second frame. They did not come up with the effective bolt-way checking of the first period and the smooth-skating and passing Dunlops' power line swept in time after time to score.

Perhaps the score did not indicate the difference between the squads but they certainly thrown strictly on the defensive in the second and third frames. Their spasmodic forays were broken up by the hard-checking Dunlop defence and when they did get in scoring position, shot wide or were stopped by Dunlevy in the Dunlops' nets.

The power of the Dunlops was seen in the fact that every player on the squad improved his point score. Bus Gagnon came up with two goals as did Fred Eicher. Ted Degray had one and two, with Norm Attersley and McBeth getting the other counters. Bobby Attersley the league's scoring ace was held off the score sheet.

Bert Hill scored the only goal for the TPTs firing home the rubber on a neat passing play with Sammy Mulholland after four minutes of play in the first period.

The checking was hard but clean with Referees Moon Flanagan and Art Casterton handing out eleven penalties, all minors, six going to the Dunlops.

The Coxmen had the best of the argument in the first period outplaying the Dunlops in a hard-checking speedy frame. They suceed to the attack after O'Connor drew the first penalty of the game and seconds before he returned Hill smashed home Mulholland's rebound for the only score of the first.

The Dunlops lost little time in evening the count in the second period. Ted Degray pounded home Williams' rebound after two minutes of play and seconds later Parisi stopped Gagnon said what the Dunlop coach broke through to race in alone.

The Dunlops maintained the pressure and Neil Attersley put them one up on a three-way attack with Degray and Sinden. Williams and Mulholland went off within a minute of each other but the defences held and no damage was done.

The Dunlops, keeping up the relentless pressure, broke out in a scoring splurge after 15 minutes of play. Gagnon breaking with Bobby Attersley and O'Connor on a three-man attack beat Parisi cleanly and two minutes later Freddie Eicher scored the first of two goals to give the Dunlops a 4-1 lead. Eicher repeated 18 seconds later banging home Bonello's pass from feet out.

The third period saw the winners maintain the offensive with the TPT's apparently unable to get untracked. They were hemmed in behind their own blueline and only the fine work of Parisi kept the score down. McBeth took Degray's pass a minute after the period opened to extend the Dunlop lead to 6-1.

The TPTs battled gamely in a last cause but they could not cope with the dashing passing play and hard-checking of the group leaders.

Sinden drew a tripping sentence but the homesmen failed to capitalize. Then Gagnon and Taylor went off together for what was called elbowing but neither side scored although the Dunnies had the edge. The Coxmen battled hard getting nowhere and managed to race in on Dunlevy on occasions but they failed to click near the goalmouth or were turned aside by the goalie.

Gagnon engineered a neat play with the clock ticking the seconds off and scored after a clever passing combination with O'Connor and McBeth. Mulholland drew the last penalty with thirty seconds left to play.

The teams:

Whitby: goal, Dunlevy; defence, Sinden, Trees, Redmond, McBeth; forwards, B. Attersley, Gagnon, O'Connor, Degray, Williams, Air, Bonello, Eicher, N. Attersley.

Belleville: goal, Parisi; defence, Mulholland, Sinden, Gagnon.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kitchener-Waterloo Canucks, hot contenders so far this season, have again grabbed a share of first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League.

Canucks moved into a first-place deadlock with Toronto St. Michael's Majors Tuesday night when they defeated Barrie Flyers 8-7. It was the seventh victory in as many starts for Canucks this year.

At St. Catharines, TeePees appeared disorganized without captain Elmer Vasko and Ace centre Art Stratton, both out with illness. Vic Stasiuk scored three goals to pace the Ticuks and Tommy Burton and Brian Smith each scored twice for the winners. Max Saturn, Jerry Sullivan and Gord Thompson each counted once.

Western Players Not 'Stoolies' Says Official

WINNIPEG (CP)—Commissioner G. Sydney Halter of the Western Interprovincial Football Union said Tuesday night his a statement he is satisfied that no team in the league has received from a player of another team information concerning plays of his club.

However, he added that he intends "to recommend to the union at its next annual meeting that it put into effect a non-fraternization rule applicable to all players prior to games."

Halter issued the statement on completion of an investigation which he said was requested by Calgary Stampeders.

The statement made no reference to the firing of Dean Bandiera, a guard, by the Stampede last fall at the time WIFU president Jack Howard said "Bandiera indicated to some Winnipeg Blue Bomber players "which plays Stampeders were going to call." Bandiera denied he had disclosed some of his team's plays.

Halter's statement:

"I have completed an investigation of charges that Stampede football club and I am satisfied that no team in the Western Interprovincial Union has received from a player of another team, information concerning plays of his team.

NO ACTION

"There were some contradictory and unsubstantiated statements made inferring that on one occasion two players of opposing teams had exchanged information while fraternizing prior to a game, but the evidence relating thereto is not such that either demands or requires any disciplinary action being taken. Even if in fact such information was exchanged, I am satisfied that neither player received any advantage or was placed at any disadvantage thereby.

"I have concluded from the investigation that too much fraternization exists between players between members of competing clubs and I agree with the opinion of the majority of the coaches of the union's clubs that such fraternization is undesirable, and accordingly I intend to recommend to the union at its next annual meeting that it put into effect a non-fraternization rule applicable to all players prior to games."

James Swaps Pigskin for Puck Signs Contract With Toronto

The 21-year-old athlete, one of Canada's outstanding football players, Tuesday night signed a professional contract with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League.

James, a barging backfielder on the gridiron and a crashing right winger on the ice, arrived here from his hometown of Winnipeg Tuesday to sign a two-year contract with Leafs. Salary terms were not disclosed. But James said the pay was better than he could get in football.

If James sticks in big-league hockey it will be the end of his football career. The Stampeder property of the two pro sports. Hockey training camps open in September—when football is just getting under way.

Leaf officials were elated about the deal. They had tried for three years; since James joined Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, to sign him to a contract.

Leaf general manager Hap Day said Tuesday night:

"This is another shot—a big shot —right on the bull's-eye of our target to give Toronto fans the type of hockey they've been clamoring for and used to seeing."

A 183-pounder of nearly six foot, James said "If I make it, I figure I should last for 10 years in the NHL. I wouldn't last that long in football. They were mighty rough out west this season."

James was a great forward with Toronto Marlboros of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League. He led Marlboros to the Memorial Cup last years. However, he is no prima donna who thinks he can make the NHL on his reputation.

"I know they have fellows who can play better than I," he said. "If I do stay up with the Leafs—good. But if I have to be farmed out somewhere to develop, that's okay, too."

James named the best Canadian footballer last year, recently completed another tremendous season with Winnipeg. He was the second-highest ground gainer in the league, picking up 1,205 yards during the regular schedule. Only Normie Kwong of Edmonton Eskimos topped that. He totalled 1,220 yards, a league record.

James was named to The Canadian Press' all-star offensive team in the WIFU.

Eskys In Peak Form for Game Ivy Disdains Peahead Patter

VICTORIA (CP) — Kurt Burris of the Western Interprovincial Football Union's top centre and linebacker, remains a doubtful starter for Edmonton Eskimos in Saturday's Grey Cup game.

"He's coming along good," said coach Frank (Pop) Ivy at the team's workout Tuesday afternoon. "But we probably won't make any decision until Friday."

Ivy said the bone bruise of Burris' severely bruised knee standing against Winnipeg Blue Bombers in Vancouver's Empire Stadium, it is believed a certainty the squat, 205-pound Oklahoman will be one of only two U.S. imports to be cut by game time.

Ivy, meanwhile, steadfastly avoided making any kind of prediction.

"All I can say is that I know the boys will give us a good game," He said. "They'll be in peak form by Saturday."

Eskimos, holding twice - daily practices during their six-day stay here, held a light scrimmage session in the afternoon with Oak Bay Firefighters, a Victoria intermediate club.

NO SYMPATHY

Ivy had little sympathy for rival coach Doug (Peahead) Walker, who lamented that his Alouettes were forced to play a tough game against Edmonton Eskimos in the Big Four final last Saturday while Eskimos have been resting since last Wednesday. Walker said playoffs of the eastern and western leagues should be made a co-ed, cycle.

"It was a freak that it happened that way this year," said Ivy. "Every October year the western finals have gone to three games and the finalists have had the same amount of time to recover." Eskimos polished off Winnipeg Blue Bombers in their straight games in the best-of-three WIFU final this year.

Ivy didn't like statement that five of his players were on the injury list. Ivy said he could put too much stock in the report.

"Those are the same guys who will be meeting against us Saturday," he said.

LONDON (CP)—Gordon Wallace, 26-year-old Brantford fighter who knocked out Randy Turpin in October, will fight a ten-round welter bout, Terence Murphy, of Swansea, 10-round contest Dec. 6 at Harringay Arena.

Wallace was originally scheduled to meet Britain's Henry Hall at Nottingham Nov. 28, but this bout was cancelled after Barton lost his latest fight.

British sports writer says Murphy should be "clever enough" to beat Wallace, who was described as "unpolished but untalented" after defeating Turpin.

James J. Parker Wants 'Hurricane' Or Charles

The 225-pound Canadian heavyweight from Barrie summed up his impressive tuneup of his Nov. 15 battle in London against the 325-pound South African, Ewart (Pottie- Potgieter, "Boy, is Potgieter big!

The fight between the six-foot-three Canadian and the seven-foot-two South African resulted in a draw.

Parker, in Toronto to train for a possible bout, said:

Now a resident of Patterson, N.J., Parker said he will stay 10 days in Toronto and that he hopes promoter Frank Tunney will line up somebody to fight him.

"I hear there's talk about Tunney bringing Jackson (of New York)," said Parker. "He'd be fine. Or if they can get (former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles, he would do."

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes, beaten by a single point by Edmonton Eskimos in the 1954 Grey Cup game, carry six of their holdover imports into next Saturday's game at Vancouver when the Eskies and the As again meet.

The only import backfielder getting a second shot at the Eskimos is quarterback Sam Etcheverry. The other holdovers are centre Tom Hugo, tackles Tex Coulter and Jim Staton and ends Red O'Quinn and Hal Patterson. Injuried Sept Patterson, who also plays defensive half, out of the 1954 game.

The only new import lineman is Al Mackowiecki, formerly of Florida State University. He was shifted from tackle to guard when Cicia was injured. .

Pat Abbruzzi, the line smasher from Rhode Island Boy, is the only import backfielder who started the season and is still with the club. He's a second-string halfback originally and later switched to the outfield.

Assorted Mixture of Fans, Revellers Pours Into Vancouver for Big Game

VANCOUVER (CP)—The great track west is under way.

The vanguard of football fans, bands, beauty queens, cowboys and as assorted mixture of revellers started to pour into Vancouver today for the Grey Cup sports spectacle.

Trains bearing Miss Alouette, Miss Eskimo, executive of the Alouette football club, and a bevy of Montreal majorettes arrive this morning.

From that point on the flow increases as fans in special trains, planes and caravans of cars are arriving from many parts of the country.

An RCAF band from Edmonton and a train load of Eskimo fans were scheduled to arrive this afternoon.

CONTINUE TRAINING

Montreal Alouettes, the Big Four champions, will arrive by air later this afternoon and head for their training camp at nearby Whally.

Toronto's Maritime Bell will arrive this evening.

Members of the Vancouver Junior Chamber of Commerce, armed with thousands of grab bags and headache remedies, will board trains at points outside of Vancouver to welcome the fans.

Others will meet planes, ships and buses.

FIREWORKS AND CONCERT

The first act of "the big show" will open in Vancouver's Chinatown tonight when thousands of fireworks are set off in a 15-minute display of pyrotechnics. A band concert will be given at Kitsilano beach by the navy, while the air force will drop flares and the 2nd Battalion of the Queen's Own Rifles will give a demonstration drill.

To keep with the spirit of the festive mood, Mayor Fred Hume issued an appeal to downtown merchants to keep all lights burning in their stores Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

Meanwhile, Pacific National Exhibition officials, keepers of the $56,000 turf at Empire Stadium, are taking no chances. A giant nylon tarpaulin will cover the field quickly should it rain or snow.

And public officials are prepared for the greatest single morning job in the city's history. More than 100 extra trollies and buses will be pressed into service to handle the Grey Cup crowd, estimated at close to 40,000.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday occurs, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Thursday, Nov. 24, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — It is better to investigate first, think carefully, and speak tactfully, than to be quicker than the next person, but make a needless error that will mean re-doing.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — It will take more than your usual willingness to work to gain today; it will take keen analysis of all problems, perhaps conferences and extra planning, but it will all be worthwhile.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Gains can be made by keeping on the right track and following the rules and methods you've found profitable in the past.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Follow a well-devised plan now—one that is reasonable and not over-taxing. Sensible economy, avoidance of unnecessary debts stressed.

August 23 to September 23 — (Virgo) — Devote some time to study, reviewing and planning Friday's work. Check others' doings and the reasons for their success. Be a careful observer.

September 24, to October 23 — (Libra) — Benefic rays abound now, and the keen, intelligent go-getter will have many good ideas with consequent gains.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Don't be swayed by wrong directions or allow questionable propositions to influence your better judgment.

November 23 to December 22 — (Sagittarius) — Headway gains may be held up in early hours. Stick to sensible methods, tried and familiar endeavors; be constructive rather than critical. Tend to important tasks first.

December 23 to January 21 — (Capricorn) — It may require extra effort to convert things to your credit or favor now. Keep logic in foreground. Don't allow situations to affect your disposition.

January 22 to February 20 — (Aquarius) — You can do more than you think with a day like this. Begin with prayer, hope and fresh determination to alter what should be altered, change what needs changing. Enjoy diversion, too.

February 21 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Hostile talents is as bad as accumulating tangible things you don't make use of; worse. Assist others with your keen sense of balance, magnetism and aspirations for true achievement.

You born today are gifted with general ability and the gift of being able to cut red tape. You would be a clever reporter, traveler or teacher, though in the latter occupation you must guard against being too frugal with praise or dawdling are not part of your nature, and annoy you. Do not be too hasty in making decisions for, though your judgment is usually wise, you can overlook little but important details if not careful. In sports and pastimes you will contend fiercely, but in a fair and forthright manner. Protect your mental and physical health as you would material assets; they are more important. Birthdays of: Spinoza, Dutch philosopher; Laurence Sterne, Brit. humorist.

True Bill Returned

David and his sister, Linda, 8, disappeared Nov. 1 on their way home from school. They lived with their father, Herb McElres, and his mother.

Mrs. McElres and a soldier, Emil Melka, were arrested in Halifax and charged with abduction.

Mrs. McElres was committed for trial last Thursday after her preliminary hearing. Melka is to appear in police court Wednesday for preliminary hearing.

RETIRED LAWYER DIES

LINDSAY (CP)—Lewis Fredelick Clarry, 82, deputy attorney-general of Alberta from 1911 to 1934, died Tuesday. He was a former master of the Alberta Supreme Court and had lived here since 1945 when he retired from the bar in Calgary. Born in Belleville, he was called to the bar in 1898 and in the same year set up practice at Hastings, Ont.

Increased Truck Fees Will Bring $30,000,000

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario government hopes to raise an extra $30,000,000 annually through increased registration fees on trucks, it was reported Tuesday night.

The new rates, it was said, will go into effect Jan. 1. A proposed increase in passenger car registration fees also was believed under discussion but the government is expected to seek increased truck fees first.

Provincial Treasurer Dana Porter may have given advance warning of an increase last week when he said the province sooner or later must find additional revenue. He made the comment in an address to the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada.

The increase under discussion is expected to be confined to registration fees alone. Rates for public commercial vehicle licences would not be touched.

Trucks now pay from $7.50 to $250, depending on the weight and displacement of their trucks.

Car owners pay from $2 to $35 depending on the number of cylinders and the horsepower. Increases on passenger vehicles were expected to range from $2 to $3.

Bombay Gives Rousing Welcome To Soviet Chiefs

BOMBAY (Reuters) — Huge crowds today gave thunderous cheers as Soviet Premier Bulganin and Russia's Communist party chief, Nikita Khrushchev, arrived by air for a two-day visit during their tour of India.

The scenes were similar to those upon the Russian leaders' arrival in New Delhi last Friday, and contrasted with the violence in Bombay only two days ago.

Then, Communists and other left-wing groups protested the Indian government proposals to divide Bombay state into three parts.

Arab-Israeli Settlement Hopes Brighter

BAGHDAD, Iraq (Reuters) — Prospects for an Arab-Israeli settlement are improved following the inaugural conference here of the Baghdad pact council, authoritative British quarters said today.

The prediction came as delegates of the five pact powers—Britain, Turkey, Iraq, Pakistan and Iran—hailed their success in setting up the machinery for a new Middle East defence structure. They reported agreement on every issue under discussion.

One key British figure here said that on the Arab side at least, there was every sign that the Arabs feel the need for a permanent settlement with Israel over what he described as "this running sore in the Middle East."

Iraq, only Arab League member belonging to the pact, has urged her sister Arab states—so far without success—to join the new organization. At the same time, Iraq has pledged solidarity with the other Arab countries against any Israeli aggression.

Two Provinces Comparisons Dangerous

QUEBEC (CP) — Municipal Affairs Minister Prevost said Tuesday night comparisons between Quebec and Ontario are often dangerous and misleading.

Mr. Prevost told a political meeting that statistics "which are not interpreted properly and which do not take into account historic, geographic and social backgrounds constitute incomplete elements of appreciation and can even become lies."

Any comparison between wages in Quebec and Ontario would have to take into account this province's larger rural population, the greater number of persons in the non-active working group and other factors, he said.

Without running through the history of Ontario, it can be recalled that that province was favored much more than the province of Quebec during the early years of Confederation," he said. "For example, it was the federal government that built most of the Ontario railways while Quebec province was obliged to build its own railways and take on debts that have stretched out over the years.

"It can be generally noted that the federal government has always favored more the development of a railway system in Ontario than in Quebec. This has had its consequences in the economic life and has brought powerful industries to the banks of the Great Lakes."

Uranium Find In New Zealand Is Said 'Patchy'

WELLINGTON, N. Z. (Reuters) — An official report issued today by Prime Minister Sidney Holland says "a uranium find in New Zealand's Buller gorge area appears to be "patchy" and not a commercial proposition.

The Buller gorge deposit was found by two elderly prospectors, Charles Jacobson, 70, and Frederick Cassin, 77. They took samples which were officially shown to have high uranium content.

The official report says further checks are necessary, however. If a cross-section of the lode were found to contain as much uranium as the original samples, it says, sample prospecting by trenching and drilling would be justified.

But, "on present indications, the deposit is small, and not commercial."

Company Cuts Price of Cigarets

MONTREAL (CP)—The Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada has cut the price of filter-tip cigarets by two cents a package, it was learned Tuesday night.

Filter-tip cigarets, which until now sold at 39 cents a pack in Quebec, will in future sell at 37 cents—the price at which regular and cork tip cigarets now are selling, a company spokesman said.

Similar price cuts will be made in other provinces.

UN Disarmament Talks Resume But Hopes Slight

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United Nations disarmament commission scheduled new talks today on the question of arms reductions and preventing a nuclear war. But few delegates felt the new round would produce real results in view of the breakdown of the Big Four foreign ministers' Geneva meeting.

France's arms expert, Jules Moch, was expected to lead off the discussions, perhaps with a preview of a new Western approach to the arms issue.

Chief delegate Henry Cabot Lodge of the United States, just back from a special cabinet meeting with President Eisenhower, is to set forth the American viewpoint later this week.

Britain's State Minister Anthony Nutting, who took over the foreign office during Harold Macmillan's absence at Geneva, returned here Tuesday for the arms talks.

Diplomats were curious whether Soviet delegate Arkady Sobolev, who presided over the 12-country commission this month, would echo the sentiments of Foreign Minister Molotov at Geneva. Molotov gave the Western ministers no encouragement that their tentative program for a fresh approach to global disarmament would ever get anywhere.

Veteran observers predict that the commission will run through the annual report of its five-power sub-committee, then dump the whole controversial question into the lap of the UN general assembly. The assembly had delayed debate in hopes that the foreign ministers would reach some agreement paving the way for action here.

8 Million Pounds Of Surplus Butter Sold At Big Loss

Dutch Firm Makes Purchase For Resale to East Germany

OTTAWA (CP)—Between 7,000,000 and 8,000,000 pounds of government-held surplus butter have been sold to a Dutch importer for resale in East Germany, an agriculture department spokesman said today.

"A sale has been completed and the butter is being loaded aboard a boat in Montreal," he said. The butter is to be shipped will depend on the carrying capacity of the boat.

It is understood that while the contract calls for an immediate purchase of between 7,000,000 and 8,000,000 pounds there is an option to buy an additional 3,000,000 pounds.

The official said the contract price is in the neighborhood of 37 cents a pound, 21 cents less than the price paid for the surplus butter by the agricultural prices support board.

SECOND SALE

The deal is similar to one under which 314,832 pounds of butter were sold to Communist Czechoslovakia last summer. The price paid then was 37 cents a pound.

First hint of the new butter deal was given in the annual report by Agriculture Minister Gardiner. At that time he said the sale might involve the butter surplus which he described as the Canadian butter surplus.

However, the next day the National Dairy Council of Canada, representing the country's dairy producers, estimated the surplus at 15,000,000 pounds. It said total butter stocks Oct. 1 were 126,585,000 pounds—42,000,000 more than the five-year average for that time of year.

FROZEN POINT 81 CENTS

The government always has maintained that a certain amount of butter must be held back to fill the country's butter "pipeline" during the winter when production is at its lowest. It says this butter is not surplus.

The government buys surplus butter during the high-production summer period for 81 cents a pound. To break even it must sell it for 61 cents a pound to cover the 20 cents-a-pound storage and handling costs.

Tree Bombs Parked Auto So City Pays

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It was a mistake, Joseph Stadelman said, to park his automobile under a monkey puzzle tree.

The tree began shedding seed cones shortly afterward. Some of the cones weighed as much as eight pounds each, and were as big as footballs. Five of them crashed on top of Stadelman's car.

He put in a claim for $105.20 damages against the city of Los Angeles, which planted the Chilean evergreen years ago. On advice of the city attorney, the claim was honored Thursday.

But the city won't be planting so many of those trees in the future.

Size of Russian Nuclear Blast Is Not Surprise

OTTAWA (CP)—A senior Canadian defence scientist Wednesday night said Russia's biggest nuclear explosion doesn't appear to be bigger than the West assumed the Soviet was capable of producing.

Dr. O. M. Solandt, retiring chairman of the Defence Research Board, said the explosion, described by the United States Atomic Energy Commission as the largest yet in the U.S.S.R., could not be interpreted as indicating Russia has gained any advantage in nuclear weapons "at all."

"It is just another in a development series," he said commenting on the AEC's announcement. "It fits in somewhere which we might be expected from their previous nuclear program."

Dr. Solandt, who last month warned that Russia is overtaking the West in weapons development, said that from information available about the nuclear explosion nothing could be deduced about the relative positions of Russia and the West in atomic development.

Helicopter Joins Police Campaign To Cut Accidents

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario Provincial Police said today they have borrowed a helicopter to use in their drive to cut highway accidents.

The aircraft will patrol today about 60 miles from the Queen Elizabeth way and will relay information about traffic jams and speeders to patrol cars on the highway, they said.

If results are satisfactory, the force may buy one for use in areas where there is no expressway and speeding is noted, a spokesman said.

Aboard the helicopter today will be Inspector W. H. Clark, supervisor of the safety drive.

Today's Chuckle

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) — Synopsis: Ontario is having its second cold invasion of the week today as cold northwest winds whistle from Saskatchewan. Most daytime temperatures shiver close to the freezing mark in the south and near 20 in the north. Snow will fly too today but only from Georgian bay north.

Overnight lows will be in the low 20's in the south. Friday it should be a little milder but increasing high clouds during the day will mark the start of the next new weather disturbance which will probably bring snow by night.

DOUBT PIPELINE COMPANY CAN MEET CONTRACT

Government Financing Only Way to Get Start

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario agreed to the federal government's scheme to finance the proposed all-Canadian natural gas pipeline after an adviser said it seemed to be the only way the line could be started by next year.

Premier Frost said Wednesday night he agreed to the federal plan. At the same time, he released a report from an adviser who expressed doubt that Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Limited would be able to carry out its part of an agreement with Ottawa within the deadline.

The report was submitted by J. Grant Glassco of Clarkson, Gordon and Company, a firm of chartered accountants.

It urged the Ontario government to consider what action it should take in the event the company's plans should fail.

FOR COST OF LINE

Under the scheme, the company is responsible for the cost of the line from Alberta to Ontario, an estimated $130,000,000.

The federal and Ontario governments would be responsible for bringing the line the rest of the border to Kapuskasing at a cost of $85,000,000.

Ontario would be responsible for $35,000,000 of the share of the two governments. The company would rent this section of the line under an arrangement whereby it would buy it later.

Glassco's report recommended acceptance of the plan only because, he said, a start could be made on the line than if it were necessary to negotiate with many municipalities.

Trans-Canada Pipe Lines has until May 1 to show it can fulfil its obligations. To make the undertaking economic, the company has to sell large quantities of Alberta gas to the United States Midwest by way of Winnipeg and Emerson, Man. It has a sales contract with Transcontinental Pipeline Company of the U.S., which is to become a Trans-Canada partner.

MUST BE ASSURED

To import the gas from Canada, Tennessee must get a permit from the U.S. federal power commission.

In view of the many existing uncertainties the company may well be unable to achieve its timetable," Mr. Glassco said.

"It also appears that an all government-owned pipeline would be economically feasible even though no sales were made to the United States."

The Ontario government has favored an alternative involving the federal government and provincial governments within whose jurisdiction the line would pass would participate in the construction.

Premier Frost said Ontario will be set up to handle financing if that plan is adopted.

Mr. Frost said the only chance for commencement of construction this year is for the project to be in proceeding with the present plan.

The agreement between Canada and Ontario sets out the company's negotiations with other parties but did not examine the contents of the company's plans. Attention should be given to development of an ornate plan of action if the present one fails, the premier said.

Man Re-enters Burning Home, Is Suffocated

HULL, Que. (CP) — Romeo Langevin re-entered his burning home early today and was overcome with his family and was suffocated. He was the city's 16th fatality from fire this year.

Body of the 42-year-old father of three was recovered from the two-storey brick duplex in the downtown section of the city. Damage to the building was not known.

Earlier, $15,000 damage was done to the building before the fire was extinguished.

Langevin's death was the second in as many days in a fire here. Wednesday Lionel Sarazin, 34, suffered a fatal heart attack while fighting a blaze that broke out in a paper mill.

A fire Nov. 17 claimed five lives, including those of two children, when a three-storey apartment building was gutted. Another major blaze here this year, seven children of one family were burned to death when their home was razed.

Man May Some Day Live Forever, Declares U.S. Medical Scientist

MONTREAL (CP)—It may someday be possible for man to live forever, a United States medical scientist said Wednesday.

"I believe we are on the track of the processes that cause aging and control it," Dr. Bernard L. Gottlieb, head of the Life Prolongation Institute of the Biscuit Research Foundation of Madison, Wis., told the medical staff of the Montreal Jewish General Hospital.

"If our theory is correct it may be possible to halt or reverse these processes," he said. "But the work is still theoretical and in a very early stage."

Dr. Gottlieb said that he and other scientists are working on the theory originally proposed by Dr. Johan Bjorksten, head of the foundation that bears his name.

This theory holds that growing old is a chemical process in which "cross-linkage" of protein molecules takes place. As a result protein molecules are constantly being broken down and renewed and Dr. Bjorksten's theory is that a certain proportion of them escape the renewal process.

As age increases an increasing amount of protein is made inert, Dr. Gottlieb said this inert protein clogs the cells and interferes with the normal function of the cell—at first slightly, then considerably and, finally, fatally.

Scientists are hoping to prove this theory first and then to find ways of preventing the cross-linkage of the protein molecules, Dr. Gottlieb added.

Construction Firm Attempted Bribery of Twp. Officials Report of Judge Forsyth

TORONTO (CP)—A judicial report today said a Toronto construction company attempted last summer to violate the Criminal Code in trying to bribe officials of suburban Scarborough.

The report also said the circumstances under which Scarborough Reeve Oliver Crockford obtained a Cadillac automobile "give rise for grave suspicion."

The report was made by judge Robert Forsyth of Toronto, who sat for several weeks as a special commissioner inquiring into circumstances under which Gramacy Building and Development, Ltd., sent four $500 cheques to the federal ship councillors and two township officials.

Mr. Crockford said he purchased the $5,500 vehicle for $3,300 through subdivider Walter Pugh, whose firm has several housing developments in the township.

The difference was explained by them as a saving which resulted in a trade-in deal.

Both Mr. Crockford and Mr. Pugh said the transactions were in cash and no records were kept.

Judge Forsyth's report was published after a special council meeting, called this morning, voted to do so. Copies had been sent Wednesday to the attorney - general's department and to the township clerk.

Judge Forsyth said:

1. "The circumstances under which Reeve Crockford purchased his Cadillac car give rise for grave suspicion."

2. "The evidence clearly indicates an attempt was made to commit an offence under Section 104 of the Criminal Code by Gramacy Building and Development, Ltd." Section 104 deals with municipal corruption.

Israel May Use Yugoslavia As Egyptian Mediator

JERUSALEM (Reuters) — A meeting between Yugoslavia's minister to Israel, Dr. Vlado Popovic, and foreign minister Ivri weight today by rumors that Israel is using President Tito's good offices in mediation with Egypt.

A communique after the meeting, which was at the Yugoslav's request, said only that the envoys, Yovan Wokmanovitch, and the minister, Mr. Golda Meir, had discussed about the Middle East situation.

Tito is due to visit Cairo next month. Observers here believe that the initiative in the mediation move has come from Belgrade. But they see Israeli readiness to accept it in the reported intention of Gideon Raphael, a high-ranking Israeli foreign ministry official, to visit Belgrade just before Tito leaves for Cairo.

Baltic Clergy Ask to Question Soviet Visitors

TORONTO (CP)—A group of Baltic-Canadian clergymen today asked that they be allowed to question a visiting delegation of Russian church officials on U. S. S. R. religious conditions.

The Canadian group presented its request in a letter to the United Church of Canada, sponsors of the tour by four Russian church leaders headed by Archbishop Boris of Moscow. The delegation is scheduled to arrive in Montreal on air next Monday and will visit Ottawa, Toronto and Edmonton.

The letter, signed by ministers and pastors of 11 Estonian, Latvian and Lithuanian churches, said:

"Your friendly attitude to the clergymen of the Soviet Union comes as a great surprise to us. The role of the church in the Communist system is by now well known, and we do not have any hopes in connection with this tour.

The Canadian group asked that it be allowed to question the visiting delegation before newspaper men.

But the aide added that no official step has been taken by either the British or U.S. governments to arrange a transatlantic trip by the prime minister.

The seven American congressmen, led by Senator Mike Mansfield (Dem., Mont.), had urged Eden to go to Washington for a talk with the president.

It is assumed by government officials here that the congressmen's visit helped administration in Washington of Eden's reaction to their suggestion.

TWO U.K. SOLDIERS SHOT TO DEATH BY TERRORISTS

Military Patrol Cars Attacked by Rioters

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters) — Two British soldiers were killed and three others wounded in attacks by tommy-gun-firing terrorists today.

The casualty toll reached five late today when a British private was killed and an officer and another soldier wounded in a mountain ambush southeast of Nicosia.

Guerrillas with tommy-guns opened fire on the two army vehicles in which the soldiers were riding.

TOLL NOW FIVE

Earlier a British Army sergeant was shot down and killed by terrorists in a high-powered car as he walked home for lunch in Nicosia.

The two deaths today were the heaviest casualties British troops fighting terrorism in Cyprus have experienced over any given period. They raised the total death toll to five British soldiers killed since terrorists began a campaign for underground war last March for self-determination and union with Greece.

The sergeant was cut down by a burst of tommy-gun fire only a couple of yards from the house where he lived with his wife a few hundred yards from one of Nicosia's busiest main streets. He died as he was rushed to the hospital.

His death, coupled with the wounding of another British soldier in a terrorist attack on two patrol cars today, aroused a furious wave of indignation in British Army camps throughout the British colony.

STUDENTS DEMONSTRATE

The bomb put both patrol cars out of action as it exploded in a crowded shopping centre. The troops had entered Nicosia after students began a demonstration at Phaneromeni Cathedral, starting point of an outburst of rioting Monday.

Ten prominent Greek Cypriots of all shades of opinion were arrested Wednesday under the Cyprus emergency powers were sent to a detention camp near Nicosia today. They include two members of the ethnarchy council—Nikos Nicolaou of the Greek Orthodox Church in Cyprus led by Archbishop Makarios, and the campaigner for union of this British colony with Greece.

Today, Limassol streets bring the total held under this law to 118—all Greek Cypriots. They are detained at a camp eight miles west of Nicosia.

Russian Nuclear Test Sharpens Atomic Arms Race

Mighty Blast Is Largest Ever Set Off by Soviet

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia's mightiest nuclear test blast—probably involving a hydrogen bomb—has sharpened the atomic arms race in the opinion of American officials.

Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission announced Wednesday night that the Soviet Union has set off another explosion in its current test series.

He described this blast as "the largest thus far in the U.S.S.R. . . in the range of megatons."

ONLY HYDROGEN BLAST

The AEC chairman didn't call it a hydrogen explosion, but only such a thermonuclear blast could produce so energy yield measured in megatons, or an explosive equivalent of millions of tons of TNT.

Less-powerful fission-type atomic bombs produce yields up to about 100 kilotons—that is, the equivalent of 100,000 tons of TNT. The atomic bomb that levelled three Japanese cities at the end of World War II might.

Strauss' statement left open the question of whether the newest Russian blast was a few times larger than the greatest American nuclear explosion, on March 1, 1954, at Bikini atoll in the Pacific. That test blast was estimated unofficially as more than 10 times that of between 15,000,000 and 17,000,000 tons of TNT.

The Russian tests indicate an increasingly intensive effort by the Soviet government to develop their nuclear weapons potential,' Strauss said.

AFTER GENEVA

The announcement of this latest Soviet test came on the heels of the Geneva conference, where the Big Four foreign ministers failed to arrive at a solution to East-West differences despite the outwardly friendly relations generated by the "summit" talks, also at Geneva, July 18-23.

This newest and most powerful Soviet nuclear test is taken in Washington as a warning to the West to take heed of Russia's might.

The first confirmed Russian H-bomb blast was reported by the AEC a August 20, exactly three weeks ago the commission came out with its first announcement—previous to Wednesday's—of a Russian nuclear explosion which it said was part of a test series.

A world-wide detection system, which includes equipment for the earthquake seismograph and highaltitude sampling by air for traces of fission or fusion products, enables the free world to know within a short time when Russia sets off a nuclear device at her central Asian proving grounds, Presumably this basis uses the same technique for checking on other countries.

Washington officials have been saying that they believe the U.S. is "not ahead" of the Russians in nuclear weapons.

Reds Substitute Inspection of Fish For Scheduled Press Conference

By HAROLD K. MILKS

BUDAPEST (AP)—Russia's visitors made the Bombay squarrel-chasing scamper look a snail today as a promised meeting with news correspondents was dropped suddenly from their schedule.

The Press Guild of India had arranged a press conference with Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev, who are through Hungary after a state visit to Prime Minister Nehru.

The mass interview was first advanced from afternoon to early morning, then cancelled. Inspection of the fish was substituted. Government information officers had no explanation for the change.

Bulganin appeared cheerful this morning — spurred rioting Monday, was calm today, though vast crowds lined the visitors' route, cheering and waving flags.

The fish had no apparent connection with the Soviet leaders' press conference plans. The host government's proposal to make Bombay city an independent state and separate it from neighboring Marathi-speaking territory.

Within seconds of the destruction riots—in which at least 12 were killed and 200 injured—the visitors hurriedly cleared away before the Russians' arrival. Burned-out buses, piles of stones and bricks and felled trees which had cluttered main streets were replaced by arches with greetings in Russian and Hindi.

After the aquarium, Bulganin and Khrushchev were to visit key government projects in the Budapest area. From Bombay they will travel across the south Indian agricultural section to Madras.

Runaway Auto Leaps Into Bed In Third Storey

DALLAS (AP) — When Mrs. Edward Lee Cowart investigated a noise in their hotel bedroom Wednesday night she reported to her husband, "Honey, you've got a car in your bed."

A late-model car had missed the entrance to the skyscraper parking building next to the hotel, leaped six feet through space and crashed through the wall of the third-floor bedroom. The tenants were visiting in another room across the hall at the time.

The parking station attendant, Fred Jackson, 22, said the car's brakes failed to hold and the vehicle leaped off the winding ramp.

Use of School Buildings After Hours Resulting In Higher Heating, Janitor Costs

The use of school buildings for public meetings during the evening is resulting in high heating and janitor costs, it has been brought to the attention of members of the public school board.

At the regular monthly meeting of the school board held this week, members entered into a lengthy discussion on the usage of school buildings by certain associations, members of which remain in the building for periods following meetings thereby detaining caretakers.

A special committee was appointed to go into the matter with the view of setting rates substantially greater for use of school buildings during late hours.

A special committee of Bruce Bishop and George Olsen was appointed to confer with the educational committee to ascertain if it was possible to limit the evening activities of the committee in one building rather than have them spread among schools in various parts of the city. Such a system would substantially reduce heating costs for the board, it was pointed out.

Maximum salaries of members of the caretaking staff were increased from $3,000 per annum to be $3,000 to be reached by annual increments of $120.

The request of the Hastings county X-ray Council to sell seals in the schools was declined, the board pointing out that it was their policy not to allow sales in schools and not to interfere with classroom instruction.

The resignation of Mrs. Lola Bradshaw, teacher at the Queen Elizabeth School, was accepted, effective December 31st. No replacement for Mrs. Bradshaw has yet been secured. Mrs. Bradshaw's husband has been transferred to Toronto.

A special committee of board members, Mrs. D. Tugnette, D. MacKinney and L. Langabeer, was appointed to receive information regarding any local boards or clubs which may be interested in assisting with an Elmer the Elephant safety campaign proposed for local schools.

The school board will set up its own policy regarding allocation of fire insurance on school property with local agencies instead of using the point rating of the Belleville Insurance Association. This will result in some adjustments next year.

The action of the board followed a report of a special committee appointed to look into insurance problems. The report of the committee was adopted with the exception of the recommendation that all participants be members of the Belleville Insurance Association and that the board apply the Association point rating.

Board members present at the meeting included chairman F. Smith, Mrs. D. Tugnette, B. Bishop, L. Langabeer, D. McKinney, G. Olsen, R. Poste, M. Lovelace, J. Ritchie, Dr. Russell Scott, J. Symons, G. Trill and J. Ward.

Pictures in Art Exhibit Portray Scenes of Beauty in Quinte Area

The warehouses and loading areas along the waterfront of the Moira River are scenes which don't mention of people from Belleville, but it is a common thing when an artist sees it and puts it on his canvas. For Nicholas Mika it is a thrill to paint and multi-colored back yards behind the stone wall along the river that quietly flows into the Bay of Quinte.

Looking at Mr. Mika's paintings you realize once more how many beautiful places surround us. It was a delightful to see over forty pictures in oil or watercolor as well as some pencil sketches prepared for this Saturday's exhibition at the Y.M.C.A.

The paintings are pleasing and full of color, but far of being sweet with over-loaded effects. "The brush is not a camera", said the artist, "but another do I want to appear over-modern not to shock the public." Introducing his work he explained what kind of brushes he uses, a flat bristle one to paint

80 to Attend 3-Day Meeting In Kingston

A delegation of 80 ministers from here will be attending the three day conference of Jehovah's Witnesses in Kingston from the 25th of November to the 27th. The theme of the assembly will be qualified ministers.

The goal the Witnesses have in view is to assist everyone associated with the organization to become a fully qualified minister. To help in attaining this goal circuit assemblies are held every six months. Throughout the world there are approximately one thousand circuits with congregations numbering from fifteen to twenty within each circuit. In this way the 625,000 active ministers are given special training under this policy.

The program beginning Friday night at 8 p.m. includes vocal songs, field experiences, demonstrations, pantomimes and discourses. The final meeting will service Saturday with a special program starting Saturday evening. Mr. Douglas E. Held who has recently returned from Europe after attending the European conventions will be in charge of the convention. Bowl O' Fun Winners Named

Formal blues were the order of the day at Belleville armoury last night at the Hastings and Prince Edward regiment held one of the most auspicious events of the year.

The blues, however, were only in the shape of formal dress for the 65 officers, who attended the annual regimental officers' mess dinner. Otherwise, the atmosphere could not have been brighter.

The dinner, held in the lecture hall behind the officers' mess also was attended by some distinguished guests, including Col. L. N. Carr, commanding officer of the 13th Militia Group and Col. Cyl Vincent, commanding officer of the School of Artillery at Picton.

One of the highlights of the dinner came late in the evening, when HONORARY LIEUTENANCY Presented with the Canadian Forces decoration, symbolical of 12 years' distinguished service, was Lt. Gavin Scott, Belleville, the most popular officer of the regiment.

"I wonder him the model of all junior officers we have here," said Lt.-Col. E. S. Fairman, making the presentation to Lt. Scott.

He also praised his diligent attention to both the regiment and adjutant. "I have never once seen Mr. Scott when he was not immaculately dressed.

"On one occasion I had to use my sneaker kick to lift some teen-age girls," he added amid laughter from the tables.

Farley Mowat's "The Regiment", the recently-published history of the regiment, was given to all officers by the Hastings and Prince Edward regiment association in the picture, when copies of the book were presented to all the mess of the regiment. The volumes were given by Col. P. H. Wills, honorary colonel of the Hastings and Prince Edwards. However, Col. Wills was unable to attend the dinner, so copies of the books were presented in his name by Maj. Bill Greene in an officers-commanding of the seven units of the regiment.

Lt.-Col. Fairman also made a presentation of the book to Col. Vincent, the guest.

MORE OFFICER TRAINING

He pointed out that training of senior and junior NCOs is progressing, but added: "It is up to the officers to equip themselves with knowledge as best they can so that they will know what is going on in their own companies and platoons.

"If the men do not receive more inspiration and encouragement from each and every officer then the success and the training of this regiment is going to be sadly hampered.

"Starting in the beginning of the year theh regiment will institute a course for all its lieutenants to qualify as captains," he said. All lieutenants who are not qualified captains will take the course and failure to do so will mean they will automatically go on the retired list.

"If this regiment does not receive some encouragement from the top then the NCOs are going to suffer. No unit can stand still," he warned.

He commented on the proper dress of officers befitting certain occasions and requested that any of them who do not possess the formal blue dress uniform to do so.

COMMENTED ON REGIMENT PRIDE

He commented on the great pride the regiment possessed and added: "If we are going to carry on that same esprit-de-corps in this regiment, then the officers should express that feeling."

Major H. Long, 2-I.C. of the regiment, also addressed the assembly briefly on the ethics of life in the army and how hard for a man to be a civilian at one time and a soldier in five minutes, but a good man can do it.

Toast to the Queen was proposed by Lt. Jack Fullerton and the toast to the regiment was given by Col. Carr.

Commenting that it was "a pretty rough spot for a gunner," Col. Vincent spoke on the cordial relations existing between his regular army unit and the regiment and assured the unit's support in any of the regiment's activities.

Following the dinner the officers watched films of the recent inspection of the 12th Militia Group in Belleville and of the regimental reunion with former officers and officers of the regiment, Lord Tweedsmuir.

IN MEMORIAM

GROTTO. — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, John Grotto, who passed away November 24th, 1954.
Lonesome here without you dear,
Lonesome here you're missed each year,
Somehow His does not seem the same
Since you've gone and left us lone.
Our rest and many a heartache,
Alone with none but God to see you.
As the years roll this second and year.
Sadly missed and ever remembered by his wife, Mary Grotto, daughter, Mrs. Mary Ann Farr, son-in-law and grandchildren.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Lacking direction from New York, which is observing the Thanksgiving holiday, the stock market marked time during the first hour of business today. Trading was slow with most activity in the mining section. Industrials were almost at a standstill.

Thanksgiving Day Celebrated In United States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Americans at home and abroad paused today to celebrate their observance of Thanksgiving. They thronged to houses of worship, gathered before their fireslides—and prepared to eat just a bit too much for comfort.

There were parades, football games and special attention to the unfortunate.

At their Gettysburg, Pa., farm home, President and Mrs. Eisenhower were a symbol of the traditional celebration. With them to partake of a turkey dinner and some pleasant family talk were the Eisenhower son, Maj. John Eisenhower, their daughter-in - law and their three grandchildren.

And those in United States armed forces stationed throughout the world girded for a turkey dinner and all the trimmings.

In Korea, more than 20,000 American soldiers devoured a gourmet's dinner even though camped in bleak hills guarding the 2½-year-old armistice.

OPP Crackdown Bringing Results

The current Ontario Provincial Police crackdown on highway motorists is bearing bitter fruit for drivers infringing the traffic act.

Evidence of this can be found in this morning's county court docket which listed over 60 charges laid by OPP for infractions of the highway code.

The charges were as varied as they were many. Fines ranged from a lowly $8 for just plain speeding to $13.50 for failure to use the lower beam of headlights, up to $53.50 for overloading.

The crackdown appears to be a cumulative process — though the accused drivers might call it something else—for police this next week's docket will contain even more charges against careless drivers.

Bank Accountant Identifies Accused As One of Robbers Who Staged Marmora Holdup

James Orval Ross, 32, of Toronto, on trial on a charge of bank robbery at the Gilmour Sessions of the Peace for Hastings county, was yesterday identified as one of the two robbers, who last June 29th, 1954, held the Toronto-Dominion Bank at Marmora of $5,400 after tying up the bank staff.

Bank accountant Arthur Moss, 31, told the petit jury that he recognized the prisoner at the bar as the "smaller" of the two men, who tied the bank staff up at gun point and escaped with the money. The two robbers had been admitted to the bank after they identified themselves as plumbers come to make repairs.

The witness, who was on the stand all afternoon, told the jury that Hon. Mr. Justice J. C. Anderson how the robbers had identified themselves as plumbers as he arrived at the bank early for work about 9:30 on the morning of the robbery.

Once inside the bank he and Miss Wilma Mills, another member of the bank staff, had been forced at gun point to lie on the floor while their hands and feet were tied. Other members of the staff were treated in the same manner as they arrived.

Mr. Moss said he had told staff members knowing combinations of the bank vault and safe to co-operate with the robbers and turn off their combinations. The robbers had been forced to ask, however, until the time lock on the safe ran out — four minutes before ten o'clock. Then they transferred the contents of the cash box into a burlap bag and after herding the bank employees to the basement furnace room, left the bank.

CONSIDERATE OF STAFF

The two bank robbers, however, had been considerate of the bank staff while waiting for the time locks to run down.

Three times during the holdup the robbers acceded to requests resulting in comfort to the staff.

On one occasion the employees were permitted to change their position on the floor so they could rest their backs against the walls. Another time the "smaller" of the two robbers left his pills and a drink of water for bank manager Carl McKay who, it was said, suffered a weak spell.

And on a third occasion cigarettes were handed around to staff members who cared to smoke to relax.

"Sort of a smoke break during the holdup," commented Defence Counsel Kenneth G. M. Ross of Belleville, causing a ripple of laughter through the courtroom.

But the wait for the time lock on the bank safe to run down was hard on the robbers' nerves.

The witness said that early during the holdup when informed of the time locks, the robbers had replied "we can wait, we have plenty of time."

Later, one of the men was heard to say: "We want to get out of here in a hurry, we have another job to do."

The witness quoted the robbers as saying they were going to "get" a man working at Bethenese who had caused one of them to spend 15 years in the Kingston penitentiary.

Mr. Moss said this along with the money a 32 calibre black automatic had been taken from a desk drawer at the bank.

The witness described the larger of the two men-as being about five feet ten inches in height and weighing 175 to 185 pounds. He was wearing a fishing cap and sun glasses; had on a red, black and white checkered shirt, tan jacket and brown oxfords.

ONE WORE GLOVES

The "smaller" of the two men was described as being five feet, seven or eight inches in height and weighing 135-140 pounds. He was said to have been wearing a greenish brown hat, a faded blue and white shirt, grey trousers and work boots. He was wearing black leather gloves.

"Do you see the smaller of the two men in court today?" asked Crown Counsel Ralph Graham.

"Yes," was the reply, indicating the prisoner.

"Any doubt at all?"

"Not the least," was the reply. Mr. Moss said that following his annual holidays in July he had gone to Belleville with other members of the staff to witness a police lineup. He said he had identified one man in the lineup as being one of the bank robbers.

"Do you see that man in court today?" asked the Crown.

"Yes," was the reply, again indicating the prisoner.

Under cross examination by Defence Counsel Ross, the witness said he had been a bank employee for 15 years. He said it was not unusual for him to go to work early, although he generally arrived at the bank a few minutes before nine.

"Were you not alarmed when two strange men were at the bank seeking admittance at that hour of the morning?" asked defence counsel.

"I don't want it thought that I was a sucker to let them in," returned the witness. "Repairs were being made at the bank and I thought that at the bank on several occasions."

SEQUENCE OF EVENTS

Asked what bank instructions were regarding admitting strangers into the bank outside banking hours, the witness said bank employees were to assure themselves that the persons seeking entry were responsible.

The witness was cross-examined at some length regarding the sequence in which members of the bank staff had arrived at the bank on the morning of the robbery and of happenings during the holdup.

At times the witness went into lengthy explanations regarding his answers but when defence counsel asked that answers be confined to "yes" or "no" Judge Anderson ruled the witness should have the opportunity of explaining his answers if he wished to do so.

Two-Month Term For Keeping Liquor for Sale

Pleading guilty to having liquor for sale, Richard Thomas Terry, Point Anne, today was sentenced to two months in the county jail by Magistrate T. Y. Wills in county court today.

Terry was stowed away after police said he had a large quantity of liquor stowed away for sale. It was found in his possession after a raid by provincial police October 28th.

OPP Cpl. R. Kowal investigated.

Two youths also were fined $15 each and had their licences suspended for a month by Magistrate Wills for careless driving.

Leo Labelle and William Verterell, Shannonville, pleaded guilty to the charge laid after they were stopped on the four-lane highway east of the city by OPP Constable Murray McCormick. Constable McKenzie said he watched the boys drive side by side at speeds of up to 80 miles per hour.

Also in court on a charge of drunk driving was John Norman Lackaye of Brighton. Lackaye also faces charges of dangerous driving, careless driving and having liquor, following an accident on Highway No. 2, at Bayside on November 16, 1954.

Lackaye's car collided head-on with a west-bound transport driven by Louis Henry Ingram of Belleville. With Lackaye at the time was a Toronto man, Joseph Fontaine.

Hearing of the charges was adjourned after evidence had been given by the truck driver; Dr. W. A. L. McDonald, of Trenton, who attended Lackaye after the accident; OPP Constable Murray Robertson and Roscoe Vanderwater of Burton St., Belleville, a witness to the accident. Lackaye pleaded not guilty.

BCI and Quinte Secondary School Completely Filled By Sept. 1956 Board Is Told

With the new Quinte Secondary school completed little more than a year ago, members of the Quinte District High School Area Board are again pondering the need for additional school accommodation which will be definitely required by September, 1957.

Members of the board were told at their November meeting that both the Collegiate Institute and the Quinte Secondary School will be completely filled by September 1956. Temporary arrangements will in all probability be made for this school term but additional accommodation will definitely be needed by 1957.

Most of the time at the meeting and also at a special meeting held last week was taken up by discussion of accommodation problems. It is expected that when the extra accommodation is provided it will take the form of an addition at the Quinte Secondary School.

APPROVE MOTION

The board approved of a recommendation from the principals at the Quinte High schools that no students be released from classes for Christmas employment until after December 20th.

Authorization was given to Principal E. A. Orr and J. B. Durrant, chairman of property and supply to complete the purchase of equipment for the cafeteria at the collegiate. It is expected the new cafeteria will be put into operation following the Christmas holiday.

A committee of Mrs. Barber, Mrs. R. Morden and J. Durrant with the board chairman and Principal Orr was set up to engage a cafeteria operator and assistant.

The resignation of Mrs. Catherine Mazer, teacher at the Quinte Secondary School, was accepted.

The board authorized a salary increase to $35 weekly for the cafeteria assistant at the Quinte Secondary School.

The Ontario Provincial Police will be requested to make an inspection of all buses bringing students to Belleville high schools.

Harold C. Seldon and A. O. Dryscale were named as additional members to the board planning committee along with George Wishart.

The commercial instructors at the two local schools were authorized to attend schools in Kingston for one day during examination period.

Police Blotter

Infractions of the peace were few and far between in the city and district last night.

Mostly minor details were handled by both city and provincial police on the night watch.

Only unfavorable incident was the report of Mrs. James Lounsberry, 22 Moodie St., that someone was trying to set fire to her garage. The matter is under investigation.

Provincial police reported all quiet on the highways.

TO THE GUILLOTINE!

The French had their Marie Antoinette and the Russians had Rasputin. A queen, especially a beautiful one, adds a touch of glamor to tales of a revolution, while a mad monk is a storyteller's delight. Alas and alack, it looks as if our revolution will be spurred by nothing more inspiring than a school superintendent, with brow furrowed over lengthy reports typed in triplicate.

The revolution, though, will be real enough, if U.S. News and World Report is right about what is in the wind in the educational arena.

"Many towns and cities in the United States, beset by acute classroom shortages, are facing this hard choice: more taxes for parents and other citizens, or less education for children," says this magazine.

It then proceeds with suggestion for getting out of this dilemma: make existing school buildings do extra duty.

This is not entirely a new idea. Staggered classes have been tried before, in some communities in Canada as well as in the United States.

The latest suggestion, however, does not visualize anything as simple as lengthening the school day, but involves lengthening the school year. Pupils would go to school for nine months of the year, as they do now, but these nine-month terms would not be the same for all of the students. Some would have their three-month vacation in the summer, some in the fall, some in the winter and some in the spring.

We may be pardoned for doubting whether all teachers will be delighted as the backers of the plan anticipate. Working on a twelve-month basis would enable the teachers to earn more, say the advocates of this solution.

But that is not where the revolution will be generated, amongst the ranks of students and teachers.

Those big tumbling tax bills you hear are rising from the kitchens of a million homes.

Some housewives have had a little experience with the idea "make more use of the existing school buildings" plan.

Staggered classes, staggered throughout the day that is, have been tried before. This has proved to be unpopular with the ratepayers to authorize the issue of new debentures for the erection of more schools. After a year of getting breakfast for Jimmie at 7, for lunch at 11 and dinner at 5, of getting dinner for Jimmie at 11, for Jane at noon and for John at 1 and then serving supper at 6 one hour after Jimmie had begun to wail about his hunger and one hour before Jane was any appetite, mothers have staged a mad rush to the polls.

There is no guarantee, though, that they will wait to vote before doing something about a system which has Jimmie on holiday and underfoot, all fall, Jane home all winter, John at loose ends all spring and Dad grumbling because the family cannot go to the cottage during the summer. Something is likely to go down in less than twelve months and a shrewd guess is that when something goes boom a school superintendent is going to go bust.

NEW MUNICIPAL HEADACHE

As if municipalities did not have trouble enough already, what with parking problems and sewage disposal woes and traffic tangles and assessment snarls and all the like, here comes Dr. B. W. Currie, head of the University of Saskatchewan physics department with a bundle as deadly as that other prize from the physicists, the atom bomb.

Dr. Currie, though, is not going to confine the use of his little block-buster to nations. Oh, no. At the annual convention of the Alberta Association of Municipal Associations he told the municipal government to allow municipal district councils to levy taxes to raise money for weather modification.

This is the latest fad for the Social Credit regime. It has survived several perils, but if it slips here it will be as dead as H. H. Stevens' Reconstructionists. The day the first Calgary-manufactured automobile rolls off Edmonton Kimsol assembly attached, the Alberton revolution will start in Edmonton, at least.

Imagine what could happen in the Quinte area. Here we might be Belleville, all set to flush the winter's debris out of the Moira, with a good rain ordered and with hatches battened down tight in all cellars. And what happened? There's the minute it is dry enough for a street and dries up our rain-cloud and there's half a mill in taxes which does not go down the sewer, as intended. Or think what that King of Drought would do to us if he decided to hold a fall paint-up and clean-up day, and just when they had all their waste-paper piled by the curb, Belleville turned on the big wind for the benefit of the Buck-hunters' and Rifle-flyers' Association.

Dr. Currie's municipally-owned and operated weather manufacturing corporations would sound like the dream of a madman, were it not for one thing. He says that the weather modification, for which he wants municipalities to raise taxes, cannot be achieved—not without knocking down the Rocky-Mountains or inundating the earth with a smoke haze. Before any job that big could be completed, municipal election time would be sure to roll around and there would always be enough taxpayers mad enough about their property taxes either to toss out the sitting council, mayor, aldermen and magic wand.

JUST FOLKS

THANKSGIVING

For the moment bow the head
And let a simple grace be said.
For the moment in the rush
All the burdens of the heart,
All the doubt and all the fear,
All the losses of the year,
While our thanks to God we give
For His blessings while we live.

For the moment be at rest.
Let all bitter breasts
Let all bitter thoughts be stilled.
Just before the plates are filled

Let us pause and thank the Lord
For the loved ones 'round the board,
For the days enriched by friends
And His care, which never ends.

For the moment let's forget
All the disappointments met,
And remember still 'tis sweet
At the family hearth to meet;
Still 'tis good to gather 'round
Where the truest joys are found.
In that spirit let us say
Just a simple grace today.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

NOVEMBER 24, 1935

Radio owners must pay the licence fee by November 30 or legal proceedings will be instituted against them.

The old curling rink on the west side of George Street, between Bridge and Dundas Sts., is being quickly dismantled and the building will be put together eventually on the city lot on South Church St., where it will be used as storage for the public works department. A large number of discarded curling stones have been found for use on old buildings—they will be stored in the basement at the city hall in case some one may have a desire to claim his. Over the years many thrilling games have been played in the old rink; competition between local rinks and outside bonspiels attracted was keen and the curlers enjoyed every grand fixture. There are still numerous good curlers in the city and they regret to see the rink disappear, although they have failed to use it for some time.

Mr. S. J. Fisher, of this city, who retired from the fire insurance agency business some time ago after being active in the business for over thirty years here and in Campbellford, has been appointed inspector and field man for the province of Ontario for the Pure La Prairie Mutual Insurance Company with branch office in Toronto.

20 YEARS AGO

At a meeting of the Board of Education the members expressed themselves as being greatly pleased with the work done by Miss Hunt in duet singing. Instruction in music to the children at the city schools.

Many changes in the annual banquet will take place at Hotel Quinte on the evening of November 27. The Hon. G. Howard Ferguson will be the guest of honor.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Warren and family have returned to the city from Brockville.

Mrs. W. C. Mikel is visiting friends in Toronto.

Mr. T. M. Saville is spending a few days in Toronto.

Mrs. Robinson, of this city is spending a few days in Oshawa.

From our file copy at this time in 1885: "The trolley cars will be in full operating today owing to the snow."

40 YEARS AGO

NOVEMBER 24, 1915

It happened here yesterday, two men, who had been married for a long time, arrived at an arrangements to come to Belleville from their homes in the country; one of them owned a horse but possessed neither buggy nor harness and the other had a buggy and harness, but no horse. They combined their outfits and journeyed to town. All went well for a time until they had some liquid refreshments, not much, but sufficient to cause a disagreement between them. The result was that the man who owned the horse walked off with it and left the other in the town with his harness and buggy; he hired a horse to drive home.

Mr. Walter Alford of this city, received a card this morning from his son, Harry, who is connected with the dental corps at the Dardanelles.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary in connection with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, a social was held at the hall on Campbell St. There was a large attendance and the affair was most enjoyable.

From our file copy at this time in 1885: Dr. W. J. Gibson was the first of our citizens to take advantage of the money; he had his handsome face with one beautiful robes out yesterday afternoon. His example was followed by other citizens this morning. All appeared to have the sleigh bells and view the numerous fine turnouts.

NOVEMBER 24, 1905

Having mounted the cannon at Victoria Park and the guns fully sunk the water main Jack Rabbit is deserving of much praise for his good work.

At the city market today turkeys sold at 12 cents per pound; chickens 40 cents to 50 cents per pair; butter 25 cents to 32 cents per pound; eggs 27 cents to 30 cents per dozen.

Mr. F. C. Fish of the Lehigh Portland Cement Company here left today for Toronto on business.

Building has been very active in Frankford during the past summer. The Canning factory has been enlarged; Charles Gallagher built a fine home; Dr. Malone is now completing his new house; Chester Wilson has completed the building of three frame dwellings on Park Street and a new brick residence is under-structed across the Trent River to replace the wooden one.

Almost any town can put up traffic signs if it will pursuade strangers, but putting up signs that will keep the home folks confused the year round is a real challenge that many communities are meeting splendidly.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE KEY OF COURAGE

If you will imagine that you daily carry about with you the Key of Courage, you will have at your command an instrument that will unlock a multitude of doors to many a success. There are only a few doors that are left wide open. You have to own the key to most of them—and it must be the Key of Courage.

It is not so much a matter of what you do, but of desire and determination, that makes that key you carry with you a never-failing thing. It is amazing how many doors it fits! So many precious things are behind locked doors, but they are always accessible if you have that magic key! That key of will and courage.

Health is something that is often locked up within us—with its key hanging on a hook in plain sight! Doctors often give to their patients this key about which they had never heard. How many times there are when we need to face difficult situations, or to solve some problems. We are afraid we will work wonders in opening up life to you and freeing you from fear and indecision. You may be a prisoner in the dark. Reach for the key and open your door again!

Our fathers had this key, and used it, leaving as inheritance to us that we should forever cherish. The greatest treasure you have of all, our Creator is the mind. Therein lies the key to the golden door to a number of doors—and Key of Courage will fit them all! Why should we fear when faith can be as abundant within that mind?

Science has yet to reveal the possibilities of the human mind and how it can be used to overcome all evil, and can be used to do all good discovered! Knowledge is the path to happiness that only we ourselves can create, in moments of inspired, heroic determination!

Disciplined Daydreaming

(New York Times)

A daydream, says one dictionary, is a "visionary fancy indulged in while awake." Daydreaming, generally speaking, has long been frowned upon by pedagogues; daydreamers in classrooms have been neither encouraged nor indeed tolerated (if caught indulging in their fancies). But the other day a research psychologist offered a kind word for the daydreamer. Dr. Catharine Patrick suggested that, starting in the lower grades, a certain period each day be set aside for passive contemplation and daydreaming. These periods should, however, be followed (she said) by activities during which children could express their thoughts — or daydreams. Dr. Patrick would like to encourage, at the under-age, the "art of creative thinking," and also help young people to develop a "sense of leisure" for the entertaining of apparently aimless thoughts.

Indeed it is high time someone struck a blow in behalf of daydreaming. For the daydreamer has for years past has been charged with inability to concentrate on tasks at hand, with lack of attentiveness and worse. It will be hard for a lot of people to associate daydreaming with wasteful idleness to see any good in a program designed to encourage it and to fit it into creative channels. It will be hard for many people to think of favor of a reasonable amount (and how much is that?) to pass time in daydreaming rather than to have the mind turned on and off like an electric switchboard.

It can be argued that if a teacher looked to her class in arithmetic and said, "Now, children, it's time for daydreaming" (or however gracefully the idea could be phrased), daydreaming would no longer be daydreaming, it would be premeditated, a large number of children might not be in the mood for daydreaming and may prefer to spend their creative hours in arithmetic or in anything other illegal activity. Daydreaming is, by definition, useful when it has pedagogical sanction; daydreaming is only truly creative when outside of a class in physics or Latin — on a warm day in May when the sky is blue and warm and it is midafternoon.

And it can be argued further that perhaps we ought to know more about daydreaming before we write sessions for it into the "room "daydream periods." Does anyone know, as yet, for instance, how does one determine who does not and who does, and what should one do, in a schoolroom, with the reverie, with those who prefer to be more actively engaged? And if so, then one needs to know if Miss Pat's discipline will determine or whether it represents an effort to escape from reality; there is an important difference. Then, if one encourages a whole class of youngsters to daydream, who knows what the upshot may be? And what if some pedagogue, eager to get the benefits of daydreaming properly organized, may be unable to resist the temptation to urge his charges to daydream about some specific topic or situation such as "a walk in the country"?

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In the back of an old picture frame which they were repairing, someone in the workshop found a newspaper dated in June, 1856, which had been used as packing. On the back of the old newspaper, an old family album, there is even a 19th century cartoon among the young, on seeing a newspaper for the first time.

We had a lot of fun reading the various news items, especially the social items. They are like the advertisements that stole the show. There was a list of those who were, of course, no motor car ads, no lavish presentations on radio and TV, but the few little ads were small; one killer-diller on a Persian lamb coat, with the rifle leg of mutton sleeves, was no bigger than a playing card was size. The price of the coat was $40. There were very compelling ads on hair restorers, with testimonials "costing as much as $4, and patent medicines which had probable names took up much of the best advertising space and pos-

Seek to Tap Solar Heat

(Christian Science Monitor)

Mankind has used a variety of fuels in its long history and in turn recorded history. Starting with fires of wood, it has dug coal, found oil and gas, and now stands on the countryside with scintillators looking for uranium. Meanwhile one of the most plentiful sources of energy, the heat in sunlight, has been largely neglected though not sufficiently concentrated or continuously available.

But a number of scientists, engineers and inventors are working on solar heat, and sooner or later probably will find practical ways to put it to work. Perhaps many kinds of work it can do without being great enough to affect present fuels.

It can cook food, heat houses, or distill fresh water from sea water; these are among the leading possibilities. George Cecil, a British lawyer has started with an "umbrella," a kind of inverted aluminum umbrella which can cook food for picnics or for families in tropical countries where fuel is scarce.

Massachusett's Institute of Technology is conducting many kinds of research and experimentation, as it has for several years, on solar heating of houses. The Department of Interior has awarded a $153,000 contract to a M a s s achusetts engineering firm for development work on a solar space heating device and for a unit of fresh water a day from sea water.

Much of the research effort will some day add up to the tapping of new energy resources for mankind.

Obligations of The Middle-Aged

The total helplessness of infants inspires feelings of protectiveness in adult. How is it the comparative helplessness of old folks fails to inspire their families to protect them?

Young parents who themselves were tenderly nurtured and loved by their mothers and fathers will spend fifteen to twenty years caring for their own children, then can brutally turn their aged parents into institutions, into lonely rooms, and feel righteous. 'How is this?'

It doesn't happen in China. And I refer to real China. There the aged member of the household is granted a place of reverence and respect, his or her contribution to the family community accepted as a rite. Nor, in many American homes does it happen. Young married people nowadays look for four-bedroom homes, read that Johnny receive spiritual training.

Who is better equipped to offer it than a spiritual training than our senior citizens?

Daughters Good as Sons

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

Following their father's death, 28-year-old girl twins in Birmingham England, told a story of unusual home rules. Life with their father, they said, had been carefree and gay. He openly proved to be a definite understatement. Their father, 70, who was found gassed in the kitchen where he slept on a pile of newspapers, had never allowed them to stay up later than 6:30 p.m., use makeup, see a movie, quit sewing or do anything else on their feet but boy's shoes and socks.

That the twins reacted 28 years of age without, apparently, any childhood their queer parent is something that amazed the coroner's court which listed his death as accidental. The only reason the girls could offer for the stipulation was that he was disappointed because they were not boys. They said: "We have had to find life quite a change without father." That again is another understatement.

There are still some fathers who cherish daughters particularly if there is a family business to carry on. The grist goes to the family name shall not disappear from above the door and the family line finally. A daughter may marry, and her name is changed. There is also a feeling that a woman just could not run the business as a man could.

A striking instance of this occurred a few years ago, also in England. Small-town manufacturer died, and not till then did it become known that he was survived by an only child — a daughter. She explained that she had been ashamed when she was born that he boarded her out, forbade his wife to send word to her address. Another never communicated with her in any way or came to see her. She was however, maintain her on a generous scale until she married, but before that she had been educated.

Mentality of that kind belongs to the past. It was never right, and children they have will say they have three, four or more sons, but in no way do we mention having any daughters. Indeed, it is, or at any rate was a common saying among Chinese to throw a girl baby into the garbage can, or some other way dispose of her. It never seemed to occur to Chinese mentality that girls were not inferior not to the race as boys, because if they were the knowledge of the race would become extinct.

Fathers should have no regrets about having daughters, even if the situation is looked at in a strictly utilitarian sense. Once upon a time girls may have been something of a liability, but modern education has put them in an equality with boys and they are just as good in the professions and behind an executive desk.

Englishman Never Sleeps

(L'Ere de Espana, Sebastian, Spain)

An Englishman who reportedly hasn't slept for 46 years is the object of intense curiosity on the part of British's physicians. Eyewitness Burnett, 76, started sleeping at the age of 30. Since then he has gained 54, 320 hours of life and has read 28,000 books.

He told doctors that in the first 30 years of his life he slept like a log 14 to 15 hours a day. After that he noticed that he began waking at first once a week, then once every 10 days until, finally, he quit sleeping altogether. He awake in bed for two hours nightly and has, to celebrate him for another day, ne says

"Labrador" Scores Again!

(Montreal Gazette)

Last year, HMCS Labrador retired she was the first naval ship to negotiate the Northwest Passage. Then the road to Asia which explorers sought from the Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic Ocean through centuries of effort.

Last year the Labrador moved boldly into the future. She was the sturdy shepherd for a fleet of 14 ships and aircraft. NOW she applied to radar station sites in the eastern Arctic. All with mountainous mavels as radar and helicopters, Labrador fought ice and sea and storm to establish the first radar stations operating in unknown waters, to deliver the supplies needed by these assigned positions.

Helicopters sought out passages in the ice floes; frogmen blasted bergs that had to be removed. It was a proud day, Canadian navigable work. For those five months, it was the greatest adventure the Arctic offers few advantages to the seafarer. The struggle is continuing.

The stout ship is now on route to the Great Lakes and weather closing in astern. Her mission is completed, safely, efficiently, on schedule.

The record of that mission deserves the saying, resonate sound of last year's exploit, of completing the high Canadian began almost five centuries ago. But it has greater importance for the future. The main object of the DEW line for this generation is defence. But the knowledge of the Arctic that is being gained during the construction and will be gained from its operation goes far beyond survival.

It was right and proper that the Canadian Navy should have played the part it did this summer in the establishment of that line. HMCS Labrador did the job in a manner of which all Canadians can be proud.

LISTEN TO THE GRACIOUS TONES

Did you ever have the misfortune at a concert to be seated so close to the orchestra that you could hear nothing but the instruments in your vicinity? Nothing will spoil a musical evening quicker. It is best to seat right next to the bass violins, for they are the ones that seem to be seated down under the shadow of the floor.

Because when the tuba begins to grunt and the bass violins to roar, you can hear nothing else. All the sweet meaty of the first violins and the noble harmony of the cello, and the sweet dulcet tones of the flute are drowned out by the bass violins. It is a real misfortune to sit too close to them.

Some people never appreciate the sweetness and harmony of life because they sit too close to its troubles. They never hear anything but the bass violins and the tubas. Let us never forget that the bass violins and the tubas have a definite purpose in the part of every orchestra and band, just as the deep and solemn things of life have a very important part to play in our experience. But we should always try to hear the symphony of life as a whole—the sweet melodies as well as the playing of other instruments which by themselves seem barrenness but which are necessary.

This is something to ponder at this Thanksgiving season. Perhaps we all so close to life that we hear only the bass violins—the storms—and so miss the gracious tones of God's providence.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

One of Last Old Tinsmiths, Hugh Galway, Has Retired

Hugh Galway probably has helped bring warmth into more homes in the Belleville locality than any other man in the last 50 years.

For Mr. Galway has just retired from his craft as a tinsmith, a fob that kept him busy installing furnaces during most of his long work life.

Now in his 74th year he lately has exchanged an active trade career for one of active retirement in his home at 28 Burton Street.

He also is one of the last of the old school of expert tinsmiths in this district, for the craft of the tinsmith, once an indispensable cog in the wheels of industry, now has been replaced by the machine.

"Now a good handyman could install a furnace himself," says Mr. Galway, recalling the days before the parts of such household articles were made to standard specifications in factories. "Today, all you need is a hammer and a pair of snips."

However, once upon a time, more than tools were needed to carry out a smart, proficient job in such lines. A man had to have experience, experience gleaned through apprenticeship.

Mr. Galway started his apprenticeship when he was about sixteen in the old established Belleville firm of Chown's Lantern Factory at $1.50 a week. However, apprenticeship was not governed by any standard rules, but by individual proficiency. A likely lad might stay a couple of years with one shop, and, if he had enough good old-fashioned gaff, move to another establishment after convincing a new employer he had more experience than was true.

Mr. Galway stayed for a while with the John Lewis Company, then in a series of moves ended up in Lewis's. However, he returned to Belleville in 1905 for the first Old Boys' Reunion and subsequently resumed once more with the Lewis Company.

His salary he recalled was about $10 but in the days when eggs were less than a cent each, a pint of ale or a glass of whiskey five cents, a dollar bill stretched as far as an elastic garter.

"In those days you had to be an all-round man and make up your tinware," he recounted.

As a tinsmith, he did everything from making pails and milk cans in the shop to mending, galvanizing and eaves troughing in the summer—plus installing furnaces and stoves.

"Furnaces," he says, "were starting to catch the mass fancy of the public about that time and were beginning to replace stoves as a household heating unit. Private houses were installing gravity furnaces, while larger buildings were going in for hot-water heating.

Then, the only thing that came ready-made was the furnace, cast in a foundry. The tinsmith employed by the hardware store retailing furnaces, had to make up his own vents and casings. A fairly exclusive business, there were only two other hardware stores in town, besides Lewis's. They were McGee's and Smith's. With the assembly line, the tinsmith went by the board, while the hardware stores multiplied by the dozen into appliance stores.

"Now they are all over the place," commented Mr. Galway.

Today, too, the styles have changed, he notes. Forced-air has replaced gravity heating while all burners now are becoming the equivalent of the old stove.

The golden days of tinsmithing gone forever, Mr. Galway now has laid down his tools for what he thinks is the last time, after nearly fifty consecutive years working for three generations of management at the John Lewis Company.

Recently, however, he was called briefly back into active service when a farmer, whose furnace he installed 35 years, needed some repairs to it. He wanted no other workman save Mr. Galway to do the repairs. However, fifty years in the business have left Mr. Galway a measured eye and probably left the farmer a little chagrined. He found it wasn't repairs the furnace needed, but the farmer who needed a new furnace.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

Mrs. Joan Gander, member of the Recreation Commission, is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

Mrs. D. Griffiths, director of the Ontario Handicapped Association, and Mrs. W. E. McMurray, attended the second birthday of the Trenton Handicapped club last evening held in the Queen Elizabeth School, Trenton.

Those attending the recent Pierson-Rozomiak wedding in South Bay United church, from city and vicinity were: Mr. and Mrs. R. Pierson, Mr. Alex Pierson, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hurst, Mr. J. Overveld and Miss Marion Conklin, all of Belleville; Miss M. Moocroft, Mr. G. Richardson and Mr. Sidney MacDonald, Stirling; Mr. and Mrs. R. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. O. Goodsell and Mr. R. Jackson of Trenton.

Mrs. Sadie Thompson has returned home after attending the funeral of her mother and brother-in-law, at Barrie, Ontario.

Weddings

PIERSON—ROZOMIAK

Ferns, white gladioli, and yellow chrysanthemums decorated the altar of the South Bay United church, when Joanne Marion Rozomiak, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stephen Rozomiak of Black Creek, was married to Ross Joseph Pierson, son of Mr. Harry Pierson of Wellington and the late Miss Pierson, in a double ring ceremony at 12 o'clock noon Saturday, October 15.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. James Clark. Miss June Pierson, sister of the bridegroom, sang "The Lord's Prayer", during the ceremony; "Through the Years" during the signing of the register and "This Is The House", at the conclusion of the reception.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiantly lovely in a full length bouffant-skirted gown of imported French frosted Chantilly lace over white satin with long pointed sleeves, embroidered in sequins and cut steel beads. The scalloped sweetheart neckline was enhanced with sequins and cut steel beads. Her full length veil of tulle illusion, scalloped with sequins was caught to a satin and lace Juliet pointed cap studded with a band of sequins and cut steel beads. She carried a cascade bouquet of red Sweetheart roses and baby white 'mums. Tiny red rosebuds knotted the satin streamers.

Mrs. Donald Foster, matron of honor, was gowned in a full length peacock blue crystalette. Her bodice was molded, short-sleeved with mittens, while the skirt was very full. Her headdress was a band of peacock blue velvet. She carried a nosegay of pale pink roses.

Miss Lynne Rozomiak, flower girl was petite in a full length dark pink very full skirted dress with velvet contrasting sash and streamers, short sleeves and matching mittens. Her Quaker bonnet was edged with petals and at the back a blue bow with streamers of the contrasting velvet. She carried a nosegay of white and yellow-centred Shasta daisies.

Mr. Roscoe Vandewater, Belleville, was groomsman. Mr. John B. Rozomiak, brother of the bride and Mr. Bryan Cronk, Wellington, were the ushers.

The reception was held in the adjoining church hall with the ladies of the Dixon Committee club doing the catering.

The bride's mother received attired in a dress of brown lace over pink satin, ice pink hat and brown suit accessories of pink carnations. She was assisted by Miss Mona Pierson, eldest sister of the bridegroom, in bronze crystalette fur cape and brown accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

The church hall was beautifully decorated with a white bell and gold and white streamers. Tables were arranged with pink petunias and white stirrum in low bowls, sparkling white linen and crystal and silver appointments. A three-tiered wedding cake was topped with pink carnations and decorated on a star base with little doves, pink roses, silver maple leaves, horseshoes and butterflies. White tapers in crystal holders were on either side.

Mrs. George Wright proposed the toast to the bride which was suitably replied to by the bridegroom.

Servers were: Mrs. Ewart Tucker and Miss Dorothy Thompson, at the bride's table, with Miss Theima Dunning, Miss Mary Lou Black, Miss Helen Keogh, Miss Clare Keogh, Miss Norma Foster and Mrs. James Lachford.

The bride gave her husband an English morocco wallet; her matron of honor, a jewel case; flower girl, sweater; the organist, a wristwatch necklace, and the soloist, matching pin and earrings, servers, rings and trinkets.

For travelling to Western Ontario and the Ufiited States, the bride wore a hunter green princess style imported wool dress. Her hat was hunter green velour, studded with rhinestones, her gloves green and bag and shoes tan brown. She wore a corsage of tiny yellow roses. Mr. and Mrs. Pierson will also call on relatives at Montreal and Ottawa. They will reside on the bridegroom's farm at R.R. 1, Wellington.

Guests were present from Toronto, Kingston, Montreal, Trenton, Stirling, Brighton, Port Hope, Fenwick, Stratford, and Belleville.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

Going shopping?

Everybody is going shopping these days but on Saturday, December the 3rd, let's all—"everyone" as Tiny Tim said go to the Santa Claus Parade in Belleville. Let me tell a conversation I overheard between mother and child a last week. The child wanted to see Santa in the big parade at Trenton—mother was to busy. She made the suggestion that Mary would be able to see Santa just as well on TV.

Mary—"I want to see Santa really," mumpy.

Mummy—"You will see Santa better on TV Mary."

Mary—"But mummy, he won't see me."

So Mary and mummy went off to the parade and mummy came home as happy as Mary sure that Santa had seen her too, "really." A lot of local people are devoting a lot of work to give a lot of kiddies a lot of fun on Saturday, December the 3rd. If mother and dad take their boys and girls to see Santa "really"—maybe Santa will see them "really," too. Let's boost the people who are boosting the Santa Claus parade in Belleville for the kiddies, grown-ups, "everyone."

Now after the parade, so much to do, so much shopping must be done before it is too late with time hurrying and all the meals to get. Maybe a hint of This & That from her and there might help.

In the food line, pork continues to be a good buy, especially loin, butt and shoulder roasts. Ground back bacon is economical also. There seems to have been, roughly, a fifteen-cent drop in the overall price of pork during the last month or six weeks. A bit of advance news on the poultry supply picture for the holidays shows that turkey will be plentiful and that we can enjoy ample feasting. The purchase easiest on the budget will be that of the large hen turkey, ranging in weight from 18 to 22 pounds.

We noticed some wise ladies picking up bottled jams, jellies, relishes, pickles and even mincemeat at a recent bazaar. For a small family, this is a very good way to stock the shelves.

Decorations are going up quickly now and becoming more elaborate all the time. Shopping can be fun too, especially, if you are very sophisticated. There is a huge, real-looking train filled with gift parcels; there are all the reindeer and sleighs; there are loads of things in the stores, the list before Christmas.

The price of Christmas wrapping paper may come a little higher this year and if so, you may wish to estimate more closely the amount you need.

TV lounging pajamas are no longer exclusive to women. They are here, for men now, very colorful too, that broadcloth in a simulated leopard pattern. But it is reliably reported that the most outstanding gift for men is popular nylon shirt which, laundries inquire no ironing. A new shade has been added to keep in step with the trend in toneson-tone, two tone or many tones to suit the fancy of each, but the new shade in nylon shirts is mint green.

Have you seen the new magic stretch socks for men? You don't have to worry about the right size. There is one size and it is always the correct fit. A ninety day guarantee is worth considering.

From turkeys to toes, Good shopping!

'Last Saturday your column mentioned that we would have the privilege of being a guest with June Dennis on her program over CJBC.' June is a national women's commentator whose voice is known to thousands of Canadians. When you meet a person who is interested in people, you mean someone you are just naturally going to like, because she is interested in all the little and big things people are doing all across the country. She was interested in letting her listeners know about CJBQ broadcasts from Belleville and Trenton. June has visited our district, especially Trenton. She is a very busy lady and we thank her for taking time out to be our gracious hostess and giving us the opportunity of telling others about the Bay of Quinte community.

I saw a message on Monday from The Lady Tweedsmuir who was guest of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regimental Association last month. Lord Tweedsmuir whom everyone knows, was a former commanding officer of the regiment and is now its honorary colonel, was in Belleville to dedicate the famous regiment's history entitled "The Regiment" and written by a former Trenton boy, Farley Mowat. The message was friendly and warm as she asked to be remembered to the very many people who were so good to her husband and herself. She said too, "there are a good many, in both Houses (Commons and Lords), who take a great interest in Canada and who have many friends and relatives there who watch your progress closely." We pass this message on to their many friends in our district.

Soroptimists Enjoy European Travelogue

Soroptimist International of Belleville, has the honor of sponsoring a new club in Brockville.

Mrs. Georgia Smith of Belleville and Miss Grace Conover of London, soroptimists, recently spent a week in Brockville. Due to their untiring efforts 30 prospective members were secured.

RECEIVED CHARTER

Last Friday night, the newly formed club received its charter at a dinner meeting at the Mantonna Hotel in Brockville. Soroptimists attended from Toronto, Belleville, Montreal, Verdun, Cornwall and Ottawa.

Postmasters' Overseas Trip Shown at W.I.

On Monday evening, the Canniton and Corbyville W.I. held its regular meeting at the town hall.

The meeting opened in the usual manner with the president, Mrs. A. Demille in the chair.

The business was brief; the report of the collection for the Institute was given. To this date $58 had been collected and one member yet to hand in her returns. It was decided to have the annual turkey, banquet and December meeting at the Club Cedars. All members are welcome, and there will be an exchange of gifts for Christmas.

Previous to the meeting with Mrs. F. Windsor as convener, plans have been made to cater for the postmasters' banquet on Wednesday evening which has been the custom for a number of years.

An invitation had been sent to Quinte, Parkdale, Foxboro, and Plainfield Institutes and there were about 65 present for the films that followed.

Mrs. Barbara Lyons introduced Mr. Frank Windsor, who with his projector showed pictures of his trip to and from Iran with the postmasters last spring to England, France, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland, Germany and Italy.

Among the pictures were views of the ships, water and scenery along the banks.

Stopping off at hotels at night and staying some places for a few days, he was able to get some colorful pictures of parks, courts, as well as churches, cathedrals, monuments, home and streets.

This was an educational film. It was not only thrilling to see and know where these places and buildings were, but he also explained and recalled the historical facts of each.

A member of Parkdale Institute was the hostess for the evening.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DON'T BE TOO APOLOGETIC ABOUT THIS

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

Recently, a boy friend of mine whom I hadn't seen in two years came to visit some of his friends. He lives in another state, and therefore it is very difficult for him to make the trip very often, due to his job.

One evening he came to see me and made a date for a certain night, but told me not to sit and wait for him very long because he might not be able to make it since his friends might have made other plans for him. So about seven o'clock that night, another friend of mine, with another couple, came over and wanted me to go riding with them. I thought we would be back shortly, but we forgot the time, and while I was gone, this boy came to my house three or four times asking for me. Since he had to leave early the next morning, I did not get to see him, and so I feel badly about it.

I have his address, and I am wondering if I should write and apologize, since I am very fond of him. —S.A.D.

Dear S.A.D.:

Certainly drop a note to the boy and tell him you are sorry you missed him. But don't make a big thing of it and feel you have to offer a lot of apologies. After all, he did tell you that he might not be able to come, and it seems to me that it was up to him to call you in plenty of time to let you know whether or not he really was coming. Why should he just have been left you to find out if he was coming by waiting to see if he showed up.

So don't be too apologetic. Just say you hope he'll let you know when he's in town again, as you'll always be glad to see him, and let it go at that.

WHAT GOOD IS AN OFF-AGAIN ON-AGAIN FRIENDSHIP?

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I have been going with a certain boy for two years.

Lately, we have been having quite a lot of trouble by fighting together, and then we break off for awhile. We are not going steady, so I do go with other boys when we break, which makes him real jealous. He wanted to go steady quite awhile ago, but I feel I'm not ready yet to go steady with anyone.

Do you think this difference of opinion could be the reason why we fight? I don't think the reason is the difference in our ages — I am two years older than he is—because he seems just like the older boys in every respect.

Would you advise us to break off for good, or just for a certain length of time? I might add that I don't have anything against him and that I like him very much. R.P.

Dear R.P.:

It's perfectly possible that the reason there is so much friction between you and this boy is because of just what you say—that he wants to go steady and you don't. Certainly the fact that he gets jealous when you go out with other boys would suggest that this was the case, and you may, of course, be afraid that you find older boys more congenial, but I doubt if that's the whole story.

If I were you, I would simply tell him once and for all that you don't want to go steady with anyone; that you like him and would enjoy going out with him now and then, but that if he isn't willing to be friends on these terms, and there is going to be so much quarreling between you all the time, you just don't think it makes sense to keep on seeing each other at all.

When there are so many nice boys around with whom to be friends, why waste time on one whose friendship is an upsetting off-again on-again affair.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMIESON

ACCENT ON ACCESSORIES

Gloves should be washed on the hands in lukewarm water with plenty of suds.

Good grooming, which is so important to the picture you present to the world, depends largely on details. And most of those details involve your accessories. To what does your smart tailored suit or your blouse, gloves, handbag and shoes are not spic and span? You can't expect to flaunt a "dolling up" and walk out of the house feeling like the belle of the ball. . . . but one overlooked spot or one tiny accessory which is not immaculately fresh will ruin the whole effect. And, as you've probably observed yourself, the eye of the beholder usually rivets itself to that one flaw. So try to keep accessories looking their best — and that's not difficult if you'll take one evening a week to attend to them.

Most girls take an evening, anyway, to wash and iron blouses, collars and cuffs, undies and other feminine frills. So why not use the same evening to give your shoes, bags and gloves the once-over and see that they're spotless? It's comparatively easy these days with so many things being washable and, . . . further, many regular cleaning keeps them from ever becoming badly soiled.

Let's consider gloves, for instance. They really get hard wear. Of course, gloves should not be washed unless they're marked "washable", but there are a few which can't be "bunked in suds, however leather ones. However, don't wash them if they have ever been dry cleaned. Taking it for granted, however, that they haven't, the best way to wash them is on the hands. Use lukewarm mild soapsuds. Put the gloves on as though you were washing your hands . . . rub them across stubborn spots, use a soft brush. After the gloves are thoroughly clean, rinse several times in lukewarm water, then pat out excess moisture with a turkish towel. The next step is to stretch them into shape and blow into the fingers. You can dry them by pulling on a glove stretcher or laying them on a turkish towel, but don't put them near heat. Use the same method for washing fabric, knitted wool and string gloves but, with wool ones, be sure to remove all possible moisture before pressing.

Leather belts and bags and shoes can also be cleaned with mild soapsuds, but the same accessories steaming is best. You can do a good job with three if you will hold the articles about a foot back from your steam iron, moving them, set at a time, of course, back and forth so that the steam permeates the whole fabric. On suede pocketbooks, badly worn spots can be freshed by rubbing gently with an emery board. While still damp from the steam, brush all suede articles with a soft brush or rubber sponge.

Before putting a shirt into the household washer, launder collar separately. This prevents the sleeves from knotting or wrinkling around other clothes while they are being washed.

GOOD MANNERS

BEST MAN'S DUTIES AT THE WEDDING

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

Will you please publish the list of duties of the best man at a wedding? I would appreciate this information very much, as the wedding is to be soon. — J.S.

The best man is the groom's mainstay, friend, guide, valet, "personal manager." If there is to be a bachelor dinner today there very often isn't one), he helps the groom make all arrangements for that. He instructs the ushers on hand at the church an hour before the ceremony-hour, and outlines for them their attire. If the groom wishes, the best man takes complete charge of the luggage of both the bride and the groom, stowing it in the groom's car after the reception, or sending it where it is to be sent, and takes charge of other transportation details.

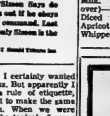
The best man must be dressed well ahead of time so that he may go to the groom's home to help him dress for the ceremony, and to drive with the groom to the church, arriving at least a half hour before the ceremony-hour. The best man gets from the groom the envelope containing the clergymen's fee-the clergyman, and he presents this to the clergyman either before the ceremony (as groom and best man are waiting in the vestry), or after the ceremony. The best man carries the wedding ring in his waistcoat pocket (guards it most carefully), and hands the ring to the groom at the proper moment in the ceremony. After the best man usually walks with the maid of honor in the recessional.

The best man does not, of course, stand in the receiving-line, but usually stands nearby so that he may carry out any instructions from the groom. And he sees that all is going well in the formation of the line of guests to the receiving-line.

At the bride's table he sits at the right of the bride, and when the champagne or whatever-beverage has been poured for all at table, he is the one who unostentatiously rises and, and knowingly and graciously proposes the

MEN INVITED TO ENGAGEMENT PARTIES

Dear Mrs. Beechman:



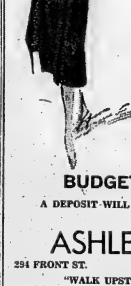
Is it proper to invite men to an engagement party . . . either boy friends or business associates? Or is it proper to invite men to an engagement party . . . either the party to announce the engagement or the party to celebrate an engagement. (The engagement - announcement party is given by the girl's parents; a party to celebrate the engagement is given by a relative or friend of either the fiancee or the fiance.)

HER DATE WAS SO RIGHT . . . AND SO SARCASTIC!

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

Last evening my date for dinner and movies was a very attractive young man I met last summer at a resort where I was spending my vacation. This was our first date in the city, and I certainly wanted it to be a success. But apparently I fumbled about a rule of etiquette, and I don't want to make the same faux pas again. When we were about to enter the taxicab I gave the address-direction to the driver. It was not the address of my home. Well, Mrs. Beechman, my date was terribly sarcastic about this, told me in no uncertain terms that "it is the man who gives the direction to the driver," that "any girl should never do this." Was I wrong about this? I didn't quite size—should I have apologized? — Patricia

You were wrong about this . . . and you should have apologized. Perfectly right . . . that it is the man who gives any direction to the taxicab driver, and that the girl should give her date the opportunity to take over this giving-of-direction. Your date didn't wasn't courteous in being so "terribly sarcastic" about embarrassing you. However, some men, trying their best to be thoughtful and polite, forget to right . . . that it is a girl takes over the courtesies usually paid a man, they loathe having a girl give directions to a taxicab driver. They loathe having a girl open a door as quickly that they have no opportunity to open the door for her. They loathe . . . I think most of all . . . having a "date" give her order directly to the waiter in a restaurant. The wise girl is, or becomes, aware of these courtesy-attitudes of a man who gets around, and knowingly and graciously complies.



A GOOD time-passer for rainy days and nights is this old-fashioned "Simon Says" game. Simple motions of the leader's hands are copied only when "Simon Says do this!" Play is out if he obeys a "Do this!" command. Last one is mind only Simon is the next leader.

One Day's Menu At Crippled Children's Hospital

By Mary Moore

The menus for October 15 were: Breakfast—Apple Juice, Cracked Wheat (under 4 years wheatlets), Toast and Honey, Milk. Dinner — (6 years and over)—Beef Stew and Dumplings, Diced Beets, Brussels Sprouts, Apricot Bavarian Cream with Whipped Cream, Milk. (Under 6 years) Minced Meat, Baked Potato, Pureed Mixed Vegetables, Pureed Wax Beans, Milk Pudding, Milk. Supper: (6 years and over) Hot Beef Sandwich and Gravy, Chef's Salad, Fresh Pear Cookies, Milk. (Under 6 years) Minced Meat, Pureed Peas, Pears, Digestive Biscuit, Milk. Pre Bed Snack 7 p.m.: Sandwiches, Milk or Hot Chocolate. Snack 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.: Milk and Fruit.

Suggestion: Cut that menu and pin it up in plain sight to use as a guide for you in choosing your healthy youngsters.

I asked my guide, Mary Biner, how cured children reacted on their discharge and return to home life. She said instead of remembering that they were once crippled they felt that they had had a grand adventure in the various new world of hospital life. No stigma there — only emancipation and the exciting discovery of a full and normal life.

The delicious fruit bread served with our tea in the staff dining-room was made from this recipe:

Regional Director Visits Local V.O.N. Director

The regular monthly meeting of the Belleville Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses was held at the YMCA, Monday evening with the president, Mrs. M. H. Bulger in the chair.

Mrs. Bulger extended the welcome of the Board to Miss Catherine Ross, the VON Regional Director, who is visiting the local branch this week.

Reports were read and discussed.

The nurse in charge reported that 79 patients had received care in October. Of these 39 were medical and surgical; 24 were maternity and new born and nine were infants over six weeks of age, who had been admitted to the service for health supervision.

The nurses made 275 home visits, in which 216 or approximately 80 per cent of the visits were nursing cares. The remaining 59 visits were health instructive visits to mothers with new babies.

A total of 37 1-4 hours were spent in special activities. This consisted of five half days at Holy Rosary school; three half days at Cannifton-Corbyville school and four half days assisting the local Department of Health at the Child Health Conferences at the Kiwanis Centre.

CORRECT VACCINE

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The main reasons for production of some bad polio vaccine last spring have been found and corrected, a special committee of polio experts announced Thursday. Safe and potent vaccine now can be manufactured more easily in larger amounts, said Dr. Leonard Scheele, surgeon-general of the U.S. public health service, in releasing the report.

MARK ANNIVERSARY

LONDON (Reuters)—Flags flew from public buildings throughout Britain today to mark the eighth wedding anniversary of the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh. They spent their anniversary quietly as the guests of industrialist Sir Harold Wernher and Lady Zia Wernher at Luton Hoo before driving to Windsor to join their children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

EGGLETON MISSION BAND

MADOC JUNCTION:— The November meeting of the Eggleton Mission Band was held on Wednesday afternoon at the school with 28 children and three adults present.

The president, Robert Clarke, presided over a program prepared by Annamae Clarke, and Grant Reid and opened the meeting with Sharon Reide at the piano. The Scripture lesson was read by Shirley Prest.

Alan Reide read the minutes and called the roll, which was answered by the senior pupils repeating their Bible memory work the first ten books of the New Testament.

The next meeting to be held at the school on December 9.

Senior pupils will memorize the next seven books of the New Testament for the December meeting.

Little Wayne McMullen gathered the offering.

The Mission Band leader, Mrs. Maurice Clancy, introduced the new study book "The Boy with the Busy Walk," and gave the first two chapters "House With a Glass Hat," and "The Boy with a Kite."

Several pupils handed in pictures of children in Canada. These will be put in a scrapbook at the December meeting.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments of cookies and coke, were served by Annamae Clarke and Ruth Stapley.

238 FRONT STREET

St. Margaret's Guild Bazaar, Tea, Delightful Carnival

No greater contrast could be fancied than that which existed yesterday afternoon between the dark and lowering skies outside, the sodden streets and the glowing exciting appearance of the assembly room of St. Margaret's-on-the-Hill. It was the Christmas Carnival bazaar and tea sponsored by St. Margaret's Guild. Streamers in blue, green, mauve, white, yellow and rose stretched gracefully from central points on the ceiling across the room to either side, while serpentines in matching shades writhed and curled, and pendant vari-colored balloons swayed above, and hung from vantage points on the walls, and in the windows adding their splashes of color. Even the booths were gayly colorful in yellow, blue and rose—an Arabian Nights' dream come to life.

MASKED LADIES

Each little guest table had its centrepiece of a masked lady in colorful attire; on one was "Queen of the Night", with her black gown sprinkled over with silver stars; on another a gay, little ballerina in yellow, twirled and pirouetted, and still another had a little Quaker lady in her blue dress with white apron, bonnet and collar; the Chinese girl was there also in a voluminous pink outfit with tiered skirt, and wide, picture hat, and nearby a little pirouette in white with black spots and tall, pointed hat. Even those who served, and those who convened the different booths wore tiny, little headdresses in colors, some funny, some pretty, and some looking like—Arabian Nights.

Those who received the guests into this carnival of joyousness and color were: Mrs. Arthur Watson, past president, supplying for the president, Mrs. F. E. Moore, who is ill; and Mrs. Arthur Page, wife of the rector. After the cheerful greeting Mrs. F. Bradley, treasurer, received the accustomed dues at a little table bearing a little masked Mandarin lady, in black and yellow.

WALKING FISH POND

Moving about in a tiered and bouffant dress of Chinese pink with matching hood, was the walking "Fish Pond" from whose multitudinous pockets, the children gleefully produced the 'fish' upon placing in the container which was carried, the required 10 cents. This was donned as the "Carnival Lady", but in private life as Mrs. R. Carter.

Presiding at the tea table, centred by another Chinese Girl in palest green with matching hat, waving an intriguing black fan, and flanked by pink and yellow ballcons in silver holders were: Mrs. J. B. Creegan, wife of the rector of Christ Church and Mrs. A. S. McConnell wife of the rector of St. Thomas' church; Mrs. R. Babcock and Mrs. W. D. Saunders.

The tea room conveners were: Mrs. A. Watson and Mrs. R. Bailey. Those who served were matching colorful crepe paper hats and aprons and included: Mrs. W. Stovin, Mrs. W. D. Saunders, Mrs. E. Whyte, Mrs. R. G. Burns, Mrs. G. Thompson, Mrs. G. E. Mountford Mrs. P. De Carlo and Mrs. J. Fry. Those replenishing: Mrs. R. Bailey and Mrs. A. Taylor for the tea table; and Mrs. D. D. B. Allen, Mrs. F. Platt and Mrs. T. F. Hay, the plates, Mrs. W. F. Messer and Mrs. Johnson were in charge of the tea-making.

APRONS—HANDICRAFTS

The apron table and handicrafts were under the convenership of Mrs. R. Bishop, assisted by Mrs. J. Bennett, Mrs. A. Parsadis, Mrs. G. A. Spring, and Mrs. W. M. Bishop. For sale here were many pretty aprons in prints, broadcloth, ginghams, and colorful organdies with stencilled flowers; some in half styles, and a few of the all-over type; sewing aprons in factory cotton bore the legend, "I Like to Sew"; and "Little Helper" had colorful bands and borders; white guest towels with crocheted insertion; knit scarves, mitts, toques, socks in all shades; Cowboy yokes with brown and green fringe and Cowboy vests ornamented with embroidery and the Lone Star Ranger motif; baby sets; carriage robe in blue quilted satin, quilt blocks, "Do-it-yourself-kits"; doylies, crocheted cross bookmarks; little ceramic floral ornaments and many other articles.

The white elephant table had the customary "I don't want things and hope-you-do" among these were noted, books, pictures, costume jewellery plastic salad set in dark green color, boxes of getwell cards lip sticks pin trays, and do-it-yourself-kits; crystal sherbet glasses, earrings and bead necklaces. Mrs. F. R. Clarke was the convener, assisted by Mrs. R. A. Relyea and Mrs. W. A. Meens.

TEMPTING CANDY

On the candy table was a tempting display of assorted creams in cellophane boxes, with chocolate fudge candy canes, candied apples, stuffed dates, as well as silver cups filled to overflowing with some of each. Mrs. H. F. Wills and Mrs. W. J. Todd were the conveners.

The bake table, convened by Mrs. C. W. McIlraith, assisted by Mrs. D. Leeming and Mrs. C. Brown, was nicely stocked with a splendid showing of various pies, cup cakes, layer and loaf cakes; mouth-watering Chelsea buns; baked sweet apples centred with a red maraschino cherry; an open-faced cherry pie oozing goodness; date loaves, angel cakes, and jars of relish and jams.

An exceedingly pretty table was that of the dolls. There were tiny dolls, little dolls, medium dolls, all so prettily dressed, and in the centre stood a lovely bride in white with flowing veil, and bouquet of red roses; while round about were dolls in baby carriages, one doll was in a two-wheeler drawn by a white goose with a blue tail; such a bevy of dolls it would be hard to find, and just cute enough for some tiny stockings; while at either end were racks of dolls' dresses, and stuffed animals, a pink horse with black mane, and a yellow horse with a blue mane. Mrs. Peter Rabbit was there also in her blue and white checked gingham dress; besides a whole bevy of tiny bonnets and toques—in all colors. Mrs. R. VanEverdingen, Mrs. J. A. Owens, assisted by Miss Sandra VanEverdingen, were in charge of these.

A most delightful bazaar and carnival tea, bringing appreciative thanks to the general convener, Mrs. F. R. Clarke, to Mrs. J. Bilcke for carnival decorating; to Mrs. D. D. B. Allan for advertising, and to all others whose willing hands assisted in its successful culmination.

Mint has many uses in the kitchen. Mixed with ordinary vinegar and a little sugar it is good hot or cold roast lamb. It is a good addition to salads, to jam making and chicken stuffing. Sprinkled on new potatoes, it gives them a nice flavour.

Clever Cloche

By TRACY ADRIAN

Roman tiles, which were so beautiful in the intricate patterns of the past era, were the inspiration for this darling little cloche that combines charm with great wearability.

Following the designs of that fascinating flooring, this hat uses stripes of banana, beige, and porcelain in velours for the crown. The brim, also of velours, is in porcelain which is most face flattering. Another innovation is that the hat fits any size head without fastening devices.

Bridge, St. W.A. Bazaar, Tea, Charmingly Festival

Christmas in all its loveliness and charm was the keynote of the bazaar and tea held yesterday afternoon in Bridge Street United church Sunday school rooms, under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary. In spite of the sodden sidewalks, and intermittent drizzle, an enthusiastic spirit prevailed, and the large attendance was well rewarded by the delightful atmosphere and the number of splendid articles displayed.

As a prelude to the charming vista within, two tall standards of evergreens highlighted with red poinsettias greeted the steady stream of guests, who were graciously welcomed at the door by Mrs. E. S. Fairman, president of the W.A. and Mrs. Arthur Clare, vice-president.

LOVELY SCENE

Once inside, one stood in admiration of the lovely scene which met the gaze; tall pastel-green pillars entwined with red were further enhanced with huge 'corsages' of shimmering green metallic leaves centred by red poinsettias, while silver-lined poinsettias adorned each balcony ledge and gleamed from walls. In the distance, two beautifully illuminated Christmas trees stood sentinel - like guarding the "Country Store" which occupied the platform behind; in the central space was the tea room with its white picket fence, open gates, and tall, white standards of balsam trees centred by the red Christmas flower, and the dividing twisted ropes of red and green.

In the centre were the little guest tables, immaculate with white cloths, and gleaming with frosty beauty with their little sprays of evergreen, touched here and there with glittering red, silver and green globes, and at one side the long, tea table, appointed with its snow-white damask cloth and appropriate centre of tall, creamy-colored Calla lilies and red carnations, rising from a sea of green fern foliage. Silver tri-branched candelabra held the tall, red and white candles completing an exquisite arrangement.

PRESIDING

Those who presided at the silver services were Mrs. C. Burr and Mrs. F. S. Deacon, Mrs. H. W. Ackerman and Mrs. H. J. Clarke, Mrs. H. Mott and Mrs. D. G. Williams, Mrs. H. Fraser and Mrs. C. Miller, Mrs. T. McMullen and Mrs. J. Parrott, Miss H. Sulman and Mrs. R. Chaplin. The tea room hostess were, Mrs. H. Wray, Mrs. J. Marsh, Mrs. Z. Denyes and Mrs. W. G. Finkle.

Replenishing were Mrs. H. McBurney, Mrs. R. Dulmage, Mrs. R. Arnott; Mrs. C. Massey and Mrs. N. Cathers. Those assisting the tea plates were: Mrs. W. Gilbert, Mrs. H. Seldon, Mrs. R. Morden, Mrs. R. Bateman and Mrs. F. Moon.

Those who served included: Mesdames J. L. Acton, B. Leslie, G. Greatrix, Capstick, N. O'Neil, G. McIntosh, C. Salisbury, E. Miles, P. McGuire, J. Denezs, A. E. Miles, R. Grant, J. B. Boyce, E. Garrett, Broad, D. LaFrance, W. Sherry, V. White, T. Franklin, W. Tugwell, W. Easton, G. S. Cronk, R. Wotten, H. K. Clifton, O. Smith, J. E. MacKeen, G. Anderson, H. Allen, L. Kuntze, C. B. Morgan, H. M. Francis and W. Burgoyne.

The treasurers for the afternoon were Mrs. H. Robbins, Mrs. H. Fetterley, and Mrs. Arthur May.

DELICIOUS CANDY

The booths, which were in Christmas attire, were placed in the adjoining S. S. rooms, save that of the candy, which was just outside the tea room. This was convened by Mrs. H. Parker and Mrs. W. Dallas, and nicely decorated with a valance in white with rows of Santa Clauses in green sleighs. Inside the ruching of red which decorated the top of the booth, were cellophane bags of delicious homemade candy in assorted kinds and flavors; little barrels of mixed nuts; boxes of candy, and cookie-shaped cakes of maple cream; two gumdrop trees were loaded with colorful gumdrop fruits, red and green candles and little sprays of balsam completed an enticing spot.

COUNTRY STORE

The country store, with its clerks in their black uniforms and white collars and aprons, did a thriving business with their well-filled store of canned goods, jams, jellies, relishes, baskets of apples, potatoes, squash, wedges of tempting cheese, and gingerbread men, who were fast disappearing wearing cheese names applied at the customer's wish. A shelf cupboard also had its quota of jars and cans of fruit. Nearby was a little table sporting bridge tallies, and adorned with a red and pink rose. The country store was under the auspices of the Coronation Club, and convened by Mrs. J. Dickens and Mrs. J. Heard.

DAINTY APRONS

The apron booth was in charge of Mrs. D. Stanton and Mrs. Miller, and their assistants, and was completely surrounded with eager buyers of the many lovely aprons displayed, including aprons with fruits; prints in mauve, yellow, and white backgrounds, yellow apron with removable kitchen aprons, cocktail aprons, cobblers' aprons in brown, red and green, and many others.

Dolls' clothes and parcel post were convened by Mrs. H. Mott, Mrs. J. G. Demeza, and did a flourishing business, as here was everything a nice doll could desire, dresses, slips, aprons, hats, bags, shoes, and what have you. The parcel post portion was also well patronized.

Children's clothes and hobby craft displayed crocheted articles to hook them in a variety of colors, mitts, set in white, dressier sets; a lovely toy set in linen with crochet filigree corners; fairy handkerchiefs; pyjama bags, servette bags.

This was convened by Mrs. J. Parrott and Mrs. C. Scott.

WHITE ELEPHANT

The white elephant, as usual, drew its crowds with its fine array of many articles, which was convened by Miss H. Sulman and Mrs. W. Easton. Among the diverse articles was a juice king orange squeezer, pictures, pictures; costume jewellery; basket of used golf balls; enclosed pianos salts and peppers; pair of rubbers; candle holders; electric coffee percolator; potato pot; Easter eggcups; games; doilies; wooden chopping bowl; pair of used books; vases and compacts, to mention but a few.

DELICIOUS HOME-COOKING

The home-cooking booth, when visited, was about depleted of its delicious confectionery, so well known by many, but what remained was indicative of the splendid array that greeted the early purchasers. There were layer cakes; both white and dark; fruit cakes; plain fruit jellies; fruit salads; pies of several kinds; banana and date loaves; tarts and cookies, large and small, and the obliquitous angel cakes. This booth was convened by Mrs. S. Hibbard and Mrs. S. C. Hurlbut; Mrs. T. Dickens and Mrs. C. B. Morgan, while Miss I. Dickens acted as treasurer for the booth.

The conveners of this bazaar, Mrs. Arthur Clare and Mrs. J. E. MacArthur, are to be complimented on the charm of its decoration, the liveliness of its tea, and the success of culmination.

Committee Members Visit H-S Assoc.

The regular monthly meeting of the Queen Elizabeth Home and School Association was held in the school auditorium on Tuesday evening with Mr. Anderson's grade winning the attendance shield.

Following the secretary's report of the last meeting, the president, Mr. Dougherty, appealed for assistance in the Cub Pack, sponsored by the school, and also for volunteers and aid in the annual Christmas parade.

The president then introduced Mrs. Powell, a representative of the Home and School Central Committee, who took charge of the meeting.

Mrs. Powell introduced Mrs. Wilson, president of Queen Victoria Home and School Association, who gave a brief outline of the history of Home and School Associations and its "Aims and Purposes."

This was followed by two films entitled "He Acts His Age," and "Community Responsibility."

The parents were then divided into groups for discussion purposes.

The evening came to a close with the serving of refreshments by the social committee.

Show Designed To Prove Merits Of Newer Fibres

LONDON (CP) — Football and fashion shared the headlines at the opening of a week-long travel and fashion exhibition designed to show the merits of the newer fibres.

Sir Stanley Rous, secretary of the Football Association, tuned up his talk about the "wonders" of nylon. He said he has made three trips behind the Iron Curtain and he always took nylon shirts with him.

"A Russian chambermaid offered me a pile of rubles for one of mine," he said. "But I wouldn't part with it."

Sports represented in the exhibition were swimming, tennis, skating, golf, mountaineering and skiing. The clothes were said to be proof against the elements but guaranteed to dry within an hour. A feature was an inflatable yachting jacket in oiled nylon poplin.

Sports apart, there was an unwearable strapless evening dress made of 100 parts of pink and white nylon organza. This was said to stand up to tight packing in a small bag and to shake out ready to wear after overnight travelling.

The exhibition, which opened Nov. 17, is sponsored by the British Man-Made Fibres Federation.

Mrs. G. Davies Shoots Deer

The Davies report a very successful hunt. Mrs. Gordon Davies still retains her reputation as a good woman hunter. This season she was the first of the party of seven to shoot her deer. All in all it was a very successful hunt, with almost a full quota. Mr. Davies secured two of the kill.

Some of the finer shot was somewhat of an oddity, it was a young doe and was color marked similar to the color of a pinto pony.

Hunting party consisted of: John McMechan, Ken Pinder, Gord Davies and wife Audrey, of Belleville; Russell Bauder, Don Bauder and son Donnie of Kingston.

CAMPBELLFORD

Town Sees Great Changes In 50 Years

CAMPBELLFORD — Miss K. B. Ferris was guest speaker at Monday's meeting of the Campbellford Rotary Club. The talk was most timely in view of the 50-year celebration of the incorporation of Campbellford as a town, coming up next July.

EARLY SETTLERS

She stated that the first settlers came to this area about 150 years ago, as far as is known. Mr. B. Bronson, who came to Seymour in 1806, was the first settler in this area. He was followed by a fairly steady influx of English, Irish, Scotch and United Empire Loyalist stock. For the most part, Seymour was settled by retired army men among whom was a family by the name of Campbell, who possessed 1600 acres in the vicinity of the only ford in the river between Crow Bay and Percy Reach, thus the name of "Campbellford," for the community which grew upon Mr. Campbell's holdings.

TOWN INCORPORATED

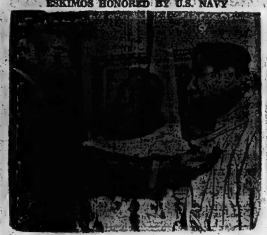
The Town of Campbellford was incorporated in 1906, with a population of 2521 and an assessment of $784,887. W. J. Doxsee, who lost his life in the Great War, was the first Mayor.

Commenting on the changes since that time, Miss Ferris referred to the difference in the condition of the river. At that time there was no retaining walls and the waters lapped the rear of the stores of Front Street. Just below the bridge was a dam. The crowds lined the bridge during the run of logs down the river, to watch the adroit river drivers at work.

The dam at the bridge supplied power for the Smith's mill, Dickson's foundry, Weston Shoe Co., and the Campbellford Cloth Company. The river bordered the road from the fire hall south, and it was divided by a small island adjacent to Mr. Bell's home on Saskatoon Ave., Ramsey Falls and the gorge below were the popular spots for picnicking. The paper mill was supplied with power from a dam above the falls.

FOUR HOTELS

Campbellford in 1906, had four hotels, which in those days had good patronage from commercial travellers who used their sample rooms and usually stayed in town for several days. Liveries did a rushing business and carryalls met the train four times a day.



There are only four businesses at present in Campbellford run by the heirs of the 1906 owners. They are the town's newspaper, the Herald; Horszman's Soft Drink Factory; Gay's Grocery, and Loucks's Drug Store.

The Standard Bank and the Bank of British North America did the community banking business.

The change in 50 years is every respect is tremendous as one goes back to the incorporation of the town.

Miss Ferris was introduced by Rotarian Jim Archer and thanked by Rotarian Ralph Locks for an interesting address.

ESKIMOS HONORED BY U.S. NAVY

Flown from Alaska to Washington to be honored by the U.S. navy, two Eskimos, Clifford Ikmokiuk, centre, and Willie Walungs received navy wings and honorary membership in the air arm. The Eskimos, scouts in the National Guard in Alaska, rescued 11 crew members of a patrol plane shot down by Russian planes over the Bering Sea last June. (Central Press Canadian).

ACQUIT WIFE

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—An all-male jury acquitted a former woman marine sergeant of murder Wednesday night in the slaying of her marine lieutenant husband after they argued over how she should cook pork chops for their dinner, Mrs. Elizabeth Goricki, 42, had testified that Edward Goricki, 40, was shot accidentally while they scuffled after the pork chop argument May 22.

Head Porter To Retire After 45 Years' Service

CALGARY (CP)—A man who has met queens, kings and a host of dignitaries is stepping down from his post shortly, but he thinks retirement has come "40 years too soon."

David Grant, head porter at Calgary's Palliser Hotel, soon will say goodbye to the fascinating succession of kings and commoners he entered in Winnipeg in 1910.

After 45 years of his hotel career he regards all the celebrities he has met as "just ordinary" people. "If I had my life to live over, I'd be a porter again," he says.

He joined the staff of the Royal Alexandra Hotel in Winnipeg in 1910. In the beginning he was a "jack-of-all-trades," he recalls. "Every from bell boy to elevator boy." In December 1914, he became a porter but his new career was cut short by the First World War.

He joined the army in 1915 and returned home in 1919 after several months in the occupation army in Germany.

SERVED BIG HOTELS

He was head porter at the Hotel Saskatchewan when it opened in 1927, and in 1929 was moved to Toronto in the same capacity when the Royal York Hotel was opened.

He also spent a number of seasons at the Banff Springs Hotel.

One highlight he recalls was in 1919 when he handled baggage for the Prince of Wales, now the Duke of Windsor. "We had a long chat about experiences overseas and it was very interesting," said Grant. "He was a very friendly person."

The long list of persons he has met includes the queen of Rumania, the late Duke of Kent, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, the king of Siam and a host of film stars. He has never collected an autograph.

HONORED BY GIRL GUIDES

Highest honor of the Girl Guides was presented to Beatrice Hinton, 17, of Hamilton, Ontario, during awards presentation in St. Paul's United Church. Many other awards were presented as proud parents cheered and clapped. (Central Press Canadian).

MADOC

LOBA Lodge Marks 6th Anniversary

MADOC—Members of the Star of the East, LOBA Lodge, No. 1183, Madoc, spent a pleasant evening in the Orange hall, on November 17, the occasion being the 6th anniversary of the lodge. The lodge was instituted six years ago to the day, and has been most active since.

The first part of the evening was spent in playing euchre, Chinese checkers, and crokinole, which everyone enjoyed.

Later, the Worthy Mistress, Sister Lucy Phillips, called on Sister Sandford, Worthy Mistress of Eldorado Lodge to light two candles on the beautiful decorated anniversary cake. Sister Davidson, Worthy Mistress of Millbridge Lodge, lighted two candles, and the last two candles were lighted by Sister Post, Worthy Mistress of Marmora Lodge, and blown out by Sister Annie Shaw of Marmora Lodge.

The happy event of the evening was when Sister Annie Holland, the first Worthy Mistress of the lodge cut the anniversary cake, which with dainty refreshments was served by the members of the lodge.

Several speeches were made by visitors from Marmora, Eldorado, and Millbridge wishing Madoc Lodge many more anniversaries.

NAVY'S AIR MIGHT

Sixteen Avenger anti-submarine aircraft roar overhead in formation as Rear Admiral Roger Bidwell, chief of the Canadian navy's Atlantic command, takes the salute during inspection of the navy's Shearwater base near Halifax. The base soon will have its runway extended for use when new Banshee jets go into operation. (CP from National Defence).

Little Benny's Notebook

Ma sneezed at breakfast, saying to pop, There goes my allergy again, William. I'm allergic to something. I dont know what, but whatever it is, it makes me sneeze. If it's not something in the food I'm sure it's something in the air, she said.

You might settle the question for yourself in 2 weeks, pop said, and ma said, How William?

Stop eating the first week, and stop breathing the 2nd, pop said, and ma said, Now William, you know that's not practical.

I admit it, and I think it's about time you followed my practical advice and went to see a docter, pop said, and ma said, The docters are entirely too technical nowadays. Maud Hevy had an allergy that took all the sensation out of both thumbs, and she went to a docter, and what happened?

That's what I was going to ask, pop said, and ma said, First of all, a nerse blocked her way and made her recite the story of her life. Then 3 separate labatory technicians got hold of her and took her blood count and her I.Q. and I dont know what elts, and she never did get to see the docter on that visit. He was probably shut up in his ivory tower reeding old medical jokes in the original latin. No thanks, William, I'll wait till I find a good old fashion docter who will listen to my heart while he feels my pults, and then give me one simpathetic look and tell me what makes me sneeze, she said.

How are you going to reckonize him? pop said, and ma said, Well for one thing, he'll probably have a little pointy beard.

Yee gods, pleasant sneezes, pop said.

And he took an exter cup of coffee.

Investment Firms Suggest Ontario Four-Lane Highways Be Converted to Toll Roads

TORONTO (CP)—Three investment firms Wednesday suggested that Ontario study the question of converting high-speed roads such as the Queen Elizabeth way to toll highways.

The suggestion was one of five questions placed before the Ontario legislature select committee on toll roads by two Toronto investment dealers and their United States associate.

They asked whether certain high-speed highways, such as the Queen Elizabeth way, can be converted to toll highways so that money obtained from tolls could be used to build adjacent free highways of equal or perhaps lower standards.

Other questions were:

Can toll roads help solve the need for additional trunk or major arterial highways; will prospective revenues justify the required investment; can some be partially self-supporting, and will toll roads be self-supporting to the extent that gasoline taxes might be reduced?

SUPPORT BUILDING THEME

A brief submitted to the committee by the Ontario Hotel Association supported the building of toll roads in the province.

"As one construction season succeeds another, and as maintenance costs increase from year to year, those interested in highway transportation are becoming acutely aware that highway facilities are lagging far behind the requirements of modern transportation," the association said.

Toll charges, paid only by those who want to use the road, avoid the political difficulties of increasing gasoline taxes, it said.

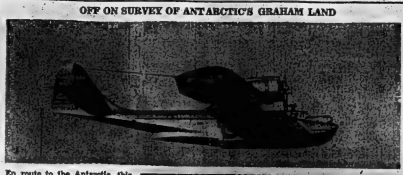
Travel Minister Cathcart, in a letter to the committee, said toll roads might be of benefit to tourists because trucks and commercial travellers, anxious to travel in a hurry, would use the toll roads and leave existing highways for more leisurely travel.

GET PAY INCREASE

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP)—Management gave 250,000 Ruhr steel workers a 14-pfennig (3.2 cents) hourly wage boost Wednesday, but union leaders refused to approve the raise, which falls three pfennigs short of their demands. The raise will increase hourly wages to 2.54 marks. It came two days after the union's wage board decided against calling a mass strike which would have crippled West Germany's booming industry.

TO ENTERTAIN TROOPS IN EAST

One of a troupe of entertainers who will perform for the Commonwealth troops, including 300 Canadians, in Korea during the Christmas season is Sherry Moore. Formerly Miss Calgary Stampede, Sherry has a specialty baton-twirling act in which the baton is dipped in gasoline and lit.



Union Leaders Resume Talks With Railways

MONTREAL (CP) — Union representatives of 150,000 railwaymen resumed talks with company officials Wednesday on contract demands that would cost the railways at least $33,000,000 annually.

The parley—started last Thursday and Friday—was held behind closed doors, with a "no statement" pledge from both sides until a joint announcement is agreed upon.

Frank Hall, head of the union negotiating committee, said only that the meeting would explore the exact costs of the requested contract. Union sources have estimated the cost of the 18 per cent wage demand and other benefits at $33,000,000.

OFF ON SURVEY OF ANTARCTIC'S GRAHAM LAND

En route to the Antarctic, this huge Canso flying boat of Canada's Photographic Survey corporation heads south over Toronto with a crew of five who will spend five months on the Graham Land: Another Canso followed closely behind. Left, pilots of the ships, James Greenshields, left, and Christopher Gavin-Robinson, will make constant use of the gadget they are studying on the side of one of the planes. It is a radar scanner which will help them to landings on the lake inside an extinct volcano where they plan to set up camp. Weather is usually misty in the area as hot springs send vapor into the freezing polar air. They will conduct the first mapping survey of Graham Land's 50,000 square miles and at the same time will compile magnetometer readings for mineral deposits. (Central Press Canadian).

Security Probe Will Be Made By 7-Man Board

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Eden Wednesday night announced the makeup of a committee of privy counsellors to investigate British security measures and was promptly criticized for declaring that facts turned up by the body will be kept secret.

The investigation was decided upon as a result of the disappearance behind the Iron Curtain of diplomats Donald Maclean and Guy Burgess in 1951 and the recent debate over the case.

After Eden made the announcement in the Commons, Labor member Emrys Hughes jumped up to protest that facts uncovered by the privy counsellors would not be made public.

"Is this going to be another branch of the secret service?" he demanded. "How are ordinary mortals going to make up their minds about it? How will members (of Parliament) know anything about it?"

The prime minister replied: "I thought the selection of leaders from both sides would inspire confidence in the breast of Mr. Hughes. If it does not, I am afraid it is past me to provide a cure for it."

One of the members of the investigation committee is Herbert Morrison, deputy leader of the Labor party who was foreign secretary when the two diplomats vanished. Other Labor party members are Earl Jowitt, Opposition leader in the House of Lords, and former supply minister George Isaacs.

Water and Sewer Services Will Be Installed

CORNWALL (CP)—The Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission says it shortly will begin installation of water and sewer services in the second of two new towns built to rehabilitate persons displaced by the St. Lawrence seaway.

The town, as yet unnamed, is 14 miles west of here. It is intended as a home for residents of five communities to be affected by the seaway project.

Installation of services in Long Sault, the other new town, was begun a month ago. Long Sault seven miles west of Cornwall, is being built to rehabilitate residents in two other villages. Both towns are being developed at the commission's expense.

Each will provide facilities for about 1,500 persons with eventual accommodation for 3,500.

A BUSY DAY

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Nobody could blame patrolman Ernest Pallas if he wondered whether he should have taken up a less-hazardous occupation—say that of a stunt pilot or steeplejack. In a single day Wednesday he nearly had a smash-up as he chased a speeder in his patrol car; got bulled in the stomach as he and some fellow officers were rounding up a cow that escaped from a slaughter house, and was bitten by a dog.

Cheap and Simple Funeral Service Is Urged by New Toronto Society

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto church group says it has a plan to "cut down the high cost of dying."

The recently - formed Toronto Memorial Society hopes to popularize an unorthodox type of funeral service that will be both cheap and simple while still honoring the dead.

Rev. Donald R. Stout, 37, organized the group from among members of the congregation of South Peel Unitarian church where he is minister.

He said the society wants to do away with the present type of "morbid and barbaric" funeral rites. "We also want to cut down on the cost of dying. It's far too expensive these days."

"In place of the gloomy, semi-pagan ritual which seems fascinated with death, we want to substitute a form of service that will be simple, impressive, dignified and devoted to honoring the dead and what they lived for," he said.

He told a meeting of about 20 members of the Unitarian Church in Toronto there are many such organizations throughout the United States.

Mr. Stout said his group advocates a service that would embody few of the traditional ceremonies or trappings associated with funerals.

There would be no embalming, no public display of the body, no heaps of floral tributes, no sombre music and no graveside committal attended by members of the deceased's family.

The body would not be on view but would have been buried or cremated previously at a private ceremony.

"Too often undertakers capitalize on loved ones' desire to do the right thing by making sure the right thing is the most expensive thing," Mr. Stout said. The result was elaborate funeral arrangements, costly flowers and coffin.

He said the new type of service would last only 30 minutes and be called not a funeral service but a memorial service.

DOMINION STORES, BELLEVILLE

Here's How to Win!

Find the "Phantom Famous Brand" listed on the check sheet but not illustrated in this advertisement. Next, if your telephone rings between 8 and 9 o'clock next Saturday evening, DO NOT ANSWER HELLO or you will be automatically disqualified from an opportunity to win $2,000.

Instead, of answering HELLO, say "DOMINION STORES" and you do, and it is the DOMINION FORTUNE HUNT calling: you will win the Grand Prize of $1,000.

$1,000 BONUS! If you win the Grand Prize and have in your home at the time a box top or label from this week's "Phantom Famous Brand" (or a reasonable facsimile) PLUS a Dominion Store cash register slip dated this week and totalling $2.50 or more, you will qualify for a bonus prize of $1,000.

$100 CONSOLATION PRIZES! If the DOMINION FORTUNE HUNT calls your telephone number and you make the mistake of answering HELLO, but can still name this week's "Phantom Famous Brand", you will qualify for a consolation prize of $100.

GRAND PRIZE MUST BE WON! If this week's Grand Prize is not won on Saturday night, it will be added to next week's Grand Prize of $1,000. This will be repeated if necessary until someone wins the accumulated Grand Prize.

Employees and agents of Dominion Stores Limited and their families are not eligible for this contest.

Mr. Basil Partridge, 38 Walmsley Blvd., Toronto was the lucky winner of the $2,000 grand prize in the DOMINION "Famous Brands" FORTUNE HUNT last Saturday night. Mr. Partridge failed to qualify for the additional bonus prize of $1,000. Among the Ontario centres called were London, Barrie, Wingham, Sudbury, Hanover-on-the-Lake, North Bay, Kingston, Port Robinson, Oshawa, Kingston and Gananoque.

SEE ATOM PROVIDING ELECTRICITY HERE WITHIN 10 YEARS

Four of Canada's top authorities on atomic energy believe that, by 1965, probably 15 atomic reactors will be in operation in Canada alone and that these would include low-cost electric power units. Speaking to a group of 400 professional engineers and students in Toronto, the atom experts challenged the engineering professions to design nuclear power plants and to expand the role of nuclear energy within the next 10 years so that it would be competitive with other fuels. Left to right, L. G. Cook, co-director of the chemistry and metallurgical division, Chalk River; Ian M. Mackay, C.G.E. Civilian Atomic Power Department, Peterborough, Ont.; H. A. Smith, director of Ontario Hydro's nuclear development, and Dr. R. L. Hearn, chairman of Ontario Hydro. (Central Press Canadian).

McMaster President Urges Business Assist Universities

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. G. P. Gilmour, president of Hamilton's McMaster University, today appealed to Canadian business to help universities meet the heavy student load expected in the next 10 years.

"We face in the next decade a deluge of young people who will overcrowd our facilities and require a larger teaching staff that we can neither afford nor accommodate," he said.

Dr. Gilmour spoke to members of the Toronto branch of the Canadian Public Relations Society at a luncheon here. His speech was released to the press in advance of delivery.

Dr. Gilmour said the percentage of collete students has doubled since 1942, while at the same time there exists a shortage of trained personnel in almost every field.

He said universities are being pressed to provide greater accommodation and more graduates but simply haven't the facilities to do either.

HURT BY INFLATION

"The effect of inflation has cut the real value of endowments in half, and at the same time doubled the dollar cost of operations. The demand for a wider range of studies, including research, has necessitated the building of great laboratories, which add to expense as much as they add to prestige.

"The great wealth of the country has passed from individuals to corporations and the latter have scarcely begun seriously to consider spending on universities the full amount for which they can get tax exemptions.

"The prior need for elementary and secondary school buildings and budgets, and certain constitutional problems, have delayed the necessary government action that would p larger sums at the disposal of the universities."

Dr. Gilmour said support must come from the ranks of corporations and governments, "since private wealth and private generosity are insufficient now."

"Most universities today have certain expensive activities that are in theory separable from the main budget," Dr. Gilmour said.

"These include operating professional schools and research programs. If industries could help more generously to underwrite the real cost to the university of the research which will eventually serve industry richly, and of the special expense of certain professional training, it would relieve most budgets as effectively as would grants for general undergraduate training.

"Universities cannot do their best work unless they are given wider public sympathy, which is beginning to appear, greater corporation support, which is now being given as never before, and greater government assistance, to which, I have no doubt, much thought is being given in the provincial municipalities and capital of Canada."

LEASE HOTEL

LONDON (Reuters) —The fact that his wife slapped his face when he went home on weekends was bad enough. IVANHOE

W.I. Presents Two Life Memberships

IVANHOE—The annual W.I. "At Home" was held in Huntingdon township hall, Ivanhoe, last Wednesday evening. As usual, the event was largely attended by Institute members and their families and a delicious pot-luck supper was served at 6:30.

W.I. president, Miss Jayne Gay, presided extending a warm welcome to all. The program opened with a round of community singing led by Mr. Reginald Hagerty with Mrs. R. Hagerty at the piano and included the following numbers: duet, "Shifting, Whispering Sands", Karen and Barry Bray; duet, accordion and piano, Mrs. George Wood and Mrs. R. Haggerty; reading, "Just How Wood", Miss Edna Tanner; solo, Roseann McAvoy; reading, "Jerry Revit", Miss M. Wright.

Mrs. Clarence Douglas presented the W.I. girls of $3 to the best all round Grade 8 pupil in White Lake, Ivanhoe and West Huntingdon public schools.

AWARDS PRESENTED

Those receiving the 1955 awards were: Lois Fleming, White Lake P.S., teacher, Mrs. V. Fleming; Thelma Cooney, Ivanhoe, teacher, Miss M. Wright; James Wilson, West Huntingdon, teacher, Mrs. Tyner.

Mrs. John McIlroy, president of the "Girls' Club" gave a brief report of their program and activities. The members of the club sang "The Yellow Rose of Texas"; solo "Faith, Hope and Charity" Beverly McIlroy.

Mrs. J. C. Sills in outlining W.I. aims and purposes, said "The W.I. is a cultural, social and educational organization, that has raised the standard of rural life. Let us continue to be builders of harmony in the community. We have a great country—let us be a great people."

LIFE MEMBERSHIPS

Mrs. Sills presented Mrs. William Shaw with a life membership certificate in recognition of 45 years much appreciated service. Mrs. Shaw expressed thanks for the honor bestowed upon her, saying she had always enjoyed the work.

Mrs. Kelly Bray, on behalf of W.I. members presented a life membership to Mrs. William French, who had also faithfully served over 45 years. Mrs. Bray, in making the presentation, stated that Mrs. French was always the first to arrive at the meetings to get things under way—not leaving until the last crumb had been swept up and everything left in order.

Mrs. French in expressing gratitude said she had joined the Institute at the home of the late Mrs. Mark Lancaster and in all the 45 years had missed only three meetings. This is an enviable attendance record.

Following the singing of The Queen, The remainder of the evening was spent in playing cards and bingo.

Victoria Harbor And Orangeville Remain Dry

ORANGEVILLE (CP) — Residents Wednesday turned down establishment of beer and liquor stores, although a majority voted in favor.

The vote was: For a liquor store, Yes, 1,092; No, 844; for a beer store, yes, 1,092; No, 844.

The vote failed to get the required 60 per cent majority. A total of 1,949 of the 2,311 eligible voters cast ballots.

VICTORIA HARBOR, Ont. (CP) This Georgian Bay village stayed "dry" Wednesday as residents voted for the third time since 1940 on the question of establishing liquor and beer retail outlets and beverage rooms.

None of the three issues received the required 60-per-cent majority. Walter Lumsden, village clerk and returning officer, said only 50 per cent of the 580 eligible voters cast ballots.

The town, 30 miles north of Barrie, is a tourist haven in summer. It has a winter population of about 1,000.

Residents favored a liquor store 269 to 208; a retail beer store 276 to 200 and a hotel beverage room 247 to 238. The town stayed "dry" through votes on the question held in 1940 and 1949.

Municipalities Cannot Afford To Build Plants

CHATHAM (CP) — Representatives of seven Ontario communities decided here Wednesday that if the erection of sewage disposal plants is necessary, at least 75 per cent of the cost must be borne by the federal or provincial governments.

The representatives form a committee to study financing of methods to overcome pollution in waterways from which the municipalities draw their water.

Represented were Sault Ste. Marie, Niagara Falls, Sarnia, Wallaceburg, Riverside, Windsor and Chatham.

W. C. Nelson, mayor of Sarnia, who is chairman of the committee, said the communities are unable to fot the bill and building sewage disposal plants would the same as buying something we could not fly for."

Wilful Damage Charge Laid Against Drinker

Smashed 50 beer glasses on the floor with one sweep of an outraged arm in a local pub; missed bartender Clarence Hoch with a beer bottle by two or three inches; missed the bartender with another beer bottle which went crashing into the cash register.

Hoch said he told waiters not to serve Walters because he thought he had "had enough."

"I guess I really wrecked the joint," commented Walters as a constable led him to the police car.

He was remanded two weeks in custody for sentence.

Cold and Snow Cause Halt To Fieldwork

TORONTO (CP) —The Ontario agriculture department said today in its weekly report that cold and snow have almost halted fieldwork throughout the province and most cattle have been stabled.

All northern counties reported snow. Kenora county farmers reported fresh eggs in demand and had to trudge through 18 inches of snow to get them.

Ontario county said winter wheat and rye were in good condition.

Eastern Ontario was hit by cold temperatures that ended fieldwork for most farmers. High winds damaged farm buildings in Stormont county.

It was the second time in 18 months that Marie has left the convent.

Patient's Death Said Accidental By Coroner's Jury

ORILLIA (CP) — A coroner's jury has ruled accidental the death by strangulation of a 13-year-old girl patient last Friday at the Ontario Hospital school.

The jury attached no blame to attendants but recommended that a better method of restraint be employed for young patients.

The girl was described as having the mentality of a year-old baby. She had been a patient five years and was inclined to do herself harm if not restrained.

Witnesses said the youngster was seated cross-legged on a chair for feeding and was wearing a garment which encased her arms. The sleeves were tied to the back of the chair. She had apparently fallen from the chair and been strangled by the garment while the attendant went out of the room bringing in food.

Four Big Motor Manufacturers Want Share in 'Wonder Car'

LONDON (AP)—The new "wonder" car developed by Harry Ferguson has set Britain dreaming of a way out of her sagging position in the world's car export rankings —even though details of the car are secret.

Government, industry and military officials are said to be excited over the new auto.

Harry Ferguson is the tractor magnate whose patent battles with Ford Motor Co. won him $9,000,000 in infringement costs.

Reported to be completely new in concept, the Ferguson car is said in British press accounts to threaten to revolutionize the automaking industry.

MILITARY EXCITED

Already four big motor manufacturers are said to be courting Ferguson for a share in mass producing the new auto which does away with conventional brakes, gear box, clutch and transmission.

Government experts who have watched a military version of the car on exhaustive tests are reported convinced it is the biggest advance in military transport since the first tank lumbered over the top in Flanders in the First World War.

So far no details of the new auto have been made public—but a number of "leaks" over the last few days has enabled the following pictures to be pieced together.

HYDRAULIC SYSTEM

One report said the car could be built to sell for about $1,300.

The secret of the new car is a large pressure chamber pumping out hydraulic fluid to drive—and brake—all four wheels by small individual pumps and to operate the independent suspension system and other power units.

The engine is merely a subsidiary of this hydraulic system. It could be carried on a trailer hooked behind the car and linked to it with a single oil pressure cable.

The motor is close-coupled to the hydraulic pump, which compresses oil in a pressure chamber.

From this chamber, high pressure oil jets are taken to small turbines which drive all four wheels through short, flexible couplings.

BRAKING SIMPLE

Braking is effected by a simple, two-way valve. When the brake pedal is pressed, the power jet is directed to the reverse side of the turbine to produce an even stopping pressure on all four wheels.

It is claimed this braking system minimizes skidding, since pressure would be constant on all four wheels.

Oil fluid from the pressure chamber can be used to operate power steering and spring bumpers, British jacking to lift the car, hood-raising and trunk-opening.

WORLD BEATEN

Last weekend Sir Miles Thomas, boss of the state-owned British Overseas Airways Corp., joined Ferguson as a top sales and production director with full government blessing.

"Mr. Ferguson's car could give us a world-beating lead in motor exports," he told newspaper men.

"It does not require any extravagant expenditure on new machine tool equipment," he said, "and with a really mass volume of production could bring down the costs."

Four Committed For Conspiring In Drug Traffic

TORONTO (CP)—Four persons charged with conspiring to traffic in drugs were committed Wednesday for trial.

The four, released on bail, are: Mrs. Hannelore Rosenblum, 23, Jacob Rosenblatt, 52, Jack Goldbar, 48, and Leo Craig, 33. They pleaded not guilty. Charges against them arose from a seizure Aug. 5 when police found an estimated $1,000,000 in drugs. The four accused were rounded up in raids.

Mrs. Rosenblum testified Wednesday, fourth day of a preliminary hearing, that she was given $1,000 and free transportation to Germany to carry a small suitcase of narcotics back to Canada. She said she didn't know what was in the suitcase.

She said she was approached by a Mr. Lippa in April and asked if she would like to make some money. RCMP testified Lippa was an alias for Rosenblatt.

Col. James Macauley of the RCMP said Wednesday a trunk containing five pounds of white powder was found in Rosenblatt's room when he was arrested. Analysis identified the powder as heroin.

Among the guards, Edmonton has Ted Tully, at left, from last year while Normie Kwong will be back in halfback slot. The only Chinese in Canadian pro football, Kwong has been voted the native Canadian football player of the year. Sportswriters and sportscasters of senior football league cities from Montreal to Vancouver, voting on the annual Canadian Schenley Awards, puts the finger on the 25-year-old China Clipper as the best Canadian player of 1955. This year's Grey Cup classic promises to be a bang-up affair as it marks the first time Vancouver has ever played host to the event. Festive spirit leading up to the football final becomes more apparent every day, as signs like one seen centre are springing up all over the city. Raised to the top of a downtown building by an 80-foot derrick, this giant effigy of Grey Cup which Douglas Brown, at left, a director of B.C. Lions Football club and John Dunsmuir, general chairman of Grey Cup Festival committee are seen admiring, is Vancouver's way of saying welcome to its visitors.

Repeat for Eskys Says Parker As Pals Curl or Go Fishing

VICTORIA (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos take time out for some curling and fishing today as coach Frank (Pop) Ivy tapers off his training program for Saturday's Grey Cup final against Montreal.

Assistant manager Gordon Ingram says Eskimos will leave Victoria by plane after lunch Friday and will hold a light workout at Vancouver's Empire Stadium on their arrival.

Some of the players planned to curl against the Victoria Cougar Hockey Club today and other said they were going salmon fishing.

The team has been besieged by invitations for various outings since their arrival here Sunday but almost all have been turned down as Ivy stuck closely to his twice-daily practice routine.

BURRIS SEEN OUT

Meanwhile, it became almost a certainty that ailing centre Kurt Burris will be one of the two U.S. imports that must cut by game time.

"Unless Burris shows tremendous improvement between now and Friday night, we'll just have to forget about him," Ivy said.

Burris has been taking heat treatments at a Victoria hospital all week for his gimpy knee, but "unless the doctor thinks he will be able to play the entire game, he won't be dressed Saturday," Ivy said.

"But I still don't know about the other one," he added.

"All our imports are top-flight men. If we had any second-rate imports the decision would be easier, but we haven't and that makes it tough."

U.S. LIST

The two men cut will come from these 12 American players: Burris; tackle Don Giantis, Dale Meinert and Bob Dean; ends Frankie Anderson, Rose Andrews and Bob Heydenfeldt; guard Art Walker; halfbacks Billie Miles and Earl Lindley; fullback Johnny Bright and quarterback Jackie Parker.

VICTORIA (CP)—Jackie Parker, the man who broke last year's Grey Cup game wide open with a sterling 85-yard touchdown run in the final minutes, thinks his Edmonton Eskimos can do it again.

Parker will be calling signals for the Eskimos Saturday when they meet Montreal Alouettes at Vancouver's Empire Stadium. Esks won 26-25 last year in the final, played in Toronto.

In the Eskimos' Victoria training camp, Parker said Wednesday this year's encounter would be "another high-scoring game."

FOUR MAJORS

"Maybe not as high as last year's but I think if we can get four touchdowns we can win it," he said.

Parker, acclaimed for his running and ball handling, developed into a fine passer this year and under coach Pop Ivy's training this week has shown a talent for kicking field goals.

"We'll move well along the ground," he said, "but we have to keep that ball away from them. You can't throw the long pass against them because they've got that Hal Patterson and if you put the ball up in the air near him, he'll go after it and take it away from you.

ANNOUNCES AWARD

VANCOUVER (CP) — A special "Trustee Award" to two outstanding football players was announced Wednesday by Canadian Schenley award trustees. The players will receive $250 each.

Names of the players will be made public here Friday.

The honors are in addition to players chosen by sports writers and sportscasters for the annual awards. Earlier it was announced that Pat Abbruzzi of Montreal Alouettes was named the backfielder of the year, Tex Coulter, also of the Als, the lineman of the year and Edmonton Eskimos' Normie Kwong, the outstanding native Canadian of 1955.

Best Golfers Will Form British Team

LONDON (AP)—The leaders of British golf have decided that their Walker Cup team players will have to be the best golfers in the land from now on and that the old school tie won't be a prime factor in making the squad.

The Royal and Ancient Club, ruling body of golf in Great Britain, said Wednesday that in the future only the best possible players will be selected for the amateur Walker Cup teams that meet the United States.

"It doesn't matter whether they are butchers, bakers, candlestick makers, or from Eton or Christchurch but only the best will be picked," Raymond Oppenheimer, chairman of the royal and ancient's selection committee said.

Records show that most Walker Cup players in the past 30 years either attended Britain's most exclusive schools, were very wealthy or were sons of socially prominent families. For years there have been charges that the color of a team candidate's tie is checked before his score card.

British teams have won only one Walker Cup engagement—in 1938—while losing 14 to American teams. The score last May at St. Andrews was 10-2 for America. The next Walker Cup matches will be in the United States, at a club to be selected, in 1957.

Mayor Insures 'Ella Wetta' Pig Mascot

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP)—Mayor Harry Veiner took steps Wednesday to assure that the purebred pig he presented to Miss Montreal Alouette as a mascot, doesn't meet an untimely end as barbecued porkchops.

The mayor made the presentation of the three-month-old porker, Ella Wetta, Tuesday. Since then, worried about the pig's future, Mayor Veiner has arranged with a national drug company and a Medicine Hat animal gynecologist, Dr. D. N. Davis, to provide for the mascot's needs for the next two years.

He also sent this telegram Wednesday to Miss Alouette, Nancy Roland, now in Vancouver for the Grey Cup festivities:

"Please do not eat Ella Wetta. Want her children and grandchildren to see future Grey Cup games as they will believe story of her experience. Coming with Calgary contingent for Saturday's parade and will complete arrangements for her future security."

Rangers Alone In Second Place After Hanging 4-0 Collar On Bruins

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

WELL-DESERVED HONOR

The good Scourge burghers of the town of Lindsay like a fellow by the name of Bert Hick. So do a lot of other people. Bert is that kind of a guy. He figured he could do a lot for his municipality by joining the town council. He figured he could do a lot for kids' sports by tossing in his lot with minor hockey—and the Ontario Minor Hockey Association. He has done an excellent job for both. So much so that today Bert is enjoying his second term as mayor of Lindsay—and this week was named president of the OMHA. A grand climax to a near-decade of unselfish effort, sacrifice, labor and time spent. And it couldn't happen to a nicer fellow.

Bert managed Lindsay minor hockey clubs for a number of years before being named OMHA convener. In 1947 he was elected to the executive, and since has been third, second and first vice-presidents. His election by acclamation to the presidency this year will be acclaimed in the many far-flung corners of the province where the OMHA operates.

Commensurate with Bert's elevation to the president's chair, three vice-posts step up the ladder. The new first-vice is Jack Dykes, Strathroy; Frank Doherty, Thorold, is the new second-vice, while a grand chappie, Ted Ellenor, of Galt, makes the big jump from the active executive to the third vice-president's chair.

Nine minor hockey workers have been nominated for the seven positions on the active executive. Six of them are already on the executive, but one, Albert Watkins of Peterborough, has signified his intention to retire. However, he had been nominated and his name will appear on the ballot. Sitting members seeking re-election at the annual meeting on November 26th are: Jerry Simmons, Gravenhurst; Jim Austin, Smithville; Doug Henderson, Kirkland Lake; Cudmore, Wallaceburg and Jim Trott, Collingwood. Nominated to fill the executive vacancies are: Bew. Schram, Port Dover; John H. Leask, Fort Erie, and George Haskett of Newmarket.

MINOR HOCKEY BUSINESS

In keeping with its life-long policy to keep minor hockey clean and above reproach, the Ontario Minor Hockey Association at its 32nd annual convention in Toronto this weekend will revamp its constitution to settle a bugbear—the eligibility of players.

The amendment to the constitution provides for the insertion of but one word "proven" into the first clause. The word will give the OMHA executive authority to govern proven hockey and thus set up regulations for the improvement of senior hockey tournaments as last steps can be taken to prevent a repetition of the over-age trouble encountered in the Goderich peewee tourney last year.

This will put official teeth into the constitution and give the executive the authority to lay down regulations governing the date of player registration for all teams. This has long been a thorn in the side of the parent body with complaints from all parts of the province filtering Secretary Jack Christie's desk every year.

The OMHA has long been noted for its firmness in dealing with various problems contrary to its regulations and constitution and its decision to control all classifications and thus eliminate those unnecessary items will no doubt, have the desired effect on those who have been more or less defying the "book."

There will be no argumentative nor controversial willynilly wandering by delegates where a specific question is in front of the conference. The boys will stick to the question at hand and not needlessly prolong the convention's time by reference to other classifications.

Of late years it has been the custom for some delegates to "plump" the ballots when voting in elections for executive membership. Secretary Christie will place a motion "before the house" that makes it necessary for delegates to vote for all seven eligible candidates in order to have their ballots counted. A good idea.

With a large number of clubs seeking a change in the final date for the signing of players, a proposal will be presented, which if adopted, will change the date from February 15 to February 10, which will bring OMHA regulations in line with those of the CAHA.

In the past, belated protests have reached the secretarial desk, arriving after teams have won a championship or been eliminated. To halt this procedure delegates will vote on a resolution that managers retain stubs of players' certificates in their personal possession until their team is eliminated. They should carry them at all times.

And to remove another item of more or less confusion the delegates will be asked to endorse the deletion of a line from a regulation; that of accepting entries of teams from organized leagues after the OMHA playdowns have started.

A WORTHY SELECTION

Amiable Frank Tindall, best-loved college football coach in the country, can decorate his achievement cap with another well-merited feather — and so can Queen's University. For the Tricolor two of the finest players of the 1955 intercollegiate championship team on the second squad of Eastern Canada gridiron All Stars.

Ron Stewart, five-foot-six touchdown dynamo, and Jim Hughes, 185-pound tackle, were named by the selectors, the finest intercollegiate stars accorded the honor in three years.

The teams were picked by The Canadian Press by football writers, sportscasters and coaches in the Big Four, Intercollegiate and ORFU-centres. The selectors marked the improved calibre of play, generally the resurgence of Queen's as a football power by their choice of the Tricolor luminaries for full-eastern all-star honors.

Watson Roars, 'Victims' Score As Worsley Gets 2nd Blank; Creep Within Eight of Habs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

New York Rangers are in second place in the National Hockey League. That's the highest they've been in a number of seasons. Why?

The reason could well be locked up in coach Phil Watson's use of psychology. Wednesday night psychologist Watson watched with admiration as the Rangers blanked Boston Bruins 4-0 before a New York gathering of 14,280. It was the only game of the night.

When Watson isn't satisfied with the play of individuals on the team, he says so—in public — with no punches pulled.

Dean Prentice and Danny Lewicki were the main figures in a verbal-blast Watson gave publicly last Friday. He said he wasn't at all satisfied with their play. A month ago, Lewicky was the target of one of Watson's criticisms.

FIGURED PROMINENTLY

These three figured prominently in Rangers' win over Boston. Prentice scored two goals and Lewicki one and Worsley kicked out 35 Bruin shots as he racked up his second shutout — his first came shortly after Watson told the hockey world the netminder was headed for the showers if his play didn't improve.

Dave Creighton, who was considered on the skids by many experts until Watson got a hold of him this season, was the other scorer.

The victory—Rangers' first over Boston this season, after Bruins had won three games—gave the New Yorkers a four-point edge over Chicago Black Hawks and the Bruins, both tied for third place with 18 points each. Montreal Canadiens lead the league with 28 points, six more than Rangers.

Lewicki, a 29-goal scorer last season, fired what proved to be the winner at 12:32 of the first period. Hergesheimer gave him a pass for an assist. Rookie Brondbo Horvath also was credited with an assist.

GAVE THEM LEAD

Creighton finished a play with defenceman Lou Fontinato and rookie forward Andy Hebenton at 16:04 to give Rangers a 2-0 lead at the end of the first period. Worsley, who has allowed 18 goals to get by him in the 16 games since Oct. 23—the date of Watson's blast —was kept busy in the initial frame as he blocked 15 shots. Terry Sawchuk, in the Bruins' nets, stopped six of his total of 30 in that period.

The second stanza was scoreless. Prentice counted his two goals in the final five minutes. His first was at 11:26 with Harry Howell and Bathgate getting the assists. With just two seconds to go in the game, Prentice scored again. Ivan Irwin and Jack Evans drew assists.

Referee Jerry Olinski had his hands full in the third period, handing out five-minute major penalties to Bob Armstrong and Murray Costello of Bruins and Horvath and Howell for fighting. In-all, 14 penalties were given.

Bookies Offer Varying Odds On Cup Game

It's a fight against the East and the man in the middle is not the referee—he's a bookmaker, taking b.ts on the outcome of the Grey Cup game in Vancouver Saturday between Edmonton Eskimos and Montreal Alouettes.

Edmonton football fans, who cleaned up here after last year's classic, are rushing dollars to the East to back up their claim that their Eskimos will win the cup again this year.

TORONTO FAVORS ALS

But Toronto bookmakers have Montreal Alouettes practically on their way home with the mug already. They're quoting Als at 11-8 favorites and Edmonton at 5-9. In other words, if you like Als, you must put up $11 to win $5. If you take Edmonton, you put up $5 to win $9.

If you don't like doing business that way, you can bet on a points basis, for even money. If you bet on Edmonton, they need only come within six points of winning for you to collect. But Alouettes must win by nine points for you to win a bet on them.

That's in Toronto. In Vancouver you can shop around. A fin will get you $8 if you bet on Edmonton and win. If you take Als, you'll win a fiver if you put up $6 or $7, depending on the bookie.

In Montreal they're playing it cagey. Nobody even money with few takers. Some bookies are giving Edmonton six points, but that's all.

'Look Ma No Gun!'

He had left his gun several feet away. So when a deer walked by a bush in which he was hiding he just grabbed the animal around its neck and held on.

The wrestling match lasted about two minutes — until his hunting companion, Jack Wenrich, ran over and cut the deer's throat.

Six-Team Loop For Triple A

TORONTO (CP) — The International-Triple A Basketball league has expanded into a six-team circuit with four entries from the United States and two from Canada, it was announced Wednesday.

East Rochester Pauls of Rochester, N.Y., O'Keefe's Brewery of Buffalo, N. Y., Niagara Falls Chicks, Niagara Falls, N.Y., and Andy's Athletic Club, Toronto, will compete in the league for the first time this year.

Workers' Motors, Toronto, and the Eldredge Club, Tonawanda, N. Y., are repeat performers of the league, formed three years ago to promote international basketball. Game schedules and team rosters will be announced shortly, officials said.

WILL FOOT BILL

TORONTO (CP)—Players and officials connected with the East-West all-star football game here Dec. 3 will be entertained at a civic reception.

The city said Wednesday it will foot the bill. The game offers an opportunity for the city to extend goodwill and sustain the good relationships between eastern and western Canada cities, officials said.

Plane Engine Sighed, Stopped Tosses Wrench in Lark Plans

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—So far Montreal Alouettes have circumvented a gooey airplane engine by staying overnight in Winnipeg and are on the Skyliner line in their hopeful trip to Vancouver and the Grey Cup game. The Edmonton Eskimos may prove more formidable.

The Als Wednesday night had to call off their airborne passage from Montreal and bed down in Winnipeg. The magneto or some other segment of an engine in a Trans-Canada Airlines North Star went pfitt. It was just as effective in halting the Als as Jackie Parker and company might be.

The principal worry was that the Alouettes couldn't brahce around the lobby of the Fort Garry Hotel and get in a much needed practice.

The workout is supposed to come today, said coach Douglas (Peahead) Walker, in just a trifle of a sweat. He hopes it will be in Vancouver.

STARTED WEDNESDAY

The whole disarrangement of arrangements started Wednesday after a delightful trip from Montreal. A TCA official said it would take 30 to 45 minutes to service the plane. He was short of a first down by six hours.

The players waited and waited and finally were told to get aboard a bus and get downtown to the Fort Garry Hotel.

Vic Obeck, Alouette vice-president, said the layover was unfortunate and of course was bound to have some effect on the players. What the effect might be he didn't say.

Coach Walker, snuggled down in a chair in the hotel lobby, allowed as how the whole thing might not be too bad after all. He wasn't even fazed to trot the boys out Wednesday, he said, despite a 4 p.m. PST scheduled landing at Vancouver. Besides, he had no hankering to a-flyin' over those Rockies in the dark of the night.

Martinez Wins Over Christensen

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Vince Martinez of Paterson, N.J., boned and punched his way to an unanimous decision over Chris Christensen of Denmark Wednesday night in a 10-round bout on the road Martinez hopes will lead him to a chance at the welterweight title.

Martinez, half a pound lighter than the 148-pound Danish welterweight champion won his 13th straight triumph by opening cautiously and steadily stepping up the fight as he went along.

Calgary Greets Toronto Fans

CALGARY (CP)—Mayor Donald Mackay, dressed in full Indian ceremonial regalia, Wednesday greeted a trainload of Toronto football fans who steamed into this frigid city more than two hours behind schedule.

The Toronto contingent included Miss Canada — Dalyce Smith of Whitehorse, Yukon — who jumped off the train, gave Mayor Mackay a big hug and conceded Calgary's welcome was "a little more up North."

When the train stopped the regimental band of the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada played a spirited medley. It was answered by the skirl of bagpipes from the train and followed by marching out of the Toronto girls' pipe band.

Father Denies Promise to Send Son to Wings

SCHUMACHER, Ont. (CP)—The father of Frank Mahovlich, a promising junior player, said Wednesday he made no promises to Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League and his boy to a Red Wing-sponsored team.

Peter Mahovlich said he and his son decided that Frank would attend Toronto St. Michael's College after they visited the college in 1953. Frank now plays with St. Michael's Majors in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League.

Jack Adams, general manager of the Wings, said in Detroit last Friday that St. Michael's, which has an agreement with Toronto Maple Leafs of the NHL, lured Frank to Toronto.

CLAIMS AGREED

Adams said Mahovlich agreed to send Frank to Cathedral high school at Hamilton and have him play with Hamilton Cubs of the OHA Junior A.

The father said Wednesday: "Johnny Mitchell (Red Wings' chief scout) visited my home in November, 1953, and wanted me to send Frank to Windsor where he would attend Assumption College. 'At that time, Detroit didn't have a team at Hamilton, so how could I have promised such a thing when Hamilton was never mentioned? As far as the Windsor proposition was concerned, I did not promise Mitchell that Frank would go to Windsor either."

CHOOSE PRO OF YEAR

CHICAGO (AP) — The Professional Golfers' Association Wednesday named as its "golf professional of the year" 36-year-old Bill Gordon, connected for the last 17 years with Tam O'Shanter Country Club here. The award differs from the PGA "professional golfer of the year" award given this year to touring pro Doug Ford.

Sub Goalie Stars For Pittsburgh

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pittsburgh's Hornets have second place all to themselves in the American Hockey League today with pick-up goalie Ivan Walmsley making himself right at home in the nets.

Walmsley, subbing for regular Gil Mayer who quit the team over a $100 fine for his "indifferent" play, turned back 27 shots and had Springfield shut out for 30 minutes as the Hornets defeated the Indians 3-2 in overtime Wednesday night.

Willie Marshall scored the winning goal at 5:37 of the extra period. The victory lifted Pittsburgh out of its three-way tie with Cleveland and Buffalo and left the Hornets four points behind Providence. It was the only game scheduled.

SUES PACKERS

DETROIT (AP)—Bob Mann, end for University of Michigan, Detroit Lions and Green Bay Packers, Wednesday filed a $25,000 damage suit in Wayne county circuit court against the Green Bay team of the National Football League.

Mann charged he was released illegally after an injury in an exhibition game against Philadelphia Eagles Sept. 4, 1954. He said he was released while injured in violation of the league's by-laws. He said his contract called for $7,700 for the season plus a $1,000 bonus if he were among the six top pass receivers.

Who Gives a Hoot for the Weather? Grey Cup High-Jinks Start to Roll

VANCOUVER, (CP)—The unpredictable British Columbia weather became a major topic of conversation here today, but thousands of football fans didn't let rain dampen their Grey Cup enthusiasm.

The unsettled weather showed no signs of improving as forecasters reported a second Pacific storm heading inland.

Saturday, the defending champion Edmonton Eskimos meet Montreal Alouettes for the second time in as many years in the annual football classic.

Empire Stadium officials said a $22,000 nylon tarpaulin is down on the football field and will remain down until there is a break in the weather.

For Saturday, the prospect is more cheerful as the weatherman continues to predict mild weather with a light overcast. The long-term forecast calls for little or no precipitation.

The full program of special Grey Cup attractions is in swing.

Wednesday night, 9,000 persons braved the rain to witness a fireworks display, precision drill and band concert, put on by the army, navy and air force at Kitsilano beach.

Hi-links for today include a cowboy-band concert in the lobby of the Hotel Vancouver. The main street in Chinatown will be roped off in the evening as the city's Chinese join in Grey Cup festivities with dances and fireworks.

Marilyn Bell, Toronto long-distance swimmer, arrived here Wednesday night. She appears at the Grey Cup party Friday night where Miss Grey Cup of 1956 will be chosen.

Board Receives 900 Accident Reports a Day

TRENTON — Nearly 900 accident reports a day are received by the Workmen's Compensation Board, assistant chief claims officer George Black said Wednesday.

Mr. Black was one of five W.C.B. head office men who addressed 70 people representing that number of industrial firms from Port Hope to Kingston, at a one-day W.C.B. seminar sponsored by the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations, Central Ontario Division.

Mr. H. Rivett, member of the executive committee of the I. A. P. A. Central Ontario Division, introduced the panel chairman George Black. Other panel members were J. Greaves, assistant to the comptroller; E. A. Cannon, assistant chief claims officer; A. R. McCarthy, chief claims field officer; W. Blackman, assessment officer.

The purpose of the seminar is to familiarize plant officials responsible for dealing with compensation reports and claims, with proper procedure, board policy and benefits due the injured workmen.

"A W. C. B. film "Teamwork in Action" was shown during the morning session. The story of this film begins with an injured employee and follows through until the injured man is rehabilitated back on the job.

Medical aid officer 'A. B. McCartney outlined the board's medical aid services and medical benefits. He said an injured workman has his choice of doctors, including chiropractors, but that he cannot be treated by two doctors at the same time. The board reserves the right to change the man's doctor to insure proper treatment, or to order the injured workman into the board's rehabilitation centre. Glasses and dentures will be replaced, if worn by the workman and damaged at the time of accident.

Speaker J. Greaves covered the financial and statistical aspects of the administration. He said that every cent administered by the W. C. B. comes from the more than 80,000 employers covered under the Act.

Detroit Lions Meet Packers

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Lions have little to lose today when they meet the Green Bay Packers in their annual Thanksgiving Day game in Briggs Stadium.

The contest starts at noon EST and will be nationally televised on ABC with a 75 - mile blackout in Detroit.

Victory will mean little to the Western Division Lions in the National Football League standings. It merely will straighten their record by ruling out of last place in the division.

On the other hand, a defeat will give them the first regular season victory in modified draft in Philadelphia. Commissioner Bert Bell ordered the draft in an effort to eliminate player wrangles with the Canadian leagues. The draft will last three rounds, with the remaining 27 rounds set for a later date.

The Lions have the worst mark in both divisions this season—two victories and seven defeats. One more loss will make it certain that coach Buddy Parker will get the first pick when the regular draft starts following the "bonus" choice.

Maroons Edge Stratford 4-3

CHATHAM (CP)—Chatham Maroons came from behind to earn a 4-3 decision over the Stratford Indians here Wednesday night in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League game played before 2,100 fans.

Two goals by team captain Jimmy Campbell in the final period proved to be the tying and winning markers for the Maroons.

George Aitken put the Tribe ahead in front 3-2 at 2:16 of the final period but Campbell's two goals erased this lead and the Maroons hung on to record the win.

The win was the first for Maroons under Frank Unlac who temporarily replaced Ott Heller, fired as coach earlier this week.

Wants Unlimited Blocking In Canadian Game

KITCHENER (CP)—Bob Celeri, triple-threat quarterback for Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, says he would like to see unlimited blocking in Canadian football.

Celeri, a former United States college and professional player from California, told members of the executive of the London and District Football Officials Association he can't see any reason for not having unlimited blocking.

Celeri said the rouge would add much to the American game.

"The object of the game is to score and just one point gives a little something for good offensive work. How often do you see the attack bog down on the five or the 10 in the American game and nothing come of it? The rouge would be a small measure of reward for the effort."

Lark Beauties Snarl Traffic In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fifteen high - stepping majorettes from Montreal snarled morning traffic Wednesday as they twirled their way through downtown Vancouver streets.

The girls, part of the Montreal Alouette contingent attending the Grey Cup festivities, arrived as Vancouver swung into step with the celebration.

Trucks, buses and cars ground to a halt as the majorettes marched from the CPR station to their hotel. Nearly 1,000 fans were at the station. Nancy Roland, Miss Alouette in the Miss Grey Cup contest, headed the Majorettes. Also aboard the train with Miss Edmon-

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE
By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

What some players expect of the cards in a bridge hand is miracles. Nothing but miracles. And do you know what? They often get just what they expect.

Let me tell you about this deal:

NORTH
♠ 10 9 6
♥ 5 4 3 2
♦ A Q
♣ 4 4

WEST
♠ J 5 4 3 2
♥ 10 9 8 7
♦ 8
♣ 6 5 2

EAST
♠ K
♥ Q
♦ J 10 9 8 7
♣ K 10 9 8 7 3

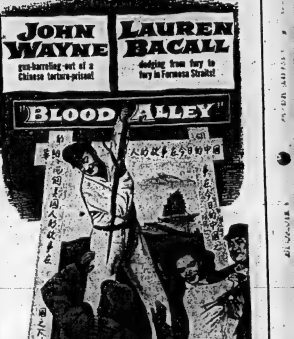
SOUTH
♠ A 8 7
♥ A K 6
♦ K 6 5 4 2
♣ Q J

They tell me the bidding went like this:

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
2 N-T	Pass	3 ♦	Pass
4 N-T	Pass	5 ♦	Pass
6 ♦	Pass	Pass	7 ♠
7 ♦	Pass	Pass	Double
7 ♥	Double	Pass	Pass
7 N-T	Pass	Pass	Double

By now everybody should be thoroughly confused with what seems to be going on around here. The best thing I could say about it is that the players must certainly be smarter than they look.

North did not have the true support for a diamond suit, but only once. But this was not nearly as bad as the stuff south tried to get away with from there until he reached the end of the line.



I wonder what east was thinking about when he tried to horn in with a deliberate bad sacrifice of seven clubs. He knew definitely he could defeat a six diamond contract, but his eyes closed.

If he was looking for better odds he got it when south bid the seven diamonds. He had no basis to chase them into hearts. Nor did west use his head in chasing them into seven no trump.

When a player can defeat a slam it is foolish to warn opponents to try something they might be able to make. And seven no trump made. The west lead was a heart. Before which he led with his chin.

AT THE BELLE — Doris Day and James Cagney as they appear in M.G.M.'s musical drama, "Love Me Or Leave Me". Highlighting the glamor and excitement of the Roaring Twenties, the new CinemaScope offering in color tells the story of Ruth Etting, singing sensation of Broadway and Hollywood whose name is still enshrined in the hearts of millions. A Tom & Jerry CinemaScope Cartoon, is an added attraction.

Maiden Speech After 32 Years Is on Rabbits

LONDON (AP)—The Marquis of Cholmondeley (pronounced Chumley) made his first speech in the House of Lord Thursday night after 32 years in the August upper house.

"At long last," he told his fellow peers, "I have been brought to my feet by the wish to do something about rabbits."

Speaking with weighty emphasis, the 72-year-old Lord Great Chamberlain, who is the Queen's custodian of the Houses of Parliament and the theatrical censor among other posts, said:

"I know a neighbor who will not go to catch his rabbits, and the only way to deal with him is by drastic legislation. I do not believe that propaganda will do it.

"There should be healthy fines, and really severe fines for those of your lordships land in jail, it's your own fault."

Liberian Ship Is Breaking Up Off Cape Breton

HALIFAX (CP) — The Liberian break up on a rocky reef off the northern tip of Cape Breton Island about 3 p. m. AST (1 p. m. EST) today.

Mayday reports reaching Sydney radio it was impossible to reach the ship from shore, but attempts were being made to lower lifeboats down the steep, jagged cliffs.

A navy helicopter was due at the spot about this time in response to an urgent call from the Kismet but it was not known immediately if it had arrived.

It was presumed the 'copter was dispatched to take off the crew members.

The tanker Gulfport was standing by but was unable to approach because of high waves and heavy winds.

Ground parties were unable to reach the vessel — about 200 feet from shore—and with radio communications knocked out on the ship, visual communication was the only means of contact remaining.

Almatross operator Aaron Solomon of nearby Dartmouth, who had been in touch with another "ham" at Cape St. Lawrence, Quebec, said the ship is grounded, said Gulfport was standing off the vessel and the rescue ship Gulfport was standing off the vessel and the rescue ship Gulfport was standing about 2½ miles from the Kismet with flags.

Earlier reports said the Kismet was in danger of breaking up as high seas pounded her.

A navy Avenger plane nearby Sarnwater headed toward the ship but an RCMP ground party was standing by on shore. The Kismet carries a crew of about 30.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synoptic: Long last a little sunshine is expected in southern Ontario Saturday and temperatures which Saturday and temperatures which generally have been freezing or below Thursday will climb to the 30s to 50s slightly reaching 60 in the southwest. Forty would be about normal for this date.

A weak disturbance expected to pass eastward across Lake Superior tonight will spread cloud and a little snow across southern Ontario's central regions, turning over again on Saturday.

TORONTO (CP) — A patient's anger over a fit-for-work diagnosis was suggested today as the motive in the slaying of a doctor in his workmen's compensation board office.

Dr. Rex Hylton, Australian-born oral opeadic surgeon, was shot dead with one bullet Thursday. Police gues told police that a short time before Dr. Hylton had informed the man they identified as the slayer that his elbow injury was healed and he could return to work.

Police charged Robert Martin, 42-year-old carpenter from Ottawa, with murder, in the slaying.

Dr. Hylton, 57, was talking to a man in his small office at the board's rehabilitation centre on nearby Malton when another man walked in, pulled a rifle from under his coat and fired the fatal bullet went through the doctor's head and crashed into a wall. The man was subdued on the spot.

WAS IN MENTAL HOSPITAL

Martin, police said, entered the centre about 2 miles northwest of Toronto, Sept. 19 with an injured right elbow. Board officials said he had received a pension. Police said he is a mental hospital.

The sequence of events that led to Dr. Hylton's death began, police said, during the morning at a meeting of the hospital disposal board, the body which decides whether patients are to be leased or are to continue living at the hospital and receive compensation.

Dr. Hylton, described by other doctors as "an extremely understanding sort of individual," reported to the board that the patient was able to return to work. The patient said he still had a sore elbow, and the board agreed with Dr. Hylton.

In the early afternoon a man appeared outside the doctor's ground floor office with the gunman walked in. Houghton said that as soon as Dr. Hylton saw the gun—a .30-calibre Winchester special—he jumped up and started for the door.

LEAPED AT MAN

Then the shot was fired, Houghton said. The gunman stepped at the man and tried to overpower him. Houghton said he halfway rushed in to help pin the man against the wall and police were called.

"I heard a loud bang coming from the doctor's office," he said. "He took a couple of steps out of my sight and then came back when he went through the door.

"He raised his right and ejected one or two shells before firing. On a chair was the shoemaker sitting in a chair."

H. W. Forster, secretary to the workmen's compensation board, said the patient involved had been treated in mental institutions in the past.

Dr. Hylton had been at the hospital, which houses up to 500 patients, since 1947.

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Board of Trade was accused of a "bad taste" today by civic and church leaders because of the floats which are to parade through Toronto's streets Saturday in the Grey Cup game tomorrow.

Board of trade officers responsible for the floats said they "merely poke fun" at Toronto, but mayoralty candidate Roy Belyea said "it's not the way I would want to depict my city."

Temperance leader William Temple said even if the displays were true it would be "bad taste for the organization to portray the city this way."

The Toronto floats show the city as a panorama of bars, illustrates Toronto's cultural life by means of a ballet and one view of a fiendish-cal artist's model and depict the street brokers surrounded by loan sharks and pawnbrokers..

A picture of the Royal York Hotel is labelled with cards as "call girl mattresses—to show Toronto as a convention city."

Mr. Temple, criticizing the floats, said Toronto is "drinking too much liquor. The city had its fine points and merited the title "Toronto the Good."

Rev. T. B. McDormand, general secretary of the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec said the floats are "like a dirty joke."

FAURE AGAIN STAKES GOVT. LIFE ON VOTE

Fights Move to Delay Quick Elections Plan

By HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS(AP) — Premier Edgar Faure, fighting against delays in the elections, has again this evening asked today for a vote of confidence on the question of starting debate next week for an electoral reform law.

The vote will be on a procedural question. The agenda combined in the assembly this morning decided to take the debate next Tuesday. But on a question submitted by Francois Mitterand, former minister of the interior, this latter evening announces indecision on the part of the government. It implies that the Faure regime is no longer capable of carrying on.

Faure asked for the confidence vote on the question of turning down the recommended order of agenda committee and instead opening debate on Tuesday on the electoral law.

NEW PROJECT

At the same time Faure proposed that the mandate of the present assembly should be ended seven weeks after the new electoral law is voted, or if no agreement can be reached on an electoral law, Dec. 16 at the latest. This, Faure said, would give parliament until Dec. 31 to work out an agreement on a new election law.

Before Faure made his decision to call for the confidence vote, deputies had been divided on just which issue to use in killing off the government. Some favored a debate on general policies in Morocco. Others wanted to use the election question.

No matter what mode of execution is finally settled, the election dispute will be the real cause of Faure's downfall. Until he brought up the idea of electoral reform, instead of next June as regularly scheduled, the premier had been able to patch up assembly majorities in spite of party line politics. Now it seems doubtful that he can do that backing for anything.

Faure's plan over a new election law split the cabinet wide open. Three ministers quit the party for a long time have supported him only to back down on the issue when it succeeded only in alienating all sides.

The election issue also gave forth to a split in the ranks of France and other leading Radical Socialists. Some of them stepped to move into opposition. Faure leads the Radical Socialist, but many members of his

During World War I he directed the Salvation Army Unit on the battlefields of France and Belgium, afterward becoming chief organizer of the Army's south east division. He was first appointed to Canada in 1930 as chief secretary and in 1936 was sent to Australia as territorial commander.

MRS. DALZIEL

Previous to her marriage Mrs. Dalziel was superintendent of Salvation Army hospitals in several Canadian towns and head of the women's social service of the Salvation Army in Canada.

Police Blotter

The current wave of quietness continued last night with both city and provincial police having only a few calls for attendance to the peace.

The city night patrol unearthed an unsuccessful break-in on the east end of the city. Early in the morning police discovered a door on the Albert Street premises of York Trading had been attacked with a heavy instrument. The door frame was partly forced from the wall while a second attempt had been made to enter the premises through an office door.

Provincial police also were placed on the lookout for a car stolen in Trenton early in the morning.

Napanee Fire Chief Loses Car at Cobourg

NAPANEE — (Special) — Fire Chief Frank Mills follows fires as part of his business. Recently the process suffered a bitter reversal when his automobile has been his business.

Together with Mrs. Mills the chief was returning from a visit with friends in Cleveland, O., when their car developed trouble at Cobourg. The garage mechanic informed them it couldn't be repaired without a slight delay so they left it there and registered in a hotel.

Next morning the chief found the garage burned to the ground and his auto completely destroyed.

Five of Seven Bank Staff Members Identify Accused As One Robber in Holdup

Five of seven staff members of the Toronto-Dominion Bank at Marmora, where a holdup netted fled James Orvall Ross, 32, of Toronto, as one of the two robbers who got $5,000 from the Marmora bank of $5,400.

Bank manager C. McKay and three male members of his staff yesterday at the trial of Ross, who is charged with the robbery, pointed to accused in the prisoner's box and identified him as the "smaller" of the two men who had entered the bank under the guise of being plumbers and escaped with the money after tying up the bank staff.

Testifying yesterday at the trial before Mr. McKay were Alex. Fraser, 20; Ronald Henry, 20, and Melford Clark, 21, all bank staff members on the night of the holdup.

All staff members of the bank said they recognized Ross as being one of the bank robbers and also said they had identified him in a police lineup during the early part of November.

The testimony of Mr. McKay took up the entire Thursday morning session of the court.

He told the court that as he had entered the south door of the bank on the morning of the holdup he had been accosted by the two robbers, the two robbers, who pointed a black revolver at him and directed him to proceed over the counter. As he passed the rear of the teller's cage he saw the other staff members seated on the floor with their hands on their feet. All with the exception of the teller, Alex. Fraser, were also ordered.

HEART NOT GOOD

Mr. McKay said he had told the robbers he had a heart attack and asked to go to the washroom. This had been refused but one of the robbers produced some aspirin tablets and brought some water in a coke bottle.

A few minutes before ten o'clock he had been escorted to the bank vault and was told to turn off the combination on the inner safe.

"I spun the dials four or five times and told them the door would not open because the time lock had not yet run down," he said.

The court had been told earlier that other members of the staff had already turned off combinations on the vaults.

A minute or so later the larger of the two men had said "Turn it off without delay."

After turning off the combination Mr. McKay said the two robbers that Alex Fraser would have to be released to get his combination on the safe compartment door. Mr. Fraser was released and turned off his combination took out the cash box and placed it on a desk in the vault.

"Is this all the cash? Where is the bank payroll?" Mr. McKay quoted one of the bank robbers as saying.

"I told the men that they had taken the wrong time," the witness said.

The bank manager said the men had dipped into the cash box and had removed $5,400 in Canadian and American bills and placed the money in a gunny sack.

NOT INTERESTED IN BONDS

Asked what interest in the other safe compartments the witness said he had replied to the robbers that they contained registered bonds and silver. The robbers had said they were not interested in them.

To a question from Acting Crown Counsel Leslie Graham, Mr. McKay said he did not suffer from a heart condition, but that he had feigned the attack on the morning of the holdup "to stall for time."

Mr. McKay described the two bank robbers as being of medium build and 25 to 30 years of age.

Defence Counsel Kenneth G. M. Wright drew attention to differences at considerable length regarding detail of the holdup and observed that Roy Moss, bank accountant, in his testimony had said that the "taller" of the two men was carrying a black revolver. Mr. McKay had also stated by the witness

"Then if Mr. Moss saw the man carrying an automatic, he must be wrong," queried defence counsel.

"No," the witness replied, "maybe the man switched guns. Mr. Moss is confounded when I came in."

He said he recognized the difference between an automatic and a revolver.

CLOSELY OBSERVED

Scattered grey hairs above the ears and over the temples of the prisoner were the object of close observation by Mr. McKay and also by bank teller, William Cook.

Defence Counsel Ross referred to Mr. McKay's testimony that the "smaller" of the two bank robbers had dark brown hair and asked if he had observed any grey hair.

At the request of counsel and with the consent of Judge Alan J. C. Anderson, the witness stepped close to the prisoner and examined him.

"Do you see any grey hair now?" he asked counsel.

"Yes," was the reply, "but it would have been covered by a hat during the holdup."

Under cross examination the witness said he had no doubt that the man in the prisoner's dock was one of the bank robbers.

The other three members of the bank staff called by Crown Counsel Graham during the afternoon session were called merely to establish their presence at the bank and for identification of the accused. They were then turned over to Defence Counsel Ross for cross examination.

Defence counsel suggested that the witness may have been nervous and excited at the time of the holdup with result that his powers of observation might not be too accurate.

"Not perhaps," was the reply. "I was nervous." The witness was certain of his identification.

WITNESS GIVES REASON

Ronald Henry also identified the accused as one of the robbers. He said he had picked out a picture of the accused from a number of police photographs.

"Would it be fair to say that you picked the accused out at the lineup because he resembled the picture and for that reason?" asked counsel. "Yes", was the reply.

In re-examination by crown counsel, the witness was asked why he had picked out the man in the Belleville lineup. "Because he was one of the bank robbers," was the reply.

Under cross examination he said he had taken particular note of the "smaller" man's features because he had pointed a gun at him.

"When a man points a gun at you, you don't forget his features," he said.

Two other members of the bank staff, Miss Wilma McKinnon and Miss Joan Shannon were expected to be called, to testify today, as well as Chief and Police Charles Lockwood of Marmora, investigating officer in the case. Assisting the Marmora police chief in the investigation of the holdup was Inspector Charles McDermott of the Criminal Investigation Branch of the Ontario Provincial Police.

Radio Engineers Hear Authority On Electronics

One of Canada's leading authorities on electronic computer, Mr. George Gilmkil, president of Data Processing Associates of Ottawa, addressed a meeting of the Bay of Quinte section of the Institute of Radio Engineers last evening on the automatic control of production machines.

At the outset Mr. Gilmkil said he likes to avoid the use of the word "automation" because it seems capable of generating argument in almost any sphere—economic, engineering, sociological and theological. However he pointed out that this "second industrial revolution" is simply a logical extension of the first which was concerned with relieving man of repetitive, physical labor to relieving him of repetitive, and mechanical mental labor, and that the same highly beneficial results which derived from the first could also be expected from the second.

The technical aspects of the talk dealt with the techniques of translating from one language on to blueprint to a form suitable for use by computers and the mathematics of the part and various electrical and mechanical means by which the translation is then actually effected. Mr. Gilmkil has just completed a course on the subject given at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology where some of the developments in this field has been done and the talk was illustrated by examples of the methods used there and an automatically produced part was exhibited.

The meeting was under the chairmanship of M. J. C. Punchard; Mr. Gilmkil was introduced by Mayor H. Jarvis and thanked by Mr. W. H. Barris.

City Police Start Check On Automobiles

The provincial police traffic crackdown on the highways now has been extended into the city.

Yesterday city police inked themselves with the OPP drive to cut infractions of the traffic code and commenced their own checking of cars throughout the city. Some 50 cars were scrutinized at random in different parts of Belleville during the afternoon. Out of the checkup haphazard testing patrol officers netted three drivers who were subsequently charged, two with failure to produce drivers' licences and one with having faulty brakes. The crackdown on all traffic within the city limits will be continued at regular periods from now on.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Brisk trading in a few mining issues enlivened an otherwise listless stock market during first-hour trading on the Toronto exchange today.

Activity among mines was sparked mainly by favorable copper ore reports from properties. Merrill Island, at $2.72, and Chib-Kayrand, at 89, each gained a nickel. Both retreated a little after moving up to new highs in opening deals.

Senior base metals were fractionally mixed. Higher were Steep Rock, International Nickel and Falconbridge.

TORONTO PRODUCE

Quotations, provided by the Dominion department of agriculture: eggs, in fibre cases, graded: A large 52-53; A medium 50-51; A small 46; B 44; C 37. Wholesale to retail: A large 61-62; A medium 57-58; A small 51; B 49; C 42.

Butter solids: Canada, first grade, Ontario 58; western 58½.

End Is Ordered To Segregation On Trains, Buses

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today ordered an end to racial segregation on trains and passenger buses travelling between states. It ruled too that segregation of interstate travellers in public waiting rooms is unlawful.

The ruling follows supreme court decisions that racial segregation is unconstitutional in schools, golf courses and parks when they are publicly operated.

Youths Attack Toronto Woman, Steal Her Purse

TORONTO (CP) — Two youths Thursday night knocked down a woman, snatched her purse and left her lying on the street with a broken shoulder and brain concussion.

Police said it was the second such incident in two nights. Wednesday night an elderly woman suffered fractures to both arms when she struggled with a purse-snatcher.

Mrs. Nellie Sackfield, 63, told police "two kids, about 15 to 16" knocked her down and grabbed her purse. Mrs. Sackfield's head was cut and her shoulder broken in the fall.

Restaurant Burns

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—A fire, which for a time threatened to spread to nearby homes, destroyed the Garden City beach restaurant at nearby Port Weller Thursday night.

Loss was estimated at $10,000 by John Kales, the owner. Cause of the fire was not known.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP)—Cattle prices were fully steady to $1 a hundredweight higher this week at the Ontario public stockyards. Calves were actively firm to $1 higher. Hogs were unchanged. Sheep gained $1-2 a hundredweight while lambs sold steadily.

Receipts were some 1,800 head more than last week and 1,-200 head more than the same week in 1954. Receipts from western feeders were 6a on both cattle and calves. Cattle were 1,417 head compared with 1,710 last week and calves were 1,435 head compared with 2,053 last week.

The eastern were mostly replacement cattle. There were no shipments to eastern slaughterers and no exports to the United States.

Another dependable demand prevailed for a relatively light offering of good and choice slaughter steers and heifers. Brisk action on these grades forced prices up 50 cents a hundredweight. Common and medium grades were still too numerous.

Good cows gained fully 50 cents to $1 a hundredweight and sold actively throughout the week. An estimated 1,000 common killers and stockers were unsold at the close. The dressed beef trade was reported as fairly good.

Prices

Choice steers $30.50-31, with sales to $21.75; good steers $19.50-20.50; medium $18-19; commons $13-16; good heifers $17-18, sales to $18.50; some choice heifers to $19; medium $14-17; commons $12-14; former steers and heifers $8-12; choice fed yearlings $21-22, sales to $22.50; good $19.50-21; medium $15-19; medium $15-19; good cows $10.50-11, sales to $12; medium and cutter cows down to $6; good heavy bologna bulls to top of $13; heavy beef type bulls sliced at a top of $12; common and medium light bulls down to $9.

Replacement cattle: Sales on this class were mostly on a steady basis with good stockers selling at $18-19, and good stock calves up to $20, with one straight load at $20.75. Medium were $16-17.50 with commons at $15-16.

Veal calves: Good and choice, sold actively with few choice calves being offered. These two top grades were steady to $1 hundredweight higher with choice vealers selling up to $25, with sales to $28.35. Good vealers were mostly $26-28; medium $18-26; commons $12-17. Good calves sold for slaughter were $9-12.

Grade A hogs were $23.50 with several loads selling out at $24. Sows were unchanged at $15, however, there were some sales made at $10.50 dressed. Stags were $15 dressed.

Lamb receipts included a double deck of western lambs. Good native lambs sold at $19.50 a hundredweight for good handyweight ewes and wethers with a few off-car lambs at $19.75. The western lambs sold at $20. There were also included $1 a hundredweight, heavy lambs discounted $3. Common and medium lambs were $13-17. Feeder lambs were $16-16. Good light ewes sold up to $10; yearlings to $13. Common and heavy sheep sold down to $3.

Woman's Body Found in Cottage

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass. (AP)—The body of an attractive woman of about 40, dressed only in pabties, was found early today in a blood-spattered three-room cottage.

The victim was identified by police as Miss Ida Soulliotis, a clerk in a Buzzards Bay variety store. Police booked Lawrence Brunelle, 32, on suspicion of murder and quoted him as saying an argument developed when Miss Soulliotis insisted on inviting an older woman to have dinner with them over his objections.

Red Ghost of 18 Years Ago Returns to Haunt Molotov

By DON DALLAS

LONDON (Reuters) — A Soviet ghost of 18 years ago appeared this week to haunt the Kremlin and cast a shadow across the path of a person or persons of the top hierarchy.

Soviet affairs experts here say the ghost may play a key role in the next phase of the Kremlin power struggle—which they believe is still not finally resolved.

They declare that one target of the manoeuvring may be Foreign Minister Molotov. There have already been important moves aimed to discredit him as a political theorist.

The "ghost" which appeared this week was a Georgian, like the dead Stalin and the executed Lavrenty P. Beria.

His name was Sergo Ordzhonikidze, commissar for heavy industry and one of the highest Soviet leaders in the mid-1930's. Some reports said he committed suicide. others suggested his death might have been "natural" for political reasons.

His elimination helped to advance Beria as security and police chief.

This week the Ordzhonikidze case was revived with the announcement of the execution of six former Georgian police and security officials charged with high treason as Beria henchmen.

The significant thing is that the main crimes charged against these men date not to 1953—when Beria's opposition ought to seize sole power after Stalin's death — but back to before the war.

The accusations against them were that they took part in collecting "incriminating evidence" against Ordzhonikidze and helped to commit "terrorist acts of violence" against members of Ordzhonikidze's family and his nearest friends who held responsible posts in the Soviet government and the Communist Party."

That can only mean that Ordzhonikidze died after being framed.

When the Kremlin purges 18-year-old death mysteries, it can be assumed that high political issues are at stake.

WHO IS NEXT?

If the death is probed further, the question is: who now can be blamed.

Stalin is dead. The Soviet secret police chief at the time was later executed. His successor, Beria, has been executed—and now six more Georgians have been added to the toll.

But the man who was premier in 1937, and who would presumably bear some measure of responsibility, is alive and in a prominent position. His name is Molotov.

Ceylon 'Jewel of the Orient' Featured in Kiwanis Series

The atmosphere of a warm weather country is welcome anytime during Canadian winter, but last night at collegiate auditorium it was particularly so.

Reason for this was the presentation of the Kiwanis Travel-and-Adventure series film, "Exotic Ceylon," presented by Robert Mallett, well known personality of the United States film-lecture circuit.

Ceylon, for most Westerners, is unavoidably associated with tea and little else. The reason for this could be its location off the southern tip of India and the fact it is overshadowed by events on the subcontinent. However, the biggest factor of all is likely that Ceylon today is one of the few lands of the Orient that is untroubled by racial problems, caste strife or international intrigue and rarely makes the news.

The first colony to become a full-fledged member of the British Commonwealth, Ceylon is mainly populated with Buddhists, Hindus and Moslems. Unlike many of its Eastern neighbors, the nation is a harmonious combination of all religions.

A year-shaped island, it has been the apple of the East's eye for centuries and has been called the "Jewel of the Orient." A storybook land, it is rich in Eastern lore and customs, still practised after 2,400 years of recorded history.

LAND OF CONTRASTS

It is a land of contrasts, where modern seaports and cities thrive beside the excellent wonders of ancient civilizations, where silver sands of beautiful ocean shores are backed by the lush green countryside of the interior.

But one of its more dominating features is also one of its most commonplace — the elephant. Elephants are everywhere in this land —working in the fields and lumbering along the roads in the villages and carved on the shrines and palaces of past civilizations.

Ancient crafts of the potter and the metal worker still thrive side by side with modern industry to keep the wheels of commerce turning. Principal exports of the country include teak, rubber, tea and coconuts, while precious stones also are a contributing factor to the land's industry.

One of the wonders of Ceylon is the magnificence of its past civilizations, now dead but preserved solidly in ruins. Huge temples, shrines, palaces and fortresses dot the country, magnificent in conception and beautiful in intricate decoration.

DUPLESSIS AND NEWSPRINT

Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec has issued an ultimatum to newsprint manufacturers in that province, who produce more than half Canada's total output.

The premier has given the newsprint manufacturers recently announced an increase in the publishers' price of newsprint. Duplessis has now demanded that Quebec newspapers be given a special price, below that paid by newspapers in other provinces.

If this demand is not met, he says, he will introduce into the Quebec Legislature at its present session a bill imposing price controls.

Premier Duplessis advances an argument which is not without considerable force. The forests of the province, he says, are publicly owned and newspaper owners, since, he says, the publishers are co-owners of the forests as spokesmen for the public, are entitled to consideration as such.

"The manufacturers must realize it is not reasonable for our own people not to profit from their status as co-owners of the forests of the province."

So far as good. Premier Duplessis is not without a case. But then he says that he is not inclined to grant the price the companies set for clients outside Quebec. That is not his business.

Why?

It appears certain that many, if not all, of the companies producing newsprint in Quebec were in no need of any increased revenue. Le Devoir, influential French-language newspaper, charged that the claim that price increases were imperative came just after one of the most important companies had declared a 100 per cent dividend. Other companies, while not rolling in dough to the same extent, enjoyed a prosperous year. The price increase will, therefore, fatten their profits, profits made through the use of the products of the publicly-owned forests. If the people's interests in these forests is to be safeguarded for a demand that a special price be granted Quebec newspapers for newsprint, is it not also justification for a demand that the special price also justification for a demand that the special price also justification for a demand that the special price share in the profits which will accrue to the newsprint companies from the increased rates charged newspapers outside the province?

POPULATION FUZZLE

"Canadian Business," the organ of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, carries an editorial dealing with "the phenomenal rise" in Canada's birth rate.

From 1911 until the outbreak of the Second Great War, it points out, Canada's birth rate fell steadily. That trend has now been reversed. An upswing has been reported and we expressed his amazement in these words:

"I do not know of a solitary case in human history where this downward trend has been reversed in any class or group where it has become established."

"Canadian Business" offers a possible explanation. What might not show up in the statistics, however, is the psychological factor that has taken place, over the past two decades, in the mental attitude of married couples towards family and children.

The '20's and the depression of the '30's which resulted in small families have no counterpart today. No talk, as there once was, of 'raising sons for cannon fodder.' A-bomb and H-bomb notwithstanding, the number of three and four-children families is increasing."

There is another, and less pleasing possible explanation.—Study of death and birth rates in South African lands where malnutrition is chronic among great masses of the people, has led scientists to suspect that the high birth rate is the result, rather than the cause, of the high death rate, that it is not so much a case of many starving because there are so many new mouths to feed as it is a case of Nature speeding up the reproduction processes because the race is threatened by the high mortality rate amongst adults.

Could it be that Canadians are, unconsciously, fighting the threat of the depression with the only weapon they can find to handle? If so, let us hope that Nature does not find that this time Man has outsmarted her—and himself—by producing a killer that can outperform any human mother.

CHRISTMAS CAKE

Christmas is not far away.

Already the advantages of early Christmas shopping are being urged.

This is surprising, therefore, to read a recipe for Christmas cake in one paper.

"Make it early—it tastes better," read the title.

This is sound advice. There is only one trouble with it. It is now too late, much too late, to make cake for this Christmas.

In fact, Christmastime is about the only time of the year when it is difficult to get a good piece of Christmas cake.

There are, of course, many people who never have good Christmas cake to serve, because they eat it all at Christmas.

The wiser housewife, after she suddenly discovers that it is too late to make cake which will reach its peak by Christmas, is filling up with the servings of the Yule season.

Along about the end of February or March the cake starts to be a joy and by the time the last of it is eaten, around Thanksgiving it is perfect.

Come Christmas, though, the best available is not vintage stuff—unless the housewife happens to be a real treasure and has managed to salvage a few small pieces from last year's baking.

JUST FOLKS

(Copyright 1955, Edgar A. Guest)

By EDGAR A. GUEST

YOUTH

Let 'em romp and let 'em race,
Let 'em tear around the place,
Better that an' all their care
Than the silent dwellings where
Old folks sit life's last years out
With no little ones about.

Do not play the tyrant gruff,
Time will stop 'em soon enough.

Let 'em have their fun, I say.
Youth should be a round of play.
Let 'em shout and have their fling,
Dance an' rock the chandeliers;
This won't last for many years.
They are rich, beyond a doubt,
Who can live their youth about.

Let 'em go it; that's my way,
Though I guard 'em, day by day;
I'm as grateful as can be
That the Lord is letting me
Have my life where children are
With the racket an' the jar;
For I wouldn't want to stay
Where the children never play.

Last evening a motor car belonging to Mr. Ed. Sprague of this city was destroyed by fire. Mr. Sprague was proceeding up Boardman's Hill near Stirling when the engine backfired and caused the fire.

At a meeting of the fire committee in connection with the city council it was decided to call out the chief of the fire department be paid $1,000. per year and that if men be on duty at all times at each of the fire halls.

The banner and oyster supper at St. Thomas' Parish House yesterday was very successful and enjoyable.

Some of the soldiers who are in barracks here for the winter with the 80th. Battalion were entertained at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday. Refreshments were served by ladies of Holloway Street Methodist Church and the Tabernacle Methodist Church.

50 YEARS AGO

November 25, 1905

The Rev. Allen Petrie of Queen's University, Kingston, spent Sunday at his home here.

Mr. Percy O. Pitney is spending some time in Montreal and Detroit.

Dr. W. B. Crowe of Trenton has been appointed an associate coroner for the County of Hastings.

From Mr. W. C. Mikel, city clerk and solicitor, we learn that within the city boundaries there are 1,428 acres of land; that the amount of property is owned by 1231 freeholders, whose votes, owing to the fact that some of them have votes in different city wards, total 1461. This is the total number of votes which could be polled on the by-law now in force. If all the votes were polled. There are also in the city 1428 tenant votes and the total assessments some of these could vote on a money by-law under the necessary qualification in the latter case would be that their tenure extends for at least as many years as are the debentures.

In Defence Of Skyscrapers

(Detroit Free Press)

One John Mar appealed to the British Broadcasting Corporation for protection for a knitting pattern for a nightcap with a couple of pompons "sticking out on top." He explained that he catches cold unless he puts on "a kind of bonnet." Goodly nightcaps that comes well down and stays on.

May not only get patterns and nightcaps with woolly bobbles, but peals of laughter from women-folk at night if a knight that says quite plainly that men are ridiculous creatures, babies really.

A woolly nightcap could be a mighty comforting thing for a slightly bald pate, especially when the little woman insists on keeping the window open in sub-zero weather so she'll awaken with a bloom to her cheeks along with gobs of frozen cold cream.

Only thing we'd object to is the woolly bobbles. We can imagine them becoming off the nose "in rhythm with exhaling breath and, maybe, an occasional sneeze. Being tickled awake would be worse than getting up on the wrong side of the bed. You'd have to scratch your own nose instead of punching the nose of your spouse.

So, we say off with the woolly bobbles. But the rest has merit at this season.

Should Cult Our Students

(Kingston Whig-Standard)

The production of educated men and women is a long and difficult process. It is also extremely expensive and incapable of quick expansion. There are not enough good teachers now to go around, and the difficulties that cause there are with even larger classes would merely reduce their effectiveness.

It is also an unpleasant truth that truth is certainly not for the majority a certain portion of any population is capable of being highly educated. Genius don't come by the bushel, and even intelligent people don't grow by the ton.

The way to achieve a high standard of education amongst those who are the leaders of Canada's tomorrow is to prune off from our present educational system all those people who are not benefiting from it themselves, and who are reducing the benefits of it to others.

If we had a smaller percentage of duds at university, higher work would be achieved. Numbers in themselves don't signify, it is quality that counts.

Pearson's Frank Interview

(Ottawa Journal)

It seems a pity that Mr. Lester Pearson should have used his liveliest and most revealing report on his trip to the Soviet Union for the New York Times, in an interview rigidly featured by that newspaper its front page on Sunday.

Mr. Pearson, descending wearily from his plane at Uplands, was subjected to a hail-bored "interview" under klieg lights by the CBC's Tim Buck-type reportorial property said nothing.

In a letter Mr. Pearson gave a full-dress press conference, and we think it strange that this conference produced little resembling the frank revelation of the minister's exclusive interview with the New York Times. Indeed Mr. Daniell himself remarks that Mr. Pearson summed up his impressions of "the people, the country and the Government of the Soviet Union" with a bashfully "remarkable even for him".

An example of this frankness was Mr. Pearson's statement to Daniell that he "thought Russia as fully informed as Ottawa of his observations in almost daily despatches". A further and more striking example was this:

"Mr. Pearson, urging Canada to withdraw from the Atlantic alliance and concentrate on the Pacific as much with her Soviet as with her southern neighbor, warned that the Canadian people should be prepared to see Russian bombers based right on the firing line. The Commissar for Foreign Affairs, the same minister that the Soviets had push buttons too. He apparently referred to a station to guided missiles that could be sent across the Arctic."

When Mr. Pearson addressed every Communist party organization in the West on the Soviet Union Kruschev replied: "Why? not liquidate them, or put the members in concentration camps?"

At another point (according to Daniell's report of what Pearson told him) Khrushchev expressed the opinion that the democracies were soft and undisciplined; said he believed the democracies would not accept the sacrifices that prolonged defence preparations would involve and would fall apart in their coalitions. "The Communists," he assured us (Khrushchev speaking) "were tougher and more patient and knew communism would be superior to capitalism in peaceful but competitive co-existence."

One of the most disconcerting things in Mr. Pearson's interview on to tell Daniell, was the way in which the leaders misled diplomacy and increased fear.

"It was not unusual, he said for the Soviet Union to send to Moscow the most delicate matters of international affairs with personal messages to radio reporter's making notes. Several times, he said, he was startled in the midst of discussions with Mr. Khrushchev and Marshal Bulganin by having either a Russian radio or Canadian Broadcasting Company microphone set in front of himself and his colleagues before there had been a waiter with a tray of cocktails."

Mr. Pearson gave Daniell ernest picture of Khrushchev and Bulganin.

"Despite since boyhood, the two seemed to be great friends, Mr. Pearson said. Mr. Khrushchev with his twinkling eye, powerful body and violent nature seems unable to conceal himself entirely as does like a proletarian, Mr. Pearson said.

"Marshall Bulganin, on the other hand, is courtly, distinguished looking, well-dressed and confident in all situations. On the occasions when Mr. Pearson saw the two together Mr. Khrushchev did most of the talking, Mr. Pearson said, Bulganin often checked him and corrected him."

Mr. Pearson, here like The Journal's "DS" (who gave such entertaining pictures of the Russian leaders and their ways) than the sedate diplomat, traditionally tight-lipped.

In fact, Mr. Pearson gave an extraordinary interview. We only wish he would have lived even better had it appeared first in one of Mr. Pearson's own Canadian newspapers.

Forcing Men To Holiday

(Woodstock Sentinel-Review)

There are some people who abhor holidays.

Deprived of the routine or the satisfaction of their jobs, even temporarily, such people are singularly unhappy. For to them their work is their life.

The idiosyncrasies of those who prefer to work, even though entitled to holidays with pay, pose no problem except in trade union circles. There, the leaders, weekly, weekly, Time and Tide, reports that there have recently been a number of unofficial and threatened strikes by organized labor in the United States. Workers come to compel fellow workers to take full advantage of their annual holiday with pay, for purely personal reasons, some wished to stay at work and earn the pay they would forfeit.

Forcing men to take holidays when they don't wish to do so is surely nothing more than a direct interference with the rights of the individual.

How to Beat Radar

(Memphis Commercial Appeal)

Motorists in some numbers around and about over the United States have evidenced indignation at being subjected to the new turn "radar speed traps." Some of these seem moderately, as well as others who have not been trapped but fear they will be, have gone to some pains to avoid these so-called traps. A reporter on the Minneapolis Journal has made an exhaustive study of this problem and submits a number of ways to avoid such "traps." We are happy to pass the secret along, it is: Don't speed.

Strength for The Day

By DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

TIME

Most people would agree that our modern life is a hurried one. Everything moves fast. Modern transportation, new time-saving devices, shorter working hours, facilities for travel, radio signals all remind us of the passing hours. Psychiatry simply for a time the constant pressure of time is behind the nervous disorders of many sufferers.

It is to easy to let time rule our lives. We work at regular hours, eat at fixed times, are rushed from one appointment to another. Often we are too busy to do the things that really mean the most to us. In short, time is keeping up with our schedule we are missing the greatest values of life.

There are two secrets to ruling time, and not being ruled by it. One is to let values, not time govern us—to do what is important and worthwhile, even if our prearrangement of minor concerns is upset. Life must be built around the good and the beautiful—not the beautiful and the good squeezed into life when and if there is room.

The other secret is even more vital. Time is only an infinitesimal part of eternity. If we aim our lives with eternal values and fellow them by the Eternal Ruler, then time may be sold on it. When we are in tune with eternity, we have mastered time.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

The Weight On Your Joints

There are no general statistics and I'm not sure I'd be much impressed if there were, on the question of the effect of overweight upon the joints.

Theoretically it seems reasonable enough that a person, well, shucks, let's say a lady, a lovely lady—I insist a lady looks her best when she carries ten or fifteen pounds surplus properly distributed—puts some strain on the joints toting the surplus around.

But what of it? The joints are built to work and, in my opinion, they will keep in better condition if we use 'em.

Here arises the question of the nature of the joint disability under consideration. If it is really inflammation of the joint or joints, then the attending physician alone can judge whether rest or work is advisable at the moment. Likewise if the joint has been strained sprained, dislocated or fractured.

On the other hand, if the disability is physical degeneration of the joints, it would be advisable to use the joint to the limit of normal capacity every day.

Chronic (say over a year in duration) rheumatism affecting the joints is commonly called "arthritis"—an impressive term, if you're a credulous customer.

Physical degeneration of joint tissues is the usual cause of chronic joint disability, I believe, and since there is no common clan name for this condition I call it rheumatism — not rheumatism, please, but just rheumatism.

If a person with the rheumatic just fiddles around, running from trick specialist to "arthritis" doctor to doctor, this or that new miracle drug, as each is duly "released" to a few leading physicians in each community, he or she will probably gain much weight off the joint or joints. A considerable pain will restrict use of the joint to a minimum. If this is not the usual history of "arthritis," the truth has been kept from me too long.

In the past five years my rheumatic file has swelled to the bursting point, with reports from people we've treated.

For the first time in years my arm almost immediately my aching knees, I can jump up at the drop of a hat (J.R.)

After five years'of treatment with medicine and shots discontinued (Mrs. V. D. B. and I. . . that was about 18 months ago. . . the pain and lameness has left. . . (Mrs. H.M. McC.)

Every time I sat a while my knees got so stiff. . . in one week I never felt better year or two the other. . . now walk a mile without pain or stiffness. . . never felt better . . . can't thank you enough (M.M.)

If you think you have arthritis you had better consult a physician.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Psychologists and psychiatrists have to have a reasonable explanation for everything in human behavior. The reason why people are so interested in spectator sports like hockey and football was explained to me by a psychiatrist. Admiration of everybody centurians ago, before psychology was even invented. But that makes no difference. The scientists of this day have to explain all things. Mankind had love figured out, too. But not what love physically should have done with love!

A psychiatrist friend of mine is planning to do to hockey what his colleagues have done to love.

"I've got a majority of those attending hockey games," he says, "are businessmen seeking inspiration. Modern business is very like hockey. There is skill in it, and a great deal of co-operative effort. There is competition at all levels of the game: the head company, the individuals on the opposed teams compete with their opposite numbers, and the team as a unit at the end of the season.

"How about the brawls? " I asked.

"I bet," replied the psychiatrist, "after every good hockey brawl, there is a step-up of ten to twenty per cent in the business done next day by those who witnessed it."

far as they dare. Like business, hockey is full of subtlety, yet is filled with violence, collision, energy. A businessman who attends a hockey game comes away with fresh inspiration. His faith in capitalism and free enterprise has been restored. You may think he just sat there through the game, relaxed and enjoying the spectacle of the contest. If we had the power of self-hypnosis we could record the thoughts and emotions of the audience you would discover that they weren't bent on the game at all. They have been thinking of the skill of their own fellow workers and their competitors; and in the ebb and flow of attack and of speed in the players, they have been transferring to themselves valuable emotional stimulus of tomorrow's job at the office.

"How about the brawls? " I asked.

I bet," replied the psychiatrist, "after every good hockey brawl, there is a step-up of ten to twenty per cent in the business done next day by those who witnessed it."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

VISION

It's what we keep seeing ahead that inspires us on.

Vision is a guiding star. Solomon said: "Where there is no vision, the people perish." Vision of the Pilgrim Fathers that has made this Western continent the wonder of the old world. Here in America is a vision that has created our great Empire of Hope and Achievement.

President Cassatt once told his directors on the Pennsylvania Railroad that some day a tunnel would be built under the Hudson River so that trains would come into the center of New York City. Well, that long ago became a fact. It was McAdoo who did the job, and who rose high in politics—and married President Wilson's daughter! The vision of these two men made the dream come true.

Such world benefactors as Edison, Ford, the Wright brothers, Fulton, and endless others had vision that has brought out the achievement of miracles. There was a time, years ago, when had the vision of ships in the air, but who then dreamed that they would be? Now even the air is a speed of six hundred miles an hour and more. Vision is the people who have the vision of universal peace, and many who say that it will come, it becomes a happy fact!

What a heritage ever awaits those who have the vision to look the impossible in the eye — then work for it. That is the secret. The whole world is in but an experimental state. I see men in the city streets have great buildings, forty stories and more in height, in order to build these skyscraper buildings. Most of them air-conditioned and great temples of pleasure and also the health of the sun to share its wealth with the workers inside. Not so long ago there was an everlasting vision.

Youth Rescues Boys from Fire

BUFFALO, N. Y.-(AP) — Two young boys, bewildered and terri-fied, were led to safety from a burning house Thursday by a pick-clutching 16-year-old youth.

Firemen said Gary Arvidson, awakened by the screams of the boys, smashed a second-story win-dow with his fist, gulped some fresh air, and then led his younger brother, William, 13, to safety.

He then turned back and found 13-year-old Kenneth Palmer, an overnight guest, near collapse from smoke inhalation. Gary pushed Kenneth down a stairway and out of the house.

Lady Listowel To Speak Here

The Women's Canadian Club of Belleville is proud to have as its next speaker, on Monday, Nov. 28, the Countess of Listowel, internationally renowned writer and lecturer.

Lady Listowel is Hungarian by birth. Her father was a Hungarian diplomat, and she was brought up in Budapest, Rome and Paris. After taking degrees from the University of Budapest and the London School of Economics, she established herself as a journalist and became the first woman editorial writer in Hungary.

In 1933 she was married to the Earl of Listowel, who was Secretary of State for India, and Secretary of State for Colonial Affairs in the Attlee government.

Until 1940 Lady Listowel made frequent visits to Europe and kept contact with relatives and friends in many capitals. She has maintained her contacts, and edits a weekly, "Soviet Orbit." In 1953 the U.S. National War College put "Soviet Orbit" on its list of required reading. Several times the U.S. State Department has reprinted her articles in its own publications.

Lady Listowel has published two books, "This I Have Seen" (1943), and "Crusaders in Secret" (1953). She is an experienced and popular lecturer and has toured the U.K. and the U.S.A. a number of times. Her topic next Monday evening will be "Developments in Europe since the Geneva Conference."

MARRIAGE MAY UNITE MOROCCO, IRAQ

With the return to the throne of Morocco of Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef, rumors of a marriage merger of the royal families of Morocco and Iraq have been revived. Principals in the "romance" which would be purely political, are Moroccan Princess Lalla Aicha (left) and young King Faisal II (right) of Iraq. The princess is 26 and the king is 30. Such a marriage would represent an important diplomatic success for Morocco, although it might amount to a setback for the French. Iraq has been an outspoken critic of French policy in Moslem North Africa. (Central Press Canadian).

Daisy M.B. Sends Bale, Elects Officers

Lois Morton gathered the offering which was dedicated.

The leader, Mrs. Burton Morton, told the last chapter of the study book "Chaos of India". This book will now be presented to the Snarr School Library for all children to read.

The books for several years have been given to the libraries of the two public schools in the Wellman's community.

The recent bake sale held in Stirling was a decided success and the children were asked to convey thanks to their mothers for assistance.

The first bale of good used clothing weighing seven and a half pounds and valued at $35 has been forwarded to Toronto for overseas relief along with 75 cents to be used for shipping the parcel to Europe. The bale was composed of lovely sweaters and hosiery and all was in first class condition. Each child was asked to bring one article for the bale.

The Mission Band is forwarding the sum of $100 to the Belleville Presbyterial treasurer for 1955.

A graduation service followed when Carol Seeley graduated from the Baby Band and was welcomed into the Mission Band.

HOUSEWIFE IS NOW KITCHEN CAPTAIN

If cars are getting flashier, kitchens are keeping pace, as shown by the General Motors travelling exhibit. In the G.M. kitchen, the housewife presides over a multitude of buttons which cause shelves to slide out, makes ice cubes, flicks on the television set, turns on the telephone loudspeaker so that it is not necessary to hold a receiver and generally put her in the class of a captain navigating a ship. ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

WAIT AWHILE BEFORE DECIDING THIS QUESTION

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I am almost 18, and am very much in love with a young man soon to be 21. We had been going steady for almost a year, and were planning on a big wedding about a year from now, when my mother suddenly decided no one that we could see, forbade me to see him (allow for at least six months).

She knows his parents very well, and they are good friends, yet she doesn't like their son at all.

My boy friend has said that since my mother doesn't approve of him, he will wait forever, if necessary, and from the looks of things, he'll probably have to, unless we elope, which we're now planning on doing. We have never said anything to my parents about getting mar ried, because we thought that would say we were too young to know what we were doing.

I haven't gone out with this fellow since June, and now the situation is the same, my mother still starting all over again. But this time I've stopped telling them about it's getting so now that I feel really hate her.

How can I make her realize that no matter what she thinks of this boy, I love him? And that I could she'd eventually accept him as a son-in-law if we did elope? I don't like to go against her wishes, but I've gone with many boys and I am quite sure I have now found what I want. Shall we elope or wait for our big wedding?

Dear N.P.:

My earnest advice to you is to wait. Time, patience and tactful dealing with a problem such as yours very often manages to unsnarl it, whereas if you were to shove it aside in despair and elope, you would only tangle up the whole situation infinitely more.

You say that you and your young man have never told parents when you wanted to marry. But don't you think your mother possessed long ago that your relationship is pointing that way and that when she sensed her ultimatum about not seeing him for six months, hoping the attraction between you might wear off?

You say very likely have been right in believing that they'd not say anything about marriage, she would have insisted you were too young. Or, again, her reason for acting as she did may have been because she didn't want to lose you. She would not be the first mother who has tried to break up a romance in the hope that by so doing she could keep a son or daughter home.

What I think you should do is first, to stop quarreling with your mother about all this as I suspect you have been doing.

Second, I think your boy friend should go directly to your father and tell him that he would like to marry you. He could say that he has been given to understand that your mother does not approve of him, for some reason, and that he would like to know just what her objections are. Of course, if he prefers, he might approach your mother first, but my thought is that a man-to-man discussion of the problem might get further, especially if the younger man was frank, open and friendly. If he would tell your father over to his side, the battle might be more than half won, for your father might be able to influence your mother. In any event, such a discussion would probably show you just what the trouble is all about, which you apparently do not know now. Once things are made clear, you will then know better what the next steps should be.

Also, the two of you might discuss the problem with your young man's parents and see if they can't help straighten matters out. You have not said what their attitude is in the situation, but perhaps they're already on your side, and they should have some ideas to suggest.

In any case, don't threaten your mother with elopement at this point. Let her know that you are not thinking of marriage before another year, for then, as that year draws to a close, you can see how things stand and decide if your only alternative is to marry whether your mother is willing or not.

BEAUTY

HOLIDAY TIPS TO TEEN-AGERS

With the holiday season well under way, everyone is looking forward to parties, dances, festivities of all sorts. But probably very few will have such a full calendar as the pretty teen-ager. It is her season to really shine. And shine she will if she gives as much thought to her party manners as she does to her party dress.

Charming manners are a passport to popularity. And what's the use of being pretty if you're not popular?

Summed up, good manners mean consideration of others. Therefore, being considerate to your "dates" is a must if you'll be popular. One of the first ways to show your consideration is by punctuality. Some girls think that if they're all ready when the boy friend comes to call for them they're showing how popular as eagerness. "Let him wait" is their philosophy. "It will show him I'm not particularly interested." And, though she may have been dressed and ready to step out an hour, this girl sits in her room and lets her escort for the evening sit and twiddle his fingers until she's darn good and ready to make an appearance. This is not the way when you come to think of it, isn't it? After all, you did make the date with him, so you did want to see him. So why pretend? You only make the poor guy miserable and get the evening off to a wrong start. If he says he'll call at eight, be ready at eight and greet him warmly when he does arrive.

If the party you're attending is a formal one and he brings you flowers, be enthusiastic in your thanks-you. Even if the corsage is not exactly what you'd hoped for, don't indicate the fact by even the merest expression. After all, he spent his good money on it, and he wanted to please you, so the least you can do is to be gracious. And, if he didn't bring flowers when you thought he would, be gracious, too. Don't show your disappointment in the slightest way or he'll feel like a heel. And that's no way to start the evening off.

Once you're on your way, make up your mind right now to both going to have a good time—something that won't happen if you make him feel ill at ease. Things that make a lad feel ill at ease are unfavorable comparisons with others. If he takes you to a dance in his old jalopy, don't rave about the convertible that took you out in last week. If his dancing is not quite up to par, don't talk him what "a divine dancer" Jack is. In fact, generally speaking, it's better not to mention other boy friends at all.

If you're out for dinner, don't order the most expensive things on the menu and don't be a "complainer." You may think you're being sophisticated by criticizing the quality of the food the way it's served or the waiter's attitude. But all you're really being is a pain in the neck.

While you're out, too, don't pathetically continually about yourself and your own active. showing no interest whatsoever in his. One of the marks of a really charming girl is the interest she displays in others. So learn to listen as well as to talk. And if your beau is the shy type, draw him out and make him talk about himself. He'll think you're just wonderful! And he'll go out of his way to see that you have a good time.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

CONCERNING THE JUNIOR BRIDESMAID

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I want my 15-year-old niece to have a place in my bridal party. Is it this age may she be a junior bridesmaid? If so, please tell me if she is attended by an usher (as are the bridesmaids in the recessional), or should she be a lady of approximately her age, or a man of the age of the other ushers? (I've heard about a "junior bridesmaid," but I have never been to a wedding where there was one.) — Alice

Yes; your 15-year-old niece may be the junior bridesmaid in your bridal party. But a junior bridesmaid should not be escorted by an usher, in either the Processional or the Recessional. In both the Processional and Recessional she walks alone.

BRIDE'S YOUNG SISTER MAY BE JUNIOR BRIDESMAID

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

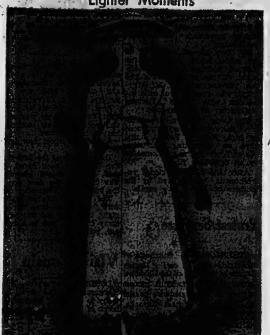
My daughter is to have two bridesmaids, one 17 years old and the other, 18. Would it be permissible for her 14-year-old sister to be a junior bridesmaid, or is she too young? Puzzled Mother

The bride's 14½-year-old sister . . . is old to be a flower girl and too young to be a bridesmaid . . . may be a junior bridesmaid. In the processional she walks after the ushers, and before the bridesmaids.

SHOULD SHE SEND CHRISTMAS CARDS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Within the course of time I have lost both my mother and my father. My mother died in July, and my father in September. Would it be proper for me to send Christmas cards this year? R.M.



You have a remarkably valiant spirit to even consider sending Christmas cards this year when you have so recently been through two such deep sorrows. It is proper for you to send Christmas cards this year if you wish to. But naturally it does, and indeed should, depend entirely on your own preference and inclination. Friends and relatives will not, I think, expect you to send Christmas cards, will not want you to send cards if the effort to send them will add strain or burden. On the other hand, if you decide to send cards to your relatives and intimate friends, those so honored will, I am sure, be deeply touched and inspired by this revelation of spiritual bravery, the "gallantry of heart" that can impel one to forget one's own unhappiness in wishing happiness to one's friends.

If you send cards this year, they must be of the most conservative kind, a religious picture and message perhaps, or a simple "Christmas Greetings" or "Best Christmas Wishes." And of course you would not send them to casual friends or to mere acquaintances. . . Only to relatives and intimate friends.

Lighter Moments

By ALICE ALDEN

Not all is dark after dark. Of course there is plenty of black, navy and dark brown, but the light colors are attention-getters amid all the dark shades. And things aren't all crisp stiffer, for despite the fabulous taffetas and ribbed silks, soft flannels and chiffons, also have their way and sway. One of the most unusual late day dresses of the season is this one from Genevieve Fath, widow of the famed Jacques Fath. It is of beige wool lace with chenille dahlias worked in an all-over pattern. The bib front is of faille with matching cuffs on the bracelet-length sleeves. Soft, semi-fitted lines for wearing with beautiful ease.

QUERY:

These answers come from dozens of readers who saw Vicky's request. I want to thank all you answerers to my S.O.S. "F. A. F." says: ". . . garden huckleberries to be at their best need a light frost before picking. . . gives much sweeter flavor." Ten other readers gave me this recipe, all saying they have tried it and find it delicious:

DELICIOUS GARDEN HUCKLEBERRY PIE

Pick the berries when ready to put into pie crusts. Dot with butter, add top crust and bake in hot oven.

If Vicky wants to can the garden huckleberries she should follow the above directions (multiplying the quantities) down to "boil 15 minutes", and after that seal them in sterile jars. They should be processed in hot water bath as a further keeping precaution. I hope Vicky sees this.

Moroccan Tribe Threatens Revolt As Chief Killed

RABAT, French Morocco (Reuters)—A new "hot spot" flared today in French Morocco, in the Fichtali tribal area, following the death Thursday night of the tribe's chief (chieftain), injured by a mob outside the sultan's palace in this capital last Saturday.

The mob had attacked the caid as a suspected opponent of Sultan Mohammed Ben Youssef, who was restored to the throne of Morocco by the French last week after two years of exile.

Now, 800 of the Fichtali tribe's horsemen have fled to the hills in a threatened rebellion.

Two Men Hurt Near Cornwall

CORNWALL (CP) — Two men were severely injured Thursday when their car crashed into the side of a bridge on No. 2 highway, four miles east of Lancaster.

The driver, Charles Lamoy, 45, of Montreal told police he had been forced off the road by another vehicle which did not stop. He suffered undetermined chest injuries when thrown against the steering wheel.

MADOC

Missionary From Angola Speaks to WMS

MADOC — Those who were privileged to attend the W.M.S. special meeting to hear an address given by Miss Millicent Howse, missionary on furlough, who has spent many years in Angola, Africa, received a vivid description of that part of Africa where there are many missionaries of the United Church, and the ads laboring in the cause of the Master's service.

On opening her remarks, she chose to read the Lord's prayer and part of the last meeting of Jesus with His disciples. She told of the rapid advancement Africa is making. They have their own government and department of agriculture is making rapid strides. In home economics it has discovered that the problem of milk for children is impossible. The cost of a milk from the soya bean and peanuts is being used.

"Education is rapidly improving and the young folk are going to other centres to complete their education. The church has advanced. It is 75 years since the first Protestant missionary entered Angola, and by working with the native church they have made progress has been made, but the need of teachers, doctors, nurses and helpers is still great and if we are to compete with the inroads of Communism the people must be Christianized. The call is great and necessary."

Words of appreciation to Miss Howse were voiced by Mrs. Carmen, president of Madoc W.M.S.

Visiting auxiliaries from the district were present from as far as The Ridge, near Coe Hill.

During the evening Mrs. Hollingsworth sang an appropriate solo, "Guide My Thoughts." Mrs. Carl Howse provided piano music during the evening.

A gift of money was presented to Miss Howse to purchase something of her own choice to take back to Angola where she returns in the spring.

Mrs. Madoc she was the guest of her brother, Mr. Carl Howse, principal of Madoc High School, and Mrs. Howse and their family.

It is expected that Marmora senior hockey team will compete against Campbellford, Madoc and Bancroft and go on into O.H.A. hockey.

Mr. and Mrs. Hogarth Sabine have moved into the apartment over the Herald office having sold their former home to Mr and Mrs. Ernest Gordon.

H-S ASSOCIATION

Arrest Suspect For Killing Deer In Toronto Zoo

TORONTO (CP)—A 23-year-old man was arrested in a Toronto beverage room Thursday night and charged with the slaughter of a deer at Riverdale zoo.

Ross Turner Scott of suburban East York township was arrested and police said his clothing was heavily blood-stained.

A second suspect now is being sought.

The remains of the four-year-old doe have not been found, police said, but a 12-inch kitchen-knife was found in the deer pen after the butchering Wednesday night.

The raiders climbed a 10-foot wire fence some time during the night, killed the doe and hauled it away from the pen in a truck or car, police said.

Guide Drags Wife Out of Wilds On Ladder-Sled

VANCOUVER (CP)—A northern British Columbia big-game guide who dragged his pregnant wife and 250 pounds of baggage out of the wilderness on a hastily-improvised sled, has arrived in Vancouver.

Malcolm (Mac) Henry and his wife, who expects a baby in February, were marooned at their lodge in 27-below-zero weather when the McGregor river from over in 12 hours, locking their five boats in thick ice.

They were forced to hike 30 miles to the railway station of Hansard. 130 miles east of Prince George and 500 miles north of Vancouver in the Cariboo region.

They spent their first night protected only by light indoor sleeping bags and settled on two bales of hay they found in an abandoned logging camp shed. They burned the shed for warm, salvaging from only an old ladder which Mr. Henry made into a sleigh for the overland trek.

TORONTO FLOATS

"They represent bad taste and are not true," he said. "They show the seamy side of the city's life, not the normal admirable aspects."

Bob Woods, president of the board of trade, said the floats were "very clever and not at all objectionable. Anyone who takes offense has missed the point entirely.

"If you're going to laugh, laugh at yourself," he said.

E. W. Archibald, general manager of the board, said the board's council 'considered full sketches of the proposed floats and several firms contributed money to pay for them. He said none objected to the themes or the method of illustrating them.

G. A. Stanford, board secretary, said he has wired junior board representatives on the train for a report, especially on the one showing the Royal York.

"I agree it doesn't sound right at all. It sounds to me as though somebody aboard the train has been tampering with the floats.

"If there is anything wrong with them we certainly want it corrected," he said.

The Royal York Hotel refused to comment on the float.

Sunday School Lesson

Some Soil Is Good

By ROY L. SMITH

When Jesus told the story of the various kinds of soil, and their various receptions of the good seed, it is hardly probable that He expected the main attention would be given to the fathre of the rocky ground and the crowded ground. He was Himself, an optimist, and probably took much satisfaction in the fact that the good soil did so well.

MAJORITY OF TEEN-AGERS

Just at the moment the American people are greatly disturbed over the increase in juvenile delinquency, and the case is serious, of course. But the occasional youngster who gets into the headlines should not blind us to the fact that tens of thousands never even have a brush with the law. The highest estimate of those who have had some kind of experience with the police (oftimes relatively innocent adventures) is no more than about a million. This is bad enough, of course. But the tens of millions who never see the inside of a police court except when they go alumning is of equal importance and should be of at least equal interest.

The Uniform Sunday school lesson for November 27: "Spread of the Good News", Luke 8:1-21; 9-1-6; 10:1-34.

For several years before the war we were being told that American boys had gone soft, and that they were no longer capable of standing up under the rigors of a sustained military campaign. But that was not the testimony of the Japanese at Iwo Jima or of the Germans at the Normandy beachhead. The story-ground prophets were proved to be all wrong.

WHY ALL MONEY-GRABBERS

The American people have been called "money grabbers," "commercially minded," "mercian," and "materialistic," and it is a fact that there is all too much evidence to support that charge. At the same time, however, the Americans people to giving more money to support social service institutions, charitable enterprises, and relief agencies than any other people on earth. Let the world come that there is a famine anywhere and American purses are open everywhere.

Then there is that vast army of Scout leaders, Sunday school teachers, social workers who serve without pay, committeemen, and good neighbors who make other people's misfortunes their business. It is doubtful if there is anything even remotely comparable in any other land.

American industrial leaders have been represented as cold, steely, grasping, and brutal but no similar body of men anywhere on earth has introduced so many welfare services, profit sharing plans and similar devices into business as have the American employers and it has been done voluntarily in such a large part. The good soil in American business is very deep and very rich.

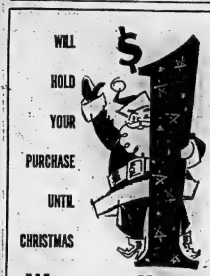
WHY ALL HYPOCRITES

The oldest the cheapest and the least defensible accusation levelled against churchmen is that they are hypocrites. And again, it is true that there are those individuals who do not measure up even to their own preaching.

But year after year the churches go on serving, lifting, inspiring, and holding ideals aloft. The fact that some have not been able to achieve the total of their goals is not an evidence of hypocrisy, but of man's inability to keep step with his dreams.

Consider, if you will, the kind of cruses that appeal to the churches for help. They would not do it if the church were altogether made up of stony ground or land overgrown with weeds. There must be a lot of good soil inside the limits of the church or there would not be so many who want to plow in that field.

Let's offer a prayer of thanksgiving for the large amount of good soil there is in even a bad world.



Churchill Goes Back to Harrow To Be Honored

HARROW, England (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill traveled a road he first took 70 years ago—but the landscape and circumstances have greatly changed.

As Churchill recalled it, that long-ago journey was full of trepidation. Today it was smiles all the way.

Then he was a reluctant schoolboy going to the famous boys' school here. There, he received civic honors from this borough and recalled with straw-bedecked scholars at the school his days of struggling with French irregular verbs.

The former prime minister drove through flag-bedecked streets past lines of cheering people to a civic reception where he received a scroll granting him the freedom of the borough.

Lights Pipe, Almost Shot By His Smoke

JENSEN BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Mmm! West Cliff Boone's pipe refuses to touched a match to it while fishing Wednesday.

When Boone recovered from the shock, he explained to other fishermen that he had reached into his pocket to fill his pipe with loose tobacco.

A forgotten .22-calibre rifle cartridge was packed with the tobacco in the pipe bowl. The bullet flew upward and glanced off the rim of Boone's hat.

He went on fishing.

GIFT FROM BULGANIN

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An 11-year-old Los Angeles girl has wrangled a Russian doll from Premier Bulganin of the Soviet Union. Ann Latman's letter apparently caught Bulganin in a receptive mood. Her earlier letters to his predecessor, Georgi Malenkov, have never answered. Bulganin's gift, an 11-inch doll, is dressed in the costume of a Russian peasant woman.

Drag for Bodies Of Two Hunters

HAMILTON (CP) — Dragging operations began this morning in an effort to locate the bodies of two local men who are believed to have drowned when their boat overturned, while duck hunting Wednesday, about 2½ miles southeast of Port Rowan.

Victor Rockefeller, 23, of Hamilton, and Eric Ralph Ormerod, of RR 2, Ancaster, left Hamilton early Wednesday morning for an all-day duck hunting expedition on Long point.

Constable Arthur Foy, of the Port Rowan police department said the two men arrived in Port Rowan at about 7 a. m., and rented a boat from George Crommilier.

The boat was discovered floating upside down in some reeds Wednesday evening. It was about a half mile from shore.

NIKE PRINCIPAL DEFENCE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Secretary Wilber Brucker said Monday night the Nike guided missile "can seek out and destroy any aircraft, no matter how high or fast it may fly." This missile now is the "major army weapon" for the anti-aircraft defence of the principal cities and industrial areas of the United States, he said.

Eden Govt. Ready to Help Negotiate Palestine Peace Prime Minister Tells House

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden says Britain still stands ready to help negotiate a Palestine peace settlement, although his earlier offer was rejected by Israel.

Eden told the House of Commons Thursday night that his recent declaration that Britain is willing to mediate in any peace talks was made without consulting either the Israeli or Arab governments.

"I took the opportunity of advising both sides that if they want peace they must take some compromise between the positions they have taken up, I did not attempt to lay down where and how that compromise should be found, nor do I propose to do so now."

Israel turned down the previous offer on the grounds that it would mean a construction of the Jewish state. Response from the Arab countries generally has been favorable.

COMPROMISE PLAN

Eden's proposal of Nov. 9 suggested that settlement might be reached somewhere between the United Nations decision of 1947 envisaging creation of separate Jewish and Arab states and the territory that formerly made up Palestine, and the 1949 armistice settlement along the lines that left hold some war-won territory beyond what the UN proposed for her.

Responses from Israeli leaders emphasized that the Arab countries rejected the UN plan for a Palestine settlement in 1947 when the Jews were ready to accept it.

Eden's approach was criticized by several opposition Labor members, who backed Israel's contention that such compromise would reduce the Jewish state's territory.

"The only hope of a settlement is an abandonment of the threat of force and some attempt to talk to each other," Eden said. "These countries will not talk to each other here, and the only hope is for other countries to do some of that for them."

Informed sources said Eden is thinking of an exchange of views through the British and U. S. governments, the procedure used in settling the Italy-Yugoslavia disputs over Trieste.

Labor party leaders disclosed that they plan to press Eden to recommit for a treaty with Israel guaranteeing the existing frontiers of the Jewish state against any major change. Britain has declined to enter into any direct treaty relationship with Israel before an Arab-Israeli peace settlement is reached.

Highly placed sources in Cairo said Britain is expected to resume arms shipments to Egypt early next year. The delivery schedule fell orders placed by Egypt as long ago as 1951. Britain put an embargo on arms to Egypt after Cairo repelled the British Egyptian treaty of 1936. The embargo was not removed until the two countries concluded their most agreement last year.

The Egyptian sources said the arms shipments would be resumed as part of a campaign to counteract Communist gains since Egypt's September arms deal with Czechoslovakia.

3 Prospectors Marooned Week In North Bush

GERALDTON (CP) — Marooned a week by storms which cut off their plane service, three prospecting summaries of the north coast of Ontario bush Thursday exhausted said rest from lack of food.

George Solomon, 34, Joseph Carre, 22, and Joseph Cupris, 21, all of Spanish, Ont., flew south a month ago to stake claims in country west of Trap Narrows lake. They had been 10 days ago that their plane would not be able to pick them up because the ice on the lake was thin and treacherous.

Caching their tents and heavier equipment, they set out on foot. After a day of struggling through deep snow they found a log cabin occupied by two trappers, Thomas Hill, 36, and Louis Bouchard, 58, of Geraldton. They stayed there four days, eating the last of the trappers' groceries.

Three Comrades Of Captured Pair Leaving Nepal

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — The remaining three members of a Himalayan expedition China has which had two of its members arrested by the Chinese Communists are on their way out of Nepal "as fast as possible," it was reported here Thursday.

The two missing men, Sidney Wignall and John Harris, are believed to have been arrested on suspected espionage by Chinese patrol as they tried to find a way to the unoccupied 24,000-foot Nalkar Kankar peak.

The first member of the six-man team to return, Humfrey Berkeley, said he expects the other three to return here within the next few days.

BORDEN NOT CLEAR

He said that when he left the team in October to obtain money for the expedition the party had abandoned their attempt to reach the peak because of bad weather. But it is believed that the party may have cleared sufficiently to allow the Wellsmen to attempt a reconnaissance of the pass in a northerly direction and the border between Nepal and Communist-controlled Tibet is not clearly defined and the land is claimed by both sides.

A third man seized with the two climbers was a Nepalese liaison officer, Berkeley said.

The British foreign office is understood to have contacted the Chinese embassy in Peking seeking to find out what happened to the missing climbers.

Inquest Jury Fails to Reach Verdict on Deaths

BRANTFORD (CP)—An inquest jury investigating the disappearance of Mrs. Phyllis Malek, 27, of her two children following the destruction by fire of their Burford township home on Oct. 1 failed to reach a verdict Thursday. Bones found in the ruins were identified as those of three persons —an adult and two children—by Dr. Gordon Scott of the University of Toronto. However, the jury, after deliberating for 3½ hours, found only that "a body of a female was connected by fire, beyond recognition."

Jan Hancharuk, who lived at the farm, said he arrived home from a shopping trip to Brantford to find the house a smoldering mass of ruins, and no trace of Mrs. Malek or the children, Barbara, 6, and Patricia, 3.

He said he believed someone had set the fire deliberately.

FATHER TESTIFIES

Mrs. Malek's father, William Lesowski of Welland Port, testified that on the afternoon of the fire Hancharuk drove to his home and told him Mrs. Malek had killed herself and the children and that she burned the house.

Hancharuk denied having said this. He said he told Lesowski that Mrs. Malek must have burned the house. He also said he had kept a gasoline tank beside the farm and after the fire he had found the hose loose and gasoline dripping from it.

ROOF ATTACK FATAL

CHICOPEE, Mass. (AP)—Fire fighters, police and a doctor climbed the roof of a residence Thursday in a vain attempt to save the life of a heart-attack victim. Arthur Seymour, 55, was stricken while fixing his television antenna on the roof of his bungalow-style home. Fire emergency call by neighbors, fire-fighters and police hauled an oxygen inhalator to the roof, but Seymour was pronounced dead.

Police Quell Football Riot With Tear Gas

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP)—Police fired a tear-gas bomb into an unruly mob during a riot in the heart of Savannah Thursday night following the annual Savannah High-Benedictine football game.

One well-placed bomb did the job —but not until six policemen had been injured and hundreds of dollars worth of fire-fighting equipment destroyed. Several persons were arrested for disorderly conduct.

The disturbance centred around Savannah's main intersection where victors in the annual crosstown football rivalry traditionally burn the "coffin" of the losers. Savannah won the game 8 to 0.

Police said between 6,000 and 7,000 students, adults and spectators jammed the area. Some members of the crowd said police had begun to interfere with the "celebration."

"I was just one of those things," said one police officer. "It happens every year—only this time it started working up a little more enthusiasm than usual."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist Czechoslovakia has refused to invent its people from reading Western publications has reached into the Soviet Bloc's storm over the United States embassy in Prague.

The British foreign office is understood to have contacted the Chinese embassy in London seeking to find out what happened to the missing climbers.

The British foreign office is understood to have contacted the Chinese embassy in London seeking to find out what happened to the missing climbers.

Long before the Communists came, the people of Prague enjoyed taking Sunday walks when traditionally, all the embassies threw open their gates to the strolling public.

This fall the American embassy set up a small table in the courtyard. On the table were spread back issues of U.S. magazines, including fashion magazines, periodicals and some news and picture publications.

Czechs leafed through them during their walks. By the end of the first day all the magazines had disappeared. In time, the American embassy was doing a land-office business in back-issue magazines, Reston said.

But soon the Communist regime got wind of what was happening.

On Nov. 11 the Czech foreign office called in Harold C. Vedeler, in charge of the embassy in the absence of Ambassador Alexis Johnson.

Vedeler was told that the display of U.S. magazines within reach of Czech citizens was "unwelcome." He argued that the magazines were not propaganda but simply reflected American culture through their stories and advertisements.

At the same time, Vedeler recorded the Communist refusal of the Czech practice of making propaganda pamphlets available in heavy volume.

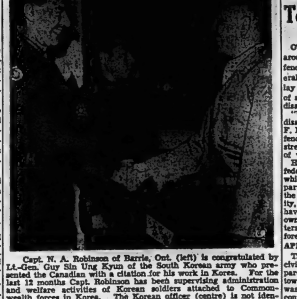
Chicago Boy, 9, Saves Six From Blazing House



CHICAGO (AP)—A nine-year-old boy made repeated entries into his burning home Thursday night and saved six brothers and sisters. But a baby sister died in the blaze.

Police Lieut. Ezell Ivons of suburban Chicago Heights said the heroic rescues were made by Joe Bradley Jr.

The officer said the Bradley children, at home alone, apparently were preparing for bed when the fire started.

Joe wakened some of the children and they fallen asleep. He led some outdoors and carried others to safety. His brother and sisters ranged in age from two months to eight years. The Bradley child who died was Denise, 18 months.

Father of Slain Priest Appeals for Clemency For Three Convicted Killers

WINNIPEG (CP)—A humble appeal for mercy toward three Quebec youths sentenced to be hanged for the murder of a Roman Catholic priest has been made by the victim's 84-year-old father.

Olivier Quirion, of St. Jean de la Lande, Beauce county, Que., in a letter published Thursday in La Liberta et La Patriote, French-language weekly newspaper printed in Winnipeg, said his request to the governor-general was being made on behalf of all his family.

The three youths—Guy Ferragne, of Riviere des Prairies, Que., Claude Paquin and Gerard de Tonnancourt, both of Montreal, all aged 18—were found guilty Nov. 16 in a Brandon trial of the shooting murder last Jan. 9 of Rev. Alfred Quirion, 44, of St. Edouard, Alta. They were sentenced to be hanged Feb. 28.

TO RENEW REQUEST

In his appeal to the governor-general, Mr. Quirion said:

"... Now that the death sentence has been pronounced against these young men, I wish to renew my request for clemency and I do so in the name of all my children, my grandchildren and their living great grandchildren. I firmly believe that my prayer will be heard."

The letter also says the priest's father had written to the fathers of one of the accused last January saying in part: "As regards the three boys I pardon them from the bottom of my heart and my family does likewise. If I were judge they would not be hanged or exiled, but they would be placed in a good house of penance. Fortunately they are young and acted without reflection."

Evidence at the trial was that the three youths had been picked up by Father Quirion as they hitch - hiked to Brandon. Police statements indicated Ferragne shot the priest twice and took $90 from him.

The newspaper says Mr. Quirion wrote a friend earlier that his son would surely have forgiven his attackers if he had lived long enough. It adds that the families of the convicted youths are unable to pay the expense of a court appeal which defence counsel has announced.

Usefulness Of Civil Defence To Be Stressed

OTTAWA (CP)—In an effort to arouse a wider interest in civil defence among Canadians, the federal organization has decided to lay more stress on the usefulness of a civil defence setup in natural disaster.

"We have always had natural disaster in mind," said Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, federal civil defence co-ordinator, "but we have't stressed it as much as the threat of war."

He said in an interview that the federal civil defence organization, which comes under the health department, has decided to point up the advantages for any community, however small or isolated, to have a civil defence plan of its own in the event of natural disasters such as floods, hurricanes, forest fires and so on.

APPARENT APATHY

Gen. Worthington said concern among civil defence officials over an apparent apathy of many Canadians toward civil defence efforts. This was discussed last month during a conference of the federal-provincial defence College at Arnprior, Ont., of radio and newspaper personnel.

A number of officials who came from every province, expressed the fear that Canadians generally don't take civil defence seriously.

Gen. Worthington said at the time that interesting and educating the public to be "part of the picture" nationwide civil defence preparedness is very important. One problem facing Canada's civil defence planners.

"We have yet to get that over we're going to fail," he said.

Negotiators Will Resume Talks In GM Strike

TORONTO (CP) — Company and union negotiators are expected to resume bargaining in Monday on the major issues in the General Motors of Canada strike which started 67 days ago.

Sessions were adjourned earlier this week while subcommittees discussed specific problems in the strike by 27,000 workers at five General GM plants.

First new offer by the company since the strike began was made Monday when GM offered to set aside $90 cents an hour to raise wages in the Oshawa plant.

These increases would be in addition to across-the-board increases negotiated later, company officials said.

George Burt, Canadian director of the United Auto Workers (CIO-CCL) which represents the strikers, said Wednesday however the offer would not be sufficient.

Royal Commission Probes Charge U.S. Firms Dominate Canadian Petroleum Industry

By HAROLD MORRISON

Canadian Press Staff Writer

CALGARY (CP)—The royal commission on Canada's economic future has launched a private investigation of the Canadian oil industry, reported in some quarters to be dominated by United States capital.

The investigation began after chairman Walter Gordon observed Thursday that many Canadians would not like to see permanent control of Canadian oil and other industries vested in non-residents.

Dr. John Davis, the commission's energy adviser and one of the federal men who helped Trade Minister Howe develop oil-gas pipeline policy, has been named to handle the inquiry.

On instructions from Mr. Gordon, he is meeting with officials of the Canadian Petroleum Association and some of its member companies.

The view among some highplaced federal officials is that some U. S. firms controlling Canadian industry are reluctant to sell shares in their Canadian operations. Mr. Gordon told the five-man commission in Edmonton earlier this week that Albertans are becoming increasingly concentrated in the hands of big U. S. companies.

The Petroleum Association, which represents most of the producers, disagreed. It said there was room for growth of independent operators in Canada's industry.

Under Mr. Gordon's questioning, the association intimated western producers would fight to protect their Ontario markets against imports. But they did not want to compete against imports in the Montreal area, served mostly by shipments from Venezuela and the Middle East.

Main association spokesman was P. Karrigan, association board chairman and vice-president of the Shell Oil Co.

Mr. Gordon suggested that the St. Lawrence seaway might make it easier for imports to compete with Canadian producers in Ontario.

Mr. Karrigan replied: "We'd make sure we didn't lose the Ontario market. If necessary, we could meet that kind of competition.

See End of French Boycott As UN Drops Algerian Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) The UN political committee agreed unanimously today to drop the controversial Algerian problem from the 1955 agenda of the general assembly. This was expected to end the French boycott which began Sept. 30.

The 60-nation committee acted quickly after India's V. K. Krishna Menon proposed that there should be no further discussion of the issue at the present time and that the assembly would no longer be "seized" of the problem. This means the item has been dropped.

The assembly is expected in about noon to ratify the proposal. Informed quarters said France had agreed in advance to accept this formula.

The Asian-African bloc supported the Nationalists. The French maintain that Algeria is a part of Metropolitan France, making the issue a domestic problem outside UN jurisdiction.

An Arab spokesman said the Asian-Arab group in agreeing to abandon the Algerian debate did not intend "appeasement of the French."

"It is up to them to come back to us," he said. "But in Algeria, as in Morocco, negotiations are under way. We do not wish to prejudice these negotiations, and so we will not press the issue."

On another touchy question—the admission of 18 applicants to the UN this year—the United States appears to have relaxed its adamant opposition to Communist-ruled Mongolia.

A Western source said the American position was that such countries as Italy, Japan or Spain—all among the 18 applicants involved—would blame the U. S. if its opposition to the central Asian satellite blocked the membership package deal.

The Russians said they would vote all the non-Communist candidates unless the five Communist countries—Albania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania are the others —got in. The Western informant said the U. S. still would abstain in the vote on all the feds, but now is about ready to let Canada and others line up sufficient ballots to admit all 18 governments.

Would Complete Trans-Ontario Highway by Tolls

TORONTO (CP) — A firm of engineering consultants said it a report read Thursday before the Ontario legislature select committee on highways that sections of the trans-Ontario highway could be connected with self - paying toll highways.

The firm, M. M. Dillon and Co., Ltd., said the toll highway system could be used to complete the highway from Windsor to the Quebec border.

The company's report says sections built as toll roads could be made into highways when they have paid for themselves.

The present 401 highway, from Newcastle, 60 miles east of Toronto, to Fort Erie is the first section of the proposed trans-Ontario highway.

Unfinished sections of the highway, built as pay-as-you-go roads, could be finished within three or four years, the report says.

Chairman John Robarts, Progressive Conservative member for London North, announced the committee will not present its conclusions to the legislature until 1957 at the earliest.

Two Discharged Road Engineers Still Practising

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says two professional engineers discharged by the department of highways after hearings on highway contract irregularities have been allowed to continue practice by the Ontario Association of Professional Engineers.

The paper identified the two engineers as Arthur M. Mills, former department of highways divisional engineer at Port Arthur, and Donald S. Patterson, former highways department district engineer at Huntsville.

Both have been allowed to continue practice by the association, which can expel, suspend, reprimand or censure its members. The association governs Ontario's 14,000 professional engineers.

Mr. Mills was reprimanded by the association after being fined $2,000 and given a suspended sentence of 18 months when tried with former highways engineer on a charge of defrauding the government of $300,000.

Mr. Patterson was fined $2,000 when he was tried with Bergman Construction Co. Ltd. of Pickering on charges of defrauding the government of $133,375.

TOKYO (AP) — The newspaper Asahi estimates Japan's population as of October this year to be 90,282,823—or nearly 6,000,000 more than five years ago. The paper comments that despite birth-control efforts Japan still faces a serious over-population problem.

New 600-Acre Site for Aklavik Moved 35 Miles to the East

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—A 20th-century community has started to rise in desolate Arctic wastes some 1,500 miles northwest of Edmonton, Canada's gateway to the north.

Ground was broken this summer and early autumn at the new 600-acre site for Aklavik, located on a delta on the west bank of the Mackenzie river 70 miles south of the Arctic ocean.

Aklavik, an Eskimo word meaning place of the black bear, is to be moved to the east channel of the Mackenzie river 35 miles north of the present site and linked with the outside world by an airport. The move is necessary because melting permafrost turns Aklavik's terrain into a swamp in summer.

PRELIMINARY WORK

F. J. G. Cunningham, director of the northern administration and lands branch of the northern affairs department, said in an interview that the 1955 season was a year of preparation for the new community.

He estimated that the new Aklavik may some day have a year-round population of 5,000, eight times that of the present 16-acre settlement. The four-year building job and the moving of salvageable structures from the present site will cost about $10,000,000.

Aklavik, about 120 miles inside the Arctic circle, is to be moved to prevent it from sinking deep into the permafrost and eventually being engulfed by the Mackenzie. It is the biggest community in the Canadian Arctic.

The permafrost on which Aklavik is located consists of equal proportions of silt and ice crystal. Once the protective moss covering is removed the heat of summer and ground warmth created by buildings turns the permafrost into mud, preventing the construction of water and sewage facilities, foundations for buildings, roads or an air strip.

The location for the new Aklavik, chosen last fall, is a well-wooded area. A thick layer of gravel under the permafrost will provide adequate foundation for buildings and other services.

The site rises in terraces from the channel of the river which is 800 feet in width at this point and deep enough for river transport. It is in no danger of being eaten away by the river.

ROADBUILDING STARTED

Mr. Cunningham said department engineers, using native labor, completed construction this year of two of the four miles of road to be built. They also built a large garage and workshop, 11 small homes for Eskimos and Indians, and laid pile foundations for six large warehouses.

Next year engineers plan to complete the road program and build 30 more homes for natives, a 50-man, eight-unit apartment building and eight warehouses. Work on the air strip also is expected to start.

Mr. Cunningham said the "crash construction" program will take place in the summers of 1957 and 1958. Outside labor will be brought in to help build the sewage, water and heating systems and construct schools, a hospital, an administration building and other necessary structures.

During the winters of 1957 and 1958 salvageable buildings will be moved from the present site to their new foundations by sledge. The moving job itself will cost about $500,000.

It is expected that piping for water, sewage and heating systems will be laid above ground.

SITES FOR AIRSTRIP

Three possible sites are being considered by the transport department for the air strip. It likely will be built about 4½ miles southeast of the community.

Mr. Cunningham said a study of the soil shows that it will be possible to grow vegetables, flowers and forage crops in areas adjacent to the new townsite. Agriculture department officials will report in January on exact agricultural possibilities.

The small homes for native occupation are designed on the principle of the Eskimo igloo. They measure 16 by 32 feet and have a closed-in porch which blocks cold air from entering through the single door. The interior is divided into one large all-purpose room and two bedrooms. Each home will have a chemical toilet.

The homes are built on skids to permit them to be moved to new locations. The foundation is a thick pad of sandy gravel placed directly over the moss, insulating the permafrost.

The gravel-pad principle also is being applied in the construction of roads and other buildings. However, an additional foundation is provided for buildings which are not on permanent sites.

Editor 'Slain' by Penicillin Recovers to Write His Story

By JOSEPH H. DRESSMAN
News Editor
The Cincinnati Times-Star

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two weeks ago I "died."

If a stilled heart, no pulse and stopped breathing spell death, I was dead.

The Erutus that "slew" me was penicillin—the old friend that had saved my life when I had pneumonia five years ago.

I am alive only because of heroic efforts of a stilled but frightened physician and of two unflagging members of the life-saving squad—plus a series of fortuitous "coincidences."

In those "coincidences" I see the hand of God.

ALLERGY UNKNOWN

During my lunch hour on that memorable day I dropped into the doctor's building for "something for a cold." I knew I had acquired a sensitivity for penicillin. But, for once, the doctor didn't ask if I were allergic to it. He stuck a needle into my arm and wrote out a prescription.

Coincidence No. 1: Instead of leaving his office, I sat and chatted. Otherwise, I would have died on the street.

I felt a familiar, ominous "tingling" in my fingers and legs.

"Doc," I asked, "did you give me penicillin?"

"You're allergic to it!" he asked, and sprang into action.

PROMPT ACTION

Coincidence No. 2: Few doctors have on hand syringes filled with adrenalin or a tank of oxygen. Mine had both.

He gave me adrenalin to stimulate heart action. He stretched me on a table in shock position—feet up. He and his receptionist started giving me oxygen as shock set in and severe asthmatic attack began.

Coincidence No. 3: I pushed the oxygen mask a couple of inches from my nose. I later learned that pure oxygen would have made me a pink corpse.

When the doctor took my blood pressure, it was 80 and falling. For 45 minutes he could detect no pulse and no heartbeat.

Once I stopped breathing entirely. I still have sore ribs where they applied artificial respiration.

Eventually, the worst of the crisis passed. Two days in hospital, some of the time in an oxygen tent, and a week of taking it easy have restored me almost to normal.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

POTS A-BOILING —

Headed by the blast from Whitby's column-writing-managerial impresario Wren Blair, quite a furore swept over the senior "B" circuit after the Dunlops 12-8 shellacking of the Cornwall Colts Saturday last. Even on paper no team in the group is 13 markers better than any other and that goes for the power-charged Dunlops.

However, the debacle has had its reaction down Cornwall way with the latest report having it that Coach Frank Mario will swing the axe over three players, with the "imports" being on the preferred list. He accuses them of "dogging". But with all the "talk" and "chatter" over the matter the Colts played to a capacity house last Sunday when they bowed to the "two-line" Kingston Goodyears by a 7-5 count. Some 1368 fans saw the game and a lucky stiff from Ottawa way win a pair of Grey Cup tickets and an all-expense trip to Vancouver given away by the Colts' management in a "draw."

Bob Atterday, top goal-getter of the group, fattened his scoring record in that 13-8 win, ramming home no less than five to make his season's total 43 thus far. He has 14 assists for a total of 57. Don Murray tops the Goodyears' scorers with eight and ten for 18 points, while Vern Geoyer leads the TPT's with five and four for nine. Moe Harvard tops the Cornwall crew with five and nine for 14 points, while Erwin Duncan, Al Kuntz, and Lyle Gibson of the Brockville Marcdonas are tied with seven points each to top the Cornwall crew.

With all their scoring glory the Dunlops head the six-bit list with a total of 164 minutes. Cornwall is second with 163, Kingston next with 143, Bellevilles fourth with 139 and Brockville last with 138. Mike Bendelari of Cornwall, is the penalty badman with 61 minutes, including two misconducts and one major while Harry Sinden of Whitby, has 41 minutes, including ditto sentences.

Coach Frank Mario of the Colts, swung the axe all right, according to a late dispatch from Cornwall. The Colts' management "fired" Deslets, Wells and Furlong, the latter pair juniors, elevated from the veteran ranks. The report states that Manager Ray Hall-Marks will make other staff reinforcements from the Quebec League in an effort to bolster the Colts' roster. And the Kingston grapevine operator has it that Joe Levandoski has secured his release as the former got fed up with the Goodies. Add to this the story that George MacGregor has been enticed out of retirement and the Goodies will have gained a couple of powerful assets.

All of which should make for real fun when those feudin' clubs, the Tire Boys of the Dunlops and Goodyears, clash in Whitby Saturday night.

Don Soutter, writing in the Whig Standard, let's go an awe-sweting blast at Whitby's Blair, who has been needling the Goodies and their manager in his Whitby newspaper column.

Writing in reply to Blair's wired charges to each club that "not one team in the league has played in Whitby at full strength . . . and the Whitby club intends to see that this is done," Soutter says: "The Hairmen telling kids on winning shots . . . are now complaining that the opposition is not good enough."

"Their stand reminds you of that taken by the Ottawa Senators of the defunct Border Baseball League. Whitby, packed in search of talent in the top spot due to an earlier start than most of the other teams, they now are complaining that the other teams are not keeping pace with them.

"And like Blair, the Dunlops are a front running team. They EXs to pour it on when they have their opponents' on the run, provides a first and field day for the players and they were quick to take advantage of the weakened Colts.

"Only last year rumblings emanated from Whitby that Kingston, with its big arena, was pushing the league under his thumb. Now, "loaded for bear" and with eyes on an Ontario championship the tune has been changed.

"That it was the middle game of a rough three-day trip for Cornwall can only be a partial excuse for the Colts, but it will be interesting to see and hear how Whitby reacts once the other teams in the league get their lineups set.

HODGE J'PODGE

The TPT's face a tough schedule during the next few days. Tonight they are in Brockville and Cornwall on Sunday. On Wednesday they trek to Whitby and then take Kingston on here on Friday. The next night they play a return tussle with the Goodies in Roddenville . . . Hec Lalonde has scored two goals and nine assists with the Chicago Black Hawks thus far this season . . . Wellington and Napanee are sure entries in the proposed southern division OHA intermediate "C" group. There is talk of Picton and Bloomfield filing entries . . . And this department declines with thanks the conversation proposed by the OHA . . . . And now to catch that choo-choo for Hogtown and the Ontario Minor Hockey Association convention.

Final Decision on Appointee To Be Made at January Meet; Montreal Judge Possibility

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—The name of Judge Gerald Almond of Montreal cropped up early today as a possible high commissioner of football for all Canada.

The suggestion that the criminal court judge—an astute follower of football and a member of the Montreal Alouette council—might be in line for the appointment brought ready approval from mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal.

Mayor Drapeau, in Vancouver for the Grey Cup game between Montreal and Edmonton Eskimos, was taken somewhat by surprise when he heard of the report but said:

"Should such an appointment come about I am sure that Gerry Almond would be a good commissioner. I know him personally and his appointment would be a good one."

An appointment from among the judiciary would be in line with the first step the major baseball leagues took years ago in first naming the late judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis as baseball's first commissioner.

Final decision on a commissioner and other points, is expected upon in principle Thursday by the Big Four and the Western Interprovincial Football Union in an effort to work more closely together, is expected to be made at a joint meeting in Winnipeg next Jan. 19. The leagues will meet separately on the follow-ing two days.

The suggestion of judge Almond's possible nomination was heard after representatives of Canada's nine professional football clubs had got together in a closed session and jointly agreed, for the first time, that they should police their affairs and work together under a formal agreement.

No names were mentioned at the meeting, said those attending. Later gossip had it that Lew Hayman would be asked to take over the job of bossing the big pro leagues. A source close to the delegation says Hayman had decided he would turn the job down if it were offered.

Some western supporters were known to be in favor of Sidney Halter of Winnipeg, current commissioner for the WIFU.

Two other names were heard in the gossip following the meeting—Mayor Drapeau himself and Ralph W. Cooper, secretary of the Big Four.

Mayor Drapeau laughed off the suggestion about himself. Cooper was not available for comment.

The leagues agreed solidly on one point: There will be no deviation from the Canadian Rugby Union. They also looked favorably upon an interlocking scheduled between the Big Four and the WIFU and decided that proposals to this effect will be submitted.

There also will be one college draft by the two leagues, instead of by the Big Four alone.

Second Honor of Season

Alouettes' Pat Abruzzi Named Outstanding Player of 1955

VANCOUVER (CP) — Pat Abruzzi, line cracking 22-year-old freshman halfback with Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four Football League, has been named Canada's outstanding football player of 1955.

Sportswriters and sportscasters in the Western Interprovincial Football Union, Big Four and Ontario Rugby Football Union cities selected Abruzzi by ballot for the $1,000 Schenley award as player of the year.

Earlier, they announced that Abruzzi had been selected as halfback of the year in Canadian football. At that time, it was also announced that tackle Tex Coulter of Alouettes was selected as the lineman of the year and that fullback Normie Kwong (Wong) Kwong of Edmonton Eskimos was chosen native Canadian player of the year.

AWARD FOR STUKUS

In their announcement today, the trustees also said that deposed coach Andy Skukus of the British Columbia Lions will receive a $500 award in recognition of his contribution to football in Canada and that a $500 award will be made to the outstanding player in Saturday's Grey Cup game between Montreal and Edmonton.

Abbruzzi, a graduate of Rhode Island State University and sixth draft choice this year of Baltimore Colts of the National Football League in the United States, was second-highest scorer in the Big Four this year—one behind Jon Cdn.

The 200 - pound plunging backfielder scored 95 points on 13 touchdowns, surpassing by three the previous Big Four touchdown record. He also was the leading ground gainer in the Big Four with more than 1,200 yards in 13 games.

The award to Stukus was made in recognition of his work in developing football in Edmonton and Vancouver.

The Canadian Legion bantam soccer team was treated to a party by its sponsors Branch 84 Canadian Legion in the Legion clubrooms last night. Hot dogs and soft drinks were provided for the boys with Mrs. Clair assuming responsibility for the catering chores.

The team finished the season as champions of the Bay of Quinte Bantam Soccer League and runners up in the Ontario Bantam Championships. Les Digby, president of the Bay of Quinte Football Association and vice chairman of the Ontario Minor Soccer Commission presented the Bill Harvey Trophy, emblematic of bantam soccer supremacy in the city to Dale Archer, team captain.

Bob Blair was chairman of the evening's activities whilst Bill Bailey, President of Branch 99 Canadian Legion was on hand to welcome the boys on behalf of the local branch.

Eskys Good Team, Too

Peahead Walker Says Larks Better Club Than '54 Edition

By AL MARKLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WHALLEY, B.C. (CP) — Coach Douglas (Peahead) Walker of Montreal Alouettes is sure his club is a better team than the one that dropped a 26-0 decision to Edmonton Eskimos in the Grey Cup game last year.

A few hours after he arrived here Sunday with his players for a second meeting with the Eskies, Walker said:

"We have a better team. We've got Hal Patterson and J. C. Caroline. We didn't have them last year."

For two seasons Patterson, who hails from Kansas, has been one of the bulwarks in both offence and defence — pass-catching and and a defensive halfback. But Patterson missed last year's Grey Cup game because of injuries.

CAME FROM ARGOS

Caroline, speedy backfielder who formerly played with University of Illinois, was dropped by Toronto Argonauts in mid - season and quickly snapped up by Walker.

Although he feels these two will make a big difference in the 1955 team, Walker isn't taking the Eskies lightly.

"We will have to have one of our best days of the season to beat the Eskimos," said Walker before going to his room Monday night at the club's quarters.

The team is staying at a 23-room motel-hotel, 16 miles from Empire Stadium where the Als and Eskies will meet Saturday.

"The Montreal coach wasn't worried about the delay occasioned in the flight of his team from Montreal to Vancouver. The chartered plane was forced to stay overnight in Winnipeg.

"I don't think that delay is going to hurt them at all," he said. "If it had happened just before the game, then definitely there would have been an adverse effect. As it turned out, I don't think the holdup matters much."

Wings Snap Habs' Streak At 14; Blues Blank Boston; Leafs Lose

3-2 Victory Over Canadiens Said Key Win for Detroit; Lalande Scores Hawk Winner

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

There was reason for uneasiness around the National Hockey League today. Detroit Red Wings may be ready to break out.

Red Wings, who once said they needed only one key win to start their run for the upper reaches, got it Thursday night with a 3-2 victory over Montreal Canadiens.

The win, coupled with New York Rangers' 5-0 shutout over Boston Bruins, sent the Wings into fourth place, one point behind Chicago Black Hawks, who defeated Toronto Maple Leafs 4-3.

Wings snapped the league-leading Canadiens' unbeaten streak at 11 games. It was only the fourth defeat for Montreal in 22 starts and ended a no-defeat stretch which lasted for four weeks.

The Habs, with 28 points, hold a two-game lead over the second-place Rangers. Hawks have 26 points, one better than Detroit. Boston slipped to fifth place, half a game behind Detroit, whose remains in the cellar with 15 points.

SPARKEYE INJURY

A Detroit Olympia crowd of 14,-117 fans watched Wings win their fifth compiled in 14 games. Captain Ted Lindsay sparked the winners with a goal and two assists. Red Kelly and Earl Reibel added the other Wing goals.

Lindsay opened the scoring at 10:44 of the first period while Montreal was a man short. The first winning goal was scored by Montreal Jacques Plante in the Montreal net in his 31st goal this season.

Beliveau tied the score at 2:04 of the middle frame when he swatted in Claude Provost's pass from close range. Harvey came out of the penalty box just in time to score on Earl Reibel's rebound at 7:34 and put Canadiens ahead 2-1.

Reibel again tied the score when he took Lindsay's pass from the Montreal net to bank the puck between Plante's legs. The time was 1:36 of the third period. Kelly won the game at 8:37 when he slapped in Lindsay's rebound.

Wally Hergesheimer scored three times and goalie Lorne Worsley registered his second shutout in 34 hours against Boston Bruins 12,903 at Boston. Rangers defeated the Bruins 6-0 at New York Wednesday. Dave Creighton and Dean Prentice were the other Ranger marksmen.

Hergesheimer counted once in the second period and twice in the final 20 minutes to boost his season's goal total to 10.

It was Worsley's third shutout of the season. Last year he had four shutouts in 65 games. He now has gone 143 minutes and 30 seconds without allowing a goal.

Hergesheimer scored what proved to be the winning goal at 6:43 of the second period when he banged in a pass from Danny Lewicki.

Prentice made it 2-0 five minutes later with his seventh goal of the season. Andy Bathgate and Brondo Horvath drew assists.

Hergesheimer fired the second goal at the 3:4 second mark of the last stanza, again from a pass from Lewicki. He scored again just after the middle of the period when he finished a play with Lewicki and Horvath. Creighton closed the scoring at 13:17.

Worsley stopped 26 shots, 12 in the final period. Terry Sawchuk, in the Boston nets, kicked out 35 Ranger drives.

Rookie Bert Lalande's third period goal gave the Hawks their win at Toronto before crowd of 13,000—one of the largest in Chicago this season. Eddie Sandford and Harry Watson were the other Hawks' marksmen while Rudy Migay and Ron Stewart counted for the Leafs.

Migay gave Toronto a 1-0 lead in the first stanza but Sandford and Watson had Hawks in front 2-1 by the end of the period. Stewart's goal at 17:49 of the second tied the score at 2-2.

Says Grey Cup Good for Canada

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayor William Hawrelak of Edmonton says the Grey Cup football classic is good for Canada.

He will lead the Edmonton Eskimos' fans to Empire Stadium for the clash with Montreal Alouettes Saturday.

"You may support one team or the east or the west, but you are really supporting Canada," he told Kiwanis luncheon.

"The richness of our political and cultural heritage is as important as the richness of our natural resources."

The melting pot growth, aided by such diverse episodes as the completion of the CPR and a national football final, "can be a shield against prejudice and misunderstanding.

"Canada has become a haven and a symbol to the oppressed."

ing show here Saturday night may be the start of better times for things for the local slugger.

According to Bill Rostece, card manager, Schamerhorn has been approached by Billy Dailey, of Patterson, Dailey, who handlers a number of American fighters with a view to turning professional. A win for Eddie here Saturday would enhance his chances a lot.

Eddie Beaty is another slugger defeated the popular Tommy Morrison McCoy, Toronto welter welter champion the other night in the Bellbridge City and oppose the clever Don Miller of the Picton Army in the second main bout of what looks like a good card ever staged here.

Six other bouts will take place and will be announced in today's or tomorrow's editions. The show is being staged at the Bridge Street armouries with the proceeds going to the hospital building fund. It looks like a good night for the boxing faithful.

Minor Hockey

Minor hockey held the spotlight at Memorial Arena last night with three squirt and three midget games played. The Canadiens, Maple Leafs and Black Hawks were victors in the squirt division while teams Six and Five won midget battles. The other midget fixture was a deadlock between Toronto Cos and Four.

SQUIRT

The Canadiens romped to a 5-1 victory over the Red Wings for their second win in as many starts. Jimmy Hurst and Jimmie Mairia each potted a pair of goals with a singleton going to Peter Carver. Bill Hessop was the lone Red Wing marksman.

The Maple Leafs won a scoring duel over the Bruins 4-3. Raymond Smith was a two-goal man while David Anderson and D. Tomaso also scored for the locals. Bill Leslie, Jim McGuire and Fred Robinson shared the Bruin goals.

MIDGET

Teams One and Four battled to a 3-3 tie. Gary Hugus paced Four with a brace of goals while Bill Patterson fired the other and Jim Ellis drew an assist. R. Clarke from Post notched the initial Team Two goal and Dave Hall the other. One goal while Garry Rowbotham efforts.

Team Five scored a 5-1 triumph over Team Two. Sam Boulter had a goal and assist for Five with Jack Elliott and John Brennan each claiming one goal. Gallipin broke the goose egg for Team Two with Titterson drawing an assist.

Team Six compiled a total of 11 points to whip Team Three 6-5. Hook, Ivo Regnet and Bill Skelly each had a goal and assist with Westfall picking up a pair of assists. Wells, Valiquno and McCall fired a goal each. Norm Rushlow, Kerrulak and Boomhower scored in defeat with Alcorn getting one helper.

Grey Cup Hysteria Sweeps Over Vancouver Like Flood

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver was never like this.

Grey Cup hysteria swept over this rain-sodden city with all the weight of a small hurricane Thursday night, nearly 48 hours before the 47th renewal of the country's greatest sports spectacle. For color, gaiety and general whoopde-do, all previous Grey Cup festivals paled into insignificance.

While the country's two greatest football teams, Montreal Alouettes and Edmonton Eskimos—plotted last-minute strategy for the Nov. 26 Canadian championship final, thousands of football-happy fans clogged Vancouver's downtown section. And the hit of the impromptu celebration was the famous Alouette band, a respectable collection of professional musicians.

Vancouver has more than caught the Grey Cup fever. The city has gone completely nuts.

Thousands jammed the streets. Traffic was in a complete snarl. Fans were everywhere. Not even the colors of the Eskimos, were as loud in their cheering for the slick Montreal backs as the famous Alouette supporters.

As if this mixup up—and there's nothing secret about people's heavy downpour that can put the damper on Vanilla Grey Cup festival will go down in history as the greatest ever. Not even the 1948 show in Toronto, which movie, could match it as the final moved west of Ontario for the first time and Earl Grey donated the cup in 1909.

Trains and planes spilled hilarious supporters on both clubs into the city Thursday and the day and early evening and they were joined en ose big spontaneous celebration behind the citizens. Like the majority of whom had only heard tales of previous celebrations.

The cup final had been almost a Toronto monopoly until the Canadian Rugy Union voted to move the show west this year.

Even the weather seemed to have taken a dim view of Grey Cup Week, co-operated to get the festivities rolling. The sun peeked out behind the clouds late in the day after almost 72 hours of rain and balmy temperatures sent crowds into the streets, in connection with the focal point at George and Burrard Streets, the centre of the hotel district.

Everything about the final is big time. A crowd of 29,500 is expected to cram into Empire Stadium for Saturday's 1.30 p.m. PST (4.30 p.m. EST) kick-off — the largest crowd to see a football game in the city for a crucial of the sport in Canada. And gate receipts, boosted by a $7.50 top, will hit more than $300,000, another high mark.

The game itself has captured the imagination of Canadian fans as few other events have done. It is a natural.

Both clubs have a point to settle following their 1954 cup final when the lightly-regarded Eskimos upset the Als, ballyhooed as the greatest Big Four Union club in history, 26-19.

The Als, built around the strong right arm of quarter Sam Etcheverry, the University of Denver dandy, are out to prove that Edmonton's victory has a tinge of luck to it. The split-T Eskimos, who nearly faked the Als out of the game the first half last year, are out to prove they can do it again and thus become the first western team in cup history to win the trophy in successive years.

The bettors, who usually make the easiest finalists the heavy favorite, aren't too willing to give the odds this time. The game favors the odds may be 6 to 5 take your choice.

The Als arrived here Thursday afternoon by plane about 31 hours after practice on a chartered plane plagued their aircraft. An engine defect forced an overnight stay in Winnipeg.

Almost immediately the players were whisked to the Capilano Golf Club about 15 miles east of the city. A few minutes later they were in uniform—the red uniform as fashion-conscious Montrealers were whisked to the Queen's Park field in New Westminster for a secret workout.

There will be another drill today and then the players will take it easy until they trot out on the 3rd Saturday afternoon.

Meanwhile, coach Clair Ivy of the western champion Eskimos went through their final workout at Victoria. The Eskimos are scheduled to have a short jog around the Empire Stadium this afternoon. Ivy has a tough job ahead of him—he must cut his 12-import list down to 10 to meet the Canadian Football Union quota for the game.

Ivy was O.K. in this respect—they've played 19 Americans all season.

Edmonton Eskimos Relaxed, Ready Can't Make Prediction Says Coach Ivy

By PETER MURRAY

VICTORIA (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos, relaxed and ready after a week's draining in this quiet old capital city, leave for Vancouver today and the Grey Cup battle with Montreal Alouettes in Saturday's Grey Cup final.

Coach Frank (Pop) Ivy put the team through its last big workout yesterday at 2:15 p.m. and announced the squad—except for ailing centre Bud Korpan — in top condition.

"We're in, considerably better shape than last year from the standpoint of injuries," Ivy said.

Beyond that, the coach said he would not commit himself.

"I think it's going to be a good close game, pretty well a rematch of last year," he said. "but so many things can happen in a football game. I can't make a prediction."

Ivy indicated he will wait until the deadline—90 minutes before game time—to decide what two Americans and four Canadians he will drop to meet the squad size of maximum 36 players.

"Rain won't make much difference to either team. I guess that fellow Etcherverry can throw the ball if it fry or wet."

Ivy expressed satisfaction with the Eskimos' six-day stay in Victoria. But there's some doubt the staid old Empress Hotel will ever recover from the sight of husky

Grey Cup Notes

OTTAWA (CP) — James F. Gilmour, the CBC's co-ordinator of television, said Thursday night he would keep his fingers crossed during the Grey Cup game.

The game is to be transmitted from Vancouver by microwave to central Canada by way of Seattle, Wash.; Sacramento, Calif.; Denver, Colo.; Omaha, Neb.; Des Moines, Iowa; Chicago, Toledo, O., and Buffalo, N.Y., and Toronto.

He said in a speech to an Ottawa advertising club that over the route there is a transmitter with approximately 20 tubes every 30 to 50 miles.

"We're keeping our fingers crossed," he commented. "If one of those tubes goes, we're in for trouble."

VANCOUVER (CP) — Angus Park Macdonnell will sit in the Hotel Vancouver suite Saturday and listen to the family cracking crescendo that marks Grey Cup celebrations when the classic football game is played.

And for the first time on this cup's 55 in the last 32 years he can wear an unworried smile.

It won't be a concern what antics the fans get up in the hotel and as a veteran of 32 celebrations Macdonnell knows the Hotel he knows exactly what to expect.

BROKE DOWN DOORS

Manager of the 1,300-room Royal York, biggest hotel in the Commonwealth, Mr. MacKinnon has been people in break-down the revolving doors with broken glass, turn on fire hydrants and do many more such things.

He took a drive or two with cars on a cash refund after the game on all sales of suits or topcoats sold in the store at a dollar for every point scored by Edmonton. Police say it is illegal.

Specialized Dishes for Various Palates This Coming Weekend

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Not every weekend brings the galaxy of entertainment that lighted the television screen last Saturday and Sunday. But the coming weekend promises some rather specialized dishes for various palates.

For romanticists—another Max Liebman "Spectacular," this one being a musical version of some minor heart-throbs of the American Revolution, entitled "Dearest Enemy" on Saturday at 9 p.m. (NBC-TV). This program bumps George Gobel off the air this week.

For fans of good films—"Famous Film Festival" presents "Eight Little Island" Sunday at 7:30 p.m. (ABC-TV). This is a delightful British film about the people of a little Scotch island who love a sip from the bottle.

Something worth seeing say or every Friday evening in the view of one viewer is "Ethel and Albert" at 10 p.m. (ABC-TV). This situation comedy continues to have more restraint and imagination about marriage than most of the more publicized programs.

Constance Ford, a blonde and comely young lady, has appeared in so many television dramas that she now confesses she's slightly worried when she's not perpetually employed. Needing something to worry about, she now devotes her concern to cooking when not rehearsing. At present she's scouring New York hunting some Creole mustard—with no luck.

"At least it gives me something to worry about," she says.

AT THE CAPITOL — In Technicolor, Robert Stack and Shirley Yamaguchi star in an interesting comedy-drama with an intriguing complex, showing today and Saturday at the Capitol Theatre. On the same program is Tennessee's Partner," in Supercscope and Technicolor, starring Ronald Reagan, Rhonda Fleming and Coleen Gray. Continuous show Saturday from 1.00.

Donna Reed Has Prescription To Make Homes More Happy

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Absence is to love like wind to fire: it blows out the little ones but kindles the big ones".

That's the quotation Donna Reed uses to support her theory that friends and wives should spend time away from each other.

"It has worked out in my case," said the lovely wife of producer Tony Owen. "I don't mean you should have long absences from each other; Tony was gone three weeks one year while filming a picture in Africa, and that was too long.

"I do think that a week apart every now and then has a wonderful effect on our marriage. The little differences disappear and begin to think about the big reasons you should be together. After a week of going to a party or two alone and not having him to talk to five times a day, I'm more than happy to see him back."

"When I got out of college, I had almost 15 or 20 friends who married early," she remarked. "They had families right away, and they were miserable.

"They loved their families, but they were harassed. Day in, day out, they were tied down to the house; it gave them no mental stimulation.

"Somehow a housewife should be able to get away for at least a day a week. I don't mean to shop for food or furniture but to do some-best seller, "Gift From The Sea," thing completely apart from their it is a suggestion that has aroused housework—like going to a concert or the planetarium or something.

"I know it's hard for most women to do. But there's usually a way—leave the children with the woman down the street or something. I think it's important. The wives will return home refreshed and ready to return to their chores with new spirit."

It would help, she added, if wives could spend a few days completely apart from the family every year. This is what Anne Morrow Lindbergh advocates in her

CORNERSTONE LAID

PARIS (AP)—Dr. Luther Evans, director general of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, Wednesday laid the cornerstone of a new UNESCO headquarters building. It is not far from the Eiffel Tower. Actual construction of the Y-shaped, modernistic seven-storey building started on the Place Fontenoy in the left bank area in April, 1954, and now is more than half way through. UNESCO now is housed in the former Majestic Hotel near the Place de l'Etoile.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Saturday, Nov. 26, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A good day for social functions, affairs to realize funds for charitable organizations. Artistic and skilled professions are also sponsored.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Matters pertaining to the home, the public, personal adornment, painting, sculpture, teaching and research are among day's most favored activities. Financial matters are also sponsored. Good rays generally.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Mixed influences. For the most part, the day favors activities pertinent to letters, the arts, science, writing, museums, historical places.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Your Moon's position suggests that you forget little annoyances, needless worries. You can enjoy and profit today if you go about with your schedule in your cheerful, genial way.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — You will probably get more benefit and actual gain by working with, and through, matters, connected with your community rather than by sticking to interests that may be essentially self-serving.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Don't tie yourself to a one-track program. Diversified activities, matters for which you have special talent can give you and others scope for new accomplishment. Take some rest, too.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Keep in a frame of mind conducive to attainment. Day has good advantages for skill and intelligent management but warns against peevishness, selfish motives.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Work and play are sponsored, and both in their proper places. Don't overdo at work or neglect necessary duties for social or pleasure activities. A good day if you help keep it so.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — You can get on the efficiency road quickly with your Jupiter and Venus both in auspicious aspects. A splendid day for personal gain, healthy pleasures; also essential work.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Dealing in necessary commodities, attending charitable and social functions, improving an artistic talent or hobby among day's favored activities. A tendency to strain should be curbed.

January 22 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — Sensible caution needed in expenditures, in making promises, agreements. However, the day is stimulating and can be productive for many varied interests and occupations.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Don't permit doubt, fear or lack of confidence to interfere with the achievement you can have now. Your innate artistry, intuition and keen imagination strongly favored.

You born today are bright, engaging in personality, have many attributes which, properly developed and used daily, can bring you sound success and true happiness. You have good business acumen, can succeed as a leader in any worthy field of endeavor. You are innately an enthusiastic, efficient worker. Go forward with faith.

'Copter Proves Impressive Aid In Traffic Check

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Constable E. V. McGrell of the Ontario Provincial Police said Thursday he was satisfied helicopters can be used effectively to crack down on speeders and careless drivers.

The commissioner was commenting on the OPP's use of a helicopter which patrolled the Queen Elizabeth Way between Toronto and Niagara Falls.

The helicopter was borrowed from the Ontario Hydro for the day as an experiment to see if it could be used to advantage in the air-ground patrol system in safety campaign.

OPP inspector W. H. Clark, who rode in the helicopter and reported traffic violations and control problems to cruisers on the highway, said he was "highly impressed" with the operation.

Canadian Navy's Ship-Building Head Will Retire

OTTAWA (CP) — Approaching retirement of Rear-Admiral John Grant Knowlton, OBE, 52, who for 29 years has directed or set precedented peacetime ship-building program for the Canadian navy, was announced today.

Defence Minister Campney said Rear-Admiral Knowlton of Saint John, N. B., and Ottawa, veteran of 37 years of navy service, will go on retirement leave next Jan. 9 after serving since September, 1947, as chief of naval technical services and member of the naval boards.

The navy's technical branches, under his direction, produced HMCS, St. Laurent, the first of 14 Canadian designed and built destroyers.

He will be succeeded as chief of naval technical services by Commodore William Walker Porteous, OBE., St. of Halifax, who will be promoted to rear-admiral.

Little Benny's Notebook

Pop was smoking and reading, and I was watching ma playing solitaire by herself with cards, and I said, Do you think you'll win, ma?

I hope so, ma, and I said, Well if you dont win, ma, who does?

Nobody, ma said, and I said, Well if you do win, who do you beet?

Nobody, ma said, and I said, Dont you even beet yourself?

Well, perhaps you might say I beet the cards, ma said, and I said, But Jimminie, ma, the cards dont know it, so is that any fun?

Yes, ma said.

And she kept on playing, and I said, Could the cards tell if you cheeted, ma?

Naturely not, ma said, and I said, Well then nobody would ever know, would they?

Nobody except myself, ma said, and I said, Well then do you ever cheet, just a tiny little?

For land sakes, when you're playing a game by yourself to see how many times you can beeter beet and catch it without missing, do you keep right on counting when you miss and pretend not to notice it? ma said, and I said, Aw Gee, you can compare a ball that bounces with cards that just lay still.

William, will you kindly speek to Benny? ma said, and pop said, Benny.

Sir? I said, and he said, Consider yourself duly spoken to.

Which I did, being the end of the subject.

Russian Aides Studying Means To Supply Help

NEW DELHI (AP) — While the Kremlin's two highest leaders are touring India and making speeches, their aides here are examining years of supplying promised Russian technical and economic aid to the Indian sub-continent.

Indian sources today said talks on the subject are under way between high officials of the Indian foreign office and Russia's first deputy foreign minister, Andrei Gromyko, and Deputy Trade Minister Pavel N. Kyrushin. They are reported in New Delhi where Premier Bulganin and Nikita S. Khrushchev toured southern India's rich agricultural sections.

Five Russian mining experts already have reached the capital to advise the Indian government on prospecting for oil and nonferrous metals.

CRAINS CURTAIN TORN

Khrushchev, addressing the Indian - Soviet Cultural Society in Bombay Thursday, claimed that Russia has torn aside the so-called Iron Curtain. Churchill and other countries to open their frontiers.

"As we have," To foreigners, the Communist party chief declared:

"No one who applied for permission to enter the Soviet Union was refused a visa this year. Why, we had at least 17 American tourists touring Russia this year, I believe, as well as farmers, newsmen, and others. Does that sound like an iron curtain?"

"Russia does not stand alone today. We have many other countries who think as we do, and India is among them.

"In competition for peace we are sure to win . . . we will profit more from the path set for us by Lenin." DOESN'T LIKE IT

He added that he doesn't "like the capitalistic system, and when I speak about coexistence it is not for the purpose of continuing that system."

"But I give de facto recognition to capitalism and grant that it does exist."

Khrushchev was cheered when he said Russia would not beg for coexistence but would fight for it. He declared the Russians "are determined to maintain and expand world peace."

APPROVE EXPENSE ACCOUNT

BELFAST (Reuters) — Travel agents, transport companies and shipping firms' will meet here Friday to lay plans for an intensive immigration movement from Northern Ireland to Canada, the migration Council for Commonwealth Development and Co-operation announced Monday. Recalling Northern Ireland's serious unemployment problem, a spokesman of the migration council commented: "It is gratifying that Canada is stepping in to help in this way."

Minister Says Quebec as Well Off as Ontario

QUEBEC (CP)—A Quebec cabinet minister Thursday night told critical opposition members that Quebec residents are either as well or better off than residents of Ontario.

Municipal Affairs Minister Yves Prevost said the Liberals are giving an incomplete and false idea of the situation when they say the government is trying to cover up the fact that Quebec is trailing Ontario.

For instance, he said, a Liberal speaker Wednesday cited statistics to show that Ontario farm land is valued at $96 an acre compared with $77 in Quebec.

Mr. Prevost said that statistics did not take into account the fact that land evaluation in Quebec for taxation purposes is far below real value. Montreal real estate was valued at from 60 to 65 per cent of real value, compared with 100 per cent evaluation in Toronto. The same was true in many other Quebec towns and in rural districts.

LOWER EVALUATION RATE

The minister said Quebec's property-owners in municipalities are taxed at the rate of about four per cent of their municipal property evaluation compared with five, six and sometimes seven per cent in Ontario.

In 1953, Mr. Prevost said, Ontario property owners paid in municipal land and property taxes $129,000,000 against $63,000,000 in Quebec.

Mr. Prevost said, but according to 1953 statistics there were 83 strikes affecting 36,000 persons in Ontario against 30 strikes involving 10,000 persons in Quebec.

Mr. Prevost said he did not cite the statistics to show Ontario is lagging behind Quebec, but to show Liberal members that statistics may be interpreted in various ways.

Seventh Term For Soo Mayor

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) C. Herb Smale, 55-year-old locomotive engineer, was re-elected by acclamation Thursday as mayor of Sault Ste. Marie for a seventh term.

It was the fourth acclamation for the mayor, a native of Teeswater, Ont., who moved to the Soo with his parents in 1903.

The nominations for elections Dec. 8, left one municipal post unfilled and a special nomination meeting—and possibly a special election—may be needed to round out the six-man commission which operates the city's community building. Two of the three commissioners whose terms expire at the end of the year under a two-year staggered term system were re-elected by acclamation. However, there were no nominations for the other vacancy.

MAY START CITY PAPER

DENVER (AP) — The city of Denver is studying the advisability of establishing a daily newspaper. There now are two others in the city. The Employees Roundup, a monthly publication for municipal employees, would be converted into a daily under the plan. The purpose would be to avoid paying a newspaper of general circulation thousands of dollars each year to publish city legal notices.

Crew Of Stranded Ship Saved By 'Copter

Navy Rescues All From Vessel Off Cape Breton

21 Are Snatched from Seas, Lifted to Safety in Chair

HALIFAX (CP) — The 21-man crew of the freighter Kismet II was rescued from the stranded ship today by a navy helicopter which hauled the men to safety in a boatswain's chair.

The men were plucked to safety after pounding seas and a icy spray snow prevented earlier rescue operations in the rocky northern Cape Breton settlement of Cape St. Lawrence.

The 2,846-ton Liberian freighter grounded on the rocky reef Friday as she attempted to make the lee of the island on a trip from Philadelphia to Summerside, P. E. I. She struck the reef about 300 feet from shore and since then has been pushed to within 25 feet of the cliff.

The rescue operation was reported completed at 8:45 a. m. AST.

The men were taken to the village of Cape St. Lawrence and a brief message from there said they were all well.

High winds and raging seas which pounded the vessel into the rocks Friday eased off today and the Kismet is reported to be resting solidly on her perch. There has been no indication of what salvage attempts will be made.

The motor vessel Bercharmian stood by the helpless freighter during the night and earlier plans called for a sea rescue of the 21 crew men. But when winds died off today the navy helicopter was able to drop a boatswain's chair down to the vessel.

CROZIER PARTY READY

An RCMP - led ground party, equipped with a breeches buoy and almost 2,000 feet of rope stood by at the peak of the cliff prepared to attempt a land rescue if other attempts had failed.

But because of the shape of the cliffs, observers said that a line-car rescue method would be extremely dangerous and would only be attempted in an emergency.

The winds and waves that blew into the area Friday and last night eased off today and conditions improved. A heavy fog bank still covers the area.

Messages from the isolated settlement are reaching Halifax through ham radio operators and the RCAF.

The position of the freighter has changed little since Friday when it was feared she would fall on her side with the tide. The pilot of an RCAF plane which hovered over the ship, FO Peter Highfield of Vancouver, said the vessel appeared to be on an even keel but had settled down by the hull.

FEASIBILITY NEAR ZERO

During the height of the storm Friday when heavy seas and hurricane winds battered Cape St. Lawrence the vessel Guilport stood by the disabled freighter but was unable to get close because of high seas.

Skies will be mostly cloudy but precipitation does not appear very likely.

Pope Pius Orders Return To Ancient Practices

VATICAN CITY (Reuters) — Pope Pius today ordered a return to the ancient practices of the Roman Catholic Church in the liturgical commemoration of the crucifixion, burial and resurrection of Jesus Christ in the holy week preceding Easter.

Annulling practices introduced in the last 700 years, he ordered that the Maundy Thursday mass commemorating the institution of the Eucharist be celebrated between 4 p.m. and 9 p.m. local time and that on Good Friday the Mass of the Presanctified be celebrated as near as possible to 3 p.m. — the time at which Christ is believed to have died.

He also confirmed and made general for all Catholics of the Roman rite the experiment initiated in 1951 of midnight mass on Holy Saturday.

The Pope's instructions were contained in a general decree issued by Cardinal Gaetano Cicognani, prefect of the sacred congregation of rites.

The 4,000-word decree examined the history of the liturgy for the last three days of holy week and explained the changes that have come about since the Middle Ages.

It said the Pope had decided to return to the ancient system in the hope that this would serve, to some degree, to sharpen the minds of Catholics the significance of the various rites.

The decree said that in future communion may be distributed to all the faithful during the afternoon Mass of the Presanctified on Good Friday.

It also ordered that the Lenten fast, which hitherto ended at midday on Holy Saturday, now ended at midnight between Saturday and Sunday.

Budget Surplus $91,533,000 For Seven Months

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's financial operations are running ahead of schedule and check with what they were a year ago.

The budgetary statement of financial operations issued Friday showed a budget surplus of $91,533,000 for the first seven months of the current fiscal year—April 1 to Oct. 31. That was slightly over the corresponding period in the 1954-55 fiscal year was $91,836,000.

South African Government Obtains Senate Control by New Voting Law

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — The South African government has made certain of the two - thirds majority in Parliament that it needs to push through its policy on racial questions.

In elections under a new electoral college system to a Senate enlarged by the Nationalist-packed Senate Act, the Nationalists Friday won 38 seats.

With 18 senators it nominates next Wednesday, the government will have 77 senators to the opposition's 19.

Friday's voting was a consequence of the passage earlier this year of the Senate Act which has been hotly debated in South Africa and abroad.

The Women's Defence of the Constitution League has played a roll.

GREY CUP CITY LIKE MADHOUSE ON GAME'S EVE

50,000 Jam Vancouver Streets to Enjoy Frolic

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Cup City, the poster on the street lamp says. Madhouse is a more fitting description.

It's wild, weird and wonderful and apparently nobody in this football-nuts city gives a hoot that today town is being tied in knots.

Upwards of 50,000 persons jammed downtown streets long into the night on the eve of the Canadian football bowl between Edmonton Eskimos and Montreal Alouettes — the reason for all this madness.

They filled the air with an endless flow of shouting and singing. They tied up traffic so automobiles were lined bumper-to-bumper in every downtown street, almost unable to move. Some downtown streets were even closed to traffic.

They carried away parking signs. They threw miles of paper streamers from hotels, they blew trumpets from fifth - floor windows. They just plain raised cain.

The throngs of visitors from across the country, more than 5,000 of whom came by plane Friday by special train, buses, planes, boats and cars, had their first taste of spectacle in Canada, were joined by thousands of Vancouver citizens. Residents stood by in amused amazement at what was happening in their city.

But none complained. There wasn't a murmur.

"Never saw anything like it," said one Vancouver resident, said as he watched 15,000 persons whoop it up along Georgia street between the big body of hotels it located. "But they're not causing any trouble. Let 'em whoop it up and have some fun."

Policemen kept a wary eye peeled for troublemakers Friday night, but they left unmolested the boisterous football enthusiasts whose whoop-de-doing kept hotel residents awake until after the night.

At the Hotel Vancouver, two policemen stood by watching with a smile as a happy supporter carted a heavy metal "No Parking" sign past the lobby and up the stairs.

"I guess they're going to pick up everything that's loose," said one of the officers. "They're sure having a time of it, but that's why they're here."

Band contests and street dancing were scheduled during the evening in the streets along hotel row. Long before the fun started showed up, 10,000 or more persons were crowded into the blocked-off area, shouting "Love them Eskimos" and singing "Alouette."

From a platform far above the throng, a group of girls unrolled yards and yards of crepe and blue paper streamers that drifted with the wind over much of the area, leaving the street littered.

Nine Years Mental Patient, Charged With Murder

Charged with the murder of Dr. Rex Hylton, Robert Martin, Ottawa carpenter above, is led away by police. Dr. Hylton was killed by a single shot from a carbine in his office at Malton, Ont., after he had recommended that Martin be discharged from the Workmen's Compensation Board hospital. Martin, according to his file in hospital records had spent a total of nine years in mental hospital.

Dr. Hylton, right, was killed by a bullet which passed completely through his body. Martin has appeared at the door of his office, took a rifle from under his coat and fired one shot. He made no resistance as other patients who held him until police arrived. (Central Press Canadian)

Railway Negotiations End In Deadlock, Go to Board

MONTREAL (CP)—Representatives of Canada's major railways and their non-operating employees wound up five days of negotiation in a deadlock here Friday and turned the dispute over to a board set up by the labor department for conciliation.

No indication was given on how much separates the two parties in their positions. A brief statement issued by a joint press committee said only:

"Negotiations which have been going on for the last few days . . . were adjourned indefinitely this afternoon.

"No agreement has been reached and the unions now will progress the matter in the normal manner by application to the minister of labor for institution of conciliation procedure."

Union spokesman George Pawlion and company officials said they were pledged to issue no information of any kind on the negotiations beyond that contained in the statement.

The 14 unions, representing 150,000 workers, are asking for wage increases and other benefits that would total 21 cents an hour. The demands include requests for an 18-percent wage increase—about 25 cents an hour—and a health and welfare plan.

Companies involved are the CPR and CNR, the Ontario Northland, Hamilton and Buffalo and Algoma Central Railways. Their employees now get an average hourly wage of $1.46.

It is estimated the union demands would cost the railways some $93,000,000 a year in additional wages.

Britain Hopes to Purchase Quantity of Canadian Bacon

OTTAWA (CP) — Britain's big new livestock marketing organization hopes to buy meat, especially bacon, from Canada when the United Kingdom government gets out of the business.

J. G. Clarfelt, managing director of the Fat stock Marketing Corporation Ltd. of Britain, told a reporter Friday that trade in live stock products between Canada and Britain at present is a governmental matter. The U.K. government still handles all bacon imports, which come chiefly from Denmark.

But he said he believes the government will turn the bacon business over to private; firms "in the foreseeable future," possibly a year or two. The corporation then would like to buy from Canada if dollars are available.

Britain was Canada's leading bacon customer a few years ago but hasn't bought any Canadian meat since 1951. It took 2,000,000 pounds of bacon and ham that year, a huge drop from the 692,-310,000 it bought from Canada in 1944, the biggest year.

Britain cut out imports of Canadian bacon when it ran short of dollars. Availability of dollars still will determine whether British importers can buy bacon from Canada after the U.K. government returns its control over to the private firms.

Mr. Clarfelt said British farmers can't produce enough to fill all Britain's meat demands.

"We must look to they imports for some time," he said. "We must try and find means whereby imports could come from the Dominions."

FATHER-SON BRAWL FATAL

McALESTER, Okla. (AP)—The 20-year-old son of a bakery driver died in a fist fight with his father Friday, county attorney James Whyte reported. Dead was Keith Dale Tipton. Whyte said he was holding Fred D. Tipton, 47, for questioning. The examining physician, Dr. C. E. Lively, said death was caused by a brain hemorrhage.

WOODWARD'S WIFE HELD BLAMELESS IN SHOOTING

Grand Jury Brings In 'No Indictment'

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP)—A grand jury has found no evidence of crime in the death of socially-prominent sportsman William Woodward, killed by a shotgun fired by his wife, Ann.

Tottering from the Nassau county court house Friday night, after the panel absolved her of blame in the shooting, the grief-worn, black - clad, 39-year-old widow had to be assisted to a car.

Her face and demeanor a far cry from the svelte, blonde woman who moved in society's select circles, Mrs. Woodward could only mumble incoherently to waiting reporters as she was driven from the ordeal of telling the jury what happened in the early hours of Sunday, Oct. 30, that she claimed she shot him after hearing a prowler.

REFERS TO CHILDREN

He was referring to the two Woodward sons—William III, 11 years old, and James, 7—who slept through the shooting in their home at Oyster Bay, Long Island.

Mrs. Woodward was one of 31 witnesses heard Friday by the jury, which sat for about 10 hours, before it deliberated 48 minutes before voting "no indictment." In the killing of 35 - year - old Woodward, owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers baseball team, and James 7—who slept Assistant district attorney Edward A. Robinson, who handled the grand jury presentation, said the panel found Mrs. Woodward "not guilty" of three charges being considered—first degree murder, murder in the second degree, and manslaughter.

IN HOSPITAL

Since the shooting, following by a few hours a social gathering in honor of the Duchess of Windsor at another Long Island estate, Mrs. Woodward had been confined to a New York hospital suffering from grief and shock. Last Monday she was deemed well enough by her physician, Dr. John Farrell, to move to her town house in Manhattan.

As a voluntary witness, Mrs. Woodward had no right of waiver of immunity, which meant that anything she said could be used against her. She was not accompanied to appear, her testimony could not be used against her.

ESTATE TO CHARITY

NEW YORK (AP)—Julia Hoyt, an actress of the silent screen days and former wife of actor Louis Calhern, bequeathed the bulk of her estate to charity. She also left her eyes to the Eye Bank of sight restoration. The will was filed for probate Friday. She died of a heart attack Oct. 31 at the age of 58.

Police Station in Northern Ireland Attacked by Bomb-Throwing Raiders

ROSLEA, Northern Ireland (Reuters) — Bomb - throwing raiders blasted their way into a Northern Ireland police station early today and seriously wounded one policeman before being fought off in a gunfight.

The attackers were believed to be members of the outlawed underground Irish Republican Army on an arms raid.

They blasted a hole in the wall of the station with a bomb and then, firing revolvers and shotguns, calling on policemen inside to surrender.

The police met them with gunfire and the raiders fled after an exchange of shots.

The raiders were believed to be fully equipped with gas masks, and it was thought they meant to press home their attack with tear gas if police resistance first effectively spoiled their plans.

The wounded policeman, constable George Knowles, was partly buried by falling debris from the bomb blast. He was reported to be in critical condition in hospital.

The attack happened after the attack in two cars across the border from Northern Ireland.

GOT NO ARMS

The Irish Republican Army, to which the raiders are believed to belong, is an underground terrorist organization pledged to bring about the union of Northern Ireland, linked politically with Britain, with the Irish Republic, by force if necessary.

Richard Pim, inspector-general of the Ulster police, issued an official statement saying: "The raid failed. The men did not get any arms from the station."

Drive Under Way To Wipe Out Vice, Crime in London

LONDON (Reuters) — A major drive to wipe out the vice and crime flourishing under the glittering lights of London's entertainment district is expected soon following exposures which have shocked Britain.

Police chiefs, judges and honorary officials of the body planned into action by widespread allegations that crooks, prostitutes and panderers have policemen on their payrolls and are able to flout the law.

This was indignantly denied last week but after a fierce attack by Police Commissioner Sir John Nott-Bower.

The Daily Mail, which came under fire from court magistrate's criticisms of the police editions of police graft, has not retracted.

Burtt and Farley Qualify For Mayoralty

TRENTON, (Special). —Two of the three nominated to contest the mayoralty qualified at 6.00 p.m. Friday night. The fight is between veteran mayor Bert Burtt and former Park's Board chairman Dr. J. A. Farley.

One of the biggest fields on record qualified to contest for the council seats. The twelve candidates in the council race are: E. Bentley, Ken Bowerman, Grant Gooding, Claude Graham, J. Goldberg, C. Hilton, E. James, J. MacDonald, Vic Ryan, H. Strong, D. Topping, Van Lange.

Twenty-two of last year's councilmen are standing again. People who watch the trend of local affairs were surprised when they heard Gerald Weaver, chairman of the finance board Smiley Hall withdrawn.

Earlier Joe Gould who headed the polls on the first vote said he was pulling out. N. J. McNair led the field Wednesday but believe he would be dropping out at the end of this term.

There will be no election for the four vacancies on the Board of Education. T. S. Ketcheson, Ralph Weaver, Peter DeDuke and Rolf Whitley were the four to qualify for election by acclamation.

Clifford Baker, chairman of the community centre committee and Arch Hamilton, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission.

(AP)—Two wing tanks filled with high octane gasoline fell from a National Guard Sabre jet plane into the heart of nearby Newport Friday, damaging one house and injuring no one in the community of 4,000. Defence Witness Tells of Being Kidnapped by 2 Armed Men In Peterborough Parking Lot

After calling ten witnesses, including seven members of the Toronto-Dominion bank staff at Marmora, the Crown yesterday completed its case against James Orval Ross, 32, of Toronto, charged with robbing the Marmora bank of $5400 last June 29th.

Ross is charged as one of two men who entered the bank under the robber guise of plumbers and escaped with the money after tieing up members of the bank staff. His case is being tried at the General Sessions of the Peace before His Honor Judge J. C. Anderson and a petit jury.

The Crown rested its case shortly after mid-afternoon Friday with one witness remaining for the defence Counsel Kenneth G. M. Ross before court was adjourned until Monday morning. The charge against the accused is being presented by Acting Crown Attorney Ralph Graham.

Although originally scheduled as a witness, Thomas Cullen of Peterborough, was not called by the Crown but instead took the stand as the first defence witness.

Cullen told the court that shortly before midnight on the night of June 29th he and his wife had stopped at a restaurant on Highway 2 in Marmora and while there had noticed a man in the restaurant with a gun.

He said he had been too nervous at the time of the holdup to note the features of the robbers to be imprinted in her mind.

Miss Shannon said she had identified one picture from a group of police photos as being that of one of the robbers and later she had identified the accused as a police lineup.

HAD SEEN PHOTO

"May I suggest that part of the reason I identified certainly at the time of the lineup was because I had seen the photos?" asked Defence Counsel Ross in cross examination.

"Yes," was the reply.

"Then was not that the reason you found it difficult to pick out the man at the police lineup?"

"I did not find it difficult," was the reply.

Police Chief Charles Lockwood as the investigation officer in the case, took up most of the time on the witness stand. He was cross examined at considerable length with respect to the way in which police photographs had been shown to members of the bank staff and the man on trial being a suspect. He was also cross examined closely on the procedure at the police lineup at Belleville.

Defence Counsel objected to the witness relating to the court what members of the bank staff had told him identification of police photographs and the jury was excluded, while counsel argued the point.

Judge J. C. Anderson ruled the conversation could be related by the witness.

The police chief said Bank Manager Carl McKay had identified a picture of the accused and had told him "if that isn't one of the bank robbers I will eat my shirt."

IN MEMORIAM

STREBE. — In ever loving memory of our son, Gordon, who passed away November 26th, 1951.
'Tis sweet to remember a mother or friend
Absent from us, yet ever so near;
Dear memories are treasures that no one can steal
And whispers, "dear children, death cannot sever."
—Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by Mother, Sisters and Brothers.

NEWELL. — In loving memory of 9 months old Ronald Allan Newell, who passed away November 26th, 1954.
Alone is the face we love so dearly,
Alone the heart we loved to hear;
Alone the eyes that smiled so kindly
But not too far for thought to reach,
A little while a parting sigh and then we meet
And when, though absent, is just as sweet.
—Sadly remembered by Mother and Dad, sisters and brothers.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE S. POWELL

JESUS, THY BOUNDLESS LOVE TO ME

Jesus, Thy boundless love to me
No thought can reach; no tongue declare;
O knit my thankful heart to Thee,
And reign without a rival there!
Thine wholly, Thine alone, I am,
Be Thou alone my constant flame.

O Love, how cheering is Thy ray!
All pain before Thy presence flies;
Care, anguish, sorrow melt away,
Where'er Thy healing beams arise:
O Jesus, nothing may I see,
Nothing desire, or seek, but Thee!

In suffering be Thy love my peace;
In weakness be Thy love my power;
And when the storms of life shall cease,
O Jesus, in that solemn hour.
In death as life be Thou my guide,
And save me, who for me hast died.

be forever grateful to John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, for this famous and favorite hymn.

Though it was written nearly three centuries ago by the Rev. Paul Gerhardt, German pastor and hymnist, it might never have found its way into English hymnals but for Wesley's translation, made in 1731.

Wesley found the German version of the hymn in the Hermhurt Gesang Buch. His translation contained 18 verses and the hymn as we know it today is made up of four of these. Those cited above are first, third, and final stanzas of Wesley's poem which was published for the first time in his "Hymns and Sacred Poems" in 1739.

When German hymn writers are being discussed, the names of Paul Gerhardt and Martin Luther are usually mentioned together. Gerhardt was born in Saxony in 1607; his most distinguished ministry was at the Church of St. Nicholas in Berlin which he served from 1657 to 1666, when he lost his parish for refusing to yield to an edict designed to make all preaching in Germany conform to the Reformed or Calvinistic faith. He died in 1676.

God does not write a legible hand." Some of us, to be sure, would not want to be judged by our faces! nevertheless, the older we grow, the more plainly our faces do tell things about us.

Shuddert Kennedy, the gallant British chaplain of World War I fame, said he was impressed not so much by the thought that he might awaken tomorrow morning to confront the Judgment Day, but by the thought that it is happening today.

Yet while every day is a judgment day, I believe also there are special days and periods of judgment. Our daily judgments may be registered so subtly and quietly we do not note them. Then suddenly life stands up and looks at us.

It may be some crisis of peril that reveals an underlying cowardice, or some signal opportunity which finds us unprepared because of our lack of diligence and carelessness, or some strong and unexpected temptation we cannot resist.

SPECIAL JUDGMENT

A well-informed leader of men once said, "What we do in an emergency is the result of what we have been doing and thinking in the unrecorded days which preceded." To all of us there come those days of special judgment which reveal whether we have been diligent or lazy, brave or cowardly, mean or generous in the preceding quieter periods.

And beyond this, I believe there is a future judgment of God. But is this a gloomy prospect? Think of a fine young fellow who fell on the field of battle. He had answered what he considered the call of patriotic duty and his life was cut off at twenty-one. If there is no day of judgment where he received compensation for his lost years, he has suffered a loss indeed.

Or think of a little child, orphaned by the loss of its parents, or paralyzed by polio. What are we to say about life if there be no Heavenly Judge to see that justice is done to little broken hearts and little crippled bodies? Thus we see that without divine justice, faith, hope and love do not abide. Remember, God is Father as well as Judge.

Recently my mind was arrested by a full page ad with this heading, "It is easier to form a habit than to stop one." My first thought was how would pay to publish such a "preachy" warning. Then I discovered it was to start youth buying and thus make lasting customers.

A Lift For Living

These Are Judgment Days

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

Does this sound like a gloomy subject? Well, that depends. Every time we confront the truth, we make a decision about it. Every time we reject the truth, it becomes harder to accept it, even harder to see it and realize it. We sell ourselves human beings, we are really human "becomings." Life is continuous motion as we move forward or downward, up towards good or down towards evil and every choice is a step one way or the other.

An act never stops with itself. When a thing is done, it is not done with. Action is followed by reaction, either direct or delayed. Every thought, even, leaves a trail.

We speak of "life thoughts," ideas which flash in and out of our minds without anything being done about them But no thought is completely idle. When it is dismissed, it does not leave the house of the mind. Our minds have many rooms—the attic of memory, the sun-parlor of hope, the cellar of the unconscious; and when thoughts and fancies drop down into the unconscious, strange things happen. Every day we are gathering the fruit of past thoughts and sowing for a future harvest.

Every hope we cherish, every picture we admire, every deed we do or resolve to do, carries its own contribution to our judgment. Even our bodies register in some way our most serious thoughts.

FATE IN OUR FACE

Gilbert Stuart painted so many portraits that he certainly qualified as an interpreter of facial features. Once he met the French politician, Talleyrand, who was on a visit to America. After meeting the wily old Talleyrand, Stuart remarked: "If that man is not a scoundrel, others.

Bulletins from Birdland

A SPECIAL CONTRAPTION

The queer bill of one roving race of gypsies has frequently called forth pitying remarks from persons unfamiliar with crossbills; those unique inhabits of Birdland. But this pity is entirely misplaced, because the queer bill is a very special contraption bestowed by Nature for a particular purpose.

There are two kinds of crossbills which might be seen in Canada: the white-winged, so called on account of two very conspicuous white bars on its black wings, and the red crossbill, a brick-red bird. The bills and eating habits of these are similar, but the white-winged is not as well known as for perhaps "even less known than" would be a better way of saying it) the other, because, although their ranges overlap, this one is the farther north, seldom mixes with other birds, and hardly ever comes down into populated areas.

The normal bill of a red crossbill is in forests of our north or in mountain tops, and its staple food is seeds extracted from conifers. To get at these seeds, covered as they are by scales, is an impossible task for any ordinary bird.

Except for the very young, which are fed by their parents, all members of the species have mandibles (the two sections of the bill) with the tips crossed.

HANG LIKE DECORATIONS

If you are fortunate enough to see a flock of these attractive birds in their wilder wanderings, notice their method of feeding. Clinging to the evergreen with both bills and feet, perfect fashion, they clamber from branch to branch, the red males and yellow green females hanging from the green boughs at all angles, like decorations on a Christmas tree.

The closed bill is inserted in the side of a cone; ten powerful muscles make it possible for the mandibles to open, and by so doing they tear away the scales of the cone. The seeds, now exposed to view, are picked—bi-lo! by the bill. A strangely-shaped tongue, adapted for this very purpose, scoops them up.

When the cone crop of the north fails, crossbills have to rove farther afield. Then it is that we get that rare chance of encountering them. They first seek out conifers, but when their favorite food cannot be found even far from home they hunt out various other kinds of seeds, buds, and wild fruit. They can get at the seeds of apples in a trice, but we see that nature, as always, has been wise when bestowing gifts.

GENERAL GRAHAM ON THE WAR OF THE FUTURE

The Canadian Industrial Preparedness Association holds its annual meeting at Montreal on October 27. One of the speakers was Lt.-Gen. H. D. Graham, the former veteran lawyer who is now Chief of General Staff of the Canadian Army. Newspapers, of course, carried a report of his address, but the full text has just been published in "The Bulletin" of the Canadian Industrial Preparedness Association.

There are several kinds of addresses. The most common is that which provides after-dinner speakers with a few "good quotes" but is as dull as dishwater when read in detail. The most rare is the type which defies dissection, yet proves extremely interesting and informative when perused in its entirety. This type of speech is rare because it is given by a speaker who has much to say and who wastes no words saying it, making every word count. Lt.-Gen. Graham's address on this occasion appears to have been one of that kind.

He opened, for instance, with what may be described as a classic exposition of the fallacy of large standing armies, though whether or not he intended his remarks to be interpreted in this manner is not quite clear.

What Gen. Graham said was that, because of the enormous cost of modern weapons, no country can afford to maintain the tremendous stocks such as may be required by war. Then came a most significant statement. It would not only be impossible but it would be unwise to try to keep pace with the development that is going on from day to day. Stocks of reserves, he said, must be kept "up to the minute" in order that they may contain the new designs and the best possible minimum" of efficiency. Then, when the enemy has come about, we will be able to spend the money on the newest and latest types of equipment."

Gen. Graham here appears to be on the side of those who contend that the best army is trained and equipped in peace-time, the greater the chance that its training will be in accord with modern methods of warfare and its equipment with the latest.

Unfortunately some of the weight of this argument appears to have been lifted by the fact that the terrible power of atomic weapons makes it more than likely that the first blow struck by one warring nation will score a quick victory over that nation attacked is not already equipped and ready.

"This danger has to be weighed against the disadvantage of spending squandering our defence dollars on out-modernized weapons.

"To strike a correct balance would appear to require more than possessing a sound judgment but a lively imagination," Gen. Graham's address reveals the latter quality. For instance, the concluding part of his speech consisted of his conception of the fight between patient Grenadier, soldier, and lating, atomic weapons. A shell with an atomic warhead, he said, would have the destructive power of a hundred conventional shells. Consequently, instead of a hundred were formerly required; one truck would provide supply service formerly performed by a hundred; one man would do the work of a hundred. Gen. Graham said the Canadian Army Service Corps would be mostly put out of work."

That, however, is only part of the picture painted by Gen. Graham. The Wellington soldier's rifle would no longer go shoulder to shoulder, three deep. In the Second Great War the fighting was done by small groups, over a wide area. The atomic age will see the concentration of material and men concentrated in one spot could suffer heavy damage from a single atomic shell. So concentrations would have to be avoided. Communications during battle conditions very rapidly "at whatever part of the battlefield the blow must be struck" would be essential. He therefore envisaged an army with air components.

All this is very interesting. One question may bother the layman. If one aids disperses his forces, then concentrates them rapidly, will not the other do the same? Assuredly it will reply, but the side concentrating first will have the advantage. True. But if the enemy is dispersed, against what will the concentration be aimed? A war of the future will be a kind of will'-o-the-wisp manhunt, with each side desperately seeking a target worthy of its atomic weapons and endeavoring to discover a sufficiently large enemy force concentrated in one place to justify retaliatory concentration.

GOTTLIEB IN SEARCH OF OUR YOUTH

Man, says Dr. Howard L. Gottlieb of Madison, Wis., may some day be able to live for ever.

"Who would want to?" was the telling query voiced by one worker in the office when the story came over the wire.

A good question. Yet there might be some who would be tempted, at first, because Dr. Gottlieb's prophecy is a perpetual old age, but a reversal of the aging process, a return to youth, a sort of reincarnation of the body without, we presume, any diminution of the treasures of experience and knowledge with which past years have endowed the mind.

Growing young again, under those conditions, might be rewarding. Gradually, on the third or fourth journey through life, one might reach middle-age without finding oneself forced into a wry smile on being confronted with that too-true proverb, a German type: "We grow too soon old; and too late schmart."

Municipal Elections: Up to 2.45 o'clock this afternoon the following persons, who were nominated yesterday, have qualified: For Mayor: Harry Hill and Richard P. White; for aldermen, C. E. Argue, Frank Bonneton, Thomas Cushing, Clarence R. Clapp, Edson J. Logan, Harold D. Bateman, Lazier Lynch, Clarence F. Jennings, G. Clifford Bavager and Leo Bellinger; for school trustee, Bleecker Ward, Rev. Robert Hall and Charles Harrison; Munroe Ward, Raymond Zufelt; Samson Ward, the Rev. Canon Bedford-Jones.

City Mesmerists Forecast. In enquiring at the nominating meeting yesterday in the city hall ex-Alderman W. A. Mesmer learned that even when a city manager or commission would be adopted in the city, "the time is not far off," said Mr. Woodley, "when you people will have to pay either a manager or a commission to look after the affairs. The job of being mayor needs all the full time of any one holding the office. Belleville is in a better financial position than many of its larger Canadian cities," concluded Mr. Woodley.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Manning Mrs. C. E. Argue of the Belleville Girl Guide Council and Mrs. W. H. Ponton, divisional commissioner, were in Campbellford to the Girl Guide Company there.

Canadian Concert Association Presents the London Singers—Favorite Belleville Recital Accompanist. A large audience was delighted with the Canadian concert held last evening in the auditorium of the Collegiate and Vocational School by the London Singers under the direction of Mr. John Goss. The splendid opening concert provided by the Belleville branch of the Canadian Concert Association and the president, Mr. Percy MacLaurin, introduced the artists and welcomed the large number of music lovers from this city and surrounding district, also the representatives of the London and Toronto concert groups. John Goss is a consummate artist and accomplished accompanist. He gathered for his program vivid bits of widely different style and color and blended into an artistic whole. With the utmost skill and tact he directed his singers so that the effect the audience heard was as one instrument, and all his singers captivated the audience at once and completely. The chairford Empson McCormick, son of Mr. W. H. McCormick of this city, is the accompanist with the group and he was given a hearty welcome back to his native city by the audience. Throughout the concert Mr. McCormick showed that as an accompanist he is quite excellent, sustaining and supporting the singers with fine understanding and skill. The London singers include John Goss, director; Percy Goss, manager; Albert Whitehead, alto; Alan Miller, bass; Clifford Empson McCormick, baritone and pianist.

Real Solution Of Problem

(Hamilton Spectator)

We found something sharply stimulating and full of sense in advice given by the Rev. J. L. Hess-Bezzy the other day in London, Ontario, to a deanery meeting of the Catholic Women's League.

It was about books, and books right now — along with the Catholic Women's League — are big and important news.

Even those who might feel the Catholic Women's League in their Toronto drive against obscene literature which has already provoked, and is going to provoke more, heat and bitter controversy could get nothing but a lift from the Rev. J. L. Hennessey's plea, and, as he is diocesan director, his word will carry great prestige.

Instead of merely guiding children from reading the wrong kind or books, he urged, them to read the right kind, for children are always curious and forbidden fruit looks the sweetest.

One of the most disastrous excursions in many homes today is absence of parental guidance in building in children the greatest of all moral and disciplinary foundations — the reading habit. Not even the experimental — and there are many methods of teaching reading schools, as we have already noted, have found the first potential of countless youngsters — can curb the natural urge to read. There is a wonderfully sensitive slate on which every child's mind is indelibly painted. More, it hungers for information and knowledge. A child's curiosity is endless: he leave good reading guidance all to the schools, as he does in many, is mainly — to the state. All play a role, but reading habits are formed in the home are the most durable and the best. Libraries are not substitutes.

With the smut and garbage on the newsstands, with so much pornographic and the obscene truck that is causing general disquiet — for example, who is not shocked by the vulgarity and filth in reading habits would have any use, but that is not enough. Some sort of correction is needed; we think it should be an amendment to the criminal law to make such publications unlawful. Mass censorship is dangerous, and has no place in the case of Rudyard Kipling's books, since Kipling is not obscene, nasty yarn, Mr. Roberts, are under attack by the Catholic Women's League in Toronto blacklisting, will invariably draw people away from the highly laudable aim to uneasiness about the tricky borders of censorship.

"There be some men born," Ben Jonson once exclaimed, "only to suck the polson of books." Such poison, and worse, is being offered to those who could be drawn out of several of Shakespere's plays; certainly from books like Madame Bovary, Tess of the D'Urbervilles, Anna Karenina, Zola's novels which, like Mr. Roberts, are filthy with the vulgarity and oaths, but are hardly a menace to morals.

Rev. Father Hennessey's shrewd and pointed advice is something to go on; it is a beginning; it is worth investigating into the heart of a deep and disturbing modern dilemma.

Hard To Define A Frenchman

(Atlantic Monthly)

By Jove, how can one define a Frenchman?

The accepted definition of the Frenchman as someone who eats bread, knows no geography and thinks of Jews in general but intimate friends with one of them in particular; who love to brag about their common sense as one of their principal exports while keeping so little of it for themselves that they overthrow their governments almost before they are set up; who keep France in their heads but their fortunes abroad; who are the enemies

Annapolis Valley Apple Industry Facing Crisis

By DAL WARRINGTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KENTVILLE, N.S. (CP) — The Annapolis valley's 1,200 fruit growers have finished harvesting 4,000,000 bushels of apples, about twice their normal crop. But they aren't too happy. They're worried about how to pay their bills. Some wonder if they shouldn't quit growing apples.

"I had 2,700 bushels of Crimson Gravensteins and I don't expect to get a cent back from them," Henry H. Foote of Woodville, Kings county, said Friday.

"I've been growing apples for 35 years and I never saw a situation as bad as this," said Eugene Spurr of Round Hill, Annapolis county. "How some of us are going to manage I don't know."

NO MONEY

"A very high percentage" of growers will have no money to do more next year's work unless they get help, said James F. Crossan of Melville, a grower and director of United Fruit Companies of Nova Scotia.

The valley apple industry faces a crisis, perhaps the worst of several in the last decade. Prices have dropped to ruinous levels. Growers and shippers search desperately for markets. They've asked Ottawa for price support but have been turned down.

Already they've uprooted 1,000,000 trees, half their 1945 orchards. They've planted thousands of new ones and grafted 100,000 to new varieties—all in an attempt to bring supply and demand into balance.

Critics say the growers shouldn't have picked all the apples. If they couldn't sell them, leave them on the trees.

It costs up to 75 cents to grow a bushel of best-grade apples, about 32 cents to pick them and three cents to ship them to the fruit company warehouse—9 cents altogether, he average for all grades good and fair is about 75 cents.

Wholesalers are paying United Fruit $1.75 a bushel box for top quality McIntoshes. The price ranges down to $1.25 for lesser grades. Crossan says grading, packing and cold storage costs United about $1.10, leaving 15 to 65 cents for the grower.

Co-operative marketing of the entire valley crop is a hot issue again. The growers had it from the war years to 1950.

Charge Quebec Voter Bribed

QUEBEC (CP) — Liberal members of the legislature heaped criticism on the Union Nationale government Friday, including a charge that voters were paid to support a government candidate in a by-election last summer.

Waving a $150 cheque, Gerard Cournoyer (L—Richelieu) accused the government of giving it to a voter in the July 8 by-election in St. Hyacinth riding, won by Jacques Bousquet, the Union Nationals candidate.

He said the cheque was made out to a resident of St. Elie in St. Hyacinth county and was signed by provincial auditor J. A. Veniau. The cheque specified the money was being paid as a salary but, Mr. Cournoyer said, the man had never worked "a single instant" for the Quebec government.

Premier Duplessis' brief retort to the charge was that the government would know how Arthur Dupre (L—Vercheres) had handled certain accounts of voters in the by-election, one of three held July 6. The others were held in Montreal Laurier and in Westmount-St. George.

NAVY

The Kismet's radio was out of commission during most of the day and when visibility would allow it, messages were sent with flags. Later in the day, however, the radio was restored to handle code messages.

In the event of a failure of sea and air rescue operations, the navy has its own expert boatswains at the scene to prepare lifeline operations. Leading Seamen Bruce and Allan Schnook were taken to Cape St. Lawrence from Halifax when there were fears of continuing violent winds and snow.

The helicopter tried to move in for a rescue Friday but the winds kept it away from the high cliffs SHUTTLE SERVICE

But when the winds dropped to 25 miles an hour today the helicopter, piloted by Lt.-Cmdr. John Berman of Montreal, inched close to the overhanging cliffs and the boatswain's chair was lowered slowly to the deck.

Each crewman was raised into the belly of the machine and when four or five were taken aboard the helicopter shuttled them off to the Canadian National Telegraphs relay station. The whole operation was reported carried out without incident.

Just before rescue operations were carried out the ship messaged that "All on board okay and in good spirits. No immediate danger of sinking."

HOUSE ALL SERVICES

All federal government services in the city will be housed in the new building. These are: post office, income tax office, customs and excise, department of standards, food and drug administration, Unemployment Insurance commission, Veterans' Employment office, RCMP and Department of Agriculture.

Heads of each department locally were asked to submit space requirements some time ago for integration into the over-all scheme. When space requirements are approved by the Department of Public Works, Walton and Wignall will draw the plans.

The old post office building and the property, which includes Haig Motors used car lot, "quite probably will be offered or made available to the city for city purposes after being declared surplus by the government," said Mr. Follwell.

SEVERAL ADVANTAGES

"There are several advantages in the choice of the present site," said Mr. Follwell. "The area available is to be two and one half times the size of the present Post Office property. It is located almost exactly in the geographical centre of the city and is in the business area. There will be ample space for parking. There will be no disruption in services by dislocation of construction."

Mr. Follwell stated that he started working for a federal building when he was first elected in 1949.

"During the first three years I was in parliament two separate plans were drawn for a new building on the site of the present Post Office. With the growth of the city, department officials felt the site was inadequate in size. Then they started in search for another site which would be centrally located, of sufficient size to present requirements and future commitments.

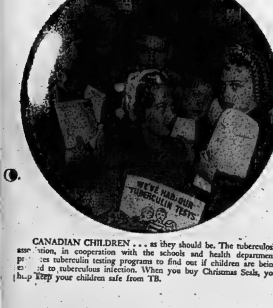
DOZEN SITES CONSIDERED

"About a dozen sites in the city were considered," said Mr. Follwell. "Department of works officials surveyed them all. Post Office officials visited the city and last spring the Minister of Public Works himself was in the city. The site announced today was chosen by department officials as being the most suitable.

"I am very happy that after 40 years of talk about wanting a new federal building that the people of the government dock in Belleville at a cost of $50,000, and construction of veterans' housing and a new school at Middleton Park."

Police Blotter

City and provincial police spent an exceptionally quiet time Friday night with little more than routine matters being brought to their attention.



Raymond Crawford, 21 Forin street, complained that two pickerel and two pike had been stolen from his trunk while it was parked on Front street.

Several cars were hauled from the local farmers' market this morning as owners failed to get them away soon enough to allow farmer to use their market stalls. Car owners will be assessed towing charges and will receive a warning from police.

There were two minor accidents this morning with damage in each instance amounting to less than $100.

LET DOCTORS DOWN

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Demitra Gekas recalled Friday that in 1910 when a child in Greece, she dropped three doctors gave her 34 hours to live. "I feel a little guilty about letting them down," said Mrs. Gekas, who observed her 101st birthday anniversary.

CANADIAN CHILDREN . . . as they should be. The tuberculosis association, in cooperation with the schools and health department, provides tuberculin testing programs to find out if children are being exposed to tuberculous infection. When you buy Christmas Seals, you help keep your children safe from TB.

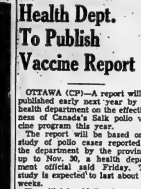
Health Dept. To Publish Vaccine Report

OTTAWA (CP)—A report will be published early next year by the health department on the effectiveness of Canada's Salk polio vaccine program this year.

The report will be based on a study of polio cases reported to the department by the provinces up to Nov. 30, a health department official said Friday. The study is expected to last about six weeks.

The official said the department expects that the examination will confirm the announcement last April by the University of Michigan that the polio vaccine is 60 per cent effective against the type of disease most common in Canada.

The study, he said, will enable the department to determine the effect of the vaccine on inoculated children, the number of vaccinated children who later contracted the disease and the rate among children not inoculated.



The department has received only one report so far this year of a vaccinated child who later got the disease.

The case was at Leamington, Ont., but the paralysis was mild. The department says the vaccine prevented the case being of a serious nature. The child contracted the disease about two months after inoculation and officials says the vaccine itself could not have caused the polio.

"The study will show the extent to which inoculation prevented other children with the disease from being seriously ill," the official said. "It might also show that some children require larger doses of the vaccine to become completely immunized."

U.S. NEED GREATER

LONDON (Reuters)—Billy Graham, American evangelist, is not likely to stage any big crusades in Britain for "year or two," Roy Catlell announced Friday night. Catlell, who has handled Graham's crusade arrangements in London and Glasgow, said that Graham believes that spiritual need in the United States was more immediate.

How health and individual usefulness can be restored through spiritual means, as illustrated in the Bible, will be brought out in a public lecture on Christian Science to be given in Belleville on the evening of December 5 by John D. Pickett of Chicago.

Mr. Pickett, will speak in Queen Elizabeth School auditorium, on McDonald Ave., under the auspices of Christian Science Society, Belleville. His subject will be "Christian Science: The Power of an Active Faith". The public is invited to attend without charge.

A native of Ohio, Mr. Pickett was educated in Georgia and North Dakota. Formerly president of his own investment banking firm, he finished his business affairs in 1942 to enter the full time practice of Christian Science. He was a Christian Science Wartime Worker during World War II. Prior to that he had served as executive field service on the Illinois Flood Relief Committee of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. Since becoming a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, he has travelled throughout the United States and Canada.

Newspaper King

By NICHOLAS MIKA
(Article 7)

This is the remarkable story of an Hungarian boy whose greatest ambition was a military career. But fate was against him. Wherever he went doctors rejected him as not strong enough to carry a weapon.

Yet he became one of the bravest fighters, not on the battlefield, but in the history of journalism. He rose to fame for his outspokenness and courage and the world called him the Newspaper King.

He was the son of a wealthy grain dealer and certainly could have followed his father's footsteps. Whether it was the call of adventure or the monotony of his life that drove him away from home, I don't know. Anyway, he sailed to America. There his dream was fulfilled. He became a soldier in the Civil War. When the war was over, he was without a job, but not without an enterprising spirit. No kind of work was too humble for him. He tried his luck on the waterfront as a dock worker, as a waiter in a restaurant, as a farm hand and coalman and finally as a surveyor. None of these jobs appealed to him, and his restless nature sent him from one place to another.

BEGAN FABULOUS CAREER

One day he paid the last five dollars to a broker who promised him a job on a sugar plantation. But before he could find out any more details, the broker had disappeared together with the money.

Furiously the young man sat down and wrote an article about the swindler, naming the publisher of this swindler. The editor of a St. Louis paper not only published the article but was so impressed with the refreshing and honest way it was written that he employed the writer at once as a reporter. And so began the fabulous career as a journalist.

Only eight short years later he bought a paper himself and founded the St. Louis Post and Dispatch. In its first issue in December 1885 he outlined to his readers, in one of the greatest leading articles ever written, the purpose of his paper. A purpose he stood for with boldness and courage, to serve nothing but the truth, to criticize the bad, to fight corruption and uphold the principles of a true democracy. And thus he became the founder of the free and independent press that we enjoy today.

When he was thirty six he owned the Evening Star and the New York World. Circulation grew from 15,000 to 600,000 and his papers soon reached record editions. He became one of the mightiest and at the same time wealthiest men in the States.

But hard work and the nerve-wrecking activities of a journalist undermined his health. His eyesight threatened to fail him. In an effort to delay final blindness he tried rest cures all over the world. He never travelled alone but he never stopped working. His steady companions were a staff of reporters and secretaries who kept him in constant touch with happenings in the world.

In his will he left two and a half million dollars for the establishment of a college for journalism. For the greatest achievements in journalism, literature, music and photography, prizes are distributed every year out of his generous foundation.

On a stamp issued in honor of this great journalist are written his own words: Our Republic and its press will rise and fall together. Joseph Pulitzer.

Joseph Pulitzer appeared on U S. A. stamps in 1947.

FIRE ON CIVILIANS

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (CP)—Radio broadcasts from Honduras today said Nicaraguan troops had fired on a party of Honduran civilians inspecting the frontier near the town of San Marcos de Colon and wounded several of them.

PAINTING WORTH $32,340

LONDON (Reuters) — A small painting by Titian, the 15th-century Venetian painter, was sold at auction to a private gallery Friday for 11,000 guineas ($32,340). The picture, "An Allegory of Prudence," was bought at a sale in 1818 for £20 (the pound then was worth about $5). It was auctioned with a collection of old masters belonging to the late Francis Howard, wealthy art collector.

ELECT . . .
JANE FORRESTER MAYOR
"Why I Am a Candidate for Mayor of Belleville"
I have lived in Belleville most of my life. I attended Queen Alexandra Public School, the Belleville Collegiate and the Ontario Business College. Since my marriage in 1938 I have lived continuously in Belleville.
I have been active in many organizations in the city, including the Women's Hospital Auxiliary, the Canadian Club, the Belleville Collegiate and Queen Alexandra Parent and School Associations, the Girl Guide Association and the Red Cross.
I like Belleville and I like living here. Liking Belleville as I do I am interested in seeing my home town become an even better place in which to live.
During the past year as alderman I attended all regular and special meetings of city council. There were 30 regular meetings and 16 special meetings and I attended them all. I attended more than 30 meetings of the executive and finance committee as its vice-chairman and all meetings of the industrial commission. In addition I attended the large majority of 100 odd meetings of the public works, welfare, traffic, fire and property committees — committees of which I was not a member. I did this to become better informed about all phases of city business.
The broad insight into city business which all this work has given me has convinced me that the city administration is faced with a crisis caused by lack of leadership.
I intend to spend a good deal of time in the next few days giving you facts not fictions about your tax rate and how the present mayor's false ideas of economy have been costing you money.
Taxpayers do not get their money's worth when roads, such as those in Bayview Heights, are not resurfaced even when the money has been voted for their maintenance.
Taxpayers do not get their money's worth when the mayor, against the advice of the city solicitor and contrary to the will of council, proceeds with court action that costs the taxpayers thousands of dollars and accomplishes nothing but the ridicule of council.
These things are evidence of bad leadership. There are many more examples, all of which I shall tell you about during the rest of the campaign.
It is to eliminate these costly mistakes and the unending bickering and friction which they produce in council as a whole that I am offering myself as a candidate for mayor.
I humbly ask you to support and to vote for Jane Forrester for mayor on December 5th.

44 Years C.N.R. Service Marked By an 'At Home'

A happy event occurred yesterday afternoon when Mr. and Mrs. Roy Atyeo, 324 Charles Street, were "at home" to their many friends and relatives on the occasion of the completion of Mr. Atyeo's 44 years of service with the Canadian National Railways.

The guests were received by the hostess, who was becomingly attired in black velvet with red rose corsage, and welcomed into an atmosphere of cheer and spontaneous hospitality enhanced by bouquets of white snapdragons and red carnations, a tribute from the Alliance Church friends, while other flowers of mauve and yellow blooms added a further pretty touch.

Mrs. R. Pickard, girlhood friend of the hostess, presided at the pretty appointed tea table—with its lace-edged hand-embroidered cloth and centre piece of deep, Chinese pink snapdragons mingled with shell pink flowers—and was flanked with silver candelabra with white tapers. Assisting were Mrs. Robert Brown, Mrs. Russell Pearson of Kingston, daughter of the host and hostess, and Miss Dorothy Atyeo.

Two sons, Gerald Atyeo, of Hudson Heights, Montreal, and Dr. Ralph Atyeo, of Toronto, were able to be present.

Mr. Atyeo was the recipient of several fine gifts, as well as telegrams of congratulation on his reaching the record of a man who nearly half a century with "his head upon the throttle, and his eye upon the rail."

Barbara Beddome, Edmonton Beauty, Miss Grey Cup

VANCOUVER (CP) — Barbara Beddome, Miss Edmonton Eskimos, Friday night was chosen Miss Grey Cup of 1955.

The 18-year-old Edmonton beauty won out over four other contestants late before a crowd of more than 4,000 at a pre-Grey Cup party at the Exhibition Gardens near Empire Stadium.

Runner-up to Miss Grey Cup was Miss Ottawa Roughrider — Joan Diane Hardy of Ottawa.

The third and only other prize winner named was Babs Morgenson, Miss Calgary Stampeder.

Miss Beddome won an English convertible, a trip for two to Bermuda, a mink stole and Miss Stampeder, a diamond - platinum wrist watch.

Miss Beddome, a second-year University of Alberta student, was accompanied to Vancouver by her mother, Mrs. C. Beddome.

She wore a brief gold costume and a green banner to display her 36-24-36. Standing five - foot 6½ inches, she weighs 125 pounds, has hazel eyes and dark brown hair.

As the panel of judging newspaper women and radio announcers declared her the winner, she was speechless at first, then gasped into a microphone:

"I'm just thrilled."

After all the contestants were introduced to the jubilant crowd, the judges called for additional

Cambridge King's College Chapel and Queen of Sheba

By Lavonia Stockelbach

In King's College chapel at Cambridge there is a window in which is depicted the visit of the Queen of Sheba to King Solomon, and which shows King Solomon on his throne and the Queen offering gifts there is an extent of pale blue glass marked with curious lines. It is one corner of a glass tank nearly filled with water. The Ethiopian Queen's feet are resting on its brink. Beading the Mohammedan Bible, the Koran, had somewhat prepared me for the Arab version of that memorable visit.

It seems that the queen was enchantingly beautiful and Solomon wanted to add her to those hundreds of wives he had. But the gossips said she really was not a woman, but a man in one goat's fool, so Solomon had the precincts flooded for he wanted to see her bare feet. Nowadays he would not have had to go to so much trouble and expense, but the queen of ancient Ethiopia waded through the water and certainly her wish was gratified—her true trunk which, it is said, was the wood from which in the course of time the True Cross was made. She was at once rid of her deformity, became married and were, it is said, the ancestors of the present Emperor of Abyssinia or Ethiopia.

In Persian art, as pointed out by Marilyn Howell, the queen may often be seen standing in conventional pose with attendants in Coptic and Byzantine art. In others she is seated on a throne as represented in groups of symbolic statuary over church doorways in Chartres and present and Dijon.

There are indeed many curious versions of ancient tales in word and in art, and as Sheba said in Solomon's case, "Howbeit I believe not the words, until I came and mine eyes had seen it: and behold the half was not told me."

On the grounds of Emmanuel College, Cambridge, I saw perhaps the most beautiful plane tree to be found anywhere in the whole world. The outside branches curve down to the ground, the enormous trunk is supported by numerous props and the branches were just beginning to turn and the autumnal colours were there. The branches and enter a domed space where scores of people could find room to sit around the bole centred like a gnarled pillar of brown, turning branches through which no sight of the outer world could be had. One felt oneself within a sacred temple more so indeed, than in many built by man.

It was awe inspiring and one could understand the friendship of trees and could wish that at least we had retained respect. So, once again, there was good-bye to the mighty trees of this world and one's memory brought back the sight of the Bo tree of Ceylon, the baobabs, the banyans, the great trees of the Canaries and the lovely spruce in the grounds of Parnell's home in Ireland, and we walked over to the pond where two swans and two large grey geese waited hopefully to be fed—and I learned another fact in natural history.

My friend plucked grass from beyond the edge of the pond and threw it on to the water where the swans gobbled it with great gusto and asked for more, not one little blade was left afloat.

On one of the pathways of the rectangle of Emmanuel College I heard my friend address a gentleman as "Master" and I was duly presented. It will be just as well for me not to attempt to explain that title because I might fail to give its real meaning. There was no time for a little but very illuminating talk on birds and Shakespeare, on the comparative lack of knowledge of country people about the nature around them. So many talks are ended too soon, so many seem never to end.

One of the greatest delights in this fair England is to have the privilege of walking over the centuries old lawns. Today the "Master" himself vouchsafed me that grace. After saying good-bye to him we came to another small pool where shelddrakes were standing to their usual vocations and again one noticed the heavenly beautiful eyes that all feathered creatures have and that so clearly prove their superior intelligence.

This Emmanuel College of Cambridge had been built by the Benedictine Order with which order one principally associates the time to make their choice because "We're having trouble picking winners from the winners."

All 10 won prizes ranging from souvenir totem poles to clothes, hats and flowers.

Today Miss Grey Cup leads the Monster Grey Cup parade in a 83,000 float - of live flowers. The others follow in convertibles.

The seven other contestants from football cities across Canada were Francis Skewes), Miss Saskatchewan Roughrider; Marjorie Ann King, Miss Toronto Argonaut; Corrina Williams, Miss Winnipeg Blue Bomber; Joan Hilker, Miss Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchman; Nancy Roland, Miss Montreal Alouette; Glenda Gilchrist, Miss Calgary Stampeder and Joan Lounsbury, Miss Hamilton, Tiger Cat.

This - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

This afternoon thousands, indeed millions, of Canadians and many American cousins will have eyes glued to TV, or ears tuned to radio, watching and listening to a new Canadian phenomenon, some call it a spectacle. It is both and much more, and let us hope it will remain much more. It is a symbol of fun, games and hilarity, but also is the annual venting of much good-natured pushing between communities, each with its loyal following. What are we talking about then? Why, the Grey Cup game where the fans will be going to the stadium as your Ontario Intelligencer goes to press this very afternoon.

The Grey Cup is a symbol of Canadian unity, Canadian football supremacy, Canadian sportsmanship; in short Canada. We hope that when the final whistle blows, another best team will have earned the right to a great championship. This afternoon our own great Canadian sport classic is being written into the history books of the game that was invented specifically to accommodate competitors in sport from every corner of the British Commonwealth of Nations last year, which gave to the world at least one example of unity in sport. Maybe, the first Grey Cup game in history to be played outside of Toronto is symbolically significant too, because it is being played in Montreal's Stadium in Vancouver, Quebec's Montreal Alouettes meet Alberta's Edmonton Eskimos in British Columbia's Vancouver Empire Stadium. When this evening's autumn grey sky folds over the land the Grey Cup will be in the possession of the 1955 champions. The unity of Canada's healthy living, high school sportsmanship, and we hope that in time east will meet west on the Grey Cup field from ocean to the Pacific.

Something old, something new, something symbolic Ye Olde Grey Cup—representing sport as old as the Olympics, new as Canada and symbolic of unity.

The parts,

"A day for toil, an hour for sport,
But for a friend is life too short."

An amusing incident happened some time ago when the Royal Dutch Airlines inaugurated its service to Canada. For the first flight to Canada, Canadian pilots of the line were detailed to fly the new plane on which Prince Bernhard was the distinguished guest. Captain William LeSaurage, who was at one time during the war, an instructor at the Deseronto air base of the officers in charge of the flight. It was a beautiful day as the plane flew over the St. Lawrence River and Prince Bernhard, who is an enthusiastic photographer, was impressed. As they approached Montreal, LeSaurage suggested to the Prince that he get into the astral dome and they would bring the plane in so the royal passenger could take some good shots. At the airport a band was drawn up to welcome Prince Bernhard, who was so busy as he could be taking pictures of Montreal. The plane taxied to a stop, the ambassador stood rigidly at attention, arm raised, finger pointing to the skies from which the plane had just dropped. He waited for the royal guest to make his appearance so that he could leave the plane until he did. The Prince was oblivious to all but his picture-taking in the astral dome. Minutes went by, the bandmaster began to feel that there was a feeling of suspense. Nearly ten minutes elapsed before Prince Bernhard came scrambling down from his perch, grabbed a pair of white gloves and started to carry out his official duties. My informant, who had been on the plane from Holland, says she couldn't take her eyes off the heroic bandmaster. He will wonder if he gave the down beat when the Prince appeared simply from utter weariness. She told me, too, that the Prince was a charming travelling companion and very considerate. She mentioned that Prince Bernhard was very happy to take over as pilot for part of the flight across the Atlantic so he is a qualified pilot in his own right. At any rate, the bandmaster will always be remembered for the inauguration of the Royal Dutch Airlines Service to Canada.

Going Places

Station Wagon Pro and Con

BY SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

(Q) "We've been having a running battle in our family about whether to buy a station wagon for our next car. We have two children, ages five and two, and make two vacation trips and a few weekend trips during the year. What do you suggest?"

A.F.C., St. Louis, No.

(A) The station wagon has been characterized as a car for people who have to carry things as well as people. While the luggage capacity of the typical station wagon is somewhat larger than that of the average sedan, it's greater value as far as carrying equipment is concerned is in the accessibility of what you carry.

With two small children you may have a portable crib, food hampers, beach gear and other odd supplies which may be needed on short notice. Being able to get them without opening the car and going to the trunk is a convenience.

A two-door station wagon, should you decide on this model, may be your best buy because it gives the youngsters space to play or nap in the back seat. Also, the fold-down seat allows them plenty of light and visibility and eliminates the feeling of confinement when the car is in motion.

A station wagon, with leather or plastic interior is somewhat easier to keep clean too, but it does cost a little more.

If you must leave belongings in the car overnight, in a public parking place, the contents are visible to thieves. The station wagon will also make it more difficult to park and some wagon owners feel it's unsafe to be in a position to be used as a comparable sedan.

The welcome development in station wagons is the all-steel body. The old time wood trim, which would eventually deteriorate from rotting, is all but forgotten now.

LUGGAGE TOO HEAVY

(Q) "I've had a great deal on business but have been running lately into the irritating problem of having to pay for baggage that is over the 40-pound limit. The charges add to the considerable expense during the course of a year. Do you have any tricks that you can use to keep down without sacrificing things I feel I must have?"

M.M., St. Paul, Minn.

(A) A good suitcase is right up an investment in a light but durable aluminum or fiberglass suitcase. Also, something of weight pounds less than other types of luggage and pay for themselves in many years of use, even though they are expensive.

Pack your heavier items going into your suitcase which might be in the trunk of your car with you without too much inconvenience—a raincoat or reading matter, for example. Also, use shopping laundry wrappings and shirt cardboards for packing.

Suitcase fittings—the racks and hangers for suits that many bags have—generally do little to preserve creases and may be removed. If they are detachable, for considerable weight saving.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

ON THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

If the Good Lord is willing, my husband and I will celebrate our Golden Wedding in the last part of December. And will you please help us with your good advice?

1. We would like to have Open House. What is the best time to have Open House?

2. What is the best way to invite our friends — by telephone or through the paper or by cards or notes of invitation?

3. We already have the Guest Book. Does one of the family or a friend take care of this book?

4. As you always suggest for this occasion, we want to have an Anniversary Cake, and we still have all our friends have a piece of it.

5. Who should pour tea, a friend or one of our daughters?

6. What are the proper things for Dad and me to do to receive our guests?

7. We always like the way you advise your readers, and would deeply welcome any other suggestions you would give us.

"Mother" and "Dad"

1. For this wonderful, Golden Occasion heartiest felicitations to you both and deep salutations! The customary hours for Open House for this occasion are 4 o'clock to 7. Sometimes 3 to 7. Most occasionally there are afternoon hours (3 to 6, say) and evening hours also (8 to 10).

2. So that you can charmingly register those important significant years-days, I'd like to have you write cards of invitation. White cards of simple size . . . it is possible to buy gilt-edged cards. The year-dates may be written in gold ink, and the entire invitation too, if you wish.

1905 1955

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Brown

At Home

Tuesday, the Twentieth of December

from four until seven o'clock

Tye Home Place

Haven, New York

3. It's best to have a friend take charge of the Guest Book, for this releases members of the family for other responsibilities.

4. Good! I hope you have a particularly handsome and noble Anniversary Cake! I suggest you have a pre-arrangement with one of your children to assemble the guests, at an appointed time and signal, near the table where you and your bridegroom are to cut the cake, and have the children lead the singing of "The Bride cuts the Cake," as you, with your husband's right hand over your right hand, cut the first slice of the cake and share it with each other.

5. Ask several intimate friends of yours to pour tea . . . two for each hour or half-hour.

6. You and your husband, "Bride and Groom," stand together to receive and welcome your friends, you at his right. It's a fine idea if you can receive in an attractive place opposite the entrance to the room. A daughter and or a son might stand near the entrance to greet guests there and to direct them to the room where they are to leave their wraps. If possible open each gift as it is presented to you and make enthusiastic comments about it. (And for gifts brought to such an important occasion, I think you should write thank you notes as soon as possible after "The Day.")

7. To plan to serve a cold beverage . . . a delicious fruit punch if you wish, for taste which will be proposed "To the Bride and Groom!" You'll wear, I hope, a dress in your most becoming color. Your corsage, given you by your bridegroom, might be a small, petite corsage fashioned of golden-colored Talisman roses or rosebuds. And "Dad" might wear one or two of these rosebuds as his boutonniere; or, if he prefers, a white carnation boutonniere. If possible have a golden-colored table-coverings, and a golden-colored centerpiece for tea-table (deep yellow chrysanthemums perhaps), and matching candles. And may their light shine on your happiness this Golden Day!

Brief Comment On Citizenship

By NANCY CLEAVER

Have you ever asked an immigrant why he chose to be a Canadian? Perhaps his reply would make you appreciate your land more! Here are some of the answers made by New Canadians!

"Because I wanted to be a farmer, and in my country you can never hope to get more than two or three acres."

"Because I can say what I like without having a policeman pick me up before the day is out."

"Because education is free to all."

"Because I have no other country."

"Because all are treated alike in your courts."

"Because you can go to church without being afraid."

"Because Canada is a young country and I wanted to try my luck here."

If a newcomer asked you, "what are the steps I must take to become a citizen?", could you give me a clear, brief outline of the necessary procedure? He is information every Canadian should have at his finger tips. Over one million, two hundred thousand immigrants had come to our shores by June, 1955, since the Second World War. Many of them are eager to become citizens. They are asking, "How do I obtain my Canadian citizenship certificate?"

MUST BE OF AGE

A man or woman wishing to become a Canadian citizen must, of course, have been legally admitted to our land. When he or she is 18 years of older a "Declaration of Intention" application must be filed in the office of the clerk of the country or district in which the person resides. This declaration must be accompanied by four clear photographs two and one-half inches square, the result passport size.

The applicant of a Petition for Citizenship must be 21 years of age and must have resided in Canada continuously for at least five years. This petition must be filed within five years of the time he makes his Declaration of Intention.

He must intend to remain a Canadian citizen and have adequate knowledge of the privileges and responsibilities which accompany citizenship in our democracy. Photograp of these are best obtained from what he sees in his own community, and from kindly neighbors who take the time to explain our practices in connection with voting and governing groups.

The petition for citizenship must be filed with the district or country court in which the respective citizen lives, and be posted for at least three months. When the applicant appears before the court for examination, the judge must be satisfied of his good character and that he has taken the proper steps leading to citizenship. After he takes the oath of allegiance, the court delivers to him a Certificate of Citizenship, dating from this oath of allegiance.

LOCAL EFFORT

In some centres, a real effort is made by local groups to make this occasion of the oath of Allegiance, impressive and meaningful. Do you know what happens in the court in your area? Do the "old" Canadians prize their citizenship highly or do they take it very much for granted? It is up to them not only to welcome our New Canadians but to assist them with their grasp of one of our languages and help them feel at home.

Many groups have entertained New Canadians who have been granted their citizenship on that important day. In other centres students attending a Night School Class in English are given a party at the conclusion of the course. These activities are commendable, but they do not replace the warm interest and friendliness of an individual or of a family.

One of the best ways we can encourage an immigrant to want to become a Canadian, and with the passing of time achieve the status of a good citizen, is to be neighbourly. When we make a friendly

ADVICE To the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

LET YOUR COMMONSENSE DECIDE THIS PROBLEM

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I am 23 years old, and have been going out for the past year with a fellow of 25.

We have been talking about marriage, but while I know he loves me, and I am sure that I love him, I still feel very uncertain about how the marriage would turn out.

The trouble is that I have a queer feeling he needs a mother more than a wife. He was very close to his mother, who died just a little while before I met him, and sometimes I wonder if he isn't trying to put me in her place. He has a very quick temper and apparently was brought up to have his own way, and when he doesn't get it, he quarrels with me. When things go wrong in his work, or something else happens that upsets him, instead of putting his mind on how to straighten things out himself, he wants me to tell him what to do. He wants to be told, too, that he was right and the other fellow was wrong.

What shall I do? I really love him, and feel that I can't be happy without him, yet I worry as to what our marriage would be like. — Helen

Dear Helen:

Since you are realistic enough to see that this man is extremely immature, and to sense the fact that he has been brought up to be a "Mama's boy," why can't you be realistic enough to see that the only thing for you here for him is maternal, and not the kind of feeling a wife should have for a husband?

It seems perfectly obvious that, if you did marry him as he is, you would find yourself in the position of having to humor him, take care of him, make all his decisions for him, console him, cater to his every whim, and in short, always be the giver, with no return what-ever. Then him-unless you feel that to have him constantly leaning on you and depending on you visit on them, when we throw open our homes, and entertain a Dutch, or German, or Italian individual, or couple, or family, we ourselves will be enriched in our cultural understanding of other lands. Let us practice "the grace of hospitality" and remember "the stranger within our gates"!

Readers' Saturday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

Like thousands of other homemakers I too have used and enjoyed your daily column, but hardly a day goes by that I don't bake sweets or hot breads and am an ardent user of Glenn's unrefined flour and cereals. . . Now I am stuck! Do you have a recipe for molasses cookies? These are 2 inches in diameter, very moist and have cracks on the surface when taken from the oven. . . . Vote of one few days I shall send you my recipe for ice cream to be made in automatic freezer. . . It takes but five minutes to make.—Janis P.

ANSWER:

I'd appreciate the ice cream recipe you mention very much.

CRACKLE-TOP MOLASSES COOKIES

Mix together in a bowl 3-4 cup well-creamed shortening, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 egg and 1-4 cup molasses. Sift together and stir into first mixture, 2 1-4 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons soda, 1-4 teaspoon salt 1-4 to 1-2 teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon each cinnamon and ginger. Chill the dough when mixed. Roll dough into balls between palms, the size of a large walnut or smaller. Dip tops in sugar. Place, sugared side up, 3 inches apart on greased baking sheet. Sprinkle each cookie with 2 or 3 drops of water (to give crackled surface). Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. about 10 to 12 minutes until just set. (Do not overbake.)

LETTER:

Because you are a fair-minded person I am sending you a piece of information. . . the marked paragraphs are the only ones which have to do with margarine . . . I am afraid your column has not done much to help anyone's health in regard to that tasteless concoction (not to speak of the damage it has done to the butter industry). (Quote by Dr. Petersen of University Farm, St. Paul Minnesota): "He told milk producers and creamery operators that margarine fed to calves . . . made them scour, left their hair rough and put the animals in a generally unthrifty condition . . ." "On the subject of margarine for human consumption . . . let them market it as uncolored margarine . . . colored as butter it is a fraud." (Letter signed by Edith Strain.)

ANSWER:

Your letter is a surprise to me. Up until the time compounds re butter versus margarine has been packed with criticism because it always recommended butter. I do this (1) because I like butter and (2) because the protein derivative of butter fat and its higher nutritional value. As you know I constantly help readers to manage more economically but not at the expense of nutrition. However the incomes of some families will permit margarine on their bread and those who likewise they could afford, nothing in printing this letter I am exposing myself to a deluge of letters, but I'll brace myself.

and depending on you would be return enough. Would you really respect such a role? Wouldn't you rather have a husband with whom you could live in the normal relationship of mutual confidence, respect and dependence on each other that you would relate to grown adults who marry?

You say you don't think you could be happy without this grown-up infant. For my part, I feel quite sure you'd never be happy with him. I feel, also, that you'd get exactly the same emotional satisfaction and go through far less grief-out of adopting a baby and bringing him up. Then at least you would out of marrying an undeveloped 25-year-old and trying to bring him up to the same state of being.

Your trouble, unquestionably, is that you have already allowed this small man to become so dependent upon you that you feel actually responsible for him. It isn't real love that makes you hesitate to send him on his way. It's your fear that you'd be letting down his obvious needs you, and that you'd feel guilty forever after if you did say a permanent goodbye to him.

But don't let a misplaced conscience and a feeling of pity make your decision for you. This decision should be made by your commonsense alone, and if you don't listen to what your commonsense must certainly be telling you, you'll live to regret it bitterly.

BEAUTY

TREATMENT OF ACNE

The acne sufferer just can't drink too much water. It's the best external and internal cleanser there is.

Of all common skin troubles, especially among teen-agers, acne heads the list. This is the cropping out of pimples which makes the victim self-conscious and miserable.

Usually, acne is caused by overactive oil glands. The skin, of course, needs oil to keep its texture soft, but when these glands work overtime as they frequently do with adolescents, the pores become plugged up and pimples and blackheads develop.

At the first sign of acne, it is best to consult a dermatologist but if you can't afford such a specialist, or there isn't one near to you, there is much you can do to help yourself.

Diet, of course, the first thing to consider. No matter how much you may like candy, pastries, rich gravies and mayonnaise, you'll have to eliminate them completely from your menus. Avoid fat foods of any kind, carbonated waters and, above all, chocolate in any form. Confine your diet to lean meats, fish poultry, lots of fresh juices,

Plenty of water is a "must." You can't drink too much of it, for there's nothing like water for both internal and external cleansing. Exercise is important, too, for it promotes general health and, be fer from the truth. Heavy makeup not only screens such defects but it clogs the pores even more so that the acne condition becomes aggravated.

Your skin, of course, must always be kept scrupulously clean. This means a minimum of two good soap and water cleansings a day. Work up a good lather onto a washcloth or complexion brush and go over your face thoroughly. Rinse off the soapy water with plenty of warm water, then splash cold water all over your face and neck.

While you're trying to improve this skin condition, avoid creams and heavy make-up. Some girls think that if they use a lot of cosmetics they can hide their facial blemishes. Nothing could be farther from the truth. Heavy makeup not only screens such defects but it clogs the pores even more so that the acne condition becomes aggravated.

STIRLING

H.S. Graduating Class Addressed by Canon Swan

STIRLING.—On Tuesday evening, Stirling theatre was filled to capacity with a large number of students and visitors standing throughout the program for the high school commencement exercises.

Misses Lulubelle Mathews and Betty Drew played several piano duets previous to opening at eight p.m.

Principal John L. Good welcomed students, parents and friends and voiced thanks to those who donated shields and trophies. He also explained the qualifications necessary to win the various scholarships and in closing expressed thanks to teachers and students for their co-operation.

Mr. J. B. Belshaw, Stirling's representative to Quinte Hastings' High School District Board, spoke briefly and assisted the principal with the presentations.

In a dignified manner the students took their individual places on the platform, received their awards and ovations and retired and the whole performance was carried out in record time.

Mrs. MacKinnon presented Ruth with the cheque and wished her continued success in her studies at Queen's University, Kingston.

VALEDICTORY ADDRESS

Miss Ruth Sharpe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Sharpe of Mount Pleasant-Rawdon, and sister of Mr. Burton Sharpe, was honored in giving the valedictory address. She said this was the goal to which she had worked ever since beginning her high school studies. She felt she was most fortunate in having such worthwhile teachers, both in public and high school, who set such good examples.

Ruth was the only girl in a class of nine which gave her vivid memories of her last year at King George high school, Stirling.

Ruth thought this was an excellent opportunity to voice thanks to her mother, father and brother for all their encouragement and patience. She urged the students to put first things first; to honor the example of character, in their daily lives, and in closing said: "May the years ahead be bright with promise."

Mr. D. H. Garrison directed the senior choir with Lulubelle Mathews as pianist. This group sang "Oh What a Beautiful Morning," by Rodgers.

"Harbor Lights", Kennedy and Williams, and "Yellow Rose of Texas," by Group.

SPEAKER

Canon Minto Swan, M.A., B.D., rector of St. John's Anglican church, Kingston, was introduced by Principal Good. Mr. Swan was born in Toronto and has lived in five provinces of Canada.

He is a fluent speaker and he held his audience in rapt attention as he gave an illuminating address highlighted with humor and narratives of real life. He first congratulated the students and then followed with a special praise to the High school staff for the excellent arrangement and efficiency of presenting the awards.

He gave a few reminiscences of air force days in Trenton and then gave the graduating class a message on the theme . . . "What I think is of value in life."

The speaker said "the things life, ever remembering loyalty, we have in this land of ours, called Canada, are very worthwhile and should be appreciated." He took his audience to Newfoundland, where loyalty to God, the church, to The Queen and to each other is paramount. In a descriptive manner he gave word pictures to prove the loyalty of the lamb province.

"The Maritime provinces point the way to tradition and they have produced more presidents of universities in Canada than any other.

"Ontario and Quebec represent culture or character and it is a great thing to have a sense of culture that belongs to your school and community.

"The Prairie provinces give as their contribution a quality of spirit. Their zeal, enthusiasm, and friendliness cannot be matched elsewhere.

"In the Peace River district the wheat champion once said 'God gave us this land in the Peace River, and hard work did the rest.' A sense of God is very important and is a real vital experience."

"British Columbia gives us a sense of ease, as so many older people go there to spend the closing days of their lives."

CHALLENGE TO STUDENTS

Mr. Swan threw out the challenge to the students that "there is a great value in school, don't lose it; carry it with you through tradition, character, enthusiasm and hard work. If you put this all together you will have a rich, successful life to enjoy in the days that lie ahead. Keep up your education, for it is most worthwhile, and through it blessings will come your way."

His closing words were, "God bless you, see you again some time."

BOXING

Eddie Schamchorn emerges in one of the most important fights of his career when he meets the Toronto battler, Lew Eastaco in the main bout at the Brider Street armouries tonight. The Belleville mitt man, according to promoter Bill Eastaco has a chance to enter the pro ranks should he get the verdict. Eddie has been training hard for the fight which looms up as one of the best ever seen in this city.

Eddie Beatty, promising young fighter from Hamilton, who has made quite a name for himself in the western and central Ontario rings, stacks up against heavy-hitting Don Miller of the Royal School of Artillery, Picton. Miller is a clever boxer, as those who saw him fight at ECAF Station Trenton, will testify.

Six other outstanding bouts round out the card with the first starting at 8.30. The card is sponsored by the Canadian Order of Foresters with the proceeds going to the hospital building fund.

DOING A FINE JOB:

TORONTO — Over 250 delegates from all parts of Ontario at the Ontario Minor Hockey Association's 22nd annual conclave heard secretary Jack Christie appeal for continued sportsmanship and a thumbs-down policy on rough play here this morning.

Christie told the convention the association heard only four protests last season, and but for one reason suspensions were notably fewer. This he attributed to ever improving sportsmanship shown by all concerned and the association's quick action in handing out suspensions when necessary.

Delegates thronging the King Edward Hotel convention room heard four amendments to the constitution argued, voted in the election of officers; applauded the presentation of the annual Howard Ward and sat down to the banquet at the conclusion of business. In the afternoon they saw the Grey Cup via a large television screen installed expressly for their benefit and tonight they will be the guests of the association at the Chicago Black Hawks-Toronto Maple Leafs hockey game.

They greeted the new president, Mayor Bert Hick, of Lindsay, and his new vice-presidents: John Oakes, Burlington; Frank Doherty, Thornhill, and Ted Elmer of Galt. They voted on six amendments for the active executive, seven of whom were elected. Their names were not available at time of writing.

The OMHA, the largest organization of its kind in the world wants to grow even bigger, Christie told the convention. He urged the delegates to organize more teams from the smaller centres.

The wide scope of the OMHA was evidenced in the report that 336 teams entered for group play or playdowns last season. Another 818 teams took part in affiliated leagues, giving a registration of 19,350 players and 1249 teams. 336 of these teams and 5,370 players took part in either group play or provincial eliminations.

Christie deplored the "black mark" inflicted on the reputation of minor hockey last year by a coach who involved his peewee team and several other players in an incident that placed all hockey and particularly minor hockey under a cloud. The OMHA acted promptly without fear or favor to come out appropriate discipline and remove from the OMHA ranks for a long time the persons responsible.

He urged the delegates to endorse the proposal to provide legislation which will make impossible such incidents in the future, which will assist the OMHA in enforcing a set of regulations which will be provided for tournament play—a field which the OMHA has never been involved in before. The OMHA, he said, always has, and always will, endeavor to make justice and sportsmanship more important than the wording of a rule.

The OMHA, Christie said, should be, and is, more than just a hockey league. It is a community organization like local service clubs. It is organized for the boys of Ontario and the best way we know to make hockey a better game."

He said for that reason "we shall continue to fight to make hockey a clean game, and to campaign for strict refereeing, clean play and clean, wholesome atmosphere wherever our youngsters are called upon to play. He urged the delegates to "stamp out bad language, and boisterous rowdyism wherever it may rear its ugly head.

"And if we are to prevent rough or dirty play, we can also take steps to curb the cause of it. On many cases the smart-alec win-at-all-cost tactics of needling or the 'taunt' are the forerunners of rough retaliation. Eliminate both and we'll be on our way to better hockey."

The treasurer's report reevaled the organization showing a profit of $163 in a budget of $8,179.

Doug Fellock, hard-working minor hockey enthusiast from Preston was announced as the eighth winner of the handsome OMHA honor award. His hockey history dates back to 1913 and he has had a long and honorable career in hockey. The award received the thunderous ovation of the delegates.

"Lower Canada" was well represented in the nine applicants for active executive positions. Those two veterans of hockey down thisway, Doug Patterson of Stirling, and Albert Watkin of Peterborough, were nominated for return to office. Others were sitting members Jim Gaskin, Bloafville; Frank Cudmore, Wallaceburg; Georg Simmons, Gravenhurst, and Jim Trott, Collingwood. Newcomers were: George Haskell, Newmarket; John Leask, Fort Erie and Bert Schram, Port Dover. Results were not announced in time to catch this story.

That old veteran of the book of words and Marco Polo of the association in playoff time, Jack Christie, assumed the secretarial post for the 14th year. Back again by acclamation were registrar Jim Whitton, Toronto, and treasurer Dr. Leon Hipwell, also of Toronto.

Crack of Gun Ending Game Will Set Off Most Colossal Binge in Grey Cup History

By W. R. WHEATLEY

VANCOUVER (CP) — The wild hysteria that has become inseparably a part of the Grey Cup football game moved toward its climax today—a roaring build-up to the explosive outburst when the Montreal Alouettes of Edmonton Eskimos trot off the field at Empire Stadium as the champions of all Canada.

The mania that has gripped this west coast city is almost unbelievable. The limitless hospitality has amazed visitors from the East—something all acknowledge Toronto never equalled in all the years the Queen City mothered the national spectacle.

From the way this game and all the high-jinks invariably associated with it are steaming up, it is no exaggeration to say that the crack of the gun ending the annual East-West battle will set off the most colossal binge in Grey Cup history.

POLICE READY

Vancouver police are already bracing themselves. Acting police chief Alan Rossiter, whose men have been loaded upon the fun-making and harmless, plain hell-raising staged by thousands of arriving visitors, said the police department's plans are flexible. Any situation can be looked after, he said.

Despite this assurance, some Grey Cup officials and reception committeemen for the city are a bit worried. They point to the unrestrained outbursts of Thursday night and Friday night when upwards of 50,000 persons revelled in impromptu downtown shows.

Gaily dressed football fans from every city of the western and eastern leagues whooped it up in darkness-to-dawn celebrations that blazed everywhere.

While all the hilarity went on the persons most concerned in this football classic took things easy. They were the Alouettes and the Eskimos, resting quietly in small hotels 16 miles away.

The Alouettes stayed at a 22-room hotel in Whalley. Coach Douglas S. Pethead Walker said his men are ready for the game of the season, the game in which they are confident they can regain the title they lost to the Eskies by a single point a year ago.

FINAL WORKOUT

Walker took his players to Queen's Park Stadium in the adjoining city of New Westminster for a final workout today. There was a minimum of fanfare. It was a serious-minded troupe of athletes who gathered for this final drill, scarcely 24 hours after they had arrived by the chartered plane from Montreal.

Then they were taken back to their hotel by special bus. There was a short talk by Walker and the players went quietly to bed by 11 p.m.

The Eskimos came in almost unheralded from Victoria, where they have been quartered since last Sunday. Two special planes brought the squad to Vancouver and the players were taken to a small hotel in the English bay section of the city.

Coach Frank (Pop) Ivy, like Walker, refused to make any predictions. He was ready, however, to talk about what a fine coach Walker is, but all the time he had a problem to decide himself. Which players should he drop for the game? Will centre Burris be ready?

Ivy can use only 10 American imports in his lineup. Under Western League rules he has been able to play 12 regularly throughout the season.

WANTS TO PLAY

Burris himself said he thought his gimpy knee would stand up and that he's ready to take a crack at the Als. His loss undoubtedly would hurt the Eskimos' chances. The big, all-star centre of the West is a lower of strength on defence. It was almost a certainty that he would name Burris in the Edmonton lineup.

If Burris plays, it was believed Ivy would have to drop Don Giantsi, a tackle from Nebraska University, and just possibly Rupe Andrews, defensive end who once played with Stanford University of California and Calgary Stampeders.

Eskimo fans are counting plenty on quarterback Jackie Parker, the man who broke up the 1954 Grey Cup game with a sensational touchdown sprint. They are also confident that Normie Kwong can again rip the Alouette line to shreds. Kwong late Thursday was officially named the outstanding Canadian player of the year at a special function downtown.

Calgary's Mayor Leads Contingent Into Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—No matter who wins the Grey Cup, Calgary's rambling Mayor Don Mackay has captured Vancouver.

But the coast city didn't go down without a fight.

Nearly 4,000 shouting, cheering fans mobbed the CPR station to greet the Calgary contingent and Mayor Mackay ploughed right into the middle of them.

As soon as he had room, he swung into a square dance with fellow cowtown visitors.

One wasn't enough. To get into stride, he grabbed up pretty Brian Columbia Lions cheerleaders. Lions directors, swept up by the wide-hatted whirlwind, joined in.

BOBBED UP AND DOWN

The mayor's famous hat of many signatures bobbed and dipped through the crowd of 300 Calgarians, blending in a riot of color with the orange and black sweaters and pert white skirts of the cheerleaders.

Lions' directors gave a funeral air to the whole thing—they turned up in top hats, stiff-collared shirts and morning coats.

Mayor Fred Hume of Vancouver didn't join too much in the physical aspect of the welcome—he was leading a snake parade up Granville street earlier with Mayor Les Hamilton of Regina.

Now even Calgary loves those

Three Junior Teams Tied For Top Position

By the CANADIAN PRESS

Try as they will, Guelph Biltmores can't win a game against Barrie Flyers in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League.

Friday night, at Barrie, Flyers handed the Biltmores another loss —a 4-3 defeat. It was the third time in as many starts that Barrie has turned back Guelph.

St. Catharines Tigers, who have occupied the league cellar for most of the season, left last place all to themselves Kitchener-Waterloo Canucks at Kitchener.

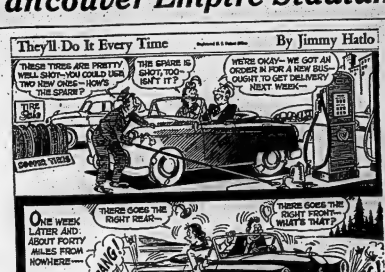
Barrie moved into a fourth place tie with Toronto Marlboros. Each team has 11 points, three behind Canucks, Hamilton Cubs and Toronto St. Michael's Majors, who all share first place.

St. Catharines is three points behind Flyers and Marlboros and one behind Guelph, who fell into the cellar.

GOALIE HELD THEM

Biltmore came from behind a 3-0 Barrie lead to pull to within a goal of Flyers but the brilliant play of Bob Senior in the Flyers' nets, kept them behind.

Arnold Smith, Jack Kane, Danny Patrick and George Hazell were the Flyers' marksmen. Don Webber scored a pair for Guelph with Don MacMillan counting the other.



The Canucks' loss was their first in six home games this season. Teepees outscored Canucks 3-1 in the first period and 3-1 in the second, but Kitchener rallied for two unanswered goals in the third frame.

Dick Lafontaine paced the winners with a pair of goals while Ed Hoekstra, Ab McDonald and Mitch Hoekstra, Ab McDonald and Mitch Bradley, Whitey Youngberg, Sonny Larder and Ken Douglas scored for Canucks.

COACH FOR U.S.

WIESBADEN, West Germany (Reuters)—Bobby Stanley, 40, former star British soccer player for Sunderland and Leeds, has signed a one-year contract as soccer coach for the U.S. Air Force European command.

Eduardo Lausse Wins Decision Over Gene Fuller

NEW YORK (AP) — Eduardo Lausse wants Bobo Olson, Gene Fullmer wants Lausse again. And the fans want to see more of both middleweights.

That's the situation in a nutshell after Friday night's 10 - round match at Madison Square Garden in which Lausse won a unanimous decision over the "Cyclone" from West Jordan, Utah.

In the eighth round, Lausse, 159½, dropped Fullmer, 156, with a left hook. Although the knock down counter counted as high as four," referee Mark Conn ruled no knockdown. Later he said it was 'a stumble, half off balance.' Most ringsiders thought it was a legitimate knockdown.

"I like to fight Olson," said Lausse through an interpreter. "He comes in. I know I beat him. Fullmer strong boy. Takes good punch. I knock him down clean. I see his eyes cross when I hit him."

Lausse's dressing room was a reclaim with Charlie Johnston, his manager, repeating an offer to guarantee Olson $50,000 to defend against his fighter.

Bobby Clarke and Lyle Gibson spearheaded the local drive with a pair of goals each. Arch Richardson, Pat Preety and Pat Mc-Manus all added singles. Chum Fryia, Bert Hill and Dutch Le'nard scored Belleville's goals.

Brockville out-shot the visitors 37-32, and dominated play during first two periods. Belleville came to life in the final frame, scoring two unanswered goals in the last 3½ minutes and out-shooting them 14-4.

FOUR PICTURE GOALS

The first four Maggedomas goals were all picture plays and came from smart stick work combined with razor-sharp passing. Nobby Clarke struck first for the locals, after Kuntz Clarke and Dagenais had poured on the pressure for two minutes. Clarke took a rink-wide pass from right winger Kuntz and beat Belleville netter Joe Parisi by deking him out of position.

Arch Richardson hit next for the Maggedomas mid-way through the initial period. Richardson carried the play all the way after taking a pass from defence man Duncan twins.

Hal Laurence yelled "fire" and Paul McManus responded at the one-minute mark of the second period, blasting a 30-foot long shot that clipped past Parisi for a 3-0 Maggedoma lead.

Belleville nearly cracked Magedomas' netter Johnny Bourada at the five-minute mark but the pint-sized cage custodian held them at bay for the game.

TPT'S FINALLY SCORE

The Hill and Lenard combo at 10.54 of the middle frame with Chum Fryia doing the honors and Hill and Lenard picking up assists.

Gibson and Clarke each scored their second goals to end the period, Gibson hit four minutes after Belleville had scored.

Clarke's goal came with less than four minutes to play in the period, Emple Dagenais, playing his first game for the locals, after a two-week layoff, staged a passing combo with Clarke that had the crowd of 804 fans standing mesmerized. Clarke slapped in the counter with as neat a shot as has been seen in the centre this year.

Belleville carried the play in the final frame. Hill scored at the six-minute mark and Leonard finished the scoring via a long shot. There was less than a minute remaining when Leonard beat Bourada for the final goal. On the night Brockville outclassed Belleville hands down, their play in the first two periods was strictly above par.

Hospital Fund Will Benefit From Ring Card

Tonight's boxing match at the Bridge Street Armouries, presented by the Canadian Order of Foresters to raise funds for the hospital building fund, promises plenty of action.

The main bout features Eddie Schamerhorn of Belleville, and Les Blais of Toronto, 155-pounders, in a five-round bout. Billed as the second main bout is another five-round affair between the Southwestern Ontario light weight champ, Eddie Beatty of Hamilton, and Don Miller of the Picton Artillery School. These boys weigh in at 137 pounds.

Supporting these feature attractions are six three-round affairs. A heavyweight clash between Jerry Adams and Tommy Fau promises plenty of slugging with their weights classed at 185 pounds. Bob Coursey of Hamilton, and Ernie Chessin meet in the 145-lb. class, Joe Italiano clashes with Joe Pease, Joe Cox and Morris Borman tangle, while two other bouts are also scheduled.

Jack Zigman, of Trenton, is the referee.

In all it promises to be a great card with the first bout scheduled for 8.30 p.m. And it's for a worthy cause.

Kingston Beats Cornwall 3-1

Kingston Goodyears held their second place position over the Brockville clubs in the Eastern Ontario OHA senior "B" hockey group last night by shading the Cornwall Colts 3-1 in the Limestone City.

The Goodyears took a 1-0 lead in the initial frame on Gabby White's goal and neither team scored again until the third period. Goals by Samalenko and Toppazzini made it 3-0 before Moe Savard tallied the lone Cornwall marker.

Fourteen penalties were handed out in all with Tom Goodfellow of Kingston drawing three minors and a major. Teammate Don Senior drew a misconduct while Curly Henri of Cornwall was assessed a major for fighting with Goodfellow.

"Speaking personally and as mayor of Toronto," he said in an interview, "I feel no one city has a monopoly on the game. If the players that guide the destiny of the game want to have it played again in Toronto, I can assure them we will roll out the red carpet and give them a royal welcome.

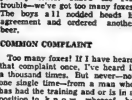
Solmar Notes



Fallacy of Foxes as Predators

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Solmar Tables.)

The opening shooting has been terrible that first week of the hunting season. The rabbit cycle was at the bottom of its swing. And ruffed grouse—well, you just couldn't find any grouse to speak of. In short, hunting in Pennsylvania that last week left the boys pot h, lousy.

Six or eight of said boys, some of them in hunting clothes, were gathered in Andy's bar, bemoaning the low state to which their favorite sport had fallen. Each in his own way sought to figure out the cause. They had varying solutions.

It would be an odds-on bet that good shots of them could have told you anything about the last nesting season. For that matter, it is doubtful that any of them knew exactly when the nesting season occurred. In fact, I would wager that one of them would know a Cooper's hawk if he bit him one, and cyclic population cycles or tularemia among rabbits were unknown. They would probably believe a little Hun called fence-line plowing.

So they blamed the Game Commission. More shooting should be done. You can't have game unless you stock-pick plenty. What happened to all that licence money anyway? And what about bounties on hawks and owls and foxes, especially foxes. That's the real trouble—foxes. Get rid of foxes. The boys a ll nodded heads in agreement and ordered another beer.

COMMON COMPLAINT

Too many foxes! If I have heard that complaint once, I've heard it a thousand times. Not forever—and one single time—from a man who has had the training and is in a position to know whereof he speaks.

There has been so much sound and fury about foxes, particularly during the last 20 years, people seem to forget that we have always had foxes—more of them, in fact, years ago when the hunting was good, than we have a present. They continue to have foxes when we have anything less than pretty good shooting.

So the state conversation agencies—a good many of them, anyway—set about to find the reason for a definite nature about foxes. They put their biologists to work and, after enough time had passed, looked over the findings.

Please remember that the biologists of the several states involved were agencies that the foxes, as a predator of game birds, is not in any way a serious threat to population figures.

Consider, for example, the work that Michigan has been doing. Through the past five winters the field men of that state have been following fox tracks through the snow, easily reading the story of fox activity and behavior as they go.

These men covered 1,200 miles of fox trails. That, of itself, is a large job of work—1,000 miles through the snow. In that 1,000 miles, these men themselves found 2,407 pheasants. Yet in all that area, they found evidence of only 36 pheasants having been killed by foxes. 24 pheasants, 9 quail and 53 rabbits. Mostly the foxes fed on field mice and carrion.

These men are trained men who know the outdoors. They took careful notes and, in the unmarked white blanket that covered the countryside, the story was plainly to be seen by experienced eyes, experienced in the work in hand.

OMNIVOROUS FOX

To be sure, the fox is a clever hunter, the grey more clever than the red. They do catch and eat game birds now and then — of course they do. Nobody tries to deny that.

But people forget; however, that the fox is almost omnivorous. Unlike such killers as the great horned owl, the goshawk and the goshawk, all of them specializing who want fresh, red meat every day, the fox will content himself with what happens to come his way. He is quite happy with a meal of grasshoppers or field mice. Carrion, also and ripe, is to him a delicacy.

Now, don't misunderstand me. I am not in any sense a fanatic. However, I spend a great deal of time in the outdoors. In addition, I have several friends who are biologists, and I have talked to them about foxes.

From my own observations and from the evidence I have read in reports on their conservation commission these are readily available to interested sportsmen) and to keep themselves posted on game management methods, they would learn a great deal of interest about the part of this unloved fox among these things would be the inescapable fact that the fox is not the double-dyed villain that some folks think him to be.

Head of Indians Scores Shutout Against Bulldogs

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

One of the smallest goaltenders in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League Friday night turned in the biggest job a goalkeeper has performed this season.

He's Bob Gray, 135-pound netminder for Stratford Indians, registered the first shutout of the OHA Senior A season as Indians defeated Windsor Bulldogs 4-0.

The results of the games sent Stratford into second place in the standings with 16 points, six behind Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen and one ahead of Windsor. Chatham, in last place with 12 points, moved to within a point of the Mercurys who are two behind third-place Windsor.

STOPPED 26

The five-foot, nine-inch Head of the brilliant shutout Friday fired 26 hosts at him. Bruce Dale, who joined Windsor in a trade with Stratford a few days ago, was busy as he stopped 41 shots.

Stratford's Bob Dunlop Flanagan wrapped up the scoring with three goals in the first period. They added another before a goal by John Lumley at 11:32 of the second period spoiled Marv Edwards' second bid of the night for nets.

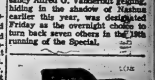
Court Awards Trenton Youth $50,000 Damages

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Mr. Justice J. M. King Friday awarded $50,000 damages to a 19-year-old Trenton youth who was permanently injured in an accident at nearby Tremblin in August, 1954.

The defendant, Alexander Miller, believed to be a Londoner cannot be found.

An Ottawa neurologist, Dr. Denis White, testified that Burnis Dwane Guy suffered permanent injury when the motorcycle he was riding collided with a car driven by Miller.



Dr. White said that Guy — a bricklayer at the time of the accident — will never be able to do any manual labor, unless directed, for the rest of his life, as a result of his injuries.

He said Guy had no chance of earning a living now and is likely to be a charge on the community until his death. Gordon Henry Guy sued on his son's behalf. Damages totalling $80,000 were sought. The award was awarded $1,700.

Since the defendant cannot be found, the award must be paid from the Ontario Unsatisfied Judgments Fund.

"A Good Place to Deal"

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Not in a million years could the stories be told about all the amazing deals that could come out of one bridge pack. After a while even the most unusual may seem to become commonplace.

A deal to arouse your imagination is the one seen here:

	♥10 9 8 7 ♦3 ♣8 5 2	♥Q ♦J 10 9 8 7 ♣K 10 9 6 3
	SOUTH ♠A 5 7 ♥A K ♦K 6 5 4 2 ♣A Q
WEST ♠J 5 4 3 2 ♥ ♦ ♣		EAST ♠K

The players did some plain and fancy card work in the bidding. Upshot of it all was that south became declarer at a doubled grand slam in no-trump. The opening lead from west was the heart ten.

This ran around to the south hand's king. A diamond let dummy cash ace and queen. Return of a small spade knocked off the king to south's ace. South cashed the diamond king, leaving east with two bare.

A spade was finessed by north nine. A return heart went to the south ace. Another spade was finessed with dummy's ten. On these last three tricks, east shucked his three smallest clubs.

Dummy now cashed the spade queen on which east could still afford to throw a diamond and south also shed a diamond. Dummy then cashed his heart jack and on this trick there was trouble for east.

If east jettisoned his last diamond, south would shed club jack, a club would be finessed by south queen. This would make a club ace and a tiny south diamond good for the setting trick.

So east jack, should east throw a club? If he does, south will fire his last diamond. A third finesse will give south the remaining tricks with the three clubs he still has.

Ordinarily, a squeeze does not start until the 11th trick; in some cases at the 10th; rarely at the 9th; hardly ever at the 8th. So, you are looking at a novelty among novelties.

But it is not this that hits me with the deal. It is the fact that south believes he was right in bidding a no-trump grand slam. And now he insists he should have redoubled. How crazy can they get?

Irvin Bit More Enthusiastic Over Chances of N.Y. Rangers

By RON ANDREWS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Dick Irvin has changed his mind. He's not sure now that Montreal Canadiens will win the National Hockey League title in a breeze.

New York Rangers have made him do a little back-tracking on his early-season prediction that the Habs were in and the other five clubs may as well be content to fight it out for second place.

Irvin, the former Montreal coach who is now piloting Chicago Black Hawks, says:

"When I said Canadiens would wind up in first place, 10 games ahead of the pack, I, like many others, didn't count on Rangers being the powerhouse they are now."

Irvin even went as far as to say that Rangers might finish right up on top. The New Yorkers are in second place with 24 points, four behind Montreal.

"I thought that since Montreal was the only team which hadn't undergone drastic changes, it would be set to roll right away," Irvin said in an interview Friday night. "It takes time for a revamped team to get the hang of things. While the other five clubs have experimenting, Montreal would be winning. At least that's the way I had it figured."

Irvin, who goes along with just about everybody in the league, said Rangers are the hottest team in the NHL because they are scoring plenty of goals while their opponents aren't getting many.

But don't count Irvin's own Hawks out. Although he is careful not to predict where his team would finish, Irvin did say that it would take great teams to keep the Black Hawks from the Stanley Cup playoffs next spring.

"We are in third place but we should be in second," he said. "We've only got seven games left with the Detroit Red Wings. And getting ice against them as we did in the first seven games, has kept us in the running."

Chicago won one, tied four and lost only two of those seven games against Wings but still trails by 14 points. That's as many points as Hawks were able to gain against Detroit in the two previous seasons, or 28 games.

'My Favorite Husband' First Casualty of New TV Season

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The first casualty of the new television season is "My Favorite Husband," and this week actor Barry Nelson held a wake for it.

Well, it wasn't really a wake. Barry and his beauteous wife Teresa gave a party at their hillside home to fete the friends they've scarcely had time to see during his 24 years with "Husband." Among the guests: Edmund Purdom with Linda Christian, Ed Duffy's rookie Gardner, Don Taylor, Mary Shipp and Vanessa Brown, Barry's co-star on the show.

Conversation naturally got around to the late "Husband," which did wonderfully well as a live show (with Barry and Joan Caulfield) in its first year, 20-60 the second. After 13 weeks this year as a filmed show with Nelson and Miss Brown, it was cancelled.

RELUCTANT SPONSOR

How come?

"I don't know exactly," replied Barry. "There is some evidence that it wasn't meant to last, that the sponsor accepted the show somewhat reluctantly.

"It's a shame, because the show did have promise at the first. It was superbly written and directed. Later, the original viewpoint was clouded. This year we had 10 new writers on the show.

"That might be all right on a show where the characters are clearly defined. But when you have different writers working on the characters we played, you end up with only an outer shell."

The demise of the show ended an ironic footnote in TV history. At the end of last season, Nelson stated publicly that he wanted off the show. As it turned out, his co-star, Joan Caulfield, made the escape and Nelson remained. It was just as well that one of them left since tension had developed between them.

What are Nelson's plans now?

"I've got some things coming up in TV and a couple of plays to consider," he said.

It's significant that his plans don't include movies. "I think a lot of actors make a mistake in rushing from the stage and TV into pictures," he explained. "Unless you do something really important, you can hurt yourself in the other two mediums."

AT THE BELLE — Music and Drama-tics is the highlight of "Mister Roberts" at the Belleville Theatre due to James Cagney's debut as Captain Morton in the "Warner Bros. production of "Mister Roberts" which opens Monday at the Belleville Theatre. Cagney co-stars in the CinemaScope film in the role of the Chicago promoter who inspired Mike Wing in a sensational shooting scandal.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Super sensitiveness and too much attachment to outmoded methods are the tendencies to conquer now. Be as logical as you expect the other person to be. And keep smiling.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — It is easy to act without thinking sometimes, but there is no excuse for this procedure except when emergency demands — and even then one should have some know-how and past experience to guide.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Avoid rebuffs philosophically. Be selective in associations and decisions. Gather facts and opinions thoughtfully, and learn while you listen.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Take a rather quiet outlook and relax your nerves. You will have renewed vigor and clearer vision when you regain start work. Read, brush up on acultural pastime.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Put emphasis on the right things and do what you should at the proper time. With imagination, perception and dexterity, you can produce fine results now. Be careful in your choice of associates.

August 22 to September 23 (Virgo) — Note the objections of others and ascertain why they may have them. Think before you act. Give your family the benefit of a happier day by sharing your pleasures with them.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Give as much of your mind and energy as you can to your loved ones. Think twice before voicing opinions.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — The right start before any cause, so get off to your church, and try to have someone to go who may be wavering.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Be careful in finances but not necessarily frugal. Here's much great moral strength to be gained!

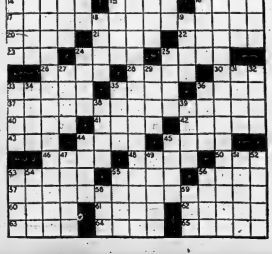
Venture some for true gains; the freer unruly advances and, with practicality and stability, reach a notable heights, makes new trends.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Plan for the coming week. This can eliminate delays and advance your urges considerably. Make decisions after thorough investigation only. Surgery, children's interests, home handsy highly favored.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Today calls for punctuality and strength of purpose. Build security with devotion to your religion and the things of the mind, for then you can face all obstacles with courage.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Don't "hide" from anything that displeases you. Face it and alter if you should, or treat it as one of life's challenges —to be met squarely and confidently.

YOU BORN TODAY are innately jovial, hopeful and charitable. You make excellent husbands and wives, especially because of your ability to cope with routine and to forge ahead despite setbacks. You have little patience with vague ideas or indecision; are fond of sports, travel. Fields where you can excel especially: Promotion, banking, statesmanship, photography, research, stagecraft, teaching. Forestall fatigue by having sufficient rest. Eat sensibly; don't indulge in heated discussions. Your outstanding asset is your ability to save time and words.



ASKS NEW SYSTEM

LONDON .(Reuters)—The number of persons listed as patients of London doctors under Britain's national health plan exceeds the total population of the capital by more than 6,400. The London executive council of the health service, revealing this figure, called on the ministry of health to overhaul the registration system to ensure that no patient appears on more than one doctor's list.

FOR THE YOUNG CROWD

WHAT COULD BE NICER THAN A Bike Dawson, on the Little Dipper. The rough, tough miners and gamblers who swarmed into the Klondike country when gold was discovered there named their town in his honor and it is still one of the most colorful centres in Canada. Dawson.

George Mercer Dawson was born in an old stone house within the present confines of Queen's University. His father, Sir William Dawson, was principal of the institution and George grew up on the campus. An invalid from childhood, he was unable to go to school regularly and took only a part course at McGill. Yet when he went to London's Royal School of Mines, he graduated at the head of his class and won all the major prizes.

HEADED SURVEY

Dawson came back to Canada an assistant geologist with the survey and in 1873, because of his great knowledge, he was appointed to the commission. On New Year's day in 1885, he was named head of the Canadian Geological Survey and his great work on the Pacific Coast began.

The boy who had gone to the School of Mines in a wheelchair, began cruising wild, unknown rivers in a canoe, sometimes portaging as far as 30 miles. He surveyed new areas and led many expeditions into the Yukon where his maps were so thorough that when the gold rush began, they were published as accurate guides to the goldfields.

No trail was too rough for the Little Doctor. No danger was too great. The work he performed equalled in importance that of Mackenzie and Fraser and all the other great explorers who had gone before him. He was a man with a small body but great spirit and will always be remembered in the Canadian North.

Compromise On Algeria Ends French Walkout

By JACK BEST
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) —The UN assembly and France are together again after an eight-week estrangement.

Less than two hours after the assembly's unanimous decision to drop debate on Algeria Friday, Paris announced that the French delegation will return to the UN.

The announcement was received "with great satisfaction" by Canada's UN contingent. The return of our colleagues of the French delegation augurs well for the renewal of not only a pleasant but a profitable association," Health Minister Paul Martin said in a statement.

The assembly's quick compromise took only seven minutes to reach the decision paving the way for France's return. It adopted without opposition an Indian proposal not to consider Algeria, with a rider that the assembly therefore was no longer "seized" with the item.

MAY ARISE LATER

Shortly afterward the assembly met in plenary session and quickly approved a committee recommendation. Arab speakers emphasized, by mention, again without opposition, however, that the decision applied only to this assembly, and indicated they may bring Algeria up next year if they consider that conditions in the French African territory so warrant.

France withdrew its delegation Sept. 30 after the item was inscribed, stating that Algeria was a domestic concern and hence outside the assembly's jurisdiction.

Canadian delegates expressed confidence that France's return will facilitate efforts to get 18 countries admitted to the UN. They had co-operated in framing the compromise under French insistence on outright deletion of the item and in opposition to a full-scale debate.

The Canadians said Frnace would be more disposed to support their resolution calling for the admission of five Communist and 13 non-Communist states if she were in the assembly. Health Minister Martin said the resolution now has 27 co-sponsors, Chile and Ethiopia have recently been added to the list.

YOUR CAR

Tire Pressures Affect Car Steering

By EUGENE MILMOE

Ask an experienced front - end mechanic and he will tell you many steering troubles are due to nothing more than improper tire inflation.

Take a common complaint, wheel shimmy and tramp. The symptoms are a shaky steering wheel plus a tramping or galloping effect when the car is moving at high speeds. There are many possible causes, but a leading one is low or uneven front tire pressure!

The front tires may also be at fault if the car steers hard, pulls to one side or seems to wander and weaves slightly even on a smooth, uncrowned road.

Naturally, when you find tire inflation is not to blame for your steering troubles, your best bet is to put your car in the safe hands of a front - end specialist.

PUMP-UNSTEADY

From A.C.: "After considerable trouble with my fuel pump, it was replaced and the fuel lines were blown out and inspected for leaks. Yet there is no noticeable improvement. The pump does not seem to draw a steady, adequate supply of gas for the carburetor. Can you suggest any reason for this?"

(A) This type of fuel pump trouble is sometimes traced to the gas tank vent-a closed - filler pipe or vent prevents the pump from drawing gas properly.

W.M. writes: "For the first ten months of my 1954 sedan ran fine. Now whenever I go over a rough, bumpy road or over railroad tracks, and when I stop suddenly, the car stalls. The carburetor was inspected, overhauled and adjusted. Later, a new dashpot was put in, but the car still stalls. What can I do about it?"

(A) Check the bolts holding the intake manifold to the engine. If there is looseness here, jarring and bouncing may permit enough air leakage to stall the engine. While you're at it, see that the carburetor is tightly connected to the intake manifold.

FALTERS AT 60

W.C. asks: "My 1954 hardtop convertible runs perfectly except for one thing. Every time I drive over 60 mph., it seems to heat-late slightly and lose some power. At all other speeds, you could not find a smoother, less trouble-some car. Can you explain what sort of engine trouble would bring about such unusual performance?"

(A) The carburetor, not the engine, is at fault and the trouble is not as unusual as you might think. A too-lean adjustment of the metering rod is responsible.

A.L. writes: "My radiator keeps losing water through the overflow pipe, but I don't know why. I tried a new pressure cap, a new thermostat and had the radiator boiled out. The water pump and fan belt are both OK. Can you help? The car has 1950 six-cylinder model."

(A) It is possible exhaust gases are escaping into the cooling system because of a head gasket leak, and are forcing water out through the radiator overflow.

Garden Notes

Roses Need Careful Attention

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

It is time to give your roses winter protection.

The hybrid teas, polyanthas, and floribundas should have soil hilled up around them to a depth of eight-to-ten inches. The more top growth you save the better and more numerous next years roses will be for rose buds form on last year's wood, if possible, bring soil from another part of the garden. It is also a good plan to mulch the rose bed between the mounds and over them with loose straw, hardwood leaves, or shredded corn stalks.

For climbing roses, other than the rambler type, unfasten the canes from their supports and lay them on the ground. Roll sods or make a low bank of soil next to the canes at ground level and lay the canes over this to prevent cracking the canes. Cover with more soil, having first pegged the canes down with heavy wire, or wood. If it seems impossible to bend the canes without breaking them, they can be wrapped in corn stocks and burlap and tied at 18 inch intervals. Mound soil well around their roots as with dwarf types.

Tree roses, or standard roses should be well wrapped in corn-stock, excelsior, straw and burlap. Some gardeners sew the sacking in place with a large needle. Place a strong stake near the rose tree and anchor it well to prevent wind damage.

On some estates wooden boxes are built to provide protection. for tree roses they loosen the soil at one side so the root will bend and allow the tree to be laid along the ground. The sides of the box are put over the rose, sawdust or sandy soil is piled in and the mound covered with tar paper. Finally the top of the box is nailed, or screwed in place. This method requires considerable storage space for the boxes, and is rather expensive. Most roses will winter well with mounded soil.

Newly planted shrubs—those in not more than two years—should have winter protection if they are in an exposed position or inclined to be semi-hardy for your part of the country.

Newly planted evergreens need this protection too. You can erect a wind-break by placing three strong stakes west and north of the shrub, and fastening burlap in it to the west and north wind. This will not both wind and sun-burn.

Foundation planting can be saved from avalanches of snow sliding off the roof if placed well out from the house. Loose growing types of evergreen should be tied to a center stake to prevent heavy loads and snow and ice splitting the branches. When there is a heavy fall of wet snow shake it off before it has a chance to melt and freeze.

Place a heavy mulch around new shrubs and evergreens, but not until the ground is firmly frozen.

Transplant one or more of each of your favorite chrysanthemums to the cold frame in case those in the border are winter—killed. Apply a light mulch of leaves to the border when the round freezes, and hold the leaves in place with branches, or wire. Fruit tree leaves make excellent mulch material.

BOTH, FORRESTER IN MAYORALTY FIGHT

5-Teen-Age Girls Kill Home Matron At Akron, Ohio

Stuff Ammonia-Soaked Rag In Mouth of Bound Victim

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Five young girls tricked a grey-haired matron into unlocking their door in the Summit county detention home Sunday night, killed her and escaped through a basement window they smashed with a shovel.

Early today, two of the girls—Meri Cain and Margaret Nicholson, both 15—walked into the police station and surrendered. Still at large were Ruth Belchler, 17; Shirley Singler, 15 and Mrs. Zelda de Cost, 16.

The body of the matron, 59-year-old Miss Hulda Denham, was found lying on the floor of the girl's second-floor dormitory in the two-storey brick building. Her arms and legs had been bound with cloth strips and a pair of housedresses the girls wore as detention-home garb. A washrag, soaked with ammonia the girls had saved from their cleaning chores, was jammed in her mouth.

ATTACKED MATRON

When the matron entered the dormitory, the five attacked her and bore her to the floor where they bound her. The belts were tied so tightly that another attendant was unable to loosen them. A male attendant finally cut the belts with a knife.

The other girls in the dormitory said the five had been rehearsing the escape for some time but had threatened to kill them if they told anyone. The ammonia rag was collected in a cold-cream jar.

Four of the escapees were from Akron. Police said the fifth, Mrs. de Cost, was the wife of a fugitive who had escaped from a prison in West Virginia. She was arrested involved in the kidnapping of a man's wallet. Ruth Belchler was brought here from Ohio, to testify in the trial of a man accused of contributing to her delinquency.

Remove Official Who Called Red 'Hypocritical'

LONDON (Reuters) — The foreign office has removed from the chairmanship of the Labor press conference the spokesman who last week described statements by Soviet leaders as "thoroughly hypocritical."

The spokesman had taken the daily conference for correspondents from all over the world in London for the last 10 years.

Today the conference was held by Sir George Young, head of the foreign office news department. Sidney Dunlop, of the Daily Mirror, Mr. Moore, will take the chair in future, it was stated. The former spokesman was not identified at the conference.

The sharp foreign office statement last week described Russian Premier Bulganin as "thoroughly hypocritical" in a speech he had made in New Delhi. Bulganin had assailed British policy over the Suez, allegedly backing down in disarmament negotiations at the Geneva Big Four foreign ministers' conference earlier this month.

The foreign office spokesman's rejoinder at the time was considered an unusually strong retort for the diplomatic world.

Arab Marksmen Slay Peacemaker

JERUSALEM (AP) — A tall, haggard man of about 30 told Israeli officials here several days ago that he planned to cross the Israel-Jordan frontier under a white flag to induce the Arabs to make peace with Israel.

Officials said the man, a recent immigrant from Morocco named Yoseph Cohen, that his idea was impractical. Cohen said he would try his one-man peace mission anyway.

The man's government announced Sunday that Arab Legionnaires shot and killed the peacemaker as he was wading in the no man's land between the Israeli and Jordanian armistice demarcation lines in Jerusalem.

Lawyer's Home Robbery Scene

TORONTO (CP)—Thieves looted the home of a Toronto lawyer Sunday night of furs worth $15,000 to $20,000 worth of furs and jewels, police said today.

Vernon Armstrong told police the burglars took two mink and one ermine coat, three 4-in-hand neckpieces, a sapphire ring and two diamond stickpins.

THIEVES STEAL ARMS

MONTREAL (CP) — Thieves broke into the International Firearms Company in downtown Montreal Sunday and escaped with what police described as one of the biggest arms hauls in years. They said between 25 and 40 medium and heavy calibre revolvers and pistols, 11 rifles and shotguns and six high-powered air pistols were stolen.

WEST COAST CITY BACK TO NORMAL AFTER CUP BINGE

Best Sport Spectacle West Has Ever Seen

VANCOUVER (CP) — Aided by pills and ice-packs, this west coast city relieved its collective headache and staged a perfect Grey Cup carnival today after the smashing, week-end Grey Cup binge.

The city's biggest party of all time is over. But the grim task of facing Blue Monday was eased somewhat by the memory of the greatest sport spectacle the West has ever witnessed.

Gone were the bands, the hunting and fishing Grey Cup celebrations that heralded and followed the Canadian football classic which saw Edmonton Eskimos ride roughshod over Montreal Alouettes with a 34-19 victory. Also gone were the fans are still playing the game over again, reliving the thrilling moments.

Snow and freezing rain from a Pacific storm early Sunday replaced the cloudy but dry weather that had favored Grey Cup celebrants Saturday.

PLANES GROUNDED

Liveliest spots were the train terminals where fans gathered enough strength for one last burst of fun before embarking on the long trip home. Some 4,000 fans left by Canadian National Railways Saturday and Sunday — about 3,000 of them bound for Edmonton. The departure of more than 2,000 fans by five special Canadian Pacific Railway trains was quiet and orderly.

Hundreds of cowgirls and cowboys — their horses long since gone — and chuckwagons stowed away Cup was final until the Edmonton victory in the station concourse. A set of white lights was installed as prairie fans had their last fling to the skirl of pipes of the Toronto girls band.

Mayors Elected In 39 Centres

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Seven of Ontario's 25 cities declared mayors by acclamation during a quiet municipal election day for the province's annual civic elections.

In 38 of Ontario's 345 towns mayors were acclaimed without a ballot.

Scores were acclaimed in at least 10 of Ontario's 161 incorporated villages.

Most of these cities, towns and villages will hold civic elections in

FIRST TO VOTE

Today's first vote Wasaga Beach on Georgian bay near Collingwood held its election Saturday. Residents cast ballots in election day year.

Village officials said a record number of voters cast ballots. Wilfred Nash was elected reeve when he polled a total of 133 votes to 132 polled by his opponent, James Kennell.

No Election In Brockville

BROCKVILLE (CP)—There will be no municipal election here this year, the first time within memory of local civic officials.

Mayor Jack Langmuir, at 34 the town's youngest mayor, was returned by acclamation for a second term, as were members of council and public utilities commission.

A vote on two-year terms for mayor and council was deferred until next year in which elections will be held.

Arctic Sorties Never So Difficult As Saving Men from Stranded Ship

HALIFAX (CP)—A naval helicopter pilot who once flew Arctic sorties said he had never encountered conditions to match those under which he helped rescue a Greek seamen from the foundering freighter Clement II Saturday.

Lt.-Cmdr. Roger Fink of Ponoka, Alta., onetime "copter pilot aboard the patrol vessel Labrador, and Lt.-Cmdr. John Beeman of Montreal and Fort William, pulled off the daring rescue at the base of a 1,000-foot cliff in high winds.

Beeman, who flew the mission to the deck of the grounded ship, said his leg was so sore from working the rudder he couldn't stop it from shaking.

The seamen were taken to safety in three groups of four and one of seven after 29 hours aboard the Liberian freighter being pounded to pieces on rocks at Cape Lawrence, N. S., an isolated point of rock in northern Cape Breton. On all four trips the aircraft landed on the ship's after deck.

Fink, Beeman, and Lt.-Cmdr. Beeman, "but if I were to do it over again I'd use the same crew." Lt.-Cmdr. Fink agreed with him.

With winds gusting to 70 miles an hour Saturday, Beeman and Fink made their first attempt on a near water level and inched along the side of the 1,000-foot cliff. When the wind was right, they skipped through the ocean spray to catch the deck of the punctured freighter. With four nerve-racking trips they completed the rescue.

The pilots said the Greek sailors when rescued were about the happiest men they had ever seen.

"The captain just broke down and cried," said Lt.-Cmdr. Beeman, "and the first fellow we took aboard pressed one of our crew and kissed him."

Killer's Ingenious Suicide Trick Almost Fooled Police

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—Police say today they have ruled out a "third man" theory in a double shooting at nearby Larder Lake Sunday.

They have reverted to their original theory that the deaths of Mike Woloszczyn, 33, and Vassal Karly, 31, were murder and suicide.

Woloszczyn was shot to death in his living quarters at the Windsor Hotel. Karly was found dead of gun wounds in the Hotel The Radio a few blocks away.

For a time today police said, they thought Karly slew Woloszczyn then in turn was slain by a third person.

But Karl had apparently secured the 28-gauge shotgun, with which he killed himself, on clothes pegs in such a way that it would discharge when pulled toward his body. The impact of the shot hurled him across the room.

The peculiarity of the arrangement Karly had perfected for his own death made police think for a time that he might have been shot by someone else. The shotgun was discharging fell into a clothes peg on the wall as though it had been placed there.

The .32-calibre automatic pistol with which he had shot Woloszczyn was lying on a table in a corner about the right foot of Karly's body.

Police who investigated the shotgun broke open the breach and a recently-fired shell fell to the floor. The ammunition for the weapon, Karly had died from a shotgun blast.

Inspector Ward H. Kennedy, from provincial police headquarters in Toronto, has flown to Kirkland Lake to take charge of the investigation.

Woloszczyn was killed by a revolver bullet through his temple. Woloszczyn had sold his hotel Saturday to W. A. Marcotte of Sudbury. Police took over running their belongings in their room when Karly walked in. Also in the room was a visiting neighbor, Joe Krawchuk.

Karly sat down and a general conversation followed. Money was not mentioned. Then Krawchuk left the room.

"I had walked about 30 feet down the hall when I heard two shots," Krawchuk said. "I turned and heard Mike's wife, Vera, scream that Mike had been shot. Then Karly came out of the room.

"He had a revolver in his hand as he approached me. 'Look out' he said. I raised my hands as he walked past me down the stairs and out of the building."

Mrs. Woloszczyn told police there had been trouble until her husband got up to go on an errand soon after Krawchuk had left.

Karly returned with a gun from his pocket and fired one shot and missed," she said. "Then he fired again and Mike fell down. I screamed and threw a bottle at Karly but my aim was bad. Then I picked up a chair and held it in front of me. I heard two clicks and then Karly walked out."

Provincial police found Karly in his hotel. They said he had been shot to death.

Mrs. Woloszczyn said Woloszczyn had lost Karly sums of money over the last two years and was fearful of losing the debt mounting, secured the debt with a mortgage on Karly's hotel.

British Troops in Cyprus Under Stern Service Discipline

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters) — British troops under stern service discipline in preparation for a hard campaign against terrorists using newly proclaimed emergency regulations.

The thousands of soldiers and airmen on this British Mediterranean island have been empowered to be "temporarily subject to the Army Act as if they were on active service" in a statement signed by Governor Sir John Harding.

The proclamation followed Harding's announcement of a state of emergency throughout the troubled island last Saturday after outbreaks of rioting and bombings by terrorists backing Cypriot independence and union with Greece.

One of the effects of the Army Act proclamation will be that troops will come under military law instead of civil courts if they shoot civilians, and in similar cases. Soldiers on duty are liable to trial for "civilian" offences when this usually amounts to a mere technicality.

The Army Act proclamation is effective for three months and can be renewed. The statement said it was being brought into effect "by reason of the imminence of active service."

British troops prepared for fresh violence after the terrorist organization EOKA warned in leaflets Sunday that "the final battle is coming."

Seven bomb or grenade explosions took place within 24 hours after Harding Saturday declared a state of emergency providing death sentences for a wide range of offences.

Archbishop Makarios, leader of the Greek Cypriots who want Cyprus with Greece, said in a statement Sunday that the state of emergency will only make the situation more acute.

U.S. Surplus Sale Program Demoralizes Wheat Markets

CALGARY (CP)—Trade Minister Howe said today the world's wheat markets are demoralized by the United States' surplus disposal program.

Mr. Howe, in a speech to the Alberta wheat pool here, said sales of Canadian wheat so far this crop year are slightly below those for the last crop year.

"The reasons are not far to seek. European crops are better, ocean shipping is scarce and high-priced and markets generally are demoralized by U. S. surplus disposal methods."

He said he is inclined to think, however, that volume of Canadian wheat sales and exports will improve later in the year.

Mr. Howe said Canada and the U. S. should establish a permanent consultative committee to discuss grain problems at monthly meetings. He added:

"We have told our American friends quite frankly that we regard some of their recent actions as definitely not our idea of Canada's interests but to the international interests of all countries, including their own.

"We have warned them that their methods of surplus disposal could bring about price collapse and still leave them with their surpluses. . . ."

Mr. Howe said low wheat prices in the 1930s, when No. 1 northern was worth less than 20¢ cents a bushel at Alberta delivery points, did not increase sales.

New Commodore

KINGSTON (CP) — Richard Fielding, Toronto, was elected commodore of the Canadian Boating Federation at the annual general meeting of the federation here Sunday.

He succeeds Reginald F. Sparks also of Toronto, who resigned after six years in office. J. W. C. Langley of Brockville was elected treasurer.

"In fact, sales fell by 50 per cent at the same time as prices fell to the lowest levels ever recorded in history."

Yet, he said:

"Canadian people, including some sincere and well-meaning critics of the present system of marketing, contend that the way to sell more wheat is to let it go for what it will bring in the open market; in other words: open the market and let 'er rip."

Mr. Howe said the present system of selling all Canadian wheat through the Canadian wheat board has enabled farmers to market more grain at higher, more stable prices than ever before.

"The main problem in dealing with surpluses is, and always has been, to achieve international cooperation."

The remarks were included in a text of a speech issued to the press before delivery.

BANDITS TIE UP FAMILY, ESCAPE WITH $20,000

Cornwall Supermarket Manager Kidnapped

CORNWALL (CP) — For more than four hours Sunday a mother and her family were held captive by bandits who took over their home and forced the father to go with them to open his supermarket safe that provided $20,000 in cash.

The bandits escaped with the money. Behind them they left two men, two women and two children bound and gagged but otherwise unharmed. A third child, five years old, was untouched in her bed.

It was Sunday morning before police was arrested. William Siata, 30, of Chesterville, Ont., was picked up in Brantford — 30 miles west of the holdup scene — and booked in the Brant county court.

It was expected Siata will be picked up today by Cornwall police and returned here. Police said he was known to them for some months ago. He lived previously in Ottawa and the Cornwall area.

Siata was being held for at least one, and possibly three, other men.

NO RESISTANCE

Siata apprehended as he was about to step into a parked car on Church street, Brantford, said he was unarmed, and offered no resistance.

The holdup had its beginning at 11:15 p.m. EST Saturday when the thugs broke into the home of Victor DesGroselliers, manager of the Dominion store here. It ended around 5 a.m. Sunday when the men fled from the store, on Augustus street in the heart of Cornwall, with the $20,000 in a satchel.

Mr. DesGroselliers was pushed under a store counter before the bandits left. He was bound and had his mouth sealed by adhesive tape. Mr. DesGroselliers, who suffers from a heart condition, was put under a doctor's care shortly after he worked free of his bonds and called police.

Mrs. DesGroselliers, son Robert, 10, and Roland, 5, daughter Ghislaine, 29, and her boy friend, Jeremy Lemoine, 30, were tied to chairs at the house in east Cornwall. They were also gagged. They were just breaking themselves free when Mr. DesGroselliers and Ghislaine arrived at the house.

WERE POLITE

The gunmen, Mrs. DesGrosellier said, were polite. She said they even laughed and joked between the raids. They fled and untied Ghislaine's hands to make sure she was comfortable.

Mr. and Mrs. DesGrosellier were out visiting friends when the first was made. Mrs. DesGrosellier was home with Roland and a sister, Louise, 5.

Charge of Wounding

TORONTO (CP) — Police said Mrs. Mary McDonald, 31, was arrested today on a charge of wounding with intent to maim in connection with the stabbing of her husband Ewen, 35.

Police said they were called to the McDonald house by Mrs. McDonald's mother. She told police an ambulance, McDonald was bleeding from a knife in the chest and head, police said.

Doctors said his wounds were not serious.

Campaign to Get Bigger Share Of Tourist Dollar Is Advocated

OTTAWA (CP) — A stepped-up campaign to get a bigger share of the Canadian tourist dollar for Canada was advocated by Trade and Commerce Minister Leslie Frost at the opening of the 1956 federal-provincial tourist conference.

Mr. Lesage, welcoming delegates from every province, said 1956 has been a "good" tourist year but competition was increasing. While more Canadians took vacations in their own country this year, the percentage going abroad also increased.

He said only 47 per cent of all adult Canadians had been in two provinces during their entire lives or a lifetime; 26 per cent had been in only one other province and 27 per cent had never visited any other province.

Mr. Lesage reported that foreign tourists spent some $300,000,000 in Canada this year, a good deal more "but not good enough." The number of Americans visiting Canada rose about four per cent and the month of October had been the best in history with 1,914,870 visitors from the U. S.

D. Leo Dolan, head of the Canadian travel bureau, told of plans to spend some $800,000 in advertising in U. S. newspapers and magazines in 1956. The bureau's free booklet "Canada" is also for tourists was to be expanded.

Fourteen Qualify For Aldermen; 2 Run For P.U.C.

Elections in Three Wards For School Boards' Seats

On Monday, December 5, an election will be held in Belleville for most municipal posts, including those for separate school trustees in two wards and for public school trustee in one ward. New nominations will have to be called for a separate school trustee for Foster Ward. The only nominee for that position, Maurice Callaghan, did not file qualification papers. Deadline for qualifications was 5 p.m. Saturday.

It will be a straight fight for the office of mayor with John Both seeking his third term of office. He is opposed by ex-Alderman Jane Forrester, who resigned her seat to council to contest the mayoralty.

There are fourteen candidates for the seven aldermanic seats on city council with all seven of last year's aldermen again in the field.

Present aldermen seeking re-election in the municipal elections one week from today are: William Agnew, Bren Humphreys, Arthur Keegan, Douglas Mosier, Benjamin Safe, Bruce H. Smith and Claude D. Tice. Other aspirants for the seven seats on council are: Leo W. Bird, George DeVyvyt, Francis Hallora, Charles L. Leyden, Harold Mc-Dr. John S. Stock and Robert Temple.

A two-way fight for the office of public utilities commission has also been scented with the present member, John A. Wesse, seeking a second term of office. Mr. Wesse was named to the utilities post following the death of Mayor "Sandy" Lemmins. He will be opposed by ex-Alderman Donald A. Thomas.

James Ritchie and Marshall Richards will contest the public school seat for Sammy Ward. Mr. Ritchie is the sitting member.

Two trustees elected by acclamation are:

Public school Trustees—Foster, George Olsen; Ketcheson, Wm. A. Van Tassell, Baldwin, Mrs. Dorothy Tugwell Beleckey, Dr. J. Russell Scott; Coleman, Morley J. Loveless; Murney, William A. Ironside.

Separate School Trustees—Sammon, Michael J. Lynch; Ketcheson, Richard Z. Barrett; Bleecker, Edward Bernard Coleman, J. Raphael Rashotte.

Canada Will Lend Frigates to Norway

"OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian navy is planning to lend three frigates, which would otherwise be in reserve, to the Royal Norwegian Navy early next year.

An announcement by Defence Minister Campney today said a diplomatic agreement for the loan is expected to be concluded shortly.

Under present plans, he said, the anti-submarine vessels will be transferred before the end of March, remaining on active service as part of NATO strength.

Swimming Pool Fever Affected Many in Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—A rare disease which causes high fever, and sore muscles, affected thousands of persons in Toronto last summer, it was reported today.

Doctors said it was the first time pharyngeal, or EPC, fever was reported in Canada. Two outbreaks have been noted recently in the United States. It strikes at eyes, ears and throat.

Dr. H. L. Ormsby of the department of ophthalmology and bacteriology at the University of Toronto, said the disease is spread through public swimming pools. It is so highly infectious that in a number of homes the entire family was affected, he said.

Symptoms do not appear in every case. The virus could be spread through the water at popular summer resorts, swimming centres.

HIGHLY RESISTANT

In some cases where adults were stricken, the disease affected their eyes for as long as six months. In children, the fever which climbed as high as 105 degrees, usually abated within five days.

The U. S. national institute of health had developed an experimental vaccine which proved effective in combatting the disease.

He said the virus is resistant to antibiotics and to chlorine. Chlorine also was reported ineffective in destroying it in swimming pools.

Says Reds Store Nuclear Weapons At Yalu Port

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Tatao news agency, operated by the Chinese Nationalist government here, says Soviet Russia has stored nuclear weapons at the Manchurian port of Antung at the mouth of the Yalu river.

There is no way of confirming this report, which the agency claims to have received from underground contacts at Mukden, Manchuria.

The polling booth for Ketcheson ? has been moved from 29 Turnbull street to the Board of Education office at 226 John Street according to Acting Clerk, Mrs. Anne Haggerty. J. L. (Roy) Atyeo Completes 44 Years Service With CNR

Forty-four years' service with the old Grand Trunk and with the Canadian National Railways, was ended here Friday noon, when Engineer J. L. (Roy) Atyeo, 346 Charles Street, brought the International Limited in from Toronto to receive a spirited greeting from family members and friends.

The east end of the platform at the north station was jammed with well wishers when No. 14 train ground to a stop and Mr. Atyeo stepped down from his cab for the last time. Mr. Atyeo brought his last train in right on time.

Thus ended a railway career which Mr. Atyeo commenced back in November, 1912, when he signed on as a fireman with the old G.T.R.

A native of Vineland in the Niagara Peninsula, Mr. Atyeo decided to make a railway career and with his eye on an engineer's role went to Toronto where he obtained a job and was sent to Belleville, where he started work. He has lived in Belleville ever since, his entire railway career.

He was classed as an engineer in 1917, served again briefly as a fireman during the depression in the hungry thirties and for the past seven years has been continuously on passenger service.

During his lengthy railway career Mr. Atyeo has served on every type of C.N.R. passenger train ranging from local freights to the fast passenger service. He operated diesels briefly before he was transferred exclusively to passenger service seven years ago.

PROUD OF RAILWAY CAREER

Mr. Atyeo is proud of his railway career which was ended without a serious accident.

But he had a number of narrow escapes and says that collisions racing the train to the crossing is "one of the reasons why engineers hair turns grey".

Now with his career as a railroader at an end, Mr. Atyeo intends to get in a bit more fishing and his woodworking shop is expected to demand much attention.

"Mrs. Atyeo and I would like to do a bit of travelling," he said "and we would like to see a lot of our grandchildren."

Mr. and Mrs. Atyeo have four children, two sons who have made names for themselves in their chosen professional field, and two daughters.

Eldest son is Gerald, an electrical engineer with Bell Telephone in Montreal, who has three children, and Dr. Ralph Atyeo, staff doctor at a Chicago hospital. The two daughters are, Margaret, now Mrs. Russell Perkins of Kingston, who has two children, and Dorothea, at home, an employee of the Ontario Hydro at Belleville.

Growing Demand for Engineers Speaker Tells Association

In a recent address to the annual banquet of Northern Electric Engineering Employee Association held at the Hotel Quinte, Dr. R. R. McLaughlin spoke of "The Problem of Tomorrow's Technical Manpower".

Dr. McLaughlin, dean of Engineering of the University of Toronto, dealt with the ever-growing demand for professional engineers.

He stated that by 1960, university enrolment is expected to be up by more than 35 per cent and by 1965 more than 100 per cent. He continued that with the "post-war bulge" of 1945-47, which was known to be temporary in character and would therefore be handled by temporary expedients. Such was not the case in the situation now facing the universities, although the dean felt that such measures would be able to be advocated in some quarters. The only solution was a nation-wide scheme of expansion, both in teaching staff and building facilities, so planned that the individual needs of each student do not become submerged by the demands of something approaching productionline technology.

Dr. McLaughlin thought that the setting up of schools which will undertake the first two years of an engineer's training would be desirable, as such establishments would lack the necessary university balance between teaching and research. On the other hand, the technical institutes were good at forming a very valuable function in giving much needed sub-professional training.

The present serious staff situation arose mainly from the differential in salaries between teaching and industry and, although most leaders of industry appeared to be aware of the problem, practical efforts to advance firms had often been overenthusiastic in their efforts to entice away the graduate students who showed most promise of adopting teaching as their life-long profession.

New staff can only be attracted if the incomes of universities are substantially increased, especially since new buildings are also urgently needed. Dr. McLaughlin pointed out that a company expands either on the profits made or the credit established by consumer confidence.

In the case of the universities, the consumers were the intellectual firms themselves, and therefore it was to them that universities had to look for the much-needed financial support. In this connection the tax laws which allow the deduction of five percent of taxable income for charitable donations — less than 10 percent was actually applied in this manner and of this again only about one-tenth came to the universities. However, the latter were perhaps as much to blame as anyone for not stating their needs clearly and persuasively enough.

In introducing Dr. McLaughlin, Association Chairman Ray Wilson also welcomed other guests from the company's headquarters in Montreal: J. W. Fagan, vice-president of operations; C. A. Peachey, general manager of the communications equipment division and Mr. Lew Sutherland, retiring the Montreal Engineering Association. An interesting and lively discussion period the Dean was thanked by A. W. Hollingsworth for his most inforeating address.

Police Blotter

A glance at city and district police blotter today shows that youngsters mostly did right by the Belleville area over the week-end.

There were few reported incidents of crime although police were kept busy handling a plethora of minor accidents during Saturday and Sunday.

Early Sunday morning a patrolling officer found a door in the Purdy Flower Shop premises of Harry Smith's Fuel, Investigating, found the office door forced and a small safe, which was left unlocked, had been ransacked. However, there was no payoff—everything of value had already been placed in larger safe in the office, which was securely locked.

Also during the night a Wallbridge Road resident reported thieves had siphoned off 12 gallons of gasoline from a truck and automobile, parked outside his house.

A sour note also was entered in the blotter with the report that thieves had skimmed $2 from milk bottles on Moira West, victim of the dairying theft was Mrs. Jack Ellis, 172 Moira West.

A parked automobile and a house-trailer was left in the backyard of Miss Winnifred Allen, 24 Catherine Street. Miss Leslie said the trailer, with two flat tires was left in her yard by a group of boys who ran away. Wanting no truck with the trailer she informed police, who now are trying to identify the owner.

Two anonymous complaints also were received early Sunday morning of teen-agers drinking and having destructive party at a house on Starling Street. However, police found all quiet on arrival and kept it under observation throughout the night.

Early Monday morning, the sounding of a burglar alarm at the Shell warehouse in Canniton sawcity police standing by to investigate. But the arrival of an OPP patrol. Investigation revealed the alarm was caused by a false. It had been started by a sudden power shortage.

Three Defence Witnesses Say Accused in or Near Toronto On Day Marmora Bank Robbed

With testimony both for the Crown and the defence completed at noon today, the case of James Orval Ross, 31, of Toronto, charged with holding up the Toronto-Dominion Bank at Marmora last June 30th, was expected to go to the jury this afternoon.

Crown evidence in the case which commenced last Tuesday at the General Session of the Peace before County Judge J. C. Anderson, was completed Friday evening. This morning three witnesses for the defence were called.

This afternoon defence counsel Kenneth G. M. Ross and Crown counsel Ralph Graham will address the jury following which the jury will be addressed by Judge Anderson.

Ross himself is charged with being one of two men who held up the Toronto bank last June, escaping with $4300 of the bank's money after tying up members and staff.

Earlier in the case six Crown witnesses had identified Ross accused as one of the bank robbers.

Today three defence witnesses testified that the accused had been in Toronto on June 30th.

Mrs. Kay Badiuk, Toronto housewife, said the accused had stayed at her home from five days to a week in June and had stayed overnight on June 29th. She said Ross had been brought to her home by Ross's brother-in-law's band's.

"How do you recall the date?" asked Defence counsel Kenneth Ross.

"It was my 10th wedding anniversary," replied the witness.

NEVER SEEN BEFORE

"Are you sure that it was the accused who stayed at your home?"

"Yes, sired," was the reply.

Under cross examination by Crown counsel Ralph Graham the witness was asked if the accused was a close friend.

Mrs. Badiuk said she had never seen Ross before he was brought to her home by her brother. "He had no money and no place to stay," she said. "There is nothing wrong with helping a person, is there?" she asked.

She said she had heard only a month ago that Ross had been arrested, but under cross-examination admitted it may have been earlier. "I guess the months have flown by," she said.

John Badiuk, husband of the first witness, testified next. He said he was a machinist by trade, presently working at Hanner Automotive, receiving about $80 per week.

He corroborated his wife's evidence that the accused had stayed at their home for four or five days in June and "was there on the morning of June 29th.

"Then why didn't you go to the police and tell them that so Ross wouldn't have to spend two or three months in jail?" asked Crown counsel in cross-examination.

"Are you good friends with the police?" asked Mr. Ross, "are you in trouble with the police?" the Crown Counsel retorted.

The witness admitted that he had been convicted on a charge of counterfeiting, of theft and had served time for receiving stolen goods.

Last witness called was George Leach, 20, of Toronto, who told the court he was foreman with the Peters Construction Company, now working on a highway contract near Bowmanville. Until October he had been operating a concrete block business at Malton.

RAPS ACCUSED AT PLANT

He identified the accused as having been at his plant at Malton on June 29th to check the plant boiler. He said his brother had recommended Ross as being a good man for the job.

Under cross examination the witness said this had been the only time which he had seen the accused. He said that Ross appeared to be qualified for the boiler checking job. He admitted that a bank manager being held up at gun point would have more reason to imprint the features of the robber in his mind than he would have to check the appearance of a boilerman but he said he had no doubt that the accused was the man who checked his boiler.

He said that he did not think anyone would mistake Ross after being with him.

"I can't explain it, but I don't think anyone would mistake him," he said.

The witness was late in arriving at court and Judge Anderson was about to issue a bench warrant for his court appearance when he arrived a few minutes before noon. Leach told the court he had not had any trouble at Cobourg and was forced to continue his way to Belleville by taxi.

Adding greatly to the parade were the bands — 9 RD, RCAF, Trenton, Picton Camp Trumpet Band, Picton Cadet Band, Picton Bellevile Kinsmen boys' band, Picton Cadet band and Belleville clown band and East Toronto Salvation Army band.

Interspersing the floats were 70 characters depicting comic and fairy story figures. There was a long dragon and a great variety of clowns. Union Jacks were carried by the Sea Rangers and each band had smart drum majorettes.

The Brownies had their Christmas tree; Pet Shop Owners, Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs; Fes Cadet members paraded with a visiting ship; Hector McFarland had several early vintage cars; the Dutch community had a covered wagon; Bon Joy Foods had Little Red Riding Hood; Salvation Army featured the Bible; Bank of Montreal, a queen; Ken Cutler had a home-made car; Kriz Miller an old Packard with a train-like whistle; CGIT, Santa's Toyland; Canadian Legion, a humorous float with a cannon shooting candy; Sun Joy Foods, a Christmas tree; McFarland Construction Co., an animal zoo; Wolf Cubs, Davy Crockett and Indians; RCSA fire dept., showing how to make it a Merry Christmas by preventing fires; Prince Edward Motors, a Chevrolet, 57 year model; Turner, Davy Crockett and a live coon; Blakely Hardware, Cinderella and Prince; Boy Scouts, Father Time and a covered wagon; E. HITCHHIKING

Recently in Western Ontario a hitchhiker, in his eagerness to obtain a free ride, stepped out onto the highway and was struck and killed by an oncoming car.

This led the Windsor Star to print an editorial pointing out that many hitchhikers ignore the danger to themselves and to motorists involved in stopping cars on the highway.

The Cornwall Standard-Freeholder, commenting on this editorial, observes that under present-day traffic conditions it is dangerous for car drivers to come to a stop on a busy highway. It adds that "many who use the 'thumb' method of transportation, a practice which has received much notoriety in recent years through attacks on motorists by hitchhikers they have befriended, show flagrant unconcern for their own safety or the safety of others, by encroaching as far as possible towards moving traffic."

These protests are justified. There can be few motorists who drive much on heavily-travelled highways who cannot recall at least one instance when they wondered whether they could squeeze safely between a hitchhiker on one side and an on-coming car on the other.

Why hitchhikers act in this manner is inexplicable. If they have no regard for their own safety, one would at least expect that they would be interested in obtaining a ride as promptly as possible. Crowding out into the highway is manifestly likely to annoy a motorist who was considering giving the hitchhiker a lift than it is to persuade a man who had decided not to do so to change his mind.

This habit on the part of hitchhikers, which sometimes approaches an almost insolent assumption that they have a right to expect a free ride from any motorist, is probably one reason why hitchhikers often find it difficult to obtain a lift. Another, of course, is that fear of being attacked to which the Standard-Freeholder makes passing reference. Many hitchhikers, of course, stand well back from the road; most hitchhikers would never think of attacking a motorist who gave them a ride. Unfortunately they suffer for the sins of a few.

The motorist also suffers. For the man who is at all sensitive cannot escape a feeling of uneasiness as he speeds by a hitchhiker who is standing forlornly beside the road. Is the hitchhiker down on his luck? Does he feel that no man is interested in him or his problems? As the car speeds on, perhaps empty except for the driver, these thoughts are quickly smothered in it and to drown out the pleasant hum of the tires on the pavement.

There are some, of course, who look on the hitchhiker as a type of beggar. "Why does he not go to work and buy his own car, like I did?" says the driver to himself. The criticism, in many cases, is justified. But in some cases.

But not in all. Only the most ignorant man can believe that misfortune is always deserved. How does one tell the difference between the loafer and the unlucky, as one speeds by at 50 miles per hour?

The thieving and the unmannerly hitchhikers, those who endanger motorists' lives by attacking them or by forcing them into the path of oncoming traffic, have many sins for which to answer, not only their own but the sins of indifference to the needs of another human being into which they have forced so many motorists.

CRYING TOO SOON

This is the time of year when the reactions of the different members of the family to the word "Christmas" start to vary.

During the spring and summer months, young and old greet the word with the same smile bespeaking pleasant memories of an enjoyable experience.

With the approach of another Christmas, though, responses diverge.

Some say, the word takes on an exciting sound. There is definitely an urgency in the anticipation it arouses.

There is an urgency of anticipation, too, in the reactions of mother and dad, but this anticipation is often more likely to be concerned with worry than with excitement.

All the presents to buy, cards to be mailed, the tree to be purchased and decorated, dinner to be prepared.

And often we not like Paddy, who was discovered by his friend Pat walking the streets in the deepest gloom.

"You would be glum, too, if you were me," wailed Paddy. "Christmas but work, work from morning to night. Start at 6 o'clock and don't get through until five. Six full days a week. Overtime two or three nights a week and, as often as not, work on Sundays, too. I tell you, Pat, it's more than flesh and blood can stand. A man shouldn't have to work that hard. It's terrible; it's inhuman; it's killing me."

"Good heavens, Paddy," said Pat in quick sympathy. "How long have you had this job?"

"I start tomorrow," moaned Paddy.

JUST FOLKS

THE NEED OF THE TIMES

I wouldn't hinder progress by a deed or word of mine;
I believe in modern methods, but I draw the line.
I glorify invention, and I hail creative men,
But we mustn't lose the splendour of our history when
All hands turned out to labor in their good old-fashioned way.
And every man was eager to be worthy of his pay.

Let progress bring her changes, and let's help her all we can,
But let's keep old-fashioned merit as the standard for a man!
We can throttle down injustice and remove the chains which irk,
But we must remain old-fashioned in our attitude towards work.

We must spurn the foolish doctrine, or regret it ere we're through
That a man can find contentment with the least that he can do.

More money, yes, and comforts, those are things we all desire,
But the toiler must be willing to be worthy of his hire.
And no castles can be builded and no crops enrich the soil,
Despite all the modern thinkers, without good old-fashioned toil.
It's by work and constant effort that our wages we must earn,
For life cannot pay us dollars without something in return.

Was Her First Bank Holdup

(Vancouver Sun)

Certainly the frosty cold banking business has a new face. There's a wry and sprightly humor lurking amid the cut of coin.

After the city's third bank holdup of the month, eighth of the year, a girl teller admitted in a rueful way why she was a "woe bit scared" by the bandit: she thought it was only her first holdup.

The modern bank was held up — fourth of the month, ninth robbery of the year.

Then a winsome girl in the cash cage said she thought the bandit may have had a drug addict because he had funny eyes.

"But I don't know whether he was a drug addict. I came from Penticton and haven't been in Vancouver long enough to know what a drug addict looks like."

Please girls.

Sinclair's Views on Russia

(By Richard Jackson in The Ottawa Journal)

With surprising candor, the Russians admitted to Fisheye Minister Sinclair that they were out to dominate the world.

"And there's not the slightest doubt of their being convinced they can do it", Mr. Sinclair told The Journal. "They were frank to inform me that they honestly thought they could do it only through world revolution and armed conquest, but now they are certain they can do it by the power of productivity."

The Russians saw "domination" in terms of trade, from Fisheye London and Washington the world political leadership, the Soviet Union and Communism acting the world industrial pace, and the USSR replacing Britain and the U.S. as the big world trader.

Mr. Sinclair, the most widely-travelled man in the Canadian Cabinet, thought it was "possible" for the Russians to do it — "if."

That "if" was the big question — if the Russians maintained the "tremendous pressure behind the Soviet drive" and if the British-American productive drive slackened.

"It came as a shock to me to see that the Russians in the 30 years since that they took over have caught up the ground that it took the U.S.A. 150 years to cover in the Industrial Revolution in England to cover", he reported.

"Russia has no slack or tea breaks in the Russian working day. They work five or six days per day, and all the time. Everybody works, men and women, eight hours a day, six hard days a week with all the overtime that is required. Everybody works hard", he said.

"The Russians are hard. Really hard, and everybody is driving."

Mr. Sinclair has reported all these impressions and conclusions to the Cabinet.

The pressure for production on the Russians was applied in the first place by Russian education, he related. School, even for the youngest children, is a "serious matter" and "job", a real assignment of work. "In the latter years of the five year school period the emphasis is on algebra, geometry, chemistry and physics, the skills of science and engineering."

Mr. Sinclair, a Rhodes Scholar who spent nine years in university, was particularly impressed by the Russian emphasis on "those solid basic fundamentals of learning", and what he saw as a passion for education".

The lower grade mentalities in the Russian classrooms were pealed off after the 10th year and streamlining and assigned to clerical and labor jobs.

The second, higher echelon of intelligence was given further professional training in technical institutes and only the elite among Russians minds got into the universities.

Given a university education, no matter what his father was, he "was" set free.

They were required to work. While in school included. She was a high school teacher.

"Imagine", suggested Mr. Sinclair, "the wife of five Prime Minister working in a classroom."

In contrast to the "hard" learning in Russia, Mr. Sinclair noted a "certain softness, even flabbiness in our education", and suggested that "perhaps we are becoming soft."

He had seen recent reports that only about 50 percent of the North American student body took algebra and geometry and only about 10 percent gave attention to chemistry and physics.

He had seen too, a recent survey of American student opinion of the Russians. Many, in others, had come since schools in the U. S. and Canada were "streamlined".

There had been a considerable number of students who regarded the Russians as "good fellows" and "good for-squares and long-hairs", and "not so bad looking", and "interesting enough t make it worth the trouble".

But good though he had found the Russian system of education, and productive the Russian drive for work, Mr. Sinclair was convinced that together they lacked the power to overcome the "rigidity" of the Communist system and thereby give the Soviet the world domination they had set their sights on.

The "flexibility" of our free enterprise system gave us the protection we had in the Soviet's "rigidity", but only as long as we maintained the drive, energy and determination for progress.

"The free society", said Mr. Sinclair, "can meet the drive coming from the people, and not from the top as in the Soviet, is infinitely more productive. It's adjustable and more productive . . . as long as people keep hard at work."

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

All is well between the United States and Canada. Regardless of what may blow up in high level political circles between London and Washington, the Canadian Americans are going English in the way they dress. Take a look at the advertisements in the smart American magazines, a look at New York Esquire, the fashion books. There you see what the well-dressed American is wearing this year. And it's tweed, with slender pants, high lapels, an unbelievably tiny hat set on the top of the head, and a pipe in mouth. The fashion ads for the fall month, eighth of the year, a girl teller admitted in a rueful way why she was a "woe bit scared" by the bandit: she thought it was only her first holdup.

The modern bank was held up — fourth of the month, ninth robbery of the year.

Then a winsome girl in the cash cage said she thought the bandit may have had a drug addict because he had funny eyes.

"But I don't know whether he was a drug addict. I came from Penticton and haven't been in Vancouver long enough to know what a drug addict looks like."

Fullovef sweaters, turtle necks, or shirts of modest Tattersall design are worn with a wide variety of tartans in scarves, ties, socks. In more formal wear, quite a bit of black velvet is worn, as it was recently displayed by Noel Coward at the Met. Narrow shoulders, slender tweed legs, whether you are fat or thin, bow-legged or knock-kneed.

It is fascinating to watch for the changes in men's clothing that in style every few years. If you are old enough, you can recollect the time when men wore their hats at a rakish angle. It may start in what they call the underworld, but it is a thing through their nameres are as likely to be Muller, Petrucci, Popowski or Chu as they are Smith or Bellowsley. Then it spreads rapidly to the high and the low. Every twenty-eight sixes, including Texas, where there are just as many Texans as there are Americans, the Texan hat, they all want to mudsleys. But they all want to be English.

True, next year, or the year after, there will come the revolution. We back will come in vast padded shoulders, the Florida Spencer in cigarette, the hats of thick, squashy soles on the impossible shoes.

Being of scottish descent, I would rather not say this: but what is it about the English that inspires nostalgia, in mysterious waves, all over the earth?

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEWS ADAM

KNOW WHAT YOU WANT

One reason why so many flounder and shilly-shally is that they have no idea as to what it is they want most. So they drift. No real purpose. No plan. They merely exist. On the other hand, there are those who do know what they want and go after it.

Never have there been so many opportunities. A life job awaits millions. Every day new jobs appear, new device calls for selling and distribution. Industry adds jobs and created before. I read in my newspaper, recently, page after page of advertisements calling for engineers — a wonderful business in which to be — for newer and more useful machines, planes, and cars are yet to come.

I have a friend who left his job in a small city to come to New York. He wanted to be a banker, so he took the first job offered, which was reporting bank-rates for a newspaper. Today he is one of the vice-presidents of one of the most famous banks in New York City!

Know what you want and pursue it. Not only will you become self respecting, but you will want will breed other and more useful wants, and you will be wanted man! The day is the way it should be. With a plan and a purpose, little by little you will realize the fate of wants, creating a desire for them in others.

Do not be certain that we live, grow, and become mature. But you must know what you want or you will be plagued with wants that you can't satisfy. And the world is full of beggars of us all, but we must the to one great want and make it dominate our lives. Like being a fine writer, poet, musician, scientist, or Authority, know what he wanted and so we have his magnificent paintings of birds. Charles M. Schwab knew what he wanted when he suggested to the elder Morgan that he become master of the newly organized United States Steel Company.

The Bones Wither

Canadian says her wrist was broken a year ago (she said she broke it, but I don't believe it—it was probably an accident) and she lost the use of her arm. Two orthopedic surgeons have told she has osteoporosis with a something-or-other which I can't make out atrophy. Will I be an angel and tell her what it means. She is a secretary. (Mrs. R. H. C.)

The lady fails to mention whether she has regained the use of her arm or what her present condition is. I can only infer from her neat, regular, vigorous handwriting that she is a young woman, probably not over 45. Nor does she indicate whether she was disabled or confined to bed or chair or prevented from doing her usual work or getting a few miles of oxygen on the hoof every day. She might as well have used a telegram as follows:

Broke wrist stop lost use arm stop have osteoporosis stop angel stop tell me what it means stop.

Osteoporosis is atrophy, wasting, shrinking of bone.

It is the actual atrophy, shrinkage, softening. Lightening would be a better term, that occurs in advanced age, earlier in some instances, later in others. The bones are the natural storehouse for calcium and phosphorous. Removal of most calcium and phosphorus (calcium phosphate and carbonate) faster than the individual's metabolism can replenish the store makes the hard, heavy, strong bone soft, light, spongy or porous and weak.

I have literally heaped on the calcium deficiency of most Americans — and this, my dear wisecracker, is not just a notion. I dreamed up; it is the observation of recognized nutrition authorities.

Diet adult or adult with bone confined to bed or chair for weeks or months, illness or accident, suffers steady depletion of his or her store of calcium—unless he or she receives a daily ration of calcium and vitamin D to supplement the regular diet. This is the observation of many physicians who do not reject new fads and new nerves" after long disability.

The best health precaution for everybody: Milk is the best food source of calcium, and sunshine or cod liver oil (or fortified milk made or in the shade) on naked skin is the best way to insure your minimum daily requirement of vitamin D — which is essential for utilization of calcium in the body.

Our Culture Made in India

(Edmonton Journal)

Our growing knowledge of the antiquity of the Far East is bringing to ever sharper focus the contribution made by the Orient to world thought. The Indians, for example, anticipated Western "discoveries" in the field of mathematics and science, and many of their cultural achievements pre-date the Christian era. Professor Hesse-Wartegg, in his article in Caravan of India, published by the Indian information service, Professor Hadi Hasan delves deep into history and produces facts which may startle, if not the Western scientists, then at least the people in the street.

He has no surprised to learn that Aesop's fables have their derivation in the Jataka, or Buddhist birth-stories. Professor Hesse-Hasan says, spread throughout Asia by the Buddhist missionaries. Or he may wonder at the claim that Chaucer's Pardoner's Tale is Jataka. Even the fact that the origin of sons of Le Fontaine's fables is the same source startles Buddhist writing. The Jataks tales have been historically proven to have existed long before 250 B. C.

The influence of India in the spheres of poetry and philosophy is also recorded, and both Goethe and Schopenhauer admitted to inspiration in Indian works. Further, Professor Hasan points out that Arabic and Persian writings, the things of experience are only phenomena of the Indian mind, and essentially that of the Hindu religious book Upanishads.

The influence of ancient India's achievement in mathematics, medicine, surgery and chemistry is no less remarkable. The Hindus, long before Buddhism was born, had repelled noses and ears by plastic surgery and performed amputations. The Arabic numerals from India to the Arabic script runs from right to left, Arabic numerals run from left to right.

Perhaps Professor Hasan is guilty of a little exaggeration in his article, but then Westerners, too, have been guilty of claiming for themselves all the glory and credit for what contribution to the world — and, it appears, with far less cause. The cultural achievements of ancient India and the Orient have long been known to the few and occasional chorusses of praise now being heard are as startling as they are welcome.

Nehru Gives Reds Warning

(Christian Science Monitor)

"We are in no camp and in no military alliance. The only camp we should like to be in is the camp of peace and good will, which should include as many countries as possible and which should be opposed to none."

These words from Indian Prime Minister Nehru, on the occasion of the visit to India of Nikolai Bulganin and Soviet Communist Party leader Khrushchev to New Delhi, restate the Indian position of friendship and neutrality as between East and West. But, timed as they are, they hold special meaning.

The two Soviet leaders in Burma and Afghanistan, also on the Soviet leaders' itinerary, to date have emphasized their closer ties to the Soviet orbit. In this connection Mr. Nehru's statement is useful to the whole free world which is made up also of the Western alliance and partly of neutral powers.

The Indian premier, with great powers, has nevertheless opposed Communism in India with marked success. That fact gives extra force to his statement that the Soviet Union not to expect too much from a visit of its dignitaries to New Delhi, encouraging though it may be.

Western countries, however, should not misread the stated protestations for this visit which Russia has made, particularly at the trade level. The Soviet Union of Russia's exhibits by far outdistanced all but the American. The Soviet Union not to expect too much from a visit of its dignitaries to New Delhi, encouraging though it may be.

Western countries, however, should not misread the stated protestations for this visit which Russia has made, particularly at the trade level. The Soviet Union of Russia's exhibits by far outdistanced all but the American. The Soviet show seemed to promise much in the way of selling and purchasing machinery and equipment to countries which, like India, are keen for industrialization.

Mr. Nehru, conscious of India's having received four to five times the amount of aid from the United States that Russia has promised, is certainly saying that aid from either side of the Iron Curtain must be equally welcome. It is in the position which the Soviet Union should find it handier than the United States to grant.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE WORD OF GOD IS PRECIOUS

In 1890 Henry M. Stanley published in a London newspaper a list of books with which he started to travel across Africa as he secured subscriptions. The list consisted of 76 books — historical, scientific, classical, and fictional. At the end of 300 miles, he had ordered the casting away of all books save one navigation, an almanac, a set of Shakespeare, Sartor Resartus, and the Bible. Afterwards he had to give up Shakespeare, and as the journey went on and the necessity for conserving the strength of the man who were bearing the burdens increased, all books were thrown away except the Bible.

What a marvelous literature humanity has produced through the centuries. Yet if we had to give up all these books we could do so if we could still keep the Bible. How horrifying to think of giving up Homer; Dante, and Shakespeare. Think of the satisfaction and beauty which would go out of life if the books which these produced were to be lost. But think what would happen to the soul of man if God's supernatural directions, laws and principles which He has laid down for the building of our lives, the comfort of his promises and the hope of eternal life which he holds up to us in the Word of God, were to be taken from us. Then we would become as beasts of the field.

The Bible is our most precious possession. Almost everybody owns a Bible, but only those possess it who have taken its teachings into their hearts.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Brickley in front of their plantation home at Del Carmen in the Philippines, former Marysville boy, Mr. Brickley has been out of this country since 1925, working in the tropical sugar industry.

Former Marysville Resident Manages Sugar Plantation

(Editor's Note: The following story is about a Philippine sugar-cane plantation and a former resident of Marysville. Some 30 years ago John J. Brickley, the present manager of the Pampanga Sugar Mills, near Manila in the Philippines, left Marysville to take up the sugar business in the tropics eventually settling in his present location. Recently an article on his business was published in the NIPA News, a newspaper circulated by the officers' wives of a nearby U.S. air base. It is published here with a letter received from Mr. Brickley himself.) Mr. Brickley is the Intelligencer's subscriber living the longest distance from Belleville.

Following is the text of Mr. Brickley's letter:

"Enclosed you will please find a part of the September 10, 1955, issue of the NIPA News, which is the official publication of the Clark Air Force Base Officers' Wives' Guild. Clark Air Force Base is the headquarters of the U.S. 13th Air Force and is the largest Air Force establishment in the Far East and would be comparable to, and perhaps larger than, Trenton, RCAF establishment. The 13th Air Force, with advance units stationed in Formosa, has been in conjunction with carrier-based planes, the bulwark of the air defences against Communist China in their threats to capture Formosa by attacks from the mainland.

"In this issue you will find an article pertaining to a Marysville boy, who left Ontario in 1925, to engage in the sugar industry in the tropics and who since then has been continuously employed in the same line of business in Cuba, Honduras and the Philippines.

"I may say that Pampanga Sugar Mills' plantations and haciendas immediately adjoin Clark Air Force Base on the southerly and westerly sides and Pampanda Sugar Mills' railway extends to within a short distance of its boundary. The actual distance from Del Carmen to Clark Air Force Base is about thirty miles. The writer has been granted the privilege of becoming a civilian member of the Clark Air Force Base Officers' Club and Mrs. Brickley is a member of the Clark Air Force Base Officers' Wives' Guild.

"Glad to say that the Ontario Intelligencer is arriving here regularly by surface mail from four to six weeks after publication and serves as a very interesting link between the past and present.

"Yours very cordially

"J. J. Brickley."

Here is the NIPA News feature on Mr. Brickley's plantation:

When you say "pass the sugar, please," and drop a teaspoonful or a cube in your coffee, you cannot visualize yourself dropping in a piece of sugar cane one foot in length, but that is how much it takes to obtain one teaspoon of sugar.

The sugar central at Del Carmen, a 45-minute drive from Clark Air Force Base is managed by and is the home and business of John J. Brickley, whose wife, Mary, is well known to the ladies of Clark.

What happens to that stalk of cane from the time it is harvested until you drop the corresponding pure sugar in your tea or coffee is a tremendous process involving hot only machinery requiring thousands of horse power to operate but also thousands of the simple razor sharp bolo knives of the Filipino farmers to harvest the cane. It also represents the means of livelihood of more than two million Filipinos throughout the archipelago who depend on sugar production for their food, clothing, purchase of homes and household goods.

HARVESTING

The sugar cane season lasts about six months, from November to May. During harvest time the fields literally swarm with resident and migratory Filipinos, their long sharp bolo knives glistening steadily in the sun and flashing in and out on the edge of a shimmering pale green sea of tall sugar cane, which is sent to the sugar mill, leaving the leaves shorn away to become fodder for cattle or to return to the soil as organic matter.

After the cane is cut, the long stalks are loaded on to wooden carts and carried to the railway and thence to the mill. Sometimes long lines of trucks, heaped high with the harvested cane stalks, can be seen along the roads during the harvest season.

SUGAR PROCESSING

At the Del Carmen mill, one can see the cane unloaded from the flat cars by means of giant steel claws that reach across and drag the cane from the railway cars and road trucks down onto the endless conveyor belt carrying the cane to the knives, crushers and rollers which extract the juice. The empty fibrous stalks, which have now become shredded and dry, are called "bagasse," a part of which is baled and stored and the remainder routed to the furnaces to produce the enormous amount of heat and energy required in the machinery to boil the juice to sugary syrup until all that remains is the crystalline form in sugar mixed with molasses or blackstrap. These are separated by centrifugal machines whirling at 1,600 revolutions per minute, and then the sugar is on its way to the warehouse and the molasses to huge storage tanks.

A portion of the molasses is used to produce industrial alcohol. At the distillery huge fermentation vats holding tens of thousands of gallons of molasses boil and bubble through the action of yeast on their contents and create the impression of a mad underwater animation until seemingly exhausted. Seven days of such activity, they become quiet and the resulting beer, or "wort", is passed through sets of still, with the final product as a limpid white liquid, with the potential power, medicinal and explosive qualities of raw alcohol.

A "SUGAR DADDY"

John J. Brickley, who, after 26 months of overseas service in World War I, graduated in agricultural engineering and entered the sugar industry in Cuba in 1925. Is the General Manager of the Pampanga Sugar Mills at Carmen. Mr. Brickley has spent his working life in sugar production in Cuba, Honduras and the Philippines, capacities varying from junior overseer to superintendent of agriculture to vice-president, and his long and constant association with the industry might claim him as a "Sugar Daddy" in the proper sense rather than the usually accepted interpretation of the term. John and Mary Brickley are occasional visitors to Clark where they have many friends.

A VAST PLANTATION

The Sugar Mills process as the cane from approximately 12,000 acres of plantation area of which about 10 per cent is operated by the mill as an agricultural project, which includes the most of the cane areas to the north and west of Clark Air Force Base. Of the 28 sugar mills operating in the Philippines, it ranks tenth in size and capacity.

Its compound, which includes the staff and workers' quarters, a modern 22-bed hospital, the sugar mill, distillery, saw mill, garage and motor pool, material and sugar warehouses, electric light plant, malaria control unit, club and guest house, bowling alleys, tennis court, swimming pool, and a telephone system extending to the plantation areas and connected with the Philippine Long Distance Telephone Company, is considered one of the best maintained in the Islands.

Its railway system, including it locomotives and 100 kilometres of track, is about 50 per cent of prewar, as the modern trend has been to transport increasing quantities of cane by road trucks. Pampanga Sugar Mills' annual production is about 65,000 tons of sugar, 15,000 tons of molasses, and 1,800,000 liters of industrial alcohol. The normal working force varies from 500 to 1,000 persons, not including those engaged in agricultural work in the company's farm projects.

23 New Cubs Invested At Tabernacle

The investiture of 23 new Cubs in the 5th Belleville Cub Pack last Wednesday evening raised the total of boys to 54. The meeting was held in Tabernacle United church auditorium with a large audience of parents in attendance.

The parents were welcomed by Cubmaster, Malcolm McClelland, and asked to stand at his right while their sons were being invested. Owing to such a large investiture and the long ceremonies, the boys were brought forward in groups of two, three and four.

INVESTED CUBS

The boys invested as new Cubs followed in this order—Grey Six: Ricky Irvine and Jimmy Buker; Black Six: Paul Williams, and Paul Hunter; Red Six: Bruce Fitzgibbon and Stephen Turner; Blue Six: Wayne McKee, Larry Wiley and Jody Sager; White Six: Francis Rose, Billy Juby and Gerry Ashland; Green Six: Raymond Bonisteel, Charles Kyd, Craig Dougherty and Grant Arnott; Orange Six: Allan Roberts, David McMullen, Douglas Dulven and David Biley.

An impressive part of the ceremonies was taken over by Scoutmaster Graham Sills, assisted by Scouts Jimmy Stansfield and Ralph Dougherty, when he invested the Rev. R. A. Rowley as chaplain of the 5th Belleville Cub Pack and Scout Troop.

Cubmaster Malcolm McClelland presented the two assisting Scouts with their Cub Instructor badges. As a fine example to both Cubs and Scouts, Jimmy Stansfield and Ralph Dougherty have completed their work as Cubs, and now, as members of the Scout Troop, have come back to help the Cub leaders train new boys. Scout Stansfield is one of the original members who came into the first meeting of 6th Belleville Cub Pack on March 8, 1953, when they started with three boys and three leaders. Two of the original leaders, Joyce Sabiak, (Rikki), and Norman Howard, (Oniiway), are still with the Pack.

Mr. Art Touchie, president of the Tabernacle Men's club, which sponsors the Cubs and Scouts, was introduced by the Cubmaster. Mr. Touchie expressed his pleasure in having a part in the splendid boys' work being done in 6th Belleville.

Many Cubs from this Pack have gone on to become Scouts and it is hoped that at least Thursday of another 23 boys doing their "good turn for the day."

Baghdad Pact Creates Threat Says Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union warned Iran Saturday its membership in the Baghdad pact creates a threat to Russia and it will have to answer for "possible consequences."

Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov handed Iranian Charge d'Affaires Elias Sanai a note brazenly rejecting the Iranian contention that the pact is an instrument of peace and security.

The Soviet note followed a bitter Soviet press campaign against the pact, which links Iran with Britain, Iraq, Turkey and Pakistan in a military alliance allegedly along Russia's southern frontiers.

The prime ministers of four nations and British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan held their initial meeting in Baghdad last week and they completed a permanent organization with headquarters in Baghdad.

276 Children Under Care Of C.A.S.

The monthly meeting of the Children's Aid Society was held at Bridge Street United Church, on Thursday afternoon. Mr. C. B. Morgan, the president, presided and welcomed back Mr. J. H. Legate after a lengthy illness.

Following the acceptance of the minutes of the October meeting the treasurer, Mr. C. L. Ross, presented his report. He stated that approximately $8,000 was to be received from municipal and provincial grants and the community chest.

A new constitution, varying the one which was accepted at the annual meeting was introduced by Mr. H. R. Park and approved by the board. Mr. Park stated that the original constitution was not acceptable to the minister of public welfare as it referred to the alteration which had been previously made by it in line with the thinking of his department.

WORK COMPLETED

Mr. Morgan reported that the three committees which he had appointed in September to study the work of the society in that area which is financed by voluntary sources — municipal and provincial grants, community chest and private giving, have now completed their work and their reports will be available at the next meeting.

On inquiry by the president, Mr. M. J. Hanna, speaking for the county council, stated that the system of reporting preventive work done by the society in each municipality monthly to the clerk of that municipality was working as he was aware, satisfactory. This reporting was requested by resolution of the county council in August of this year.

Mr. Morgan advised that he had learned that the county council had asked Mr. A. Kerr, clerk of the county of Essex to speak at their December session on grants for preventive work to Children's Aid Societies. Mr. Morgan noted that Mr. Keeley was a member of the minister of public welfare's advisory committee to the child welfare branch and expressed appreciation that the interest that the county is taking in the work of the society to the warden, Miss Sprackett, said Mr. Morgan: "those responsible for bringing Mr. Keeley here are to be commended for giving the members of the county council the opportunity to learn how they do things in other areas."

276 UNDER CARE

Mr. Bruce Kerr, the local director, reported that the society had 276 children under its care, of which 180 lived with foster parents to whom the society paid maintenance; 28 were in free homes; 42 on adoption probation and 16 in some form of institutional care." Four children, all of whom had been wards, had been admitted during the month bringing the total number of admissions for the year to 55. Of this number 33 had been found by the court to be the responsibility of the county of Hastings; seven of Prince Edward county, three to Belleville, and the remainder to outside counties, including the Province of Ontario and the Federal Department of Indian Affairs. Mr. Kerr stated that of the 35 children found to be the financial responsibility of the three local municipalities, 16 were born out of wedlock, leaving only 19 adolescents, 12 neglect, dependion and other causes. Of this the society can be rightfully proud as it would be an indictment that the increased program of preventive work by the society had declined.

The local director requested that the board approve the appointment of Mrs. Lillian Hartley of Bancroft, as assistant to the foster home placement officer. Mrs. Hartley is a graduate of the University of Toronto School of Social Work and has had wide experience in the Children's Aid field having worked in the Ottawa, Windsor and more recently Sudbury societies.

Mrs. E. E. Pollwell and Mrs. H. McCabe proposed that a joint meeting of the board and staff to be held in the early part of January dinner party early in December. Their suggestion was unanimously approved and Mrs. Russell Mc. J. Kerr, clerk, and committee to take care of the necessary details.

Close to 200 people made up of members of the Belleville Council of the Knights of Columbus and their ladies took part in the Advance Friday evening at Columbus Hall, on Front St.

The occasion of the affair was the completion of the extensive renovations made in the downstairs section of their building. These renovations, on a whole, practically amounted to rebuilding, have been going on these last few months under the guidance of Bro. Frank Domenico, president of the Columbus Club, and the finished product gives the Belleville Council a hall which is possibly the most attractive and best equipped hall of its type in the entire district.

The new section was tastefully decorated with new furniture, drapes, and fixtures which blended well with the sparkling completely new equipped kitchen and other modern facilities.

Corsages were given all the ladies provided by Bro. Al. Durtin,

ERE COMES CHRISTMAS . . . AND CHRISTMAS MESSAGES

"Christmas messages," said Dickens, who was very, very fussy about the meaning of Christmas, "are a great accumulation of friendly recollections." Let these words ring Christmas bells in your thoughts as your heart rises days as you are planning your send Christmas cards. "Friendly recollections" . . . heart-warming, endearing, treasures of Remembrance!

INSPIRING THOUGHT . . .
EVERYONE LOVES TO RECEIVE A CHRISTMAS CARD!

ear Mrs. Beeckman:

At long last I seem to have arge this year's card request Card greeting cards. I'm hoping at the reason is that I've been ying very hard to become a more thoughtful person! Hereto- ve certainly been remiss sending cards, never made uch of a point of it, sent just a few to some relatives and a few r friends. But this year I keep finding of so many more friends d really like to send cards to. iends who have been so nice bout keeping me on their list for hristmas cards even though haven't had them on my list for ards. And now I'm even beginning think of sending cards to some equaintances whom I meet often r only occasionally. I'm a two career woman, keep house for my sband and teenage son, and am ersonally an office), Is it necessary proper to send Christmas cards to these acquaintances (when ou've never sent cards to them before), and perhaps to those who serve you in various ways during he year?

Ruth S.

Yes! . . . my enthusiastic yes! . . . to "follow the star" of kindhearted, right - hearted ling to make your Christmas thoughts speak this year. A Christ- as card is a Good Gesture of Good Will, and by course it's proper, thoughtful, to send cards not only to relatives and intimate friends (even if you've never sent them cards before), but also to non- olesce friends, and to acquaintan- s whose paths so pleasantly cross ours, and yes, even indeed- ness who receive them from you han you can ever think or ever now. Hearts have an endearing ay of being touched by a kind hought.

Christmas time is the perfect me to send cordial greetings to ho kind people who serve you uring the year . . . and in your ay life there are doubtless many ho are most helpful. "The butch- , the baker," and the others in our daily round. The Delivery an or boy from the grocer's. The he boy who delivers your news- per. The always-willing post- an.

Note: if you give a Christmas tip r a gift to any of these-who-serve, lways accompany it with a oughfully - chosen Christmas ard. And it's always a nice idea add a personal message to the rinted message. For example: Our Christmas greetings to you, ur appreciation, and best wishes r your New Year."

Keep up your good Christmas card resolutions!

WHERE IS THE "HEAD" OF THE TABLE?

ear Mrs. Beckman:

In our new house our "dining re" is a part of the living room, nd our dining table is placed in is space, which is next to the itchen. Both ends of the dining- able are the same distance from the kitchen door through which the ood is served. I'm enclosing a ketch. My problem is this: is the ead" of the table the end near- st the front entrance or the end- ing the front entrance, with my usband opposite me. Right — D.

HAIR-SETTIN GIN A TRICK

Side bangs should be set with pincurls turned toward the part.

It takes a little practice to learn how to set hair correctly but any girl can master the art with patience and just a little knowledge. There aren't too many rules, but, these are the basic ones:

Part the sections of hair for curling evenly, and comb your hair smoothly. Curls should be placed in even rows, not wound up in hit-or-miss fashion. Over each new section of your hair to ready it for curling is the style you prefer, use the end of a "rat-tail" comb to pick up each strand. Comb the strand carefully, then wind his way about your index finger. When you have done this, slide the curl off your finger, transferring it to the thumb and forefinger of the other hand while keeping the hair ends in the center. Roll the curl toward your head until it is flat against the scalp, where you can secure it with either a clip, bobby pin or hairpin.

Study the contour of your face when adopting a hair style and note particularly where your face needs "filling out." For instance, if your face is wider at the cheekbones than at your forehead or chin, choose a style that fills out the forehead area. If your face is long and thin, adopt a coiffure with plenty of fullness.

If you wear bangs, there are different ways of setting them. For a side effect, turn your pin curls toward the part. For a bang which you want to form a wave, roll the curls back, away from the part, but let the ends of the hair face the part. For a straight bang, set pincurls straight across the forehead but be sure that hair is cut beyond the hairline at each side. This lends artificial height to face.

For hair styles which cover the ears, the hair which will cover them usually needs only three curls, unless the hair is exceptionally heavy, in which case four or five curls may be necessary. If you do wear your hair over your ears, however, do be sure to keep it sleek and smooth. Fluffed or puffed effects are unflattering to any facial contour.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

STEER A MIDDLE COURSE IN RENEWING THIS FRIENDSHIP

Dear Beatrice fairfax:

Three years ago, fell in love with a young man named Peter, who was very much in love with another woman, but other women married someone else, and Peter took it very badly. He told me I need not make him forget her, it was hopeless . He was thoroughly depressed for a long time. Finally he joined the Naval Reserve and went to Japan, and for a very long time I heard nothing from him.

I began to date others, but I couldn't forget Peter, and couldn't become romantically interested in anyone else. Instead, I buried myself in a lucrative career as a designer.

Three years later, just as I was beginning to get over him, I got a letter from him. He apologized for his negligence and sounded like his old self again. I wrote back, and all of my old hopes revived. I have heard from him only twice, however.

Now Peter will be home again in two months, and the problem is, what impression should I give him about how I feel toward him? Should I act as though I had forgotten our former friendship and should remember him, although I remember every thing very well and feel just as I used to? Apparently he has finally forgotten the other woman, but has he sufficiently remembered me? I'm still only 23 years old.

—A.R.V.

Dear A.R.V.:

The sensible course for you is to steer a middle one. That is, don't be so unnatural as to pretend you scarcely remember Peter, but, on the other hand, don't be so effusive in your welcome as to give the idea you've been carrying a torch for him all this time and hope now that it's you he wants to marry.

To follow a middle course would mean that you would show him you are very glad to see an old friend again and that you are interested in hearing all about the colorful experiences he must have been having since you last saw him. Give him an invitation to come and see you when he has settled down again, and, if it seems appropriate, make a definite evening. If the moment doesn't seem just right for making a definite engagement, then tell him that if when he is settled and things are running smoothly, you hope he will give you a ring so that you can get together for an evening. That will leave it up to him, and what he does about calling you will give you a very good idea about how much he wants to see you.

If and when you do get together, make it the first order of business to ask him about the years he has visited and the interesting people he met and the adventures he had. When he asks, as he should do if he is polite, and interested in you, about what you have been doing, give him an account of your activities, both work and play, that will make him feel you've had, and are having, a full and satisfying life. Keep all the conversation on the "here and now" plane; don't go back to the past. If he should bring it up himself, don't act as though you were eagerly waiting to discuss it.

Such an attitude should give him the impression that you have developed into a very attractive, entertaining and friendly young woman who has lots of friends and lots of interests, and that it would be well worth his while to know you all over again. From then on, events will quickly make it clear whether or not he actually does feel this way.

Shrimp Curry For Eila and Guests

By Mary Moore

My sister Peedy says that unless every project I tackle serves two purposes, but preferably three, I won't start it. There's whole truth in this as there is in everything she says.

There were four reasons for me making Shrimp Curry for Sunday night's supper: When I returned from the West the top letter on the pile of mail was from my Michigan friend Garry saying she wanted to come and pay us a visit for four days while her husband Joe went deer hunting. She loves shrimp. When I was in Sault. Ste. Marie Eila Vilta, Thorgh's lovely little fiance, asked me to send her a genuine curry sauce. That made two reasons. The third one is that we all like shrimp too and we had to eat. You enter into the fourth because I know you will be doing more entertaining around Christmas time and might like to try this exotic dish.

So I bought two lbs. shrimp in the shell at 95 cents per lb. and went to work.

SHRIMP CURRY
(Serves six.)

Into a big pot full of boiling water I plunged the 2 lbs. shrimp in the shell, added short celery-stalk with leaves on, a bay leaf and 3 teaspoons salt, brought it to boiling, reduced heat to simmer, covered pot, and let it simmer ten minutes, I let it stand off the heat for a few minutes then drained and chilled them. Pete shelled and de-veined them in 20 minutes while I made the

CURRY SAUCE

In a large frying-pan melt 1-4 cup butter or cooking oil. Add 1 medium onion chopped 1 medium apple peeled and chopped fine, 2 stalks celery chopped fine, 2 carrots grated, 1 slice pineapple cut up, 1 bay leaf, 6 drops garlic juice (or 1-8 teaspoon chopped raw garlic), 1-8 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon salt and 1-4 teaspoon pepper. I sauteed these until vegetables were limp. I stirred together 2 tablespoons flour and 1 tablespoon curry powder (you might want 2 tablespoons curry). To the pan I added 1 chicken bouillon cube, 1 cup each boiling water and cream, then stirred in the flour-curry mixture which I had made into a paste with 1-4 cup cold water. Stirred until thick then reduced heat as much as possible, 15 minutes.

To serve stir I cooked 1-2 cups long grain rice in 2 1-4 cups boiling water with 1 teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon butter until tender, covered tightly.

I heated the shrimp in 1-4 cup butter in another large frying-pan. When rice was cooked spread it on a hot silver platter, poured shrimp in centre poured sauce over everything, and garnished with six slices of canned pineapple.

The fresh-cooked shrimp were so crisp and firm, the sauce so flavorful, we all dived over it and I hope you and your family will too.

BANDITS TIE UP

The stranger asked whether his parents were home. When told they were out he went away. Before midnight Robert tried to phone his father but the phone was dead. It was found next day that the wires had been cut.

The man returned again about an hour later and asked if he could wait for Mr. DesGrosseilliers. Shortly afterwards, Robert said, he opened the door to another man wearing a white handkerchief across his face and carrying what looked like a sawed-off shotgun.

PRODUCED PISTOL

Robert said the first man then produced a pistol. When Mr. and Mrs. DesGrosseilliers arrived shortly afterwards Roland was awakened and the two boys and their parents bound to chairs with cord from the venetian blinds.

The men then took the safe combination and store keys from Mr. DesGrosseilliers and one of them left.

When Ghislaine arrived home from a dance she and Langlois were pushed into the house by a third man and tied up.

As Ghislaine opened the front door, the mother tried to warn her by saying in French that she should not come into the house. Ghislaine replied: "Why not, it's cold out here."

TOOK COMBINATION

The men who had taken the combination and keys to the store returned and got the money again. When the gunmen failed again to get the safe opened they left the family bound and took Mr. DesGrosseilliers with them.

He said they took him to the store and made him open the safe. The store is directly across the street from the district office of the Ontario Provincial Police. Police officials said, however, the only man on duty was a radio man in the back of the office.

Town police made a routine check of the front door while the bandits were inside the store, Mr. DesGrosseilliers said, but the gunmen had taken the precaution of locking the door.

WEST COAST CITY

At the Hotel Vancouver and Hotel Georgian, centre of most of the hi-jinks, employees set about the huge job of cleaning house. "We had very little damage and lots of noise," said one hotel spokesman.

Congratulations for the job turned in by the Grey Cup festival committee were pouring in all day Sunday.

John Dunsmuir, committee chairman, said:

"There wasn't a hitch. I believe both Vancouver and city visitors will long remember the 1955 Grey Cup classic played in the West."

Bill Clancy, reception committee chairman said:

"This event surpassed anything we had planned on, both in attendance and spirit. I think we are gloating."

ENORMOUS CROWD

At one time Saturday evening, an estimated 50,000 surged around the downtown hotels district. Five-foot long flags — part of the decorations — were carried high as they paraded like Roman centurions and snake-danced in the streets.

The celebration had its ugly moments, too — several outbreaks by Vancouver hooligans. At one stage, a band of rowdy youths staged a riot on Saturday night when the celebration was at its height.

There were comparatively few arrests during the celebrations however, as officers obeyed instructions to reason with the merry makers.

The main doors of the Hotel Vancouver were locked at midnight and police posted at the doors admitted only registered guests.

Pickpockets, despite police precautions, made off with a reported $2,000 in money and valuables while thieves took advantage of empty homes to loot $4,000 worth of goods reported stolen up to Sunday night.

JANE FORRESTER

FOR MAYOR!

WHY?

Because I feel it is the duty of every citizen to help, in whatever way possible, to make the city a better place in which to live and bring up our children.

Because I feel that personal feelings have entered into civic affairs and retarded the operation of the city's business.

Because I feel I can change all this and get the team working together.

NO PARTY POLITICS

I am definitely of the opinion that party politics has no place in municipal government, and I think this feeling is shared by the vast majority of our citizens. For purposes of good city administration it is necessary that your Mayor, particularly, be not obligated party-wise to any party. I pledge that this is my sincere feeling, and that as your Mayor, I will represent all phases of citizen interest in Belleville regardless of politics, race, creed, nationality or station in life.

NO PAID WORKERS

It is my wish that my mayoralty campaign be conducted by volunteer citizens interested in a better deal all around. I am paying no one to work for me. I have no paid car drivers, no paid canvassers, and no paid publicity firms. I cannot, and I am sure you cannot, understand why anyone would want to spend several thousands of dollars to be elected to a position which pays far less in salary than these "election" expenses.

PROPOSED PLATFORM

PLANNING —I propose to support, not to obstruct, the work of legitimate planning agencies which are seeking to work out economical and mutually satisfactory plans for the progress and development of Belleville and its neighboring suburbs.

LEADERSHIP — I propose to work diligently and constructively for the maintenance of all phases of city business, I propose to work with, and not against, the elected council.

TAXATION — I propose to work for a planned economy in which value is given for each tax dollar received. I propose to spend tax money wisely for approved projects, not hinder the work of city departments by refusing to carry out their programs, or waste tax money in expensive and unnecessary court actions.

INFORMATION — I propose to hold regular office hours in city hall as part of a business-like program of conducting city affairs. I also propose to keep citizens informed about what their elected representatives are doing, with monthly newspaper and radio reports.

COLD WEATHER CAN MAKE YOUR CAR STALL

Remember... when your car stalls in traffic

IT MAY BE THE GASOLINE*

ESSO EXTRA GASOLINE

STOPS COLD WEATHER STALLING

Ice in the carburetor is a major reason why cars stall. Is your car stalling these days? Before you blame it on a cold engine or badly adjusted carburetor, try Esso Extra—improved to give you even greater protection against cold weather stalling. It combats the formation of ice anywhere in your car's fuel system.

As gasoline vaporizes in the carburetor it has a refrigerating effect. Condensation from the intake air freezes. Ice crystals stop the fuel supply—and your car stalls! Avoid this with Esso Extra Gasoline.

Charges Frost's Health Scheme Means Long Delay

TORONTO (CP) — Donald C. MacDonald, leader of the Ontario CCF party, says Premier Frost's suggested program for health insurance would take years to implement.

He told the Ontario Federation of Labor (AFL-TLC) Saturday the plan would give the people of Ontario only what the people of Saskatchewan and British Columbia have had for 10 years.

"The Frost proposals are based on the assumption—indeed the demand—that the federal government will share in the cost of health insurance," Mr. MacDonald said.

"But the federal government won't. Mr. Frost has set up another of those perfect situations of doing nothing while blaming the federal Liberals for it."

He called the Ontario government's proposal a "patchwork of bits and pieces that will have the effect of postponing hospital insurance for about 10 years."

DELEGATES SPLIT

Earlier, delegates expressed lack of confidence in federal plans for a health - insurance project and voted to ask Ontario to establish a provincial plan.

In an address, Premier Frost told the 500 delegates the time had arrived for immediate action on a health program.

Prior to adjourning the annual three-day convention—the Ontario federation's 10th—delegates split evenly over the question of endorsing the CCF party.

They divided 125 to 123 on the question and then moved for an adjournment before the harried resolutions' committee could hold a second ballot.

SURPRISE ADJOURNMENT

The snap adjournment occurred with several items of business, including installation of officers, still unattended to.

The proposal, tendered by Aeronautical Lodge 717, International Association of Machinists, asked that "the Ontario Provincial Federation of Labor endorse the CCF and . . . request the first convention of the Canadian Labor Congress to take the same action."

Officers elected: president, A.F. MacArthur; vice-presidents, L. M. Dodds, Windsor; William Boothroyd, Brampton; R. W. Ostling, Fort William.

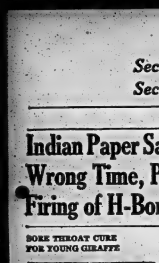
Indian Paper Says Reds Choose Wrong Time, Place to Relate Firing of H-Bomb in Russia

By EUGENE LEVIN

NEW DELHI (AP) — A leading Indian newspaper says Russia's Communist party chief should have picked another time, place and occasion to announce the explosion of a hydrogen bomb by the Soviet Union.

Nikita S. Khrushchev, now touring India with Premier Nikolai Bulganin, announced the bomb test in a speech Saturday at Bangalore.

The Hindustan Standard says Khrushchev's use of an Indian platform for the announcement was "ill-chosen . . . inappropriate and embarrassing to his Indian hosts."



The Standard's statement was the second critical comment from the Indian press since the Russians arrived more than a week ago. They were criticized also when they attacked the West in a speech before Parliament here.

"The Soviet leaders come among us on a goodwill mission," the Standard says. "Whatever complaints they have against other powers are not any direct concern to us. . . . It would be better for Khrushchev to speak his heart's content after returning to Moscow."

The Russian visitors stayed Sunday night at Outacamund, south India's favorite hill station, after an inspection trip of coffee, tea, and rubber plantations in Kerala. It was announced there that Bulganin and Khrushchev will extend their Indian visit two days—until Dec. 14—to permit a trip to Kashmir.

The Soviet government's announcement of the H-explosion said that the test was "the most powerful of all explosions carried out until now" by the Soviet Union. But Russians at Outacamund couldn't agree on whether Khrushchev said millions or millions when he described the TNT tonnage equivalent of the bomb.

All but one of the Russian newspaper men in the entourage of Khrushchev said "millions of tons." The holdout said "scores" but it as one million tons. No official text of the speech was released.

BORE THEOUR FOR YOUNG GIRAFFE

Three-week-old Soiren, baby giraffe of the Assiniboine zoo, answers the question: What does a giraffe do when it has a sore throat? Just like other species, he wears a scarf and takes medicine. Soiren's sick adornment is both sporty and practical since it protects him from the wintry winds. His mother showered him at a very early age and an animal keeper, Olsen by name, adopted him. Eight times a day the baby gets his bottle of milk, honey and vitamins and in three weeks he has grown as much as a normal five-week-old giraffe.

Canadians Win Grain Judging At Chicago Fair

CHICAGO (CP)—Canadian farmers have kept up their traditional supremacy in grain judging at the Chicago International livestock exposition by taking three major championships in this year's show.

A 15-year-old Alberta girl, Grace Koshman of Abee, a hamlet 40 miles from Edmonton, won the title of oats queen in judging Sunday night after another Alberta, Allan McBride of Riverbend, was chosen rye king and Murray Coverdale of Cayuga, Ont., won the alfalfa crown.

Canadians were prominent as usual in the winners' lists in the grain section of the exposition, with five first-placers in the small seeds division.

4-H MEMBER

Miss Koshman won the oats crown with her entry in the eagle variety she had grown and selected after being taken first place in the Calgary Stampede competition last year. She is an enthusiastic member of the 4-H junior farmers' club at Abee.

McBride, whose farm are at Benalto, Alta., had won the world title at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto earlier this month. He came sample won the Chicago crown.

Husband Should Not Take All Pay Home Says Judge

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A man who works hard all week and brings home his pay is entitled to spend it as he sees fit, a municipal judge for being drunk three times within six months, which led to a fight with his wife, a court decided.

On each occasion he was arrested in his home on the complaint of his wife. He said he worked hard all week and earned between $70 and $90 a week, and that he brought it all home.

"That is a mistake," the judge said. "A man who works hard may pay home is a fool. He should save some for himself. Life would be pretty dreary for a man who never unless he could have a drink now and then."

The judge has never touched a drink of alcoholic beverage in his life. He was born in Italy, but has entered a plea of not guilty for the defendant and ordered the probation officer to drive him home to make sure he got in. He did.

(AP) — An automobile killing five students bound to the Citadel Military College in Charleston, S.C., from Saturday's football game in Chapel Hill, N.C., delphia collided with another car on a highway near here Sunday morning —two of the students and two men in the other car. Windsor Police Raid Homes Of 25 Distillery Employees

WINDSOR, Ont.-(CP) — Charges were expected to be laid today against nearly 25 of 30 distillery company employees whose homes were raided during the weekend by a special squad of 50 police officers.

Officers said the squad was made up by city police and Windsor RCMP detachment and all the homes visited were those of employees of Hiram Walker and Sons.

They said searches were made under Excise Act warrants and a "considerable quantity" of liquor was seized.

The confiscated liquor bore no duty stamps and apparently had been taken from a bonded store, they said. The Excise Act makes possession of unstamped liquor a federal offence punishable by imprisonment.

Company officials said the firm did not instigate the police action but co-operated by supplying names and addresses of "the employees in question." They were unable to say if any liquor is missing.

Canada Eyes Reduced Crop In Argentina

WINNIPEG (CP)—Canada, its grain bins spilling over with surpluses, is waiting hopefully expectantly for the Argentina harvest to get under way next month.

Argentina's severe dry spell drought and frost have considerably reduced the South American country's 1955 crop.

Any reduction in Argentine crops will be to Canada's advantage. Within the last two years Argentina, blessed with bountiful crops, has moved into the world markets with increasing vigor. Keener competition, together with the United States' huge surpluses, has cut sharply into Canada's own exports.

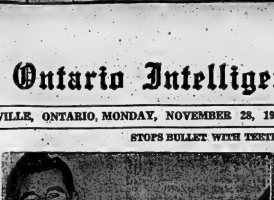
Any reduction in Argentina's crop will undoubtedly be to our advantage," a wheat board official here said.

CROP FAILURE

Three years ago Argentina suffered a crop failure and most of its production was used for home consumption.

The country's exports remained comparatively low during the next two years, again to fill its own needs. However, last year the Argentine crop was a bumper one and Canada suffered a reversal and for the first time Argentina came dangerously close to overtaking Canada in production. During the 1954-55 crop year Argentina's wheat production was 227,200,000 bushels, compared with 309,913,000 in Canada.

The result was that Argentina took a healthy chunk of Canada's export market.



Wheat board officials said they were aware of the size of the Argentine wheat sells for less on the world market than does Canada's.

STILL BEST

On May 31 the price of Canada's top wheat (No. 1 northern) for sale to the United Kingdom from Saint John, N.B., was $2.35. The price for the Argentine's top wheat (Argentine Up River) was $1.91.

One official said Argentine Up River can be compared to Canada's lower-grade No. 3 northern.

"Argentine wheat is used mainly as a filler wheat," he said. "Canada's is still the best there is."

St. Catharines Man Charged With Murder of His Brother After Grey Cup Argument

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Two brothers watched the Grey Cup football game on television in a hotel beverage room Saturday and then argued about the classics. The argument ended at home, police say, with one brother dead and the other charged with murder.

Alex Sidorchuk, 23, died in hospital after a rifle bullet struck him in the chest. His 30-year-old brother, Daniel, was arrested at home and charged with murder.

Police said the two bachelor brothers had returned to the home they shared with their family when the shooting occurred. Detectives arrived to find the younger brother unconscious on his back in the living room.

The gun, a 30.06-calibre convition in a hotel. When a dispute developed Daniel went home. Alex followed later.

The youth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Sidorchuk, and a 15-year-old sister, Nina, were in the house when the shooting took place, police said.

Alex Sidorchuk died an hour after. The brothers, with their father, were employed at McKinnon Industries but had been on strike since Sept. 19.

Daniel was born in Poland before his parents came to Canada. Alex was born in this country.

verted army rifle, was found outside the house. The two, police said, had gone with friends to watch the football game on television.

Singing Debut Made by Cooper

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Gary Cooper made his singing debut on television Sunday and NBC officials said he sang "just as casual but pleasant sounding as he talks."

NBC's Wide Wide Wide show picked up a movie company on location in the rolling hills northwest of here.

The cameras swung over to a set of the movie, "The Friendly Persuasion," and showed Cooper and actress Dorothy McGuire sitting on the front porch of a home depicting a farm in Indiana.

"Gary plays a Civil War Quaker in the movie and he was talking about going to the fair," an NBC spokesman said. "Dorothy McGuire, enacting his wife, didn't think the family should go and then Gary sang his song."

Moles Bring Up Pure Silver Sand

WEST HANNINGFIELD, Eng. (AP)—Local farmers laughed when James Small, 28, bought Temple Farm.

"It'll grow nothing," they told him, "and furthermore it's inhabited by moles."

It was while he was angrily glaring at the mole hills in his fields that Small suddenly realized he was looking at pure silver sand, which brings a high price and is extremely valuable," says the young Londoner, "worth at least £1,000 an acre. I've got the moles to thank."

Silver sand is used by lithographers and supplies are extremely limited in Britain.

MUSICAL FOR BING

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Rumors that Bing Crosby has been planning to quit the singing and acting business came to a quick end Sunday when it was announced that he'll co-star in another movie with Grace Kelly. The film will be a switch from their dramatic "The Country Girl" to a musical, "High Society."

Strikers Hold Four Executives Captive in Plant

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Uneasy peace reigned today at an autonobile-parts-manufacturing plant in suburban Sandwich, where four executives said they were held captive more than two hours Sunday by strike pickets.

Plant manager Bruce MacDonald orders 15 provincial police officers to reinforce the town's two police forces after president Lyle Browning of Carsteel Corporation of Canada called the mayor from the company offices and said he was prevented from leaving.

Mr. Browning later said pickets first refused entry to himself, general manager Steve Casaxa, vice-president Fred Wgle and Tom Purnell when they arrived to attend to plant maintenance.

After they got into the premises, the pickets barred their way out and deflated the tires of their two cars, he said.

MEN LAID OFF

The plant has been idle since the 700 have a walkout followed the laying-off of about half the work force of the company, the town's biggest industry.

The layoffs caused flare-up of a dispute over union representation of which strike leaders said has been smouldering several months. The local certification of Windsor Local 195, United Auto Workers (CIO-CCL) as bargaining agent at present is under appeal.

Mayor Herb Rumsfeldr Sunday night sent a telegram to Labor Minister Daley of Ontario seeking definition of the union's status in the dispute and urging immediate reply.

Provincial police Sunday night escorted the executives from the plant. They described the 25 pickets as "orderly" and left the scene after patrolling the area for several hours.

U.S. Firm Gets Right to Import Canadian Gas

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP)—The U. S. government's decision to allow an American pipeline company import Canadian natural gas was received in a major boom for the Canadian natural gas industry.

The Federal Power Commission Friday authorized Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corporation plans to import 303,462,000 cubic feet of gas a day to be supplied by a Canadian company, Westcoast Transmission Company Limited, from the Fraser River gas fields of Alberta and British Columbia.

Pacific Northwest plans to sell most of its Canadian gas to customers in the western states of Washington, Oregon, Nevada and California. It would also export back 18,000,000 cubic feet of gas to Vancouver and 12,600,000 cubic feet daily to the Trail, B.C., area.

ON TEMPORARY BASIS

The Vancouver export will be on a temporary basis pending completion of Westcoast's pipeline facilities in 1957. The Trail export, primarily for industrial use with a delivery point near Boundary, Wash., will continue for a 20-year period.

Trade Minister C. D. Howe, in Ottawa, welcomed the FPC decision and said that Westcoast's construction of a $150,000,000 pipeline through British Columbia "now will be able to proceed at full speed."

Strategy Shifts Seen In Reds' Peace Talk

By WARREN ROGERS Jr.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A preliminary United States study pictures Communist strategy for the second year of the Cold War as this: Hold the line in Europe and push steadily south in the Middle and Far East.

Such relentless downward pressure from the Russo-Red Chinese empire, this study indicates, is not the kind that can be resolved solely by a "policy of containment."

The new Communist plan is viewed as involving much more than that—economic aid and trade concessions, for instance—and as being too complex and too subtly applied for an automatic solution. Further U. S. counter-measures are expected to be developed as the study progresses.

Still there, of course, are Soviet military might and the threat to use it. This was nowhere better demonstrated than in the last week's news that Russia has exploded its biggest H-bomb type of nuclear blast to date.

THE NEW STRATEGY

But the new Soviet strategy, as seen by American experts viewing the wreckage of the Geneva conferences, is this:

The Kremlin's committed leadership—calling signals for Red China and the eastern Europe satellites as well as for the Soviet Union—will strengthen local Communist parties, intensify subversive activities with deals they want and need, run free of the "iron curtain" "world brother" encouragement to uneasy neutrals, promise no-strings-attached aid to the underdeveloped countries, and so on.

The aim of the Soviet leaders are expected to taunt the West, particularly the U. S., as the enemy of peace, of the peoples and as supporters of colonialism.

The committee on international policy on the U. S. National Planning Association, reviewing the situation in a report, says the Cold War is in its "most perilous phase." It calls for a courageous and imaginative program.

300-Pound Lion Buried in State

HERSCHER, Ill. (AP)—Tex, the 900-pound lion for with the disposition of Ferdinand, the bull, was buried Sunday in a knotty pine casket lined with pink ruffled satin.

His head and mane lay on a pillow. His body was also surrounded with pink carnations tied with purple ribbons.

Tex, who was 5, died Saturday in the arms of his mistress, Miss Bobbyetta Porter, 20. Veterinarians said a chest tumor caused the death of the lion who liked television, never roared and who loved human companionship. He lived in Tex's home with the Porters, played ball and wrestled with Miss Porter's brother. He considered ice cream a real delicacy.

3 Excommunicated

ERATH, La. (AP) — Bishop Jules B. Jeanmard has excommunicated three Roman Catholics Sunday for bealing a woman teacher who instructed her self-styled children in the same catechism classroom.

Excommunication is the stiffest penalty the church can impose on its members. The decree forbids the punished persons from receiving sacraments, including confession, communion and last rites.

The bishop, who heads the diocese of Lafayette in southeast Louisiana, said the decree was directed at Mrs. Lorena Lee Lyons, who tacked the lay teacher on her way to a county. He did not name or identify the women or their victim and also did not fix the time of the incident.

CNR Accounting System Will Be Streamlined

"Jest a Second"

OTTAWA (CP)—A streamlined system of accounting for the Canadian railways has been drawn up by the board of transport commissioners.

Several years' work by the board and a battery of financial experts has resulted in an order to the two transcontinental railways to put its uniform system into effect Jan. 1 and to the smaller lines to do the same a year later.

The order, one of the longest in the history of the board, covers 194 printed pages and runs to about 100,000 words. Its aim is to simplify the complexities of a variety of company accounting practices into standard practices.

AT STAKE OF $100,000

Though the order was signed only this month and issued in printed form this week, the CNR and CPR will be ready for the big switch at the start of the year. They have been working closely with the board experts for the last three years.

The new system, ordered by Parliament in 1938 and to be policed by a new accounts and controlled-cost bureau of the transport board, will give the board a closer check than it has always-regulating body has ever had on vast operations of the Canadian railways with their $1,000,000,000-a-year business.

One eventual result may be the end of the long-time wrangling of the rate cases involving railway revenue needs as applications for freight rate increases. Some of these have stretched out to more than a year.

Prime Minister Salutes Regt.

QUEBEC (CP)—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent Friday presented a red ceremonial sabre high above his head in a gesture of salute to mark another chapter in the history of Canada's oldest French-Canadian militia unit, the Voltigeurs de Quebec.

The sword, once owned by former prime minister Sir Wilfrid Laurier, was handed to Mr. St. Laurent, an honorary colonel of the regiment.

The ceremony, a highlight of the prime minister's weekend visit here, took place in the regiment's armoury.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier first wore the sword given in 1870 when he was commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Archibaldi battery —a unit no longer in existence.

2 American Congressmen Held For 4 Hours by Berlin Reds

BERLIN (AP) — Two American congressmen were held in the Russian sector of Berlin for more than four hours. The incident challenged anew the allied occupation rights in this four-power city.

United States officials disclosed today that the East German Communist police detained Representative Harold C. Osterag (Rep., N. Y.); Osterag's wife; Representative Edward P. Boland (Dem., Mass.); and their escort officer, Lieut. James T. McQuesa.

They were held at point point at the Russian war memorial center at Treptow. The German police contended that the visitors had violated the laws of the Communist state by using an automobile equipped with a two-way radio.

U. S. authorities said the Russians supported this claim later in the day when the Americans' release was secured. American officials took this to mean that Gr' leaders of the East German republic now could be applied to Allied personnel entering East Berlin. This would in effect weaken, if not destroy, the four-power character of the divided, occupied city.

Maj.-Gen. Charles L. Dasher, U. S. commandant in Berlin has demanded an audience with the Russian commandant, Maj.-Gen. P. A. Dibgova, to lodge a verbal

Cornwall Trims TPTs 10-3 For Second Win of Season; Colts' Henri Scores Three

CORNWALL (Special) — The Belleville TPTs played country cousins to Cornwall Colts for the second time this year and lost by absorbed a 10-3 humbling here Sunday afternoon. Cornwall, who has had its ups and downs in the EOSHL race other than TPT's 10 games thus far, completely routed the visitors in a fast and furious hockey fixture before a loudly responsive 875 fans, bettering their previous 8-3 win here two weeks ago, they lead by 2-1 at the end of the first, 6-3 at the close of the second period and rounded out their scoring with four final period goals while the visitors counted once.

SCORES HAT TRICK

Guy Henri, smooth-skating centreman, led the Colts, scoring a hat-trick while one other club addition right-winger Earl Landon and left winger Kurt Daudet each counted twice. Pete Payette, Moe Savard and Don Blair ten rounded out the winners' complement.

Bert Hill, Pat Gilmore and Vern Gower scored for Belleville. The ruiner penalties, all to Belleville, were called three apiece by Stan Pratt and Percy Shore.

The Colts got into the lead in the first period on goals by tricky Henri and newcomer Landon. Action was fast with both goalies to get on numerous occasions before Henri scored on a three-way scramble with defenceman Carson Mowbray and left winger Kurt Belmore. Fewer was Johnny-on-the-spot on the play and Henri's shot was the only one he while standing on Partti's doorstep.

Exactly sixty second later Hill [illegible] of a spectacular play started by Pete Payette and made a rewarding Deveney who had no [illegible] to score.

Action grew heated as play intensified and Referee Stan Pratt sent Bob Wilson down the only penalty of the period for tripping. He was back in the fray when Henri was done, but the Colts were pressing strongly and at 17.45 were rewarded when Landon fired home Gilmore's pass. In the second period the Colts took command of territorial traffic, hurling shot after shot at Belleville goalie but four big goals to the TPT's single marker. Strangely enough the Colts waited until half the period had gone by before flashing the light with Landon chipping home his second marker on a passout from Bingley and Marshall at 10.27. At 14.40 Henri sent the Cornwall team into a 6-1 lead when he outgeezered Partti on a pretty marker that brought cheers from the crowd. Carpenter drew an assist on the play, then with Belleville a man short on Partti's tripping penalty Gilmore took Gus Leonard's pass for his TPT's second marker. Payette raced in on Partti's short side and the goalie had no chance at 19.23. Savard and Batten were in on the goal. Just 21 seconds before period's conclusion Belleville scored on passout by Carpentier and Henri to give the Colts a 6-2 margin.

The third period, took a pass from defenceman Wilson after Bingley slightly more than one minute of third period play to score Bellbingley final goal, tacing in on Devaney.

STEAM AROUND NETS

Colts steamed around the TPT net and at 6.31 Henri came up with his hat-trick on a pass from Belmore. Partti was a busy person at Colts continued to press and at 13.54 mark Henri sent Belmore winging down the left lane for what proved to be the Colts' 8th goal. The speedy Belmore made no mistake with a hard drive that Carpentier drew an assist on. Savard raced in and did a scorching shot go less than two minutes later that Pavette was in on as the Colts dominated the play. Cpl. Fryia was sent off for holding at 18.53 and was hardly back on ice before Colts counted their final double-figure marker.

Six seconds only had elapsed when Batten scored on passes from O'Brien and Bingley to round out the tallying.

The teams:

Belleville—Goal, Partti; defence, Taylor, Wilson, Mulholland, forwards, Leonard, Gower, Jones, Day, MacDonald, Fryia, Hill, Gilmore.

Mayor Leads Eskimo Fans In Celebration

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Edmonton celebrated Saturday night in the Hotel Vancouver.

There was nothing boisterous about the celebration, but it was happy, noisy one as 4,000 or more persons jammed the mezzanine floor of the hotel to mark the 34-19 victory of their beloved Eskimos over Montreal Alouettes.

And after all, why shouldn't they blow off? No other western team in history has won the Grey Cup football title two years in succession.

Mayor William Hawrelak was one of the most enthusiastic celebrants at the reception in the hotel put on by the Edmonton Grey Cup committee.

A GREAT DAY

Mayor Hawrelak said:

"I'll tell you something. This has been a great day for Edmonton. We won the Miss Grey Cup contest (Barbara Beddome, Miss Eskimo, won the title).

"Then there was a toss-up to see who would hold the ball for the official kickoff at the game. It was among the mayors of Vancouver, Montreal and Edmonton and I won.

"After winning two such awards I still call them both awards—I just knew we would win the Grey Cup."

The Eskimo Grey Cup committee took over the entire floor for the reception, in which tickets were sold. The place was jammed so that you could barely move.

Coach Frank (Pop) Ivy of Eskimos, who has been at the Edmonton helm for two years and has been in the Grey Cup championship, and all his players were there. The whole floor rocked with the cheers as they entered when Ivy was introduced. It shook with another when Ivy gave cheer a few minutes later when Eskimo pressman Al (Mex) Ellerington strode to the stage and picked up the Grey Cup with a hug.

CARRIED AT HANDS

Fans grabbed the hands of every player they met and shook them with great vigor. Quarterback Jackie Parker, halfbacks Earl Lindley and Rollie Miles, receiving end Normie Kwong, defensive end Ken Charlton, centre Dick Fouts and Johnny Bright and halfbacks Earl Lindley and Rollie Miles, received to 440 yards through rushing, surpassing by 64 yards the previous one-game rushing record of 376 yards set in 1932 by Hamilton Tigers.

The game saw the fewest punts ever in a Grey Cup final. Each club kicked six times for a total of 12, one less than last year when Edmonton punted 10 times and Montreal three.

HEYDENFELDT TOPS

Elsewhere in the yardstick story, end Red O'Quinn of Alouettes was the leading pass receiver, taking eight catches for 109 yards, says very for a total gain of 140 yards. End Hal Patterson took five forward from The Rifle for a total gain of 100 yards.

Halfback Heydenfeldt of Eskimos was top punter—outside of a punt Miles booted right back to the Alouettes after they had kicked — with an average of 39 yards in five kicks. Miles' punt return went 45 yards. Tex Coulter, who booted six times for Alouettes averaged 37.5 yards.

Here's how the rest of the players made out in the individual statistics:

For the Eskimos:

He also had one fumble, which was recovered by Kwong.

Miles carried the ball six times for a gain of 75 yards and an average of 12.5 a try, the best in the game. He took one forward pass for 30 yards; handled a short kickoff once; ran two kickoffs back for 94 and 45 yards; and fumbled twice, recovering the ball once and losing it to Alouettes the second time.

Lindley carried through the line seven times for 52 yards, an average of 7.4, and caught one pass for 25 yards.

Other pass receivers were Hey-denfeldt with one for 14 yards and Steve Bendish with one for 10 yards. Heydenfeldt also intercepted one Etcheverry pass.

CAROLINE LONGEST

For the Alouettes:

Made History
'Rifle' Sets Three Records, Eskimos Clobber Two Marks

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Sam (The Rifle) Etcheverry was on the losing side in Saturday's classic Grey Cup football final between Edmonton Eskimos and Montreal Alouettes, but he passed his way to three of the five statistical records set in the game.

The Montreal quarterback, whose team lost 34-19 to the defending champion Eskimos, pitched 28 forward passes, completed 16 and through them gained 308 yards, surpassing two of his own marks set in last year's final and one set earlier by Indian Jack Jacobs of Winnipeg.

On the other side of the line, the quarterback he poked Normie (China Clipper) Kwong harder than any other player on either club. The Calgary-born Chinese smacked the Montreal line 29 times for a net gain of 125 yards and each carry three passes for 21 yards. His ground gaining mark was 23 yards higher than that of any one else in the game and the 29 times he lugged and caught the ball were 24 more than any other player.

Etcheverry's 28-completion total is the highest ever accomplished in a single Grey Cup classic and is two greater than the 28 completed by Jacobs in a losing cause in 1951.

The Montreal quarter's total yardage passing of 308 is 2 personal and team mark for a single game, 110 yards higher than the previous record set in the same contest by Jacobs last year when Alouettes beat Eskimos 26-25 at Toronto.

The Rifle's completion percentage Saturday was 78.9, well above the 69 per cent he set in the 1954 game.

The other records came in rushing and punting.

Eskimos, their ground attack led by all - star quarterback Jackie Parker, halfbacks Earl Lindley and Johnny Bright and halfbacks Earl Lindley and Rollie Miles, romped to 440 yards through rushing, surpassing by 64 yards the previous one-game rushing record of 376 yards set in 1932 by Hamilton Tigers.

The game saw the fewest punts ever in a Grey Cup final. Each club kicked six times for a total of 12, one less than last year when Edmonton punted 10 times and Montreal three.

Irish, Navy Beaten In Stunning Upsets

NEW YORK (AP) — Georgia Tech, Texas Christian and Mississippi—victors in Saturday's college football season came to [illegible], highlighted by Army's stunning 14-6 upset of Navy and Southern California's surprising 42-20 victory over Notre Dame.

Georgia Tech trampled Georgia 21-3 to nail down the vacant Sugar Bowl spot, TCU whipped Southern Methodist 20-13 and will meet Mississippi, which beat Mississippi State 25-0, in the Cotton Bowl.

Navy crumbled under Army's ground attack in the second half and the cadets went on to knock the middlemen from contention for a Cotton Bowl position.

THE PICTURE

Thus the post-season bowl picture shaped up this way:

Rose Bowl—Michigan State (8-1) vs UCLA (6-1).

Sugar Bowl—Georgia Tech (8-1-1) vs Pittsburgh (7-2-1).

Orange Bowl—Oklahoma (10-0) vs Maryland (10-0).

Cotton Bowl—TCU (9-1) vs Mississippi (9-1).

Gator Bowl—teams still to be selected.

Oklahoma, the top-ranked team in the U.S., easily rolled to its 39th straight victory by swamping Oklahoma A and M 33-6.

Other Scores

strength was pointed up by the distance which Bewley and Moran every made after receiving the ball. Of the 508 yards gained by passing, Bewley and Moran got 247, 411 yards through the air from the line of scrimmage to the receiver.

Caroline made 31 yards after catching Etcheverry's 33-yard pass for the longest gain after receipt. The average gain from the point of the catch was 21.4 yards.

Pal made the only Montreal interception on Parker's passing, picking off a long throw early in the first quarter deep in Montreal territory. Etcheverry fumbled twice, losing the ball both times, but Miller and Pal's bobbles were safely recovered.

Parker Gets Schenley Award

VANCOUVER (CP) — Quarterback Jackie Parker of Edmonton Eskimos will receive at least $500 for his play in Saturday's Grey Cup final.

The 23-year-old quarter from Mississippi State University has received the outstanding player of the game by trustees of the Schenley award and will receive $500. The trustees, men actively associated with football for years in eastern and western Canada, put the finger on Parker for what they termed his "all-round field generalship on offence and defence" in Eskimos' 34-19 triumph over Montreal Alouettes.

'Hope We're Like The Dodgers'

MONTREAL (CP) — "I hope we're like Brooklyn."

This smiling and rueful comment sums up the feeling of Montrealers following the defeat of their beloved Alouettes for the second time in a row by Edmonton Eskimos in the Grey Cup classic Saturday in Vancouver.

There is no doubt that the expression was heartfelt, because the words were spoken by none other than Mrs. Sam Etcheverry, wife of the Alouettes quarterback.

The pretty Mrs. Etcheverry—along with the other Alouettes wives—watched the game by television at a special suite in a downtown hotel.

Mrs. Etcheverry said of the Alouettes: "They did as well as possible. They didn't have the ball. If you haven't got the ball, you cannot win."

'Nipper and Rupe' the Cockney Kids Comical 'Arries of British 'Ockey

By ROBERT RICE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — The Cockney Kids, two British-born players with Harringay Racers, are the wise-cracking wizards of British hockey.

"Their jokes are often worth a couple of goals a match," says Harringay's player - coach Bill Giennie of Portage La Prairie, Man.

Clive (Nipper) Millard is a 22-year-old Londoner who played his first hockey game at 15. Big centre in practical comedy is Rupert Presley, a school chum who took to the ice about the same time.

"Their keen cockney wit bubbles so joyously," says Bill Mahood in The Evening News, "that when new boys from Canada join Harringay they are presented alongside Nipper and Rupe in the dressing room."

HUMOR IS ASSET

He says their cross-talk routine breaks down the newcomer's shyness and is worth several more things like homesickness.

Millard is one of the few home-trained players to match up with Canadian imports, and an all-round athlete. At school, he played association, he was a first-class swimmer, and a good football and cricket. He was also a relay runner, good at sprints and speed for a five - foot, four-inch trackman.

After three years of hockey, he played for England against Scotland and that clinched his athletic ambitions. He abandoned soccer and club swimming to concentrate on hockey. During his two-year national service, he was stationed in London, and allowed to keep up the ice game.

Since then, he's played in Austria, Norway, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland, Italy, Germany and France.

"He is still a terror for his size and is fearless on the ice as the toughest Canadian skater - duller," says McGowran.

Millard's quick - witted partner has kept pace with him all along and their act is still going strong. As British youngsters, they have had to strive harder to make the grade in hockey.

"We had to start our skating about nine years later than the average Canadian kid," says Millard. "In England we are handicapped by lack of ice, and it is only going to make up all that leeway."

But like a few other British stalwarts, they've won a place in the five top teams.

"You can do anything if you love the game," says Millard. "You've got to love your job."

Another British - born, home-trained player is Cecil (Dinty) English, guarding Harringay's goal this season. He is the first Briton to snurp a spot normally held by a Canadian.

Cup Receipts

VANCOUVER (CP) — Receipts from Saturday's Grey Cup final hit an all-time high—an estimated $325,000.

The exact amount won't be known for about a week but Canadian Rugby Union officials break down the receipts this way:

Gate: $228,000
Television: $55,000
Radio: $20,000
Films: $10,000
Program rights: $2,500

After taxes, expenses and the CNE cut, the Big Four League and the Western Interprovincial Football Union will divide an estimated $180,000.

The previous high gate receipts amounted to $126,940 at Toronto two years ago. The gross receipts have never topped $200,000 in the 47-year history of the classic.

LOSE TO COLTS

The TPT's suffered their third setback in a row Sunday afternoon, bowing to the Cornwall Colts in the down-east town by a 12-3 score. It was the second win of season for the Colts, both victories coming at the expense of the TPT's. The Cornets also bowed Friday night to the Brockville Marcdemas, but retained their hold on fourth position. The Colts have crept to within two points of our side and it looks like the locals will have to "hitch their hitches" pretty soon if they want to keep out of the cellar. They trek to Whitby Wednesday night and take on Kingston here next Friday evening.

MINOR HOCKEY

With the issue tossed in their laps after the executive failed to agree on the point, nearly three hundred delegates to the Ontario Minor Hockey Association convention in Toronto Saturday unanimously threw out a resolution forcing them to vote for all seven candidates on the executive ballot.

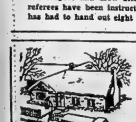
They made no bones about the issue. They declared through various spokesmen that the democratic way to vote was for "whom you like and not for whom you don't know. If they wanted to 'plump' a candidate they were going to do it, frankly, and don't think for a minute that we won't."

Names of men came up who were not known to delegates nor was their experience or sphere of activity. Besides, federal, provincial and municipal methods of voting were good enough so why should the OMHA change procedure?

The delegates drew a leaf from the book of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association when they threw a sensing suggestion in the laps of the executive. Jim Kinder of Preston, told the convention that the province should be divided into zones with each zone to elect a certain number of the executive. This would ensure representation in all parts of the province. Only two voted against the motion that the executive take the matter into consideration for action before the 1956 convention.

The convention was solidly behind the motion to give the executive power to govern all pee-wee operations and tournaments. It voted en masse on the point that on questions concerning changes or additions concerning the main classifications, only teams from these classifications will vote.

Certificates must be in the hands of the Registrar, also proofs of age before any player takes part in a game and no player shall be signed after January 15 for group play nor after February 10th for playoffs. And team managers must retain and carry with them at all times players' certificate stubs until the team has been eliminated.



Six members of the 1956 executive were voted back to office. These include: Doug Paterson, Stirling; Albert Wain, Peterborough; Jim Austin, Stouffville; G. V. Symonds, Gravenhurst; Jim Trott, Collingwood and Frank Cudmore, Wallaceburg. The new member is Ben Schram of Fort Dover. Ved Emms, member of the 1955 executive, was elevated to the post of third vice-president.

The convention honored Doug Pollock, Preston, with the OHMA honor award and presented retiring president Fred Norman, Simcoe, with a handsome watch at the banquet which wound up the official business. Special guests included Frank Buckland, president OHA; Mel Cunningham and Billy Hanley of the OHA; Lorne Carter, district 'A' of Nevada, Quebec; Jim Nelson, Western Ontario Athletic Association; Tory Gregg, past president OHA; Ralph Barber, vice-president Toronto Hockey League, and Toronto's grand old man of hockey, Fred Waghorne.

Bert Hick, mayor of Lindsay, elected president for 1956, took over the gavel of office at the banquet, with past president Mike Waibel of Elmira, acting as master-of-ceremonies. Three ladies, members of the Parry Sound Hockey Association, who raised $8,000 in two years for their ice-lane moppets, were present at the convention.

Mr. Buckland was the guest speaker. He deplored the lack of junior hockey teams due, he said, to the sponsorship of clubs by the professional teams. "We went into this deal with the pros wide open and we have ourselves to blame," he said. He quoted an instance where pro clubs sponsored four pee-wee clubs which resulted in the loss of 14 other clubs which might have operated.

Professional sponsorship is discouraging that planned by others, Buckland said. He suggested that a possible alternative could be the formation of reserve lists by older amateur teams. This would keep alive in lower groups some seven or eight players affiliated with the sponsored teams. He urged greater public relations by all amateur teams and leagues and drew attention to the fact that the OHA referees have been instructed to wipe out rough play. He has had to hand out eight suspensions thus far this season.

Normie Kwong, Johnny Bright Shred Lark Line for T.D.s In Spectacular Grid Classic

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Jackie Parker, making Mississippi magic with his football hands, conjured up a baffling selection of plays Saturday in carrying Edmonton Eskimos to a smashing 34-19 victory over Montreal Alouettes in the 1955 Grey Cup classic.

The second victory of the West over the East in successive years—a record in Grey Cup play—set off a riot of carnival demonstration that reared on for 12 hours.

Hotels, restaurants and the downtown section of Vancouver couldn't begin to sort themselves out until long after hurrahing thousands of wild-eyed visitors had headed eastward for home.

Special trains pulling out for Edmonton in the early morning hours of Sunday were bedlam on wheels. Along streets of the city district automobile horns were squawking unceasingly. Sleep was impossible to overcome.

"We let Sam have his arm," said the California halfback. "It was those long passes, tagged for touchdowns, that we were afraid of. And we know Sam can throw them. We weren't willing to concede about his short passes."

Although Parker didn't figure in the Edmonton scoring himself, his generalship in handling the team gave him a thumping share of the victory—just as he played a star role with the Eskimos all year. It was Parker, then working at halfback, who made the best of a Montreal break to run 20 yards for a touchdown that gave Eskimos their electrifying first win.

The statistics told graphically the story of the effective ground play uncorked by the Eskimos. They rolled along for a total amount of only 72 via the ground for the Alouettes.

The record attendance at the big sports arena built for the 1954 Empire Games was jammed, got out hand at one time. When Bob Dean's attempted field goal in the fourth quarter went wide, spectators in the standing-room section scrambled into the end zone and piled on the ball.

The alarmed officials went into a huddle and finally decided to

TORE AT POSTS

That exuberant outburst among the predominantly pro-West crowd was a signal for the fun to come. When the game ended thousands swarmed into the field ineffectually tried to haul down the steel goal posts.

The crowds milled about the field and finally funnelled into a hopeless traffic jam in the area headed downtown to make sure of a part in the unrestrained celebration.

When the teams trotted out on the infield in Empire Stadium the betting fans still hadn't decided finally whether the West or the East should be favorites. Earlier bets reported were 6 to 5 and take your choice. But in no time it was an even-money proposition, and apparently the great amount of cash in sight either way. Most bets had been laid privately downtown.

The Als built up confidence among their supporters when they jumped into an early lead. Bud Korchak, trying for a field goal from the Edmonton 24, was wide but the kick went for a single.

The alien lead for the East didn't last long. The Eskies got rolling and their control of the line soon paid off. In 11 plays they went for 85 yards, topped off with Kwong's smash over the goal line from the 1-foot mark. Dean converted and the Eskimos had grabbed the lead, 6-1.

Alouettes snatched the lead back in 10 plays, along the ground and by air, and Abruzzi crashed over from the one-yard stripe,

TREMENDOUS PASS

The Montreal cause blossomed more fully when Ron Stewart, Alouette fumbled on their own 48. Kitchevery hauled off with a tremendous pass to Patterson, who took the ball on the three-yard line and romped on over. Korchak again converted and Montreal led 13-8 as the first quarter ended.

The Eskies struck back early in the second quarter after Heydenfeldt had recovered a Montreal fumble on the Edmonton 35. Two line plunges by Kwong and a pass from Parker to Bright moved play to the Montreal 43. There Parker stuck Bright loose on a 43-yard run for a touchdown.

The Alouettes came back again in five plays from their 43, a pass from Kitchevery to Patterson finishing off the march. Then it was the Eskies' turn. Line plays piled up yardage until Heydenfeldt took Parker's pass on the Montreal five and went on over.

The Eskies got one significant play of the game, that was it. The Eskimos needed it. Dean's kick for extra point was good and it was third down for Edmonton. Parker elected to go for broke. The bullseye pass caught Heydenfeldt perfectly.

AHEAD TO STAY

Montreal's lead was cut to 19-18 and in the third quarter the Eskimos went ahead to stay. Two ground plays from the Montreal 32 put Edmonton in field goal range for Dean to boot the 41-yard kick for a touchdown and Kwong crashed over.

A long series of ground plays a few minutes later carried the Eskimos to the Montreal 18. Kwong hit 13. Kwong hit the Montreal line again for two and Bright carried over from three yards out. The sequence was 12 plays, with Parker getting a gain of 56 yards.

Early in the final quarter the Eskies moved steadily on ground plays deep into Montreal territory but Dean missed his single, when the fans poured on the ball. Because the game ended Dean snuffed out all Montreal hopes by booting a field goal on third down with the ball on the Montreal 37.

Hull, Goyer Score in Teeps Guelph Wins

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It was anything but a goal-tending battle in the second game of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A doubleheader at Toronto Sunday.

Guelph Biltmores defeated Toronto Marlboros 8-1 as both goalkeepers—Marlboros' Jim Crockett and Ron Boomer of Guelph—made a total of only nine saves. But Stanley Hull and Montfort fired three each. Assists went to Sutton and McMullen. Ethier and Dafoe were the Red Wings marksmen while Pointer and Post assisted one goal each.

Pringle picked up a goal and an assist for the Rangers while Yorke had two assists. Bob Follwell and B. Durrant scored the other goals while Don Moore from Roslier accounted for the Hawk goal.

Canadiens Cling To Six-Point Lead; Leafs Climb Rung With Twin Wins

Thump Boston, Tie Rangers Before Record Gotham Crowd; Toronto Moults Hawks, Wings

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

"Sold out" is the latest sign to be hung in Madison Square Garden by New York Rangers.

As many fans as are allowed for a National Hockey League game—15,925—packed the arena Sunday night to watch the Blueshirts and Montreal Canadiens battle to a 3-3 tie.

It was the third time this season the two globe hawes played to deadlocks in New York. On each occasion at least 15,500 customers showed up.

The split enabled the league-leading Canadiens to hold a six-point edge over the second-place Rangers. The Habs defeated Boston Bruins 5-1 Saturday to pull three games ahead of the Broadway set. Sunday a crowd of 13,418 was in Montreal Forum for that one.

LEAFS, CHIAWKS WIN

Chicago Black Hawks handed Boston Bruins their second straight home shutout loss as they blanked the tailenders 4-0 Sunday while Toronto Maple Leafs were defeating the Red Wings 3-1 at Detroit. The Leafs, tied with Detroit for fourth place, thumped Chicago, 7-4 at Toronto Saturday.

Wally Hergesheimer, Dave Creighton and Andy Bathgate put New York ahead 3-0 early in the second period but rookie Marcel Provost, Dickie Moore and Kenny Mosdell counted for Montreal.

Hergesheimer, left wing star of Rangers, opened the scoring at 14:40 of the first period.

At the 2:44 mark of the second stanza, Creighton took Andy Hebenton's pass and beat Montreal goaltender Jacques Plante on a screen shot. Bathgate scored the Rangers' third goal at 5:36.

While Richard and New York's Lou Fontinato were serving matching penalties, Provost made it 3-1 at 16:32.

Fontinato and Jean Beliveau of Montreal were put off together at 10:35 of the third period and Moore completed a play with the Richard brothers—Richard and Maurice—at 12:06. Then came Mosdell's tying marker.

SCORED A PAIR

Beliveau sparked the Habs' win over Boston with a pair of goals after Bruins took a 1-0 lead early in the game on Doug Mohns' power counter. Rocket Richard was the other Montreal marksman.

Mohns opened the scoring at 3:27 of the first frame while Geoffrion was sitting out a tripping penalty. He picked up a pass from Cal Gardner and fired a 20-foot backhand shot to beat Plante.

Beliveau evened the count late in the period when he deflected a 25-foot shot by Jean Talbot. Henri Richard gave his brother a perfect pass at 5:24 of the middle session and the Rocket scored. Beliveau and Geoffrion exchanged passes and the big centre finally poked the puck into the net with five seconds left in the game.

Chicago goaltender Al Rollins earned his third shutout of the season and his fourth against Boston before a small crowd of 8,021 at Boston Stadium.

The 29 - year - old goaltender stopped 30 shots as forward Ron Lalonde led the offensive drive with two goals and as many assists. Johnny Wilson, Nick Mickoski, Hank Ciesla and Red Sullivan tallied the other goals. Terry Sawchuk in the Boston nets made 30 saves.

Lalonde scored once in each of the second and third periods. His first at 19:58 was the fourth Chicago goal and he finished the rout at 16:26 of the last period.

Right winger Ted Sloan scored both Toronto goals in Leafs' first win on Detroit ice since Nov. 11, 1953. Marc Reaume and Metro Prystai of the Wings. Sloan's goals tied him with Beliveau for top goal scorer in the league. Each has 14 markers.

Delvecchio put the Wings ahead 1-0 at 1:39 of the first period while Leafs' Sid Smith was serving an interference penalty. Sloan's first goal, on a play with centre George Armstrong, was at 15:06. He won the game at 1:33 of the first period.

Armstrong led the parade of marksmen for Toronto at 12:29 as Toronto Saturday. The centre got a pair of goals with singles going to Sloan, Ron Stewart, Rudy Migay, Dick Duff and Earl Balfour for Leafs. Tony Leswick, Jack McIntyre, Glen Skov and Mickoski counted the Hawks' markers.

Mercurys Rout Indians 9-1; Dutchies Lose

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Don Head single handed figures in a lost weekend for him in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League.

The Stratford Indians' netminder saw his league-lead in the goals-against race dwindle to three as the Mercurys routed the Indians 9-1 at Owen Sound Saturday. Before the game, Head held a comfortable nine-goal lead over Bruce Dale of Windsor.

Dale, on the other hand, was brilliant as the Bulldogs defeated the leading Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen 6-3 at Windsor Sunday. In the other game, the Dutchmen beat Chatham Maroons 7-3 Saturday at Kitchener.

Dutchmen have 34 points, seven more than second-place Windsor. Stratford, with 16 points, holds a half - game margin over the Mercurys and Maroons occupy the cellar with 12 points.

SCORED THREE TIMES

Defencemen Frank Pegoron did the most damage against Head as he counted three goals for Mercurys. Jack Hamilton had a pair and singles went to Ken Green, Ivy Gardiner, Elmer Skov and Red Reid. Mickey Roth saved Indians from a shutout at 2:18 of the final period.

Centre George Scholes sparked the Bulldogs offensively at Windsor Sunday with three goals. Walter Pawlyshyn, John Hess jr., and Frank Bathgate were the other Windsor marksmen. Ken Lautman had a pair of the Dutchies goals and Jim Logan added the other.

Left winger Jerry Theberge was another three-goal scorer as he led the Dutchmen to their 7-3 win over Chatham at Kitchener Saturday.

Logan, Charlie Brooker, Bob White and George Scholes scored the other Dutchmen goals in that game. George Edwards scored twice for the Marcons, who lost their first game in the three starts. Ed Busch counted the other.

The Western girls captured the last event, the 200-yard free style relay, to pick up seven points for a first place finish and win the title. Western wound up with 45 points, seven more than second-place Toronto team. McGill had 37 while Queen's had 18.

In the Dressing Rooms

By LARRY STANWOOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)— Coach Frank (Pop) Ivy said Saturday Edmonton Eskimos won the Grey Cup with "the best ground game I've ever seen them play."

An aborigine bowed freely in the Eskimo dressing room a few minutes after their tremendous victory over Montreal Alouettes, the usually tight-lipped Edmonton coach grinned broadly in praising his players and the man who laid the groundwork in the plan to beat the Alouettes.

It was Eagle Keys, Ivy's assistant and scout, who told Ivy and the Eskimos what to expect from the Als and the Edmonton pilot was loud in his praise.

"The Alouettes are a tough team," Ivy said. "Their quarterback Sam Etcheverry has a sensational pass, but they didn't surprise us much.

"Eagle Keys did a wonderful job of scouting and we had a lot of their plays figured."

DRANEN'S GAME

Ivy joined in the jubilant turmoil of his players, who had players drank from the champagne-filled Grey Cup.

"Jackie Parker was great, so were Burris, Bright and the rest," he said.

"But they did it with teamwork—that's what really held them together.

The players doused quarterback Jackie Parker first with champagne.

"It was the toughest game of my life," said Jackie. "The Alouettes are always tough and they were really tough today, but our guys were tougher."

Centre Ken Burris, who played a tremendous game despite a gimpy knee, said:

"I felt pretty good. My knee held out fine, especially on the offensive. It was a good game, however. I think Jackie Parker won the game for us. He was the general out there on both the offence and the defence. Why didn't he get the award as the outstanding player in Canada? There is the greatest football star in Canada today—maybe the greatest in all North America."

MAY BE CALLED

Burris, an all-American last year when he played with University of Oklahoma, said he might be called into the U.S. Army next year.

"But if Uncle Sam doesn't call me and the Eaks still need me, I'll be back."

Teammates thumped the huge shoulders of Johnny Bright who tore through the Alouettes' line for two touchdowns.

"Did you hear us yelling from the bench, Johnny? We were yelling 'Go, Johnny, Go' and, man, did you."

"I'm glad I did but all I was thinking about at the time was the goal line; I had the ball and I just took off," said Bright.

With attendance in 1953 and Drake University before that, the 25-year-old Indian said he is going back to Indiana this winter to complete his education.

WANTS TO COACH

"I want to coach some day, when I finish playing. I've got another year with the Eaks under my contract and next year I'll bring my wife and family to Edmonton. The people there have been wonderful to me and I love them."

Normie (China Clipper) Kwong sat on the rubbing table grinning from ear to ear, his arms around halfback Rollie Miles and Oscar Kruger.

"We knew we could do it," said Kwong.

"We rushed them, we rushed Etcheverry, we rushed those Als off their feet, didn't we, Rollie?"

"That's it," said Miles. "We licked them on the ground."

Bears Trounce Chicago Cards; Giants Tie Browns

NEW YORK (AP)—The heretofore timid Chicago Cardinals turned into touchdown terrors to snap the Chicago Bears' winning streak at six games and dump their cross-town rivals out of the Western Conference lead Sunday with a stunning 33-14 upset in the National Football League.

The Cardinals, unhampered by a field made muddy by a snow storm which started just before the game, unloaded seven touchdown passes and shackled the poised Bear attack at just 25 yards rushing while gaining their biggest triumph ever in the intra - city squabble.

With the defeat, the Bears took a back seat to Los Angeles Rams, who regained the western lead with a 28-21 decision over Philadelphia Eagles on three last period field goals by Lou Richter.

In the Eastern Conference, Cleveland Browns were joined with a 35-35 tie by New York Giants, but managed to retain possession of first place. Runnerup Washington thumped Pittsburgh's Steelers 23-14. It was the Redskins' fourth straight triumph.

In the only other game, Baltimore Colts rammed San Francisco into a last-place tie with the Detroit in the western, defeating the 49ers 38-14.

KILLED BY CAR

LINDSAY (CP) — John Patterson, about 70, was killed Friday night when struck by a car.

Edmonton Readies For Champions

EDMONTON (CP)—The city gets a chance today to show its delight with Edmonton Eskimos' Grey Cup win.

A civic banquet for the victorious football club is scheduled tonight, but most of the admirers will be able to see and cheer them during a parade through the downtown section of the city in the afternoon.

The team was due to arrive by plane at 10:15 a.m. MST (12:15 p.m. EST). Mayor Hugh Plaxton are expected to leave for Toronto where the East-West all star game will be played Saturday.

Planning for the occasion has been going on for weeks.

NO FLOATS

Besides cars carrying Eskimo players and officials, the parade will include members of high school football teams. But Art Potter, the official in charge of the welcome, said there would be no floats.

The weekend has been one of celebration for Eskimo fans. But frigid weather kept most of the celebrating indoors and there was little demonstrating in public. A high of 10 above was forecast today.

Police said Saturday night was "kind of rough but not too bad." Sunday was quiet.

Football fans who stayed home had two chances to see the game on television. The first showing started at 2:40 a.m. Sunday, even before the film of the second half of the game arrived in Edmonton by plane. The second showing was Sunday afternoon.

SNAP UP PAPERS

Copies of a special edition of the Edmonton Journal were snapped up for nothing by fans who waited for them at newsstands. The eight-page paper bore the big headline: "We Keep That Cup" over pictures and stories of the game.

During the weekend, officials of the Mardi Gras spirit again brought out the case in which the Grey Cup has stood in the hotel lobby for the last year. The case stood in the lobby with the sign "Out to lunch, be back soon."

BEATS SOCIAL OUTCAST

BALTIMORE (AP) — Brooksmeader Salter, 11 to 1 in the betting, won the $50,000 Pimlico Special Saturday, finishing 2½ lengths ahead of Langollen Farm's Mister Gus.

Ifred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Social Outcast, the favorite, was a neck back in third after one of his usual rushes in the final yards.

Schamerhorn Loses to Blais by TKO

Beatty Knocks Out Miller in Second

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Lee Blais, a hard-hitting combination puncher from Toronto gained a fourth-round TKO victory over Belleville's Eddie Schamerhorn in the feature bout of the Canadian Order of Foresters' boxing card Saturday night. The card, first in this city in a number of years, was witnessed by a large crowd in the Armouries and the proceeds going to the Hospital building fund.

Blais and Schamerhorn, middleweights, both opened up a free-swinging attack in the first round of the scheduled five-round contest. Action was fast with it hard left hook that snapped Schamerhorn's head back near the end of the round, the best blow of the round.

In the second, Blais was the aggressor with the local lad game all the way but slightly outclassed. Blais stunned his opponent with a right jab and floored him as the bell sounded. The Toronto boy surged to the attack in the third and pounded away at Schamerhorn's head on the ropes. He connected with a hard left but Schamerhorn came back fighting and landed several solid rights. He had Blais moving back at the bell.

The fourth was fatal as Blais sent the Belleville fighter to the canvas early. He came up fighting with blood flowing from his nose at the eight count but Blais attacked his man, jabbed with his left and stretched Schamerhorn out with a terrific right cross. The Belleville fighter staggered to his feet at a nine count but the bell rang and he fell to his corner, unable to go on.

The semi-final, also scheduled for five rounds saw Eddie Beatty, the Southwestern Ontario lightweight champ, knock out Donnie Miller of the Picton School of Artillery in the second round.

Beatty floored the Picton Negro in the first round but the bell sounded at a seven count as Miller attempted to rise. A right cross sent him down again early in the second and at 1.37 he went down for the final time.

Five three-round bouts composed the supporting card.

A heavyweight battle between Jerry Adams of Belleville and Tommy Paw of Hamilton was a crowd-pleaser. Paw was outweighed 224 pounds to 216 but battered Adams' nose to a bloody pulp to cop the judges' decision.

The opening bout saw Jimmie Pelton of Toronto decision Red McLean of Picton after knocking him down in the first and third rounds.

A middleweight fight between Bill Gallagher of Hamilton and John Brumer drew catcalls as neither man landed a telling blow during the three rounds. Gallagher took the decision.

A pair of fast lightweights, Joe Pease from Toronto and Joe Italiano of Hamilton fought to a draw in a good three-rounder.

Another exciting lightweight battle saw Bob Gour, Hamilton, earn the decision over Tom Chessano of Toronto in a rousing sluggers' match.

Eddie Lee refereed the semi-final and main bouts while Jack Elgman and Mark Storms handled the other bouts. The judges were Ken Archer, Bert Wells and Harry Goulding while Bill Wenzell was the timekeeper.

Rhubarb Looms Between Two Baseball Leagues

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A rhubarb between the American Association and the International League threatened today to erupt into an open clash as delegates of the minor baseball leagues gathered for their annual winter baseball meetings.

In a pre - convention session among American Association directors, a proposal by the Milwaukee club to transfer its Toledo franchise to Miami was sharply rebuffed. However the official announcement given the press was that the proposal "is still very much alive."

"It's a hairbrained scheme that has no merit and absolutely no chance of being approved," an Association official, who did not wish to be identified, stated heatedly.

"Such a move would wreck the league. There is no objection to Miami itself, but it is unthinkable that any club would be willing to undertake the tremendous cost that would be involved in going to Miami. That is equivalent to operating around the world. Charleston, the nearest city to Miami, is 1,100 miles away."

An informant said the Braves' hasty agreement with Miami was completed to forestall a similar action by the International League and force the other circuit to "make a deal" which would return the Columbus club to the association in exchange for Miami. The latter city, it was reasoned, would make an ideal addition to the International since it would be used as a stopping off point for clubs en route to Havana.

President Frank J. Shaughnessy of the International League,

However, Shaughnessy said he had no intention of making any deal with the Association and declared his league as "all set."

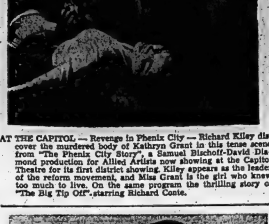
At The Belle



Filmed Comedy Hit Comes to Town 'Mister Roberts' at Belle Today.

"Mister Roberts" comes to the Belle Theatre today. The highly heralded comedy sensation of the Broadway stage, starring Henry Fonda, James Cagney, William Powell and Jack Lemmon, premieres locally in the Cinemascope and WarnerColor production 2.00 p.m.

Leland Hayward produced for Warner Bros. and John Ford and Mervyn LeRoy directed the comedy hit from the screenplay by Frank Nugent and Joshua Logan which was based on the play by Thomas Heggen and Joshua Logan.

The comedy about life on the USS Reluctant, a navy cargo ship in the Pacific, stars Henry Fonda in the title role he created on Broadway, James Cagney is seen as the tyrannical captain with the pet palm tree, "Doc" is played by William Powell and the leading comedy role by Ensign Pulver won by Jack Lemmon.

"Mister Roberts" is the action-seeking naval lieutenant who is "stuck" aboard ship which sails from "medium to boredom." His silent struggle against the captain to be transferred off the cargo ship is the central plot of the film play. The by-play of Pulver's romantic encounter with a series of shapely nurses is said to produce the comic highlight of the film.

AT THE CAPITOL — Revenge in Phenix City — Richard Kiley discover the murdered body of Kathryn Grant in the tense scene from "The Phenix City Story", a Samuel Bischoff-David Diamond production for Allied Artists now showing at the Capitol Theatre for its first district showing. Kiley appears as the leader of the reform movement, and Miss Grant is the girl who knew too much. Also on the same program is the thrilling story of "The Big Tip Off", starring Richard Conte.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Tuesday, Nov. 29, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Acting against time may defeat purpose because it depletes vitality and nerves, tendency you less able to make decisions and carry on effectively. Allot chores sensibly; don't dawdle.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Don't wait for others to accomplish what you are able to, unless you have lost interest in worthy goals—then the stars warn against now. Steady!

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Be careful how you spend energy, and how you spend leisure hours, so short the work with thoughtful caution.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Now you cannot do all you planned or hoped to, at least be consistent what you do attempt. Attend to duties without anxiety and don't neglect, worthwhile outside activities.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Better day than most, sure, one worth improving than you may think at first. Self-confidence! System without being unimaginative or inflexible) and allow yourself sufficient time for relaxation.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — You may not achieve the goals toward which you aim, have clear sailing in everyday affairs. But the day, nevertheless, will be a healthy, result-getting one if you maintain good humor.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — Look carefully into your domestic and legal affairs; don't dodge small issues that could become big problems. Use your innate good judgment, avoid hasty decisions and you will have no cause for regret.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Look for the good "little" things that are so often hidden. Just be sure to search, and do not overlook anything worthwhile. Hope be happy!

November 23 to December 22 — (Sagittarius) — You can make a much better day out of this one by attending to matters promptly and by being understanding of others instead of short and demanding.

December 23 to January 21 — (Capricorn) — You born a few days before and after the change of Signs should control emotions now. All of your haste does make waste.

January 22 to February 20 — (Aquarius) — Note how much is actually and duly expected of you, and arrange to comply to the best of your ability — but without strain. When you can do extra will pay extra. Smile.

February 21 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Do not go to extremes now. You know the right answer. Use your talents carefully, but use them.

You born today are endowed with efficiency, the ability to cut red tape and get to the heart of a matter and with great energy. You can succeed at anything to which you apply your talents but do not rebuff with others as you follow the road to achievement. And, remember, material gains are not the most important. Consider spiritual and intellectual values, too. Enjoy forthright, cheerful companionships; aim high. Birthdate of: Louis May Alcott, noted writer; Amos Bronson Alcott, Amer. philosopher, educator.

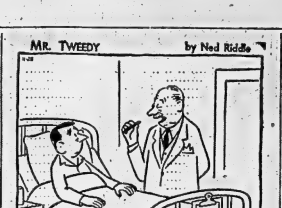
Little Benny's Notebook

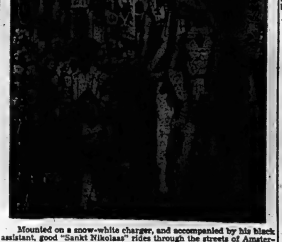
Mr. Peevy, being Dopey Shorty Judge's 80 year old grandfather, was sweeping the front portch in his sailor hat and his blue coat with the brass buttons, and I went and sat on the swing and watched him, saying, Were you ever a sailor, Mr. Peevy? he sez.



No, but let me tell you one thing. If you ever want to get stuck acrost place, dont pick a desert island with a ghost on it, especially a desert island what a feller is thirsty for a fresh water, Mr. Peevy said, and I said, G, did he scare you?

Meaning the ghost, and Mr. Peevy said, No, it just kept me from sleeping. The only times it would ever appear was the minute I closed my eyes, and whenever I woke me right up again, floating above me with its long smokey beard trailing behind it, making me water, water, in the most awful hot voice I ever heard, he said.

He must of been a shipwrecked sailer that died of thirst, I said, and Mr. Peevy sez, That's what I figured. Anyways, that didn't make it any easier for me, not being able to go to sleep for a single minute and forget that I hadn't had a drop of fresh water for 3 weeks. It was slowly driving me mad, I can tell you, he said.



Well what happened? I said, and Mr. Peevy said, I went plum out of my head, and when I came back to my 3 senses I was safe on board the ship that had rescued me. even so, that ghosts floated after the ship, moaning for water, water, till we got as far as latitude 85 longitude 180 which I guess is as far as its territory extended, and now its time for my old shipmate, good by, he sez.

And he went in with his broom.

"And don't worry about work piling up at the office. I hired a man to replace you yesterday!"

Calls Drunkard Merely Candidate Who Did Not Win

TORONTO (CP)—The drunkard "is merely a candidate for election who has failed," Rev. Dr. Caradine Hooton, executive secretary of the United States Methodist board of temperance said Sunday night.

"Don't look down on them," he told a convention of the Canadian Temperance Federation at its opening service. People become alcoholics for two reasons, he said. One is an inward emptiness. Drink becomes the answer to a dull, purposeless life. The other he attributed to outward pressure by the alcohol industry and to social drinking.

He said he thinks the temperance movement is having an appreciable effect. Liquor sales in the U. S. were down five per cent this year, "and there has been a steady drop since 1946."

Dr. Hooton told 90 delegates from all provinces attending the three-day convention that alcoholism is "several times more prevalent in the U. S. than it is now" but yet the government has done nothing to stop it. One of every nine persons who starts to drink becomes an alcoholic or problem drinker, the rate is accelerating by 250,000 a year.

Construction Firm Officials Will Be Charged

TORONTO (CP)—Two construction company officials will be charged today with attempted bribery of municipal officials of suburban Scarborough township, crown attorney W. O. Gibson said today.

The charges arose from a judicial investigation into township affairs.

Mr. Gibson said M. Wineberg and J. Weinbaum, officials of Germany Construction Company, have notified him they intend to surrender to authorities at 2 p. m. They will be formally charged and released on bail.

The investigation, under judge Robert Forsyth, found last week that an attempt had been made to bribe four township officials with cheques of $500. The cheques were returned.

Truman Denies Paper Report About Nixon

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Examiner quotes one of its reporters as saying former president Harry S. Truman said Sunday of Vice-President Richard Nixon:

"I don't even want to discuss that — — —. Don't even mention his name to me."

However Truman, who arrived here Sunday night for a speech, immediately denied that he made the statement. "I would never say anything like that about the vice-president of the United States," he said in a statement issued The Examiner.

Truman said that when asked about his reaction as a Democrat to Nixon as the Republican presidential candidate he said: "I don't want to talk about Nixon. You know how I feel about him."

Miss Howse Tells of Need In Africa

TWEED—Miss Millicent Howse, a United church missionary in Angola, Africa, who is on furlough in Canada until next March, addressed a large congregation in the Sunday school hall of St. John's United church on Tuesday evening.

W.M.S. groups were invited from Thomasburg, Actinolite and Sulphide, and a number of other ladies were present from other churches in the village.

Mrs. C. B. Clark, president of the W.M.S., and Mrs. Harold Foster, conducted the devotional service, and Mrs. Violet Foster delighted with a piano selection.

A number of C.G.I.T. girls in uniform, filed in from a class room and took their seats in the front of the hall.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. Lincoln Elliott introduced Miss Howse, who said how thrilled she was to see the girl of the C.G.I.T. come in and take their places. She told of the girls in Africa. They have their groups there and their programs there are much the same as here, and they measure up to a high standard. They go to camp the same as girls here.

They are planning and working on an official uniform, the same as the girls here. She told the girls that they couldn't go into any job that would give more encouragement than the church.

Miss Howse went on to say that the whole situation in Africa has changed. Africans are now awake, realizing that they are brothers and sisters, and they are asking a lot of questions about conditions in other countries. They are seeing things differently and are working for a better unity. They want to join hands with the universal world. One thing they are asking, "Why aren't we Africans ruling ourselves?" "Why so much food one on side of the world and the other side starving?"

CHURCH'S GREAT RESPONSIBILITY

"The church's there have a great responsibility. Schools are poor. Children anxious to get an education. Another great responsibility is trying to keep people from getting sick.

"Unrest is great in Africa, and we must try to convince them of our sincerity, if their needs can be satisfied.

"One of the greatest dangers at the present time is "Christ or Communism for Africa". Watch out that we don't lose out. We have been warned.

"What they need most is a good background of Christian teaching. Our churches will have to measure up to our responsibility. If we get the vision support will come. One way to support the Home Missions and the Foreign Missions is through the liberal offerings of our people in the red portion of our duplex envelope."

A shower for Miss Howse of articles useful in her African Mission, was given and she expressed her thanks and said how much the people would be to receive these gifts.

Mrs. C. C. Atton expressed congratulations and a sincere "thank you" to Miss Howse for coming to visit the W.M.S., on this occasion. She hoped that everyone would be inspired and support the missionary work of the church.

The Rev. W. K. Pace pronounced the benediction.

Refreshments were served.

Hon. L. B. Pearson Calls on West to Gird Itself For Long Grind of 'Competitive Coexistence'

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson of Canada, who recently visited Russia, has warned the West against any tendency to relax and calls for a long grind of "competitive coexistence."

The Canadian minister, addressing the United Nations Correspondents Association Monday, said he is "quite willing" to believe that the Russian people desire peace, "but I don't get much comfort myself from that statement because all peoples want peace, and that is less important only insofar as it can be reflected in national policy."

He said the so-called "soft" Russian approach to world affairs could be more dangerous to the West than the hostility of Stalin's day.

During his visit to the Soviet Union he had done his best to determine whether the policies expressed by the Russian leaders he met held the possibility of world peace, and it was "pretty difficult" to give an answer.

GIVE NOTHING AWAY

He felt that the Soviet rulers, realizing that a third world war would cause universal destruction, believed that "competitive coexistence" would in the long run achieve their objectives. They would do what they could "to continue the feeling that there is a certain state of tension, but without giving anything away toward a solution of political problems."

The minister said Canadians probably would not relish the role of intermediary between the United States and Russia, but "no Canadian can feel secure as long as the relations between the two countries has bad relations with the neighbor to the north."

He also told the correspondents he is preparing a statement on the West German party's organization to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization council for presentation to next month's NATO meeting. He thought there should be a "searching re-examination" of the question.

Child Killed East of City, Hit by Car

Running across the road to get the mail after walking off a truck to pass, eight-year-old Anne Marie Jeffery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Jeffery, 2nd concession Thurlow township, was fatally injured late Monday afternoon when she was struck by a car proceeding in the opposite direction. The accident happened about five miles east of the city.

Provincial police said the little girl was struck by the car driven by Mrs. Helen Shetler, Tyendinaga township school teacher. Mrs. Shetler picked up the injured girl and placed her in her car drove her to the Belleville General Hospital, but she was pronounced dead on arrival.

The accident happened about 4.30 in the afternoon. The little girl had come home from school and then proceeded out the laneway at her father's farm to get the mail from the roadside box. She crossed over the railway tracks, then wailed for an eastbound truck to pass. She darted out behind the truck to cross to the mail box on the opposite side of the road, when she was struck by the west-bound auto.

A preliminary inquest before Coroner Dr. R. T. Potter was ordered for this morning. Provincial Constable J. McBride investigated.

Pipeline Plans Are Under Fire

TORONTO (CP)—Plans for financing an all-Canada natural gas pipeline were described Monday night by a union research director as creating a "welfare state for big business."

Harry Waldgass of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) told the Toronto and Lakeshore Labor Council that the Canadian taxpayer is being burdened with the risk in construction of the Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. project to make money for "Texas tycoons."

"We do not mind so much Americans making reasonable profits in Canada, but," he said, "but we must raise our voices strenuously against a deal such as is now in the making, where Texas tycoons will be assured enormous monopoly profits for risks being assumed by the Canadian taxpayer."

NAVY MAY KEEP MAGNIFICENT AS TRAINING SHIP

Been on Loan From Royal Navy Since '48

OTTAWA (CP)—The Navy may keep the 18,000-ton aircraft carrier Magnificent as a helicopter carrier and training ship.

The matter is under discussion. It was learned Monday, but no decision has yet been taken or is likely to be reached for some time.

Originally, the Magnificent, on loan from the Royal Navy since 1948 when it was commissioned, was to have been returned to Britain after commissioning of the flattop Bonaventure, now under construction at Belfast, Northern Ireland. The Bonaventure is scheduled to be delivered to the Canadian navy next October.

BETTER THAN CRUISER

One view is that the Magnificent would be far more useful to the navy in event of war than a cruiser. The Canadian navy's traditional role is protection of shipping and a cruiser now is considered of little use for such a job. If the Magnificent is retained, the cruiser fleet probably will be put into reserve.

As a training ship for naval recruits and junior officers, the Magnificent is considered better than the 9,000-ton Quebec. It carries a crew of some 1,200 compared with 900 for the Quebec. The only other training vessel is the cruiser Ontario.

The navy has formed an experimental anti-submarine helicopter squadron at Halifax. Helicopters used in this role carry sonar—a form of underwater radar—which they can lower into the water and then move to another area to listen for submarines.

Sea training could be given this squadron from the Magnificent without interfering with basic seamanship training among the rest of the crew. No elaborate arrangements have to be made for helicopter pilots. Instead, the pilot is carried by the navy's Arctic patrol vessel Labrador.

Russia Protests 'Hypocritical' Charge by Briton

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union protested to Britain today against a foreign office spokesman's charge that Russian Premier Bulganin had expressed "hypocritical" views on German unification.

Charge d'Affaires N. D. Belokhovitskov called this morning on Sir Ivone Kirkpatrick, permanent head of the foreign office, and complained that such expressions were incompatible with the nature of the relations existing between our two countries."

Belokhovitskov acted on instructions from Moscow shortly before Prime Minister Eden was to explain in the House of Commons why the statement regarding Bulganin was made at a foreign office press conference instead of by a responsible minister in Parliament.

The incident was touched off by a comment made Nov. 22 by Peter Matthews, one of the spokesmen at the foreign office news department, who offered a point-by-point rebuttal to reporters of a speech made to the Indian parliament in New Delhi by Bulganin.

Matthews ended his comment with the words: "The views of Mr. Bulganin seem thoroughly hypocritical."

Stifle Criticism

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Criticism of the legality of the government's proposal to intervene in Pernambuco state and to prevent Nereu Ramos will not be permitted under emergency powers announced by Gen. Antonio Jose Lima Carneiro, administrator of the national state of siege.

Camara told a meeting of newspaper publishers Monday that newspapers and magazine publications will be held responsible but there will be no pre-publication censorship except for those who break the rules.

AND MORE OF IT

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP)—This northwestern Ontario border community had a month-long period of continual snowfall Monday. Temperatures were a frigid seven below Sunday night. Weather officials said a total of close to three feet fell in The 31-day period from Oct. 28. Their forecast—more snow.

Vandals Play 'Chicken' in Car Lot Doing Damage Estimated at $7,000

SALEM, Mass. (AP)—The battered bodies of 14 late-model automobiles were quite testimony today to what police believe was a rugged game of "chicken" played by vandals in the used car yard of the Beaver Auto Company.

"Chicken" was described by police Lieut. John J. Whelan as a game in which drivers head cars at each other trying to force the oncoming driver to turn away first.

Four of the cars were listed as wrecks.

Damage was estimated by the company at $7,000.

Despite the condition of the cars — smashed bodies and fenders, broken windows and windshields— police found no evidence that the drivers were injured.

Puppy Swallows Toy Rake Handle 20 Inches Long

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Marquis Von Shawn may have lived to tell about it, but no one will ever believe him.

The frisky boxer puppy swallowed part of a toy rake handle while playing a week ago. Dr. Louis Becker, a veterinarian, removed the stitches from Shawn's neck Monday. He described the operation:

"It was a stick. I pulled on it. Five inches of it. Ten inches of it. I couldn't believe it. I can hardly believe it now. Golf balls, marbles, fishhooks I've taken from the stomachs of dogs . . .

"But never a stick 20 inches long!"

German Ship Takes on Cargo Canadian Butter

TORONTO (CP) — A German ship Monday took on a 500-ton cargo of Canadian butter consigned for Communist East Germany.

The ship is the Alexander Sartori, Captain Hans Pradel said he is in Hamburg Dec. 14.

The butter was sold by the Canadian government to prevent loss to Ten Curtain countries at 37 cents a pound, 8 cents less than the price paid for it by the agricultural prices support board.

Trucks were being loaded into the hold indicate the butter was produced in Ontario and Quebec.

The ship also was loading small shipments of flour, dried meat and grass seed. Only the butter is consigned to communist countries, the captain said.

Nationalist China To Veto Canada's UN Members Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) Nationalist China has informed the Latin American republics it will veto Outer Mongolia's application for UN membership unless it is supported today. This would kill a Canadian-supported plan to admit 16 new members at this session of the assembly.

A diplomatic source at the UN said the Nationalist Chinese minister, Tingfu F. Tsiang, told each Latin American republic it will veto Outer Mongolia in the security council. But the Tsiang move on membership issue appeared near a solution and there then two-thirds of the UN assembly favored admission of all 18 applications.

Ireland, over membership has boiled down to Outer Mongolia. The Russians threaten to veto all Western-backed applicants unless Outer Mongolia is admitted. The United States says Outer Mongolia cannot make the grade but the Americans are not campaigning actively to defeat the Soviet satellite.

Communist World Warmly Greets Tito Anniversary

LONDON (AP)—Marshal Tito's Communist Yugoslavia celebrated its 10th anniversary today amid a shower of warm birthday greetings from the Communist world which only recently glutted its downfall as a traitor to the free family of nations.

From Moscow to Peking, the Red rulers cabled greetings messages to the independent Communist state they had so recently pledged eternal friendship.

Other messages were received from Socialist and Western world. But it was the mammoth display of friendship from the Communist bloc that reflected the importance it would attach to the future of the Balkan state, which has one foot in the Western world and the other in the Communist camp.

Churchill Will Be 81 Wednesday

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill celebrates his 81st birthday Wednesday.

In the seven months since he bowed out and resigned as prime minister, Sir Winston has made only one appearance in the House of Commons where he has been a member for more than half a century. That was to be sworn in after the May elections as a conservative backbencher.

But outside the glare of world attention, the elder statesman has kept busy.

Now in the peaceful solitude of his country home, Sir Winston dictates and polishes a few more pages of his book on the history of the English-speaking people. It is to be published next June by Cassell & Co. Ltd. writes, he settles down before an easel to put a few more touches of bold color on a canvas.

Dr. Trottier served as Liberal member for Essex North from 1934 to 1943.

MOTHER, THREE CHILDREN DIE IN HOUSE FIRE

Father Was Away When Blaze Started

MONTREAL (CP) — A mother and her three children died today when fire ravished their flimsy cottage at Boul de L'Isle, at the east end of Montreal island.

Fire officials identified the dead as: Mrs. Henri Pominville; Hears Jr., St Henriette, 7; Theresa, 2.

The blaze—coming on the coldest day of the season—flashed through the summer-cottage type building before the family could escape.

It was understood the father was away when the fire started.

Firemen said he was at "at the hospital" but it was not known whether he was injured, or had been taken there to identify the dead.

British Company Gets Big Order For Engines

LONDON (CP) — A British diesel manufacturer has obtained an order worth more than $1,000,000 to supply diesel engines for a Canadian tractor, it was announced Wednesday.

Police Rescue Bulganin, Khrushchev From 2½ Million Cheering Indians

CALCUTTA (Reuters) — Marshal Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet leaders on a goodwill visit to India, entered Calcutta today in a police truck.

Driving the eight-mile route from Dum Dum airport to Rajbhavan, where they will stay, they had to be helped from their official car to complete the trip in the closed truck after a milling crowd of 2,500,000 cheering Indians got overenthusiastic and blocked the road.

So many well-wishers climbed on the car, including a group of students that the official car nearly collapsed.

The Russians are visiting Calcutta on the busiest porta in the world, after a one-day stay in Delhi, on the first leg of their tour.

The city was festooned with flags and bunting, fluttering from homes and offices. The eight-mile route from Dum Dum airport to Rajbhavan, where they will stay, was congested with decorated arches and streamers, all proclaiming, in Hindi, Bengali, Bengali and Russian, friendship between Russia and India.

Four Deaths Due To Crippling Storm In Buffalo Area

Schools Closed and Many Roads in Area Impassable

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A snowstorm spawned over the Great Lakes during the night crippled this sprawling industrial city today as even the main thoroughfares became clogged.

Four deaths were attributed to the storm.

State police warned that all roads in and out of the storm-lashed metropolitan area were dangerous and many were impassable.

All city schools, public and parochial, were closed. More than 30 others in the suburbs and outlying areas also were unable to open. Many industries also shut their gates, and all downtown department stores were closed.

Up to 18 inches of snow fell in Buffalo itself and there were reports of up to four feet south of the city.

THOUSANDS STRANDED

The rest of the state was hit mainly by frigid temperatures, but Watertown, perennial storm center of the north country, had a foot of snow this morning. Dozens of rural roads in that area were closed.

The weather bureau predicted the storm that struck the Buffalo area would shift to the southern part of the state this afternoon. Heavy snowfall was expected to continue into Wednesday in the Watertown area.

In Buffalo, workbound thousands were stranded on street corners and in stalled cars. Roads leading to the city were blocked by stalled transportation.

A Buffalo Transit Company bus stalled for literally hours. It was also reported all night, but company officials said it reached the Buffalo garage at Tonawanda this morning and passengers were given shelter and coffee.

Five other buses were stalled on the lake shore road and passengers huddled in hot dog stands. Food was running low.

The heavy storm was confined almost entirely to Erie county. Up to five feet of snow piled up south of Buffalo.

Many schools in the area were closed.

The Buffalo storm swept in Monday night off the Lake Erie, foiled in the east and then turned northward into the city.

The storm came knife-edge winds approaching the 35-mile-an-hour mark. Visibility was reduced to ice and drifting snow. All roads were closed last night except Highways 20 and 5 south of Buffalo along the lake shore.

Hundreds were forced to stay in hotels in Buffalo for the night; those not so fortunate found all restaurant owners, gasoline station operators and residents in the suburbs for a time willing to sleep.

SHOVELLER DIES

One death in Buffalo was directly attributed to the storm as 62-year-old Edward Furnbach died of a heart attack while shovelling snow in the rear of his home. His wife said Mr. Furnbach left the house, shovel still clutched in his hand.

Many schools did not open today and plan to remain closed until conditions improve. Two inches of snow were reported overnight in Syracuse, and about a foot in the area north of the city.

State police warned that roads in the northern and central areas were impassable because of snow and drifting snow. The New York Thruway is closed east of Syracuse, but ice and drifting snow made it touchy going west to Buffalo.

Dead Man's Aorta Is Grafted Into Toronto Engineer

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto engineer is able to lead a normal life because of an operation in which part of his body's main artery was replaced with a section taken from a dead man.

Dr. C. D. Baker, head surgeon at St. Michael's Hospital, described the operation Monday night to an audience of fellow surgeons.

The unidentified patient, now fully recovered, was in the audience.

The operation was undertaken to replace a section of the man's aorta. The section had become weakened and a swelling or bulge had developed which increased the artery's circumference about 12 times.

In a 7½-hour operation Oct. 13, the weakened section was removed and replaced with a section from the aorta of a man who had been dead two days. The graft healed completely and the 37-year-old patient walked out of the hospital six weeks later.

Flying Preacher Of North Thrills Large Audience

A thrilling saga of heroism, self-sacrifice and devotion to duty was related to a large audience in City Collegiate Temple on Monday evening, as the Rev. John Spillenaar, "Flying Preacher of the North," told of missionary work among the Eskimos and Indians in the Hudson Bay district.

Humbly, and with great earnestness, Mr. Spillenaar gave all the glory to God as he told of the accomplishments in spreading the Gospel of Christ in Canada's hinterland. Many times he has been forced by adverse weather, the shortage of gas, to land on some remote lake, there to pitch his tent, sometimes in sub-zero temperatures, cooking his food on an open fire, until conditions improved so that he could take off again.

The flying missionary illustrated his talk with colored slides depicting the various phases of his "shepherding with the Gospel." The audience was keenly interested in close up views of actual Eskimo igloos, which are the only means of shelter the natives have against the bleak arctic tundra of the Arctic Circle. Other pictures showed the natives in their various churches under construction in the far north, built for the most part by the natives themselves, through hours of back breaking toil.

On one occasion Mr. Spillenaar's plane was damaged while landing on James Bay. He struck a huge chunks of ice that had been heaved up by the incoming tide. He had straightened the propeller as best he could, lopped off the broken section and fastened it with a piece of clothes line wire. In this condition he managed to get off flown...by the grace of God, a thousand miles to the mission station, and well named "Wings of the Gospel".

The destruction of the old plane may have been a merciful act of "God," said the flying pastor, "as it had flown many hours and may have been at the point of causing an air crash at any time."

Mr. Spillenaar has established a Bible school at Moosonee and this year he had the thrill of seeing six young Indians graduate, and go out to minister to their own people.

A sum of $325 was raised by the people of Calvary Temple to help support the work of the flying missionary in spreading the Gospel in the far north, where air transport is the only possible means of reaching the remote habitation of Indian and Eskimo trappers.

Money By-Law for Parking Lot Outlined to Rotary Club

The $115,000 money by-law for off-street parking in downtown Belleville to be presented to voters in the coming municipal election, was briefly outlined to the Belleville Rotary Club by Alderman Enos David.

Producing pictures of the proposed site on the east banks of Moira River immediately north of the footbridge, together with plans of the proposed site, Ald. David who is chairman of the special parking area, if given the go-ahead by voters would provide for some 234 cars.

At present there is space for about 100 cars but due to disorderly parking the area can usually only accommodate about 70 cars. Not only would the planned area correct this but would also provide for an additional 134 cars.

To put into effect the planned parking area also would return a revenue of $9,200 to $10,000 a year. Would beautify the city and assure flood control.

Ald. David told the club was Basil Tippett, Rotary past president, that the estimate of the YMCA international committee, Mr. Tippett spoke on the installations of the work of the YMCA throughout the world, with particular reference to the achievements in the East.

Mr. Tippett said the installation are closely linked in that service to followers is the motivation for the organization's activities, he told the club.

It is this ideal of service that is giving the YMCA such success in the East, he said, where religions are negative doctrines without a forward look and an opportunity for service. Despite the further a follower withdraws from the YMCA, the more he becomes to absorbing himself with his God.

It is because the ideal of service, fostered by the YMCA is giving most people in the Orient climates that the organization has been so successful, he said.

It is now located in 70 countries with a total membership of over four million, he told the club.

Mr. Tippett was introduced by Jack Ireland and thanked by Harold Mott.

Mercury Takes Sharp Drop In Quinte District

If you didn't know, here's the reason your glasses got steamed-up when you came indoors last night.

Temperature in the Belleville district dropped to a low of 10.5 degrees.

And by the look of things (in particular the forecasts on the Moira and the Bay of Quinte) temperatures may drop to a similar occurrence from now on.

Warning: Best way to keep your lenses free of steamed-up yourself. That way you see even if they do, when your glasses are covered with cold-air smog. Keep cool.

On second thoughts, throw away the warning: Forecast for tonight from Toronto weather office, 20 degrees in the Trenton area.

Police Blotter

A break-in at the garage of Fred Robertson at Blessington, with the theft of about $50 worth of equipment was reported to Belleville police on Saturday. Police said that the electric drills and two motors were stolen from the premises.

In the city there was what appeared to be an attempted break-in at the Jane Texts store on Front Street. Police said there are bar marks on the rear door of the store where entry was apparently attempted.

Otherwise police circles were quiet with only one minor motor accident reported.

Joseph Healy, 401 Bleecker Ave. was driving along Catherine Street last night when he failed to see the barricade protecting a street excavation. His car piled into the barricade and was damaged to the extent of about $100. It was thought that some other vehicle had driven past the barricade upsetting the lantern which had been left to warn motorists.

Diesel Ore Train Hits Coal Truck, Driver Injured

TRENTON, (Special)—Howard Simmons, 40, R.R. 3, Carrying Place, escaped with only minor cuts and bruises this morning, when the truck he was driving was struck by a fast-moving diesel-drawn, ore train. The accident occurred at the CNR level crossing, at Dead Creek, two miles south of here, on No. 33 Highway.

Simmons, on his way to work, was driving a heavy dump truck, in the employ of coal merchant B. W. Powers and Son, Trenton.

Simmons was stunned by the impact and has no recollection of the train hitting the truck. His vehicle was carried on the front of the locomotive some 275 feet along the right-of-way finally dropping off and turning on its side, in an ice-crusted, water-filled ditch.

He was rescued by a passing motorist and was taken to his home at R.R. 2, Carrying Place in sight of the crossing. He was treated by his wife. Father of two children, he was later treated for a cut shoulder and abrasions of the head by a local doctor.

Brighton OPP investigated. The accident, which left the truck badly wrecked, occurred about 7.45 a.m. where the railroad crossing intersects Highway No. 33.

James Orval Ross Acquitted On Charge of Robbing Bank

Late Monday night after five and a half hours' deliberation, a Hastings County petit jury acquitted the Toronto man on a charge of robbing the Toronto-Dominion Bank of $3400 last June 29th. The jury brought in their acquittal verdict shortly after 11.30 after being in their jury room since before five o'clock.

Ross was tried at the Hastings County courtroom at the General Sessions of the Peace before Judge J. C. Anderson and the petit jury.

The acquittal verdict climaxed a week-long trial which started November 21st when the grand jury brought in a true bill. The trial proper got underway on Tuesday and was concluded Monday after nine witnesses had been called by Crown counsel Ralph Graham and four witnesses by defence counsel Kenneth G. M. Ross.

The case resolved itself into an issue of identification and alibi and Judge Anderson in his charge to the jury instructed the members to this effect. Six of seven bank employees called by the Crown said they positively identified Ross as one of the two men who entered the Marmora bank in the guise of a plumber and robbed the bank after tying up three of the bank staff.

On the other hand three defence witnesses declared that Ross was in Toronto on the day of the bank robbery.

Judge Anderson in his charge to the jury Monday afternoon reviewed the evidence and advised the members that the accused must be considered innocent until proven guilty beyond all reasonable doubt.

MUST BE HONEST DOUBT

He said a reasonable doubt was an honest doubt. Before they could bring in a guilty verdict they must be morally certain that Ross was one of the smaller men who robbed the Marmora bank.

The jury went out to decide on their verdict at 4.30 and were brought back to the court room at six o'clock for re-direction on a point raised by defence counsel Kenneth Ross.

Three hours later at 9.00 o'clock the jury again returned to the courtroom, this time asking for the evidence of George Leach, one of the defence witnesses, to be re-read to them.

Leach had testified that on the morning of June 29th, the day on which the Marmora bank was robbed, Ross had been at his (the witness') block factory near Toronto checking the plant boiler.

Finally a few minutes before 11.30 the jury filed into the court room ready to give their verdict.

"Gentlemen of the jury, have you reached a verdict?", asked Sheriff T. Soines.

"We have," returned the jury foreman. "We find the accused not guilty."

Turnkey Archie Winters reached into the prisoner's box and unlocked the handcuffs which Ross had worn throughout the trial. Ross then stood up in the box and faced Judge Anderson.

"There is nothing left for me to do but discharge you," Judge Anderson told Ross. "You are discharged."

MANDATORY JAIL TERMS

Hon. Kelso Roberts, attorney-general of Ontario, is considering an amendment to the Ontario Traffic Act which would make a jail sentence mandatory for any person convicted of driving a motor vehicle while his or her licence to drive is under suspension.

The province's views in favor of this proposal with misgivings. "Experience in other directions has shown that a mandatory penalty of extreme severity may defeat its purpose," says the government.

A case in point, it says, was the attitude of police and judges towards drunken driving, before the law provided for an alternative charge of driving while unfit to do so was impaired by alcohol. A jail term for at least seven days was formerly mandatory. "The result," it says, "was a natural inclination among judges to convict borderline cases, a reluctance among judges to convict when conviction meant the ignominy of prison."

It might be argued, in rebuttal, that while there are certainly borderline cases with respect to drunken driving, it would be difficult to suggest how there could be a borderline case of driving while a licence was under suspension. It is difficult, surely, to say whether or not a man is drunk. There ought not to be any difficulty in determining whether a licence is suspended; as for difficulty in deciding whether a man should drive, if he exists it is normally the accused who would be entitled to the benefit of the doubt and an acquittal.

That, however, is not the main flaw which we note in the government's argument. It proceeds to suggest alternatives to a mandatory jail term. "His suspension could be extended to cover years—or his lifetime. The fine as the alternative to jail could be formidable."

The suggestion for an extension of the term of licence suspension appears reasonable. However, the plea for a "formidable" fine as an alternative to a mandatory jail term overlooks a vital point. As stated before in these columns, a fine, of any size, is a punishment the severity of which varies greatly with different individuals. If the fine were "formidable" to all, to many it would be the equivalent of a mandatory jail sentence, for inability to pay it. If we interpret "formidable" to mean a fine which would be a heavy penalty to the average man, it would still fail far short of being an effective deterrent to the wealthy. There is no way in which the punishment involved by a fine can be made equitable to all.

It may be objected that there is a vast difference between the severity of punishment of a fine, too, that some would suffer much less than others from imprisonment for seven days, or ten. That, too, is true.... And yet it is also true that few, if any, car drivers would be able to shrug off as lightly as some can forget a fine, even of the size which the Journal probably contemplates by the adjective "formidable."

A DISTURBING DEVELOPMENT

The BEC London Letter tells of a listener who is making a tape recorded family album—a sound version of the family snapshot album. So far it contains the first cries of a one-week-old relative, a home-coming party, children's chatter as they open their Christmas presents, speeches and a description of a twenty-first birthday party.

"All this may sound quite sentimental," observes the Montreal Gazette. "But may it not add a new terror to the lives of young people?"

Indeed it may. The Gazette grasps the fact that the snapshot album, beloved of mothers and maiden aunts, is not a source of pleasure for adolescents who may chance to be among the exhibits. "How they [parents] might play the sound version of early years as well," says the Gazette.

This, as the Gazette suggests "may be a shattering possibility" for young people. The Montreal paper, however, appears to have missed a very important point. Adults are generally not unaware of the shafts of alleged wit which are launched during an inspection of the family snapshot album. Fond memories of the days of youth are not incompatible with a certain cynicism about appearance or dress so many years ago. But could adults show the same indifference to a tape recording? We doubt it.

Viewed from its context, from the atmosphere and sentiments of the past, any speech, whether by a four-year-old at a birthday party, a sixteen-year-old after a victory on the basketball diamond, or a graduate from high school dance, or by an adult following a shrewd business deal or a promotion, is apt to sound ridiculous. The one-time forest of unanswered words being a case in point like a fool. To have our own words come out of the past to bear testimony against us would be agonizing. We might even refuse, on some of those occasions on which we had fondly imagined we cut a rather impressive figure, we had actually sounded like a pompous ass.

No, no, the tape recording machine is not a plaything but a weapon. We should not have a right to regard its use as prima facie evidence that the person employing it is a deadly enemy. It should not be cuddled in the family bosom, where it can strike us when we are least suspecting an attack. We should not be exposed to the risk of having ourselves condemned for folly out of our own mouths.

JUST FOLKS

(Copyright 1955, Edgar A. Guest)

EDGAR A. GUEST

CALLING THE DOCTOR

I marvel at the courage of the folks in days gone by.
They used to see their loved ones ill and never thought they'd die.
They'd hear them coughing through the night and bear the pain,
And sweetly tell them with a smile they'd soon be well again.
It had to be a desperate case, with little chance to win,
Before they'd think that it was time to call the doctor in.
Whene'er the wise physician got a call to someone's bed
He'd count it lucky not to find his patient almost dead.
He knew it was an urgent call, he faced a case for sure
Which home-brewed herbs and poultices possessed no power to cure.
For when folks called the doctor in, in that glad long ago,
'Twas safe to bet the patient's tide of life was ebbing low.
It may be that I fret too much and over-worry, too,
But I can't wait for doctors as the old folks used to do.
Just let a fever show itself, or let a youngster sigh,
And I won't rest until I have the doctor standing by.
It may be just a stomach ache, but I don't care for that;
I want the best physician I can get right off the bet.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

November 29, 1935

The Hospital Ball. From our file copy at this date: Mrs. Ald. G. S. Tickell and Ald. Pope waited upon the Rev. Monsignor Farrelly yesterday afternoon to ascertain exactly what terms he would dispose of the hospital lot at the north east corner of Church and Hotel Streets (now Victoria Avenue) in order that it might be made a public park. Monsignor Farrelly assured the committee that he was in favor of the ground being utilized for public purposes and intimated that he would not ask more than the amount paid to the Women's Christian Association, namely $5,000, for the lot. Monsignor Farrelly will call his committee together in the near future when the question of selling the lot will be discussed and Ald. Pope will be notified of the result.

Under the auspices of Christ Church and St. George's Parish Guilds, under the convenorship of Mrs. E. Reg. Hinchey, a turkey dinner was served in the Parish Hall, Christ Church last evening at which 700 persons were served. Much credit is due to Mrs. Hinchey and her able assistants for the perfect manner in which the large crowd was served with as little delay as possible. The Rev. C. G. Wright, rector of the parish, extended a welcome to all.

The feeling is growing with Front Street merchants that the next year's city council should tackle the question of paving our main street with stone.

The present system of "mud macadam" has been tried and found to be woefully wanting. A permanent job of asphalting the street would be of inestimable benefit in doing away with the mud and dust nuisance.

The PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The advertising profession is supposed to be pretty smart. Indeed, it has to be pretty smart to get the smartest newspapermen into the advertising game; which in its self would be a smart move, or perhaps I am not saying they are smarter than newspapermen, you see! All I say is, we newspapermen have got to be nimble, which is somewhere between smart and clever, see? But there is one question I would like to ask the advertising boys:

If you are going to waste money on TV instead of good, sound, reliable newspaper advertising, why do you put food shows on right after dinner?

Sure, I know that is generally accepted that the hours from seven to eleven at night are the likeliest period in which the largest number of viewers are sitting in front of the flickerbox. But here you have a good plain, say home-made mississippe soup, venison chops with gooseberries, two basic loads of gravy, steamed rice, cranberry sauce, brown bread, large helpings of good old Canadian mouse trap cheese, apple pie and two of those round balls of ice cream called fee. You think that's too much to eat? Well, I want to make my point as strong as possible for the advertising boys.

Then you get up and stagger into the living room and turn on the flickerbox.

And ugh! There's a woman spooning out oil dressing and flowing it gaggily onto a great big salad. Or worse, a gentleman letting you see what is inside a chicken pie. Bang in the eye, he holds the pie up close to the camera and with a knife cuts down into the flakey crush, turns it over, and shows you what is inside, showing how they packed the chicken pie in.

And cake mixes! They show you, about eight or nine o'clock at which time you are just finishing supably never eat again, a great, grainy, luscious cake, its filling bulging at the seams, an inch and inch deep.

If that is good advertising, boys, I'm a Dutchman. The morning papers come out before breakfast. If you want to sell anything house products, how about that? Noon editions come out before lunch, afternoon editions before supper. I'm hungry as a horse before breakfast, lunch, dinner. But after each of the aforesaid meals, I don't want to eat again, ever.

How about a nice spot on TV at six o'clock for those nice mixes? You say the TV isn't on at six. Okay. How about five-thirty? p.m. for a good, steaming chicken pie? You say the cowboys won't let you in at flickerbox?

Okay, okay.

Home Market Not Overlooked

(Vancouver Sun)

The latest bureau of statistics figures show more than just how rich this nation has become. They also show how rich the average man exists.

It is good to know that 83 per cent of Canada's homes are electrified, that 76 per cent have refrigerators, 63 per cent electric or gas ranges, 83 per cent have washing machines and 56 per cent have radios.

But a look at the reverse side of the ledger is also useful. Because there is still a great hole for the manufacturers and salesmen to fill in dustries to fill. One of every four homes lacks a refrigerator, one of every three lacks electric or gas ranges, almost half an automobile. Nothing could be more futile than to talk of "saturation" of the home market. Saturation dog not exist in the Kingdom. Total goods the bureau, nor does it show any indication of flattening. The consumption of big game on upland prairie and perhaps hippos swimming in the rivers. And with Air France it is pleasant to float from Conakry to Bamako in West Africa, and with Air Vietnam from Cap St. Jacques to Soctrang.

Hazards, of course, must be faced by the chairborne traveller. Imagine getting off the plane at certainly created by the table of "Time Elapsed" at the top. The dates being qualified by such devastating notes as the warning that between Christmas religious festivals are also observed" and the awkwardly hidden information "following day"!

Our eye, stalled, other work neglected, in the section, "Coding of Cities", the strikes having interfered with the coding of nations which facilitate, we trust, quick communication. Iraq is no longer identified as "YOW", being sandwiched between Ostraya, Ireland and Iceland as "IRQ". Chiumwa, U. S. A. "OTM".

Our shortcoming with the Guide began to turn nightmarish when we got involved with currency, finding that if we wanted to fly from Amman in Jordan to Copenhagen we should have Amsterdopolis, it would cost us £28.10s. 'or 80 Jordan dinars. Having either pounds nor dinars, or even mad dollars, we closed the book with regret noting only that from Cachoeira do Sul, Brazil, to Porto Pigres would require 24 Brazilian cruzeiros which somehow seemed beyond the dreams of avarice.

France Uses TV in Schools

(From France Actuelle)

More than six million children began classes in French schools in October. Some are those, including former Prime Minister Reynaud, who say that the French children are made to study too soon. But they are happy. Be that as it may, from now on school in France apparently is going to become modernized and to be more fun. For instance!

At 2 p.m. every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, the state is putting on special television programs for students. As a starter, 500 primary and secondary schools will be given the TV programs. It is expected that the TV instruction in these schools will be especially effective in teaching languages. But other subjects will get a fair share of time. They will be acted out in short scenes and the pupils, grouped in front of the clude pictures of the countries under discussion; literature and history will see plays by the Comedie Francaise.

Radio courses, introduced some years ago, are to be expanded and improved. There will be some particularly as auxiliaires to correspondence courses.

Forty per cent of all schools in the country this year will have received players. Experiments in music appreciation were most successful in kindergarten schools last year and now will be extended

Lift Veil From Uranium

(The Northern Miner)

The Sacred Aura of secrecy which often surrounds the uranium industry in the war years, however, has been carried far into the peace the years of peace. Only now does Ottawa do something which ought to have been doing for years. We refer to the inclusion of uranium in the Canadian statistical year. Permission has finally been granted for the publication of these values. Why not poundage? We'll come to do it some day. And why continue to hold a veil over uranium mining details such as ore reserves, production and general facts of mining. Uranium of a sudden has become another metal of commerce.

For the sake of the public which has been invited to risk its money in uranium mining, for the sake of that enlightenment so highly desirable in all human affairs, the veil should be pulled aside, and the mining facts made known. The present setup doesn't hide a thing from the experts. They know all learning the size, shape and content of our uranium deposits.

Nobel Prize Winner's Creed

(New York Times)

A traveler just back from Germany has told us about a profitable visit with Nobel prize winner Otto Hahn, discoverer of the secret of atom splitters.

During the call, the visitor was agreebly surprised to observe a framed inscription above Dr. Hahn's desk. It was a creed which seemed familiar, even in black Fierce white English, as the visitor read as follows:

"God, give me unclouded eyes and freedom from haste. God, give me quiet and relentless anger against injustice. Let me be relentless work and all work left slack and careless. Grant that I am a restlessness whereby I may neither sleep nor accept praise until justice rolls down like a mighty flood. Grant me strength not to trust to God."

The author, Sinclair Lewis; the creed, "Arrowsmith".

"It sums up the scientist's creed better than I ever could", said Dr. Hahn.

Luxury Liner Comes Back

(Edmonton Journal)

The announcement that the French Line plans to build a giant 55,000 tonner to replace another remarkable revival which ships of this type are having.

It has been the second World War ended, many observers predicted that the day of the huge passenger liner was over. It was thought that the cost of operating them for passengers who were in a hurry and could pay high fares, while cargo liners would meet the requirements of more ordinary travellers.

It hasn't worked out that way. Trans-Atlantic passenger traffic has expanded far beyond the expectations of a decade ago. Yet the cargo liners have grown into ocean travel since the war a large number of ships with luxurious accommodations of all types. The Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth and other ships have been the most bigger passenger loads than they carried in the past. Cargo carrying lines have found no difficulty in filling new ships.

For some parts, no nation attempted to rival the Queens in size. But the number of the new liners were in the 20,000-35,000 ton class. Then there appeared the U.S. broke the ice with the 52,000-ton United States. This month-after it was launched, the bulk to the British giants—though some 18,000 tons smaller. Italy launched a pair of lighter metals — and it claims to have beaten the Queen Mary's speed record. It has proved extremely popular and successful. The new French line, another traditional builder of huge ships—has two big ones under way and presumerably other national lines will follow.

Even in this air age, it seems a sea voyage still holds its traditional fascination. The passenger, especially if it can be made in a magnificent floating palace. Now-passengers each day.

This Little Boy Wants Maximum Security

You say home is the safest place to have a baby. I would like to know what would be the outcome if in a delivery at home the patient developed respiratory failure, or if the infant should need pure oxygen. It seems to me that in order to have a baby at home a great deal of equipment would be necessary—equipment brought to the house in a van. And how would you handle an emergency which might require immediate consultation with another obstetrician? (H. M.)

Or what would I do if the patient suddenly went stark staring mad or her husband came home drunk and landed one on her jaw because ... these and other complications occurred in my obstetric career.

If you will settle for nothing less than maximum security, then, there's nothing to it. Think about it but just sit back, relax and leave everything to the government police officer at the corner or whoever will answer your distress signal, push your sleds and take all responsibility off your puny shoulders.

It is a contelvable that a woman in labor might "develop respiratory failure" but I'm not breathing though I can't think of a good reason why. Nor can I think of a circumstance in which pure oxygen would do an infant more good than pure air.

If or when you and Mrs. Harry make the terrible mistake and you are going to have a baby you'll be most welcome in Emergency with all the "regulations" unsophisticated patrons "are supposed" to obey.

Among these "regulations" which make it easy for the doctors, nurses and other staff in such institutions to get away from it are instructions to keep from what readers report, by trick specialists in the Chicago area. When fatalistic parents in this area express a wholehearted desire to have their baby at home the trick specialists Lie No. 1, that in 99 cases out of 100 the home is much too dangerous. If the prospective parents seek a physician who practises the natural method in which the patient receives no anesthetic drugs and no anesthetic unless she herself decides she wants them, the trick specialist arbitrarily informs that that natural childbirth is for low-grade morons and he knows of no reputable physician who uses the method. The second lie is worse than the first because it is a matter of fact. Of course every Chicago physician of standing knows at least one physician in the area who (a) not only attends confinement cases at home but (b) uses the natural method if the patient wishes to be prepared and trained. I born shall not name such a physician unless a reputable physician in this Chicago area challenges me to do so and then only in a private letter.

I hope every potential mother who reads this piece will get behind firmly fixed in mind, namely, that in natural childbirth a reliable anesthetic is always available for the patient to take if or whenever she wishes.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL I. DOUGLASS

UP THE LADDER

The legend has come down across the centuries of two Jews who had returned to the countryside to Jerusalem at the end of the Babylonian Exile. The Temple was in ruins, and the walls of the city had been cast down. Most of the houses had been burned or demolished. One of the returned exiles wept bitterly over the desolation of the city and which he and every other Jew loved with a passionate devotion. But the other man laughed and clapped his hands in glee. "Why do you laugh?" asked his companion. "Because," replied his friend, "by this very desolation, Jehovah assures us that God is true to his threatenings, we know that the same God will be true also to his promises and will restore Zion to her beauty and glory."

John Ruskin once boasted that he grew up in a home where every promise and every threat was carefully kept and fulfilled. He grew up in a universe presided over by a God on whom we can rely implicitly. He fulfills; what He threatens, He inflicts with severity.

"We rise by things that are under our feet;
By what we have mastered of good and gain,
By the passion slain
And the unsatisfied ills that we hourly meet.
"Heaven is not reached at a single bound;
But we build the ladder by which we rise
From the lowly earth to the vaulted skies,
And we mount to its summit round by round."

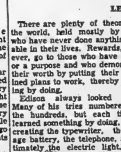
LEARN BY DOING



There are plenty of theories in the world, held mostly by those who have never done anything notable by way of accomplishment. However, go to those who have a plan or a purpose and demonstrate your theory by putting their imagined plans to work, thereby learning.

Edison always looked ahead. Many of his inventions preceded by hundreds, but each time he learned something by doing, finally creating the typewriter, the storage battery, the telephone, and ultimately, the electric light. Had he not learned something after each try that gave him new experience, he would have never been heard of.

You can't become a musician merely by having someone tell you. That person must demonstrate on the instrument and then you must learn by doing as told, over and over again. Simple, but it is the way to great achievement. All of us go through this natural process. In my earlier years I loved to play tennis, but I noted how much I improved my game by watching those who were champions. I never played a game of golf with a champion that I didn't improve my game.

We have a wonderful gift in the human brain, but it is of no avail unless we demonstrate what we are dreaming about or thinking about it. All of our comforts today were once the dream of someone who was determined to work—learning by doing. And others learning by doing a little more, each succeeding one a little better.

We learn how to be successful by running into many a failure. We think more and learn to do better by putting our wits to work, undiscouraged by failure. Watch any successful man and learn how he has learned by doing, over and over again. Keep the doors of opportunity wide open, and about greatness by studying the technique of the great.

Soldier Appeals Sentence For Manslaughter

OTTAWA (CP)—The court martial appeal board Monday reserved judgment on the appeal of Cpl. Clement J. Lawrence, 23, of Orillia from a conviction on a charge of manslaughter.

Lawrence was sentenced to two years and three months in jail by a Canadian Army court - martial in Japan after a 25-year-old Japanese woman was killed by a jeep in Tokyo Oct. 17, 1954. The sentence later was reduced to one year and Lawrence, with time off for good behavior, actually served nine months.

Lawrence was formerly a member of the Army Service Corps but now is serving with the 1st Field Ambulance at Camp Borden, Ont.

John J. Urie, counsel for Lawrence, argued that the court martial had no jurisdiction to try Lawrence and that jurisdiction rested with the Japanese authorities. The crown claims there is a Canada-Japan agreement on court jurisdiction in such cases.

Mr. Urie also said that the crown did not present sufficient evidence to convict Lawrence of manslaughter.

Navy Helicopter, Michigan Police Save Sportsmen

DETROIT (AP)—A United States navy helicopter and Michigan state police rescued two Detroit fishermen and three Ohio duck hunters stranded in wind-whipped near-zero temperatures Monday night in the Detroit river and Lake Erie's Maumee bay.

Edward Cozakie, 45, and Alfred Dossett, 33, were picked by helicopter from their boat moored on a mud bank off Hickory Island at the southwestern end of Grosse Ile in the Detroit river.

The duck hunters, Wade A. Young, 19, Harold M. Gibson, 41, and Richard Clark, 24, were driven ashore by winds on the barren north cape peninsula that juts two miles into Maumee bay near the Michigan-Ohio line. The peninsula is only a foot or two above water level.

Troopers, called by someone who saw a bonfire on the tip of the peninsula, inched their patrol car along the precarious point, shining their spotlight as a signal to the distressed hunters.

The hunters, seeing the light, began walking toward the police car, and met it about two miles from the mainland.

Time Publisher Says West Gained Some Advantages

TORONTO (CP)—The publisher of Time magazine said Monday that although the second Geneva conference failed to solve the problems it considered, the West gained psychological advantages from the meeting.

James A. Linen told the Canadian Club these advantages included:

The West's exposure of Russia's "decade - old pretext" that her prime concern was her own military security.

"This conference made it abundantly clear that the Soviet Union's chief goal in Europe is unification of Germany along Soviet lines—the Russ-ification of Germany, East and West."

A second major gain for the West was Russia's admission that even if Germany were to withdraw from NATO, "Russia would still oppose free elections.

"Once again we see it—the basic, organic Russian fear of freedom."

"The security that the Soviet keeps harping on is real enough, but it does not relate to the threat posed by a re-armed, resurgent Germany. It relates rather to a fear of any kind of independence in Germany, or for that matter, in any of the satellite states of Europe. . . ."

Expect Faure Will Lose Vote

PARIS (AP) — Backed into a corner after nine months of adroit parliamentary manoeuvring, Premier Edgar Faure prepared to stake his government's life today on a vote of confidence on his demand for early elections.

The general expectation at the National Assembly today was that Faure would be voted out. The assembly ballot was due early tonight.

Faure was prepared to go down fighting. He planned to make a long speech defending his policies.

Any resulting cabinet crisis is expected to last several weeks, with the next cabinet only a temporary team to arrange for election of the new assembly in the spring. A spring election could be billed as a compromise between the December date Faure sought and the balloting which otherwise would come in June.

Jungle Battle With Malaya Reds Is Now Raging

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (Reuter)—British and Malayan forces clashed with Communist guerrillas today in one of the biggest battles in Malay's seven-year-old jungle war.

Strong reinforcements of special jungle commandos and police were rushed to the rugged Jelebu and Kuala Pilah areas of central Malaya to combat a large concentration of rebels, it was officially announced here.

The action began four days ago, official sources said.

Residents in the battle area have been warned that there will be heavy bombing and shelling, and two villages have been sealed off to prevent food reaching the Communists.

The communique this morning said only that "a number" of rebels were casualties. Details of the action were not released for security reasons.

Govt. Considers Raising Licence Fees of Vehicles

TORONTO (CP) — Highways Minister Alan said Monday the Ontario government is considering raising the licence fees for cars and trucks to provide more money for highway repairs.

Mr. Allan said the decision probably will be made later in the week.

A Queen's Park source said recently that licence fees for cars would not be raised and that the increase would apply only to trucks.

Mr. Allan said the increase for both classes of vehicles is necessary because of highway construction.

The proposed increase is expected to be about $5 for cars.

Motorists Will Be Required to Stop for Buses

TORONTO (CP)—After next Feb. 1, Ontario motorists will be required to stop when overtaking a school bus loading or discharging passengers on highways, it was reported today.

The new ruling is the result of an amendment by order-in-council to the Ontario Highway Traffic Act.

Queen's Park sources said the amendment also stipulates that all school buses must provide seating accommodation for at least 10 passengers. The order applies to school vehicles operating on a highway outside a city, town, village or police village or built-up area.

Rear of the buses will be painted "Do not pass when bus is stopped," in black paint on a light background, it was reported.

His Worship Mayor John Both is shown signing the by-law giving Lakeland Gas Company Ltd. right to supply natural gas to this city when same is available. Watching the signing of this document are John Fitzpatrick and W. Woodward of the gas company and Mrs. Anne Haggerty, acting city clerk.

Manslaughter Charge Laid After Boy's Death

TORONTO (CP)—Police Monday night charged Mrs. Margaret Daniels, 35, of Scarborough township with manslaughter in connection with the death of a three-year-old boy who was boarding while his parents looked for a house.

Police said Mrs. Daniels told them the boy, Darrell Bell, smothered in bed when his twin sister, Darlene, fell across him while they slept.

They said both children were found to have suffered from malnutrition. A doctor's report showed Darlene broke her arm two to four weeks ago and the bone had started to mend without being set, police said.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bell said they placed the twins with Mrs. Daniels Sept. 22 while they looked for a house large enough for their five children. They now live in a basement apartment. They said they were preparing to move into a house in January.

The Bells said they learned of their boy's death only a few hours after Mrs. Daniels told them the two children were "fine," although Darrell "had a slight cold."

MOUSE SILENCED STATION

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A mouse knocked Springfield's radio station WLBY off the air Monday for 26 minutes—but electrocuted himself in the process. Station officials said a field mouse crawled into the 220-volt transmitter in WLBY's transmitting building outside the city limits. The rodent knocked himself off the air and burned himself up when 1,000 kilowatts of power passed through his body.

Reserves Judgment

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada Monday reserved judgment in the case of 34-year-old Kenneth Suchard of Toronto, convicted on a charge of retaining stolen goods.

The court has been asked to rule whether possession of stolen goods shortly after a theft is sufficient evidence for conviction on the charge.

Suchard, first convicted in magistrate's court at Hamilton, later had his conviction and three-month sentence quashed by the Ontario Appeal Court. The appeal judges ruled that possession is not evidence of retaining stolen goods. Their decision was appealed here by the attorney-general's department of Ontario.

Suchard was one of four persons charged in connection with the theft of jewelry in Hamilton Aug. 6, 1954.

Say Leak on Polio Figures Gave Incomplete Information

OTTAWA (CP)—Figures showing preliminary results of Canada's anti-polio vaccination program have been released to Stockholm, but health department officials here describe them as "tentative."

The department has been careful not to issue any figures until results of the inoculations given earlier this year to 80,000 Canadian children are studied carefully. A report is expected early in 1956.

However, newspaper reports from Stockholm said preliminary results from four Canadian provinces indicate that only 1.07 in 100,000 children vaccinated with Salk vaccine contracted paralytic polio compared with 3.39 among the unvaccinated group.

A Canadian representative, armed with confidential reports, has been attending a Stockholm meeting at which virus experts from eight countries exchanged experiences in production and use of polio vaccine.

SUMMARY PUBLISHED

The meeting apparently was to have been confidential, but the Stockholm newspaper report said a summary of the scientists' discussions was published there by the World Health Organization, a United Nations agency.

Officials here said Monday the figures were supposed to have remained confidential because they were only "very, very tentative." They also described them as "incomplete and inconclusive."

Canada's immunization program, which started in June, is to be resumed early next year. It is planned to give third shots to the approximately 80,000 children who received two injections this year, and first and second inoculations to 2,000,000 more. There are approximately 5,325,000 children in Canada under the age of 18.

STORM KILLS EIGHT

MANILA (AP)—At least eight persons were killed, nine injured and about 15,000 left homeless by a sudden storm which swept the central Philippines Monday, the Red Cross said. An estimated 3,000 homes were destroyed.

Lady Listowel Outlines Growth Of Communism from Stalin's Day

Last evening, in St. Andrew's church hall, the Countess of Listowel, addressed a mixed assembly at the Women's Canadian Club on the topic "Developments in Europe Since the Geneva Conference."

Lady Listowel, who was introduced by the president, Mrs. D. I. MacKinnon, in a delightfully informal manner outlined the growth of Communism from the days of Stalin, with its many ramifications. Its effect on the western world, and the results stemming from the Geneva Conference, stated that the world is now in a most critical stage.

RUSSIANS TALKING

From 1947 to 1953 it was impossible to talk to the Russians: but now they are prepared to talk to the west. In those early days Stalin was determined to get eastern Europe and the Baltic states. Had he lived he would have had his grounds to Roosevelt, but dying under mysterious circumstances, the Russians who took up the leadership have not lived up to the pacts of the Malta conference. They were determined that the eastern countries should take up the Russian way of life. But the Berlin blockade stopped the Russian expansion.

After Stalin's death, the leadership was replaced by a joint leadership, who decided to change their policy of the domestic way of life: to make living easier for the masses by bettering the standard of life. However, this the Soviet could not keep on doing as they were unable to both keep up the way of life, and maintain the output of war materials, as the United States were doing; so they reverted to the manufacture of arms.

They realize that what is needed for them is a period of peace, and to that end all their endeavors is pointed; they realize that their living is much lower than the west. At the end of the war soldiers, who dashed to cross the borders into other states saw that the standard of living there was much higher than that of the Russians; they saw the land and its agricultural produce; the animals, and returning to their own country, spread this information among the masses.

There was a high standard of life among the rulers, and a very low standard among the masses Molotov's apartment, which was set aside for Churchill's use when he visited that country, was most luxurious, with satin curtains, and perfumed bed linen.

AGRICULTURAL—ARMY NEEDS

The other need was the increase in agriculture and the method of doing so. In 1950 there were 50 million acres under cultivation, and this increased to 200 million acres in 1955. Even this was insufficient, and they were trying to cultivate the virgin land in Asia, about 2,000,000 acres, and found that this has paid off. The agricultural delegations which are coming to the west, are sincere in their approach; they want to find out how the west does it.

Aside from the agricultural need, and the time of peace to accomplish this, is a time of peace to educate and re-equip the army, and in 1955 they began to study what the British, and the Americans might have in this for them. They find there is a need for discipline. Their talk is about defensive wars, of which they are trying to make a respectable propaganda. Their chief worry is that the United States might interfere with this period of peace, and by so doing upset their plans.

ADVANCED IN MIDDLE EAST

In foreign lands the Russians are furthering their interests, which catches the west napping In the middle east, the Russians have made great advances, with Baghdad bowled over, and Afghanistan open to them. Russian flattery then ever before. The Balkan States are just talking as seen by what is going on in Cyprus, and Tito has again been talking to the Soviets.

The west must bring about the unification of Germany on a democratic basis. The Russians know the value of time; if Adenauer dies the Germans may be ready to make an alliance with the Russians rather than with the west. In every point of the Geneva conference the Russians remained firm, and now are forging ahead with their own ideas.

"It does not mean war," stated Lady Listowel, "because the west is stronger in its atomic bank; but there is a military stalemate; they won't make war."

COLONIAL COMPETITION

Competition in the Colonial countries—the Russians promise these what they want, and in this the west must outwit them on their own footing; the west must go into an undeveloped country, and show the peoples what America can accomplish by its method of raising the standards of life. The Russians are always stating what their country's government can accomplish which leaves the west at a disadvantage. It must speak up and show what it has, and what it can accomplish, and begin to blow its trumpet.

Russia wanted to find out if she could get a period of peace; so they have made great headway in Africa and the east. The west must take up the challenge, and yet remain diplomatic.

Following the conclusion of the address, a question period ensued with Lady Listowel most graciously answering the various queries as to events in the east and elsewhere. The speaker was thanked by the president of the club for her fine address.

Carmel Choir Presents Singing Saints

Carmel church hall on the Canniffon circuit, was packed to capacity for the initial presentation of "Singing Saints," a musical comedy played by members of the senior choir.

The scene takes place in the vestry of All Saints' church. The time is the conclusion of the Friday night choir rehearsal. A new choir director has been appointed and he is present to try out the members of the choir, listening to their voices and testing their musical knowledge.

The quality of their voices and the choice of their songs leaves much to be desired and all goes toward making an extremely funny and enjoyable musical comedy.

The final curtain is pulled on the "murdering" of the next Sunday's anthem.

CAST

The cast of characters is as follows: Reverend Job, Stan Geen; Mike Smoothie, Clarence Chambers; Hiram Voltage Watt, Carman Dafoe; Iva Dimple, Olive Thompson; Mrs. Lotta Nerve, Hazel Dafoe; Baby Bessie Potts Percy Sambrooks, Bill Rodgers; Ima Mannasicher, Eadie Gowthorpe; Jenny Lind Hallelujah, Norma Horton; Julius Hardandtight, Earl Dafoe; Pronto Screwdriver, Art Tufts; Eloise Highlight, Elsie Whitmore; Lovess Tremolo, Kay Homan; Madame Shutiler-stuff, Marion Rodbers; Willie Counter, Harvey Homan; Mrs. Wilma Wobble, Ruth Allison; Mrs. Hepzibah Haystack, Evelyn Chambers; Henry Haystack, Allen Gowthorpe; Mr. Yodler, Carl Thompson.

The senior choir, in sharp contrast to the choir they represented in the play, presented a delightful anthem "Let the Heavens Rejoice."

An added attraction was the showing of colored movies of the "Carmel Centennial", by Mr. Don Williams of Belleville. For a short time, everyone relived that unforgettable day in Carmel's history when the 100th anniversary of Carmel school was celebrated this past summer on August first.

The evening's entertainment concluded with the serving of sandwiches, pie and coffee.

The proceeds for the evening were most gratifying, amounting to $93.

Dream Kitchen Of GM Design Lures Women

By OLI DAUM
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Girls who think themselves "business women" may wax a little wistful when they see a new dream kitchen for their stay-at-home sisters.

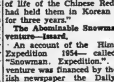
A dream "kitchen of tomorrow" was unveiled here Friday by General Motors Corp. The designs were not only for better living but lures to keep women in the home.

Originators of the kitchen call it a "lift to living." Its warmth, color and gaiety makes it an inviting gathering place for the family. The appliances and layout are designed for leisurely once-a-week shopping. Stress is on time- and labor-saving devices.

PUSH BUTTONS

At first glance the kitchen looks like anything but a working centre. Its magic is hidden by pastel colored sliding doors with push-button controls. Doors are a thing of the past.

With a slight tap on a button, one cupboard slides up to reveal at waist height a four-burner electric range with a sliding glass door. Another sliding panel reveals a 10-cubic-foot refrigerator with adjustable shelves for tall bottles and roll-out shelves. It contains a combination food freezer and refrigerator with a self-defrosting, self-defrosting.



A special service dispenses ice in chips or cubes, or ice water.

The sink has a special faucet to regulate the temperature and flow of water; a built-in dishwasher and garbage disposal unit.

"For the housewife who may still nurse executive ambitions, there is a large desk or meal - planning centre.

LEFT IN CADILLAC

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A woman was stopped by police Monday while carrying an armful of Christmas wrappings and carving knives from a store in one of the fancier shopping centres in Phoenix. After a hurried conference she agreed to pay $70.28 for the goods, and police let her go. She drove away in a 1956 Cadillac.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

ASSERT YOUR RIGHTS
RESTLE AND YOU MAY WIN

Dear Miss Fairfax:
We just married 34 years. I 54 and my husband is 56. ch about a year or two ago, I secure in the knowledge that husband cared for me and ded me. Then he had a seri- nervous breakdown. I was ng, so he had worked hard for many years and has done it without benefit of professional ground or college education. ly problem now is that since ing his new position, he has some quite secretive about his ness life and has also developed a tendency to live a life of his n during the week. He comes out alone in the evening, but es her interested in electronics ve built himself a basement shop to which he retires im- diately after dinner. He does only at bedtime. He gets own recreation and hobbies ut any opportunity to meet many people, and to lunch with his friends, etc. Outside these contacts, he isn't interested social activities.

His never-tells me anything about business affairs, and I ask the simplest question, he says I'm prying." It was only quite by ac- dent that I recently discovered salary now is exactly double that he led me to believe. There no desire to "pry," but it seems only natural for me to be terested in what he is doing, es- cially since I have no activities my own except my homemaking duties and two or three clubs, diversion. I would enjoy a job office in some of these clubs, t haven't done so because I know wouldn't like it.

I guess you'll think I really don't ve much to say, but my life is and emotionally, all this is gol- ng me down and my patience is earing very thin. I don't feel that have a contact with my husband more, and I don't like it and happy and restless. — Mrs. ..

ear Mrs. H.:

With your husband away at work day, and busy with your hobby d evening, you have good reason feel as you do. I can't tell- ough, that you'd get anywhere by making an issue of it. In his present mood, it seems certain t you'd just pile up more fric- n between you that would make e situation even more unhappy than it is already.

So let the problem another ry. Ask him no more questions all, and instead of arguing with him about anything, start building up your own interests. Since he ishes himself in his own, every ening, you have not only a right, t a definite duty to yourself, to ake your own plans. Get busy h some community activities hat will take you out a couple of ghts a week. Invite women friends in another couple of nights follow some hobby or other o- self.

If your husband objects to your increased activity, be calm and casual about it. Make every effort to avoid quarrels. Simply say that you've decided not to tease him any more to share your social life; that you want him to be happy and free to do as he pleases. But add that if you are willing to do all this, you're sure he'll be fair enough to grant you the same privilege, and that you can use the time he can't spend with you to find enjoyment with others.

Carry out this quietly and steadily, and you may be pleasantly surprised at what you're doing, so that your husband sees you as a person of radiant vitality and initiative who can find her own good things, and not as a wife so depen- dent that she sits around brooding about being neglected. Once you have established a pattern like this, it wouldn't be at all surprising if your husband decided of his own ..d that he was missing a lot by being all companionship with you.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JARIESON

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

The razor is the quickest and easiest way to remove the superfluous hair from the legs.

No one knows certainly exactly what causes superfluous hair but one thing is certain. Practically no woman is entirely free from it, whether on the face or on the body. And another thing is certain: if a woman would be as sweet and as fascinatingly lovely as she should be, she should take immediate steps to remove it. There are various ways in which she can do this . . . some temporary, others permanent.

For hair on the legs and under the arms, shaving is the quickest and easiest method discovered. A good soapy lather, or use shaving cream or soap, so that the razor slips smoothly over your skin. If you shave in the direction in which the hair grows, you are less likely to irritate the skin, but you can, if you wish, shave in the opposite direction if you are very careful . . . and you'll do a cleaner job. If you should nick yourself in the process, be sure to use a styptic pencil immediately to stop the bleeding. And remember, never try to remove hair if your skin is sunburned, or otherwise irritated, and never, never if there is a break in the skin.

Depilatories are also good for removing hair from legs and under arms, but should never be used on the face and, in using them, it is important to follow directions since the different brands work in different ways.

Where hair on the face is concerned, unless the growth is extremely heavy, it is better to bleach it than to try to remove it. The same bleaches which are used on the hair of the head are usually satisfactory, but you may have to repeat the bleaching process a couple of times before satisfactory results are achieved. After bleaching, apply cold cream or a creamy lotion and leave on for about ten minutes to prevent irritation of the skin.

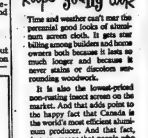
If facial hair growth is heavy, electrolysis is your best bet. Electrolysis removes the hair permanently since a fine needle, carrying a tiny charge of electricity, is inserted into the hair follicle, right down in the root. This completely decomposes it so that it can never grow again. The process takes time, however, since every hair has to be treated separately, but if a dark growth of hair on the face depresses you and makes you feel unfeminine, it's well worth the time and money spent. Be sure, however, that the operator is an expert, one well recommended by a dermatologist.

Pensioner's Wife's Budget Chicken Soup

By Mary Moore

My files and my desk and my head are packed with Christmas food and entertaining ideas but the latest interest is in budget meals . . . husband and I live on a small pension and my share for housekeeping is $35 per month . . . out of it I pay $3 for Hydro; $1.50 for newspaper, remainder covers food for two, clothes for myself and replacements such as light bulbs, towels, etc. . . . meat bill includes cheaper meats, hamburg, stew meat, liver and kidney but I manage wonderfully . . . since I discovered chicken neck and backs. Ho Ho for 25c . . . here is how I make 4 or 5 appetizing meals: Wash well and put necks and backs on to cook in water to cover with 1 teaspoon salt. Simmer until meat falls from bones . . . remove all meat and bones from liquor.' . . . it takes patience to get meat from bones but I get a plat size bowlful of meat . . . from stock I make a thick vegetable soup with plenty of barley and all kinds of vegetables in it . . . main course with dessert for one meal. Low left over for two more lunches with a sandwich. The meat I use part as chicken-a-la-king with chips and cole slaw, then there is enough for sandwiches for two days. To vary this I make a chicken loaf with 2 or 3 teaspoons of stock and 1 envelope of gelatine added. Believe me Mary, this has helped to break the monotony of our meals, but it takes a lot of time, which I have plenty of as my pensioners like us haven't found this way of stretching a very slim budget. I wish you could let them know of this. Many thanks for your friendly column which I look at first. — Pensioner's Wife.

Mrs.: that's a great letter! and help to us all. I'd like to re- christen her "Stretcher" and give her all of our thanks.



DUTCH CHICKEN SOUP

Buy four chicken backs (about two to a lb. for 15c), and put to cook in 1 quart cold water and simmer three hours or until meat falls from bones. Let cool in stock and when cold skim off fat if desired. Tip into large sieve and with great care pick out all bones. Return meat to stock and add: 1 28 oz. tin tomatoes, 1 small onion or 1-4 large Spanish onion, chopped finely (1-3 to 1 cup finely chopped onion celery may be added if desired), 1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate, 1 1-2 to 2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1-3 cup rice and simmer until all additions are tender. Supper for 10.

May I add quickly "A Happy Birthday" to Marianne?

ARMS FOR TWINS

MONTREAL (CP)—The Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada Sunday issued a call for 40 sets of identical twins, with one member of each set suffering from the disease, to aid in its research program. Officials said that in the case of identical twins, nature provides a ready-made laboratory experiment in determining the relative importance of possible environmental and genetic factors.

Screen Star keeps "young" look

Tone and weather can't rear the perennial good looks of Hollywood's screen cloth. It gets star billing among builders and home owners both because it lasts so much longer and because it never stains or discolors surrounding woodwork.

It is also the lowest-priced non-rusting insect screen on the market. And that adds point to the happy fact that Canada is the world's most efficient aluminum producer. And that fact, in turn, means that people who make aluminum screen and window frames, or moulding and hardware for Canada's active building industry can do so at prices that save a lot of people a lot of money.

SHOULD SHE SEND CHRISTMAS CARDS THIS YEAR?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

In January of this year my husband passed away. Today I was talking with a friend of mine about my sending Christmas cards this year. I feel it isn't proper for me to send Christmas cards this year. Is she right? — M.

No. It is entirely proper for you to send Christmas cards this year if you wish to . . . but it is of course not at all necessary for you to send cards. How do you yourself feel about this? Would you like to send cards to relatives and intimate friends this year, to greet them with a message of devotion and a wish for their happiness at Christmas time and for the New Year? Surely this is a proper gesture for you to make to your relatives and dear friends, and shows the wedding invitation, the parents should know that the child is not invited. But if you think that there may perhaps be a doubt about this, you should in some way (verbally cards, perhaps, or 'once conservatively designed, or perhaps one with only "Greetings" or "Christmas Greetings" on the cover) and write your own brief, devoted message on the inside pages. Perhaps: "I do want you to know that I am thinking of you with devotion, and with the hope that your Christmas and New Year will be happy."

OFTEN A PROBLEM . . . NOT INVITING CHILDREN TO WEDDING

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We are perplexed about inviting, or rather not inviting, children to our daughter's wedding. We don't want to have any more children at the wedding than is absolutely necessary, for already our list of guests is too lengthy, and we must cut it down. Should we invite the young children who are cousins, or may we invite only the older cousins? — Reader

You and your daughter must make your own plans about this, according to your convenience. The question of inviting children is frequently a problem. The idea is, of course, that if the child's name is not included with the parents' names on the inside envelope of or by telephone or by note), and as graciously as possible, inform the parents that you are sorry but it is not convenient to invite children to the wedding. Since apparently convience demands it, you may invite older cousins, but need not invite younger cousins.

'A TAXPAYER'S VIEWS

Regarding 3 Questions being now submitted to the voters to decide.

To those members of the present Council seeking re-election I will gladly provide reasonable space in this paper for their comments supporting the issues they have created. The Council presented certain questions to the public for approval. The public should be made aware of the facts and arguments that influence the Council to suggest these problems.

On Election Day, it is up to the voters to decide.

Today it is up to at least those Council members who as a majority brought forward these issues, to substantiate their position.

THE FIRST NO!

There is no doubt that an individual or a few individuals can reach an important decision with less debate than a large lumber, but is it necessarily the correct decision and is not debate to the best interests of all, particularly the Public!

During this last year, due to so much bitter dissent in Council, insufficient time was given to round table, unbiased discussion of the problems incident to a growing community.

BELLEVILLE will prosper or decline by the character, interests and energies of its people regardless of its Councillors, but a Council made up of sincere citizens, offering their services at best they are fitted, can help immeasurably in the supplying to the large body of fellow citizens a city atmosphere conducive to its well ordererred growth.

No one man is expected to know it all and it is a mistake for any one to purport to be a superman. Therefore, particularly in a small community such as we are, there surely is safety in numbers. More of a cross section of society is represented and the working man along with the business man has an opportunity to express his thoughts backed up with his particular experience and knowledge.

With a large number of Councillors to choose from, committees can be set up to study and report on the various problems arising in Public Works, Health, Finance, Parks, Planning, Fire and Police Protection, Traffic, and so on, but with a few members in Council each member would be obliged to take on an overload of work with the result that no particular problem would receive its due study.

Some are suggesting that a position be created whereby one man is paid a large salary to do all the study and work required to report on each department and that a small council then would merely have to decide on the adoption or rejection of the recommendations from the salaried employee.

The high salaried employee—having no direct responsibility and rightly so, for he cannot be expected to be, a qualified engineer, to have superior knowledge re medical health, to be a financial wizard, to be a planning expert, to know how to dictate policy re Police and Fire Protection —reports only to Council and Council makes the decisions. The Council being few in number are unable to make sufficient personal study and perhaps through their lack of knowledge and training are incapable of making correct and firm decisions.

We are inevitably faced with the problem—stated this way:

1. City Manager Control—i.e. with authority to govern.

2. Control by the People through a Council.

From the foregoing very brief summary of the case, to me at least, it is apparent that for our community, authority for governing must remain with the peoples' representatives, and that a GOODLY NUMBER OF REPRESENTATIVES BE MAINTAINED so as to allow for more intensive study of all the varied duties of governing.

NOTE: To the thinking public it might be relevant here to point out two facts:

This year applications were invited by the Council for a City Engineer — Replies received— NONE.

Applications were invited by the Council for City Manager—Replies received—SIXTY.

Pages could be written about the significance of these facts, but in direct relation to our problems one thing stands out. Few profess to be experts in any one field, but many purport to know all about all things.

The expert is hired to do things faultlessly and an impostor is quickly disclosed. A job as handyman of all trades but master of none, with no responsibility for decision or the actual carrying out of work, particularly at a salary greater than the competent worker's, appeals to many.

The paid servants of our municipality carry the burden. They are the heart of our organization.

A foundation must be laid for a good civic service attractive to loyal competent employees. Each man competent and trained to be an expert in his own field with always the apprentice or assistant being trained to take over senior responsibilities when the time comes.

It is vital to foster the idea that this city requires a superman to manage it or a few councillors highly expert in arriving at correct decisions. One would be just as difficult to find as the other. But if we are sincere in our intentions to build up a good strong healthy administration to conduct our affairs, let us keep parallels out.

CITIZENS OF BELLEVILLE

DEAR FRIENDS,

It has been my privilege for the past two years to be your mayor. I have been most grateful to have had the honor, and, I have endeavored to carry out the duties of the office without favor for any class, professional group, or other groups, but have proceeded with a policy of sound business administration for the general welfare of all citizens, and to protect our mutual investments.

This policy has been my ambition for the purpose of keeping our city solvent, and check our ever increasing tax rate, knowing as a business man the increasing cost of our services and the necessity for careful administration. This program, I believe, has been very apparent in my two years as your mayor.

I again offer my services as your mayor for 1956, and, like any other servant or officer in public life, it is impossible to please all concerned when you proceed with straight business administration.

Our city like many other municipalities has been faced with increased expenditures since the re-establishment after the last war, expansion of services, such as schools, development of new sub-divisions, roads, which have been necessary to provide under very heavy expenditures. These items have contributed to our increased tax rate. It shall be my policy to endeavor to give matured consideration to expenditures of our tax dollar, without favor to any faction, class or group of our citizens, but rather for the general welfare and benefit of all concerned. This policy probably will cause some debate or more commonly called bickering as has been recently noted in press reports.

Ladies and Gentlemen, the City of Belleville today has an assessed value of approximately $20,000,000 which represents large and small tax payers investments, and, with the knowledge of the efforts that must be put forward by all, to achieve the path of progress, I can safely say that this type of citizen has and shall always continue to be the greatest asset to any municipality or community.

It shall be my privilege, to discuss more fully, the civic problems, over the air and in the press in a series of broadcasts this week, when I shall deal more specifically with our many problems facing you and me as property owners and citizens of Belleville.

Remember friends and fellow citizens, permanent progress if maintained, requires application of matured judgment affecting our financial problems, and, I hope in the future presentations to be placed before you, this feature shall receive your most careful attention.

Consider well who your administrators and guardians of your invested values shall be for the year 1956.

Your Vote And Influence Respectfully Solicited

IF ELECTED TO COUNCIL I PROMISE THAT I WILL ATTEMPT TO PUT A STOP TO THE RIDICULOUS SPENDING OF TAXES.

IN THE FAST YEAR YOUR PRESENT CITY COUNCIL HAS THROWN YOUR TAXES AWAY FOOLISHLY, AND WILL CONTINUE TO DO SO, IF YOU THE PUBLIC CONTINUE YEARLY TO ELECT COUNCIL. MEMBERS BECAUSE THEY ARE POPULAR, rather than citizens with Belleville's interest at heart or sufficient business experience to run your city as they should run a business. Listed here are a few of the unwarranted expenditures made or contemplated by the council members, you the public elected, to carry on your city business, in the past two elections.

WOULD YOU SAY THESE EXPENDITURES WERE SOUND THINKING:

- $5000 of your taxes were spent on a law suit, after the city solicitor advised your council that they could not win a law suit against McFarland construction, but still council went ahead.
- $6000.00 of your taxes were given as a loan to last year's hockey team, when council knew that the team had no possible means of paying this money back.
- $2000.00 of your taxes were spent on painting windows in the city hall.
- $7500.00 of your taxes were spent on aluminum windows for the city hall to replace the windows not yet dry from the paint job.
- $25000. of your taxes were spent to support the Albert College on their drive for funds, over the next five years, yet your present council could not see fit to give our own library a grant of six thousand for more books for our children as they claimed they could not spend in next year's budget.
- $115,000.00 is now wanted by council to erect a parking lot downtown when the council know, or should have made it a point to know that a shopping area is to be erected in the east of the city next year.

I think as you should that these expenditures are out of place and indicate nothing less than poor business sense and a lack of Belleville's interest by our city council.

I promise that if I am elected to your city council this year, that as long as I am able to argue down this type of spending I will do so, or let you the citizens know why I have not been successful.

Belleville is my adopted home, and it is near time we, the citizens of Belleville, decide to stop our council from making a laughing stock of Belleville in the Quinte area.

Russian H-Bomb Radioactivity Covers Big Area

PARIS (Reuters) — Japan and most countries of northern Europe have reported increases in the amount of radioactivity in the atmosphere following an announcement Saturday that Russia had exploded a hydrogen bomb.

Seven times as much radioactive dust as usual was reported in Paris, and reports from Japan described the radioactivity as "the hottest ever." Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet Communist party chief, has said the explosion was "the most powerful yet staged."

Reports provided this roundup from countries where test results were announced:

France—An official of the Paris municipal health laboratory said a sudden increase in the amount of radioactive dust in the atmosphere had been noticed on Saturday morning. It was seven times as much as normal, he said.

West Germany — Prof. Otto Hazel, director of the second physical institute of Heidelberg University, said about four days ago the level of atmospheric radioactivity was three per cent above normal.

Sweden — The state research laboratories said at Stockholm Monday that a 60-per-cent increase in radioactive dust had been observed over Sweden following the Soviet explosion.

Japan—Japanese scientists are still recording high radio-activity counts in rain and dust over Japan, and said the dust is the "hottest ever." It was diagnosed as from a thermonuclear (hydrogen) explosion, probably the Soviet test, and one theory was that the test in Siberia had involved more than one bomb.

CHOOSE LANGER

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Senator William Langer (Rep. N.D.) was chosen Sunday as the candidate of a new political party—the Pioneer party—for president of the United States.

Two Construction Officials Held On $5,000 Bail

TORONTO (CP) — Two construction company officials arrested Monday on charges of attempting municipal corruption in suburban Scarborough township were released on $5,000 property bail. They were remanded until Dec. 19.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of a third man.

The arrested men, Milton Wineberg and Jack Weinbaum of Gramarcy Construction Company, allegedly attempted to bribe four officials of Scarborough township with $500 cheques last summer.

Charges were laid on Attorney General A. Kelso Roberts' orders after a judicial inquiry into township affairs. The accused claimed the cheques were intended not as bribes but as payment for the construction company's share of a pumping station. The cheques were returned.

A warrant for the arrest of Peter Heska, a real-estate salesman, was issued when he did not appear at city hall for arrest as ordered.

Heska testified during the inquiry he had delivered one of the cheques. Conviction carries a maximum two-year sentence with no alternative of fine.

WILL ATTAIN GOAL

TORONTO (CP)—The 1955 Canadian Cancer Society campaign for funds will have reached its $1,955,000 objective by the end of the year, society officials said Monday.

Russia, Britain Are Assailed By Israeli Premier

JERUSALEM (CP) — Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion today accused Britain and Russia of pursuing policies "liable to bring about the destruction of the state of Israel."

He claimed in Parliament that arms supplied to Egypt by Britain and Russia "will be used only against Israel," and said Egypt's goal is "the annihilation of Israel."

"Both Britain and the Soviet Union are aware of (prime minister) Nasser's political aims," he said

Ben Gurion, premier and defence minister, added: "Anyone who tries to justify arms supply to Egypt by any nation whatsoever is the servant of a foreign power hostile to Israel."

In a dispatch from Cairo, where British diplomatic representatives have been conducting talks with Arab leaders, the New York Times says a negotiated settlement of the Arab-Israeli dispute "has become a tangible possibility for the first time since the 1948 Palestine war."

The Times dispatch says the talks in Cairo have reached a stage where Egypt, and probably Lebanon and Iraq, "are considering negotiations without demanding a prior condition." The condition had been that Israel implement the United Nations resolutions on partition and the right of Palestine Arab refugees to choose either repatriation to their former homes now in Israel territory or compensation.

SOLDIERS ARRIVE

QUEBEC (CP)—A group of 163 officers and men and their dependents, the second to last consignment due to arrive in Quebec from Germany, landed Monday aboard the liner Scythia. There were 30 officers, 128 men, 106 wives and 177 children. The largest number came from the Royal Artillery at the Royal Canadian Regiment at London, Ont.

It's Time For A Change At The City Hall!

LET'S GET THINGS DONE WITH

JANE FORRESTER

AS

MAYOR

You are aware that growing cities have growing problems. Belleville is no exception.

The solutions of the problems arising from increasing need of more services and more money in finance these services can only come from enlightened and vigorous leadership.

As an alderman last year I was particularly disappointed in the lack of leadership shown by our present mayor.

The present mayor's record in regard to planning is not a good one. In the city itself he has failed to appreciate the problems of street maintenance.

You are all well aware that the mayor's insistence on not paying a legitimate bill for surface treatment of our streets cost Belleville taxpayers thousands of dollars extra in court action which went against the city. The mayor was advised by the city solicitor that the city could not win an action against the contractor and advised payment of the bill.

It is a matter of record that the court subsequently heard expert witnesses testify that the surface treatment involved in the suit complied with the specifications for the job. The court subsequently ruled, as the mayor had every warning to expect, that the bill was true. The contractor was awarded full payment of his unpaid contract and the city was obligated to pay the legal fees and the court costs.

In this instance the present mayor's leadership was a type of dictatorship that proved expensive to the city's taxpayers.

Economy in government means more than just election promises of lower taxes. It means economy in action . . . and not court action.

Residents of Bayview Heights are aware that the present mayor blocked for almost a year, surface treatment of their streets. Street oiling valued at $25,000 was approved by council as deemed necessary for proper maintenance of city roads. The present mayor blocked the spending of an approved expense.

It is false economy to think that a city is saving money by letting its streets deteriorate.

On May 24th, 1955, the mayor was defeated in council by a vote of 11-1 on the issue of surface treating streets. He still continued to oppose street oiling.

This is not leadership. This is expensive folly.

On Nov. 18th, of this year, at a meeting of the planning and housing committee to consider re-zoning certain areas along Canniffon Road and the west side of South Front St., representatives of the Ontario Department of Planning and Development asked if the changes had been approved by the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board.

The present mayor did not agree that the matter should go to the Suburban Planning Board. Mr. K. Hidaka, of the Ontario Board, explained to the mayor that the procedure was laid down in the Planning Act.

Reeve Cecil Krichoson of Thurlow Township said he was sorry that the present mayor takes such an unfavorable attitude towards the planning board.

I proposed hiring professional services for local planning boards and was told that if such boards could afford their services, part-time professional planners could achieve much in giving good direction to planning boards.

The present mayor, by one technicality after another, this year, blocked the granting of Belleville's share of $1,956 to the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board. Co-operation built up between the city and townships for many years was virtually destroyed by this attitude of non-support for planning.

This is not the type of leadership that will solve the problems Belleville must meet together with our neighbors in Thurlow and Sidney Townships.

I fully intend to support a vigorous program of planning —a program that will encourage and foster the enthusiasm of members of council in their efforts to do a good job for the citizens of this city and which will restore, I hope, some measure of the spirit of good will and mutual understanding which has been virtually destroyed.

Planning to meet the challenges ahead is economy. It saves money in the long run. I feel Belleville gets full value for its money by spending seven cents per capita on planning. This is spending tax money effectively, with judgment and with imagination.

The present mayor, you may recall, attacked the board of governors of your hospital last winter. It was subsequently proven in an open letter from the hospital board that the mayor's charges were groundless. Furthermore it was shown that the mayor, while supposedly a member of the board, up to that time had attended only one meeting of the 18 held by the board since he became a member of it.

This is not leadership.

Again, council last winter approved an increase in the membership of the hospital's board of governors to include a representative of the Woman's Hospital Auxiliary. The mayor opposed this representation even though out-voted by council. He even went so far as to appear before an Ontario government legislative committee to speak against an approved motion.

This is not leadership.

I am prepared to co-operate with planning agencies. I intend to keep the citizens informed about their business by holding regular office hours in the city hall for two hours a day, four days a week. I intend to keep citizens up to date on what council is doing about their business by reporting in person to you each month, via the newspaper and the radio.

I intend to work with, and not against, the rest of the council. I intend to practise economy by planning future savings and by supporting necessary maintenance.

In short, I feel that I can offer Belleville voters a type of informed, interested and unbiased leadership which has not been given by the present mayor since he was first elected two years ago.

I ask you to support and to vote for Jane Forrester for mayor on Dec. 5th.

Hoards W.M.S., W.A. Bazaar Most Successful

RAWDON.—Board's W.A. and W.M.S. held a successful afternoon tea and bazaar at the Seymour East W.I. hall at Menie, on Thursday afternoon, with a large attendance.

The groups invited were Zion Petherick's, and English Line, on the Seymour circuit; Burnbrae, Carmel, Wellman's, Bethel and Mount Pleasant. Other guests were, Mrs. John Morrison, Stirling; Mrs. Jack Bush and Jane of Trent River; and a group from Auldorville, near Ronneah.

Mrs. Frank Sager presided over a short program; Mrs. Clayton Thompson read the Bible lesson and a member of Hoard's W.M.S. offered prayer. Mrs. Will Snarr sang with her daughter as accompanist.

The Zion group contributed a piano duet by Joe Grills, Carmel, and Mrs. Edgar McKeown, Bethel, each read a selection.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. Will Hunie introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. E. Simpson, Auldorville, a native Canadian who is a member of the Indian Homemaker Club, and who has served in several offices of that organization. Mrs. Hume gave a vivid picture of the pioneer days with saddle bag preachers and also gave a brief history of the life of the Rev. Peter Jones, who served the Indian Reserves previous to the year of 1818.

She spoke briefly of other noted missionary ministers. Her address was a stimulus to the current study book of the W.M.S. groups of the United church, entitled "No Vanishing Race".

Mrs. Simpson displayed several articles of Indian handiwork which included hand woven baskets, leather work and baskets fashioned from porcupine quills.

BAZAAR

Following the program, the bazaar was opened and the saleladies disposed of aprons, crocheted articles, novelties; a large array of home-cooking with fruit cakes and angel cakes predominating.

Bouquets of flowers, hand paintings, some of which depicted Hoard's United church, corsages, home-made candy, Christmas cards, wrapping paper and numerous odds and ends; a nice display of eggs, jellies, relishes, red cabbage and other garden produce and mystery parcels.

The Mission Band also had a display of hand-made novelties. All this sold in record time after which a large variety of sandwiches, cookies and tarts with the proverbial cup of tea was served.

The affair was nicely conveneed and was carried out to a successful close.

The W.A. are using their share of the proceeds to augment its building fund as a new church is planned for 1956.

Rochester City That Medicine Built on Plains of Minnesota

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—The Mayo Clinic stands tall and glistening handsome in the middle of a city that medicine built on the rolling plains of Minnesota.

Nowhere else are there so many doctors (some 900) in proportion to population (35,000). There are so many that in some neighborhoods, children of doctors grow up calling every man "doctor," including the milkman.

To the clinic come 150,000 patients a year—about 500 daily—seeking checkups, diagnosis, medical or surgical treatment for ailing bodies.

For nearly half a century, the clinic has had notable impact upon medicine. It pioneered group practice; its staff contributed many research discoveries and new techniques. Its archives hold medical records of 2,000,000 men, women and children—patients since 1907—a treasure trove of informative medical statistics.

CREATES PROBLEM

Around the clinic have mushroomed 38 hotels, some motels, scores of homes offering rooms for rent, a service industry of restaurants and shops serving needs of patients, relatives and companions.

All this concentration on medicine and allied services has created one major problem. Too many young men, seeking careers in fields not available in Rochester, go elsewhere to make a living. This has created an oversupply of women. Now there are seven women between the ages of 21 and 32 for every eligible male in the same age bracket.

A new civic organization, working under a $200,000 fund subscribed by citizens, is seeking to attract to the city industries primarily employing men.

How—and why—has a medical centre come to so dominate what might otherwise be a farming and light industry city of perhaps 10,000?

The Mayo Clinic is obviously a medical mecca, dispensing high-grade medical care. Sixty per cent of its patients each year are making repeat visits. Some 80 per cent come from within a 500-mile radius, the rest from points over the globe. Doctors elsewhere often send patients for diagnosis of difficult cases, and often come as patients themselves.

DIAGNOSTIC CENTRE

One of its greatest fames is as a diagnostic centre; here any patient will be seen by one or a number of specialists in different fields if his case requires it. It is the birthplace, too, of dozens of new techniques in surgery and medical diagnosis and care; it also draws vitality from being a centre of education and research.

The clinic has never been without critics. Past critics objected to the practice, pioneered here, of putting physicians on salary. Others accused the clinic of indirect advertising. Modern critics, apparently fewer in number, argue that equal care may be obtained by the patient in his own home area, at least in big cities. Some object to certain features of the clinic as "mechanized" medicine.

Clinic spokesmen reply that its method of systematic handling of patients frees physicians' time for more complete devotion to the human patient.

Basically, the Mayo Clinic is a group of 330 staff physicians and surgeons who examine and treat patients, set salaries, hire staff, and govern themselves through an 11-man board, of which only two members are laymen officials of the clinic.

Working with them are 575 Mayo Foundation Fellows — physicians and scientists doing graduate work —and 2,000 non-medical personnel including nurses, clerks, receptionists, librarians, secretaries, interpreters (covering all languages), maintenance staff, dozens of different jobs.

OWNS NO HOSPITALS

The Mayo Clinic does not own any hospitals. But four hospitals provide hospital care under direction of Mayo staff members.

Patients are examined, their troubles diagnosed. Those needing medical or surgical care usually enter one of the Rochester hospitals.

The clinic's business office—not doctors—sets the fees, based on the actual costs and on ability to pay.

The staff physician's income is termed comparable to that of most first-rate men in private practice. Once becoming a member of the medical staff, few physicians leave the clinic.

No one can set any precise date at which it might be said the clinic, as known now, began. The first seed was sown by a doughty, hard-bitten physician, Dr. William Worrall Mayo, who set up a small-town practice in Rochester nearly a century ago.

His sons, Will and Charlie, never considered any other possibility than becoming doctors, and they joined their father in practice. The two young Mayos demonstrated surpassing skill at surgery, and their fame spread.

If there was advertising of the Mayos, it was by word-of-mouth of patients and others. Prominent patients attracted newspaper attention. There is no evidence the Mayos ever tried to "plant" news stories or to advertise.

As their father retired from active practice, the brothers Mayo took in first one, then another physician as partners. By 1905, four of them were seeing 10,000 patients a year.

Surgery was initially the basis of the clinic's fame. When Dr. Charlie developed a technique for removal of the thyroid gland—goitre was a common complaint of the day—2,000 of these operations were performed in a single year in Rochester.

From emphasis on surgery, the clinic developed into supplying medical care as well.

CLAIM CANCER CURE

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio claimed today that Russian scientists have developed a medicine which cures cancer. The broadcast said it was a "compound prepared from the extracts of a flowering plant found in the Caucasus which treats cancerous growths by disintegrating them without harming healthy tissues of the organism."

A DREAM COMES TRUE FOR CANADA'S HARD-OF-HEARING...

NOW! A tiny, light, full-powered hearing aid ...only $50 complete!

A FINEST-QUALITY, 4-TRANSISTOR ZENITH

Amazingly small, compact, efficient . . . backed by an ironclad guarantee of full satisfaction . . . yet selling for less than one-fourth the price of many comparable brands!

SO SMALL it can hide under a man's necktie

SO LIGHT it can be worn in a woman's hair!

Ever since the miraculous discovery of tiny but expensive transistors, Zenith and its dealers have shared a dream with Canada's hard-of-hearing.

It seemed an impossible dream. A vision of superlative hearing aid efficiency, clarity, convenience, operating economy—and all at a price so very low that these benefits could be enjoyed by every hard-of-hearing person, in every walk of life.

Today, this "impossible" dream has become a reality! Just imagine . . . a highly efficient, full-powered 4-transistor hearing aid so small it can be worn in a woman's hair, as a brooch, or under a man's necktie. Yet it does not sell for $200 or $300, as do many other makes, but for only $50 complete. This, thanks to Zenith's 36 years of electronic experience and "know-how" plus the willingness of Zenith dealers to accept less profit per sale, in order to bring the security, happiness and opportunities of hearing within easy reach of all.

Operating costs, too, are amazingly low. Just one tiny dry-cell battery, available everywhere, operates the "50-X" for about a week instead of $1.00 to $2.00 a week for vacuum-tube instruments. These savings alone can pay the entire cost of the "50-X" in less than a year!

But that's not all! The Zenith "50-X" is sold with a 10-Day Money-Back Guarantee. If you are not completely satisfied . . . if you do not find that it equals or excels the performance of competitive makes selling for $200 or more, simply return it for full refund. And remember, the $50 price includes everything: High-performance air-conduction earphone, cord, stock scrmold, One-Year Warranty and Five-Year Service Plan. These payments, if you wish. Act now! A hearing aid today is a symbol of success and intelligence . . . a victory over false pride!

RCN HEROISM PRAISED IN RESCUE OF 21 GREEK SEAMEN

Twenty-one Greek seamen were snatched from sure death by RCN helicopter crews as their ship, the Kismet II, was driven by gale ground to pieces at the foot of a 1,000-foot cliff near Cape St. Lawrence, N.S. The ship was pushed into the rocky shore when the steering gear was damaged and she could not make headway into the gale.

Crew of the RCN helicopter which rescued the seamen are: AB Paul Smith, Oshawa; PO Larry Vipond, Hamilton; Lt. Cmdr. Roger Fisk, Panoka, and Lt. Cmdr. Jack Beeman. As the helicopter approached the ship, its rotor blades were within inches of the cliff.

Safe in the sailors' hostel in Sydney, N.S., four of the rescued seamen repeat their praise of the heroism of the helicopter crew. They had thanked the helicopter doctors for their two ship's mascots, a dog and a cat. (Central Press Canadian Photos.)

Tourist Conference Studies How to Keep Dollars Home

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal-provincial tourist conference gets down today to planning how to get a bigger share of the Canadian tourist dollar.

Resources Minister Lesage told the opening session of the 10th tourist conference Monday that the greatest opportunity for expanding the tourist industry lay in getting Canadians to see their own country first.

While foreign tourists spent an estimated $500,000,000 in Canada this year, Mr. Lesage said Canadians spent more than that in foreign countries.

Dan Campbell, director of the Alberta travel bureau, suggested each province should concentrate on special events Alberta had Banff the Calgary Stampede an annual spectacle which attracted thousands of tourists.

D. Leo Dolan, head of the Canadian travel bureau, agreed. He said the Stratford Shakespearean Festival was "an example of what begin next January.

Alan Field, manager of the travel bureau's New York office, reported that Americans will spend an estimated $1,500,000,000 in tourist activities this year. The conference should face the fact that competition for the tourist dollar was becoming sharper, particularly from European and Caribbean area countries.

He suggested more free publicity could be obtained if the provinces would provide an up-to-date monthly list of provincial events that had tourist interest.

J. H. Carswell, manager of the $9,000,000 Canada House building project in New York, said that, subject to agreement on rentals, the National Film Board, the CBC, the department of trade and commerce and other federal agencies, will have office space in the new building when it is completed in May, 1957.

It was planned to make the rotunda a colorful "little bit of Canada" and Canadian transportation companies would be offered space there.

Construction of the building at 54th street and Fifth avenue will

Small Switch in Purchases Would End Britain's Deficit In Trade With Canada--Eden

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden Monday night declared Britain could wipe out its trade deficit with Canada if "something like eight per cent of the purchases which Canada now makes elsewhere were made here."

Eden added that this was a challenge "which we intend to make in a special effort to meet."

He told a Canada Club dinner that "the Canadian market is one of the most highly competitive in the world, but it is also one of the fairest . . . We want to sell more in Canada, ought and we expect we must."

Eden noted that Canada now enjoys about take same proportion of the British market as before the war, and nearly three-quarters of Canada's exports to Britain are made entirely free from restriction.

But he added: "Unfortunately our exports to Canada have not enjoyed as much success. Our share in your market has fallen from 18 per cent before the war to something like 10 per cent now. "This is a serious matter for us, and it is one, I know, which also concerns our Canadian friends."

In a "special word" to Canada, the prime minister said: "In past years I have often had cause over a long period as foreign secretary to be grateful to your statesmen. . . .

"We have not forgotten at what cost you stood beside us in the darkest days of two world wars, for a long while alone on your continent. We value your wisdom in peace as much as your courage in war."

Eden said the world is troubled and explosive and is in need of sane guidance as never before.

"Our country is always ready to provide this without favor and in words at once reasonable and firm. Canada is bravely shouldering responsibilities which result in world-wide influence. I want all Canadians to know how much we in Britain value their share."

Pearson Told Canada Would Not Have Immunity in Case of War

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson says he was told by Communist Party Secretary Khrushchev that in event of world war, Canada would have no geographical immunity from attack.

Mr. Pearson made the statement Sunday night in a radio broadcast on the CBC's special speakers' series. A transcript was issued Monday by the external affairs department.

The minister, who visited Russia in early October and conferred with Premier Bulganin and Khrushchev, said:

"They (the Russians) are not unaware, I may say, of our strategic location as their neighbors across the pole.

"Mr. Khrushchev, for instance, averred that if there were ever another world war, Canada would have no geographical immunity from attack. He thought that they should make us all more anxious to be on good terms with both our neighbors.

"I replied that we were well aware of our strategical position and also of the fact that we could never feel really secure if either of our two neighbors' were hostile to us—or to each other."

Mr. Pearson said there is a "great gap of ignorance and misunderstanding" which divides the Communist world from the West.

"This ignorance and misunderstanding is not, of course, all on one side. On our side it is colossal; almost pathetic, and certainly dangerous.

"Western—and especially American—political and journalistic judgment on the basis of cabled newspaper stories which give only one side and the harsh side of life in free countries.

"It seems quite impossible to convince Soviet leaders—who seem to base their alleged fear of us on such information—that these stories are distorted and unrepresentative. I told Mr. Khrushchev that he found the truth out of the clash of varying opinion. It didn't make sense to him . . .

"That a group should have the right to express views detested by the vast majority was quite beyond their comprehension . . . as it would be to any Communist leader . . ."

Temperance Men Differ Regarding Bracken Report

TORONTO (CP) — A United Church minister says Manitoba should not implement a royal commission's recommendations in favor of public sale of beer, wine and liquor.

Dr. J. R. Mutchmor, chairman of the board of evangelism and social service of the United Church, told the Canadian Temperance Federation Monday night the consumption of beer, wine and liquor by men and women drinking together is a step in the wrong direction.

Implementation of recommendations made by the Bracken commission in Manitoba would result in about a succession of evils, some of them comparable to social conditions in Ontario, he said.

"The widest open type of drinking recommended would result in more drinking and a marked increase in drunkenness and in the wide-open sale, men and women would get drunk, and worse, together."

COMMENDS REPORT

William Pelorosky, secretary of the Manitoba Temperance Alliance, said he wished "definitely-to commend" the Bracken report.

He described as a challenge to the temperance movement the need to get to know and understand the report.

"Thoughtful people will not be impressed by ranting," Mr. Pelorosky said. "Extremist statements will only make it harder for the temperance cause to receive the fair hearing its case deserves."

EDMONTON (CP)—Mrs. Helen Walker got a real bargain during a shopping trip Saturday.

She was unpacking her groceries at home when she found $3,700 in cheques and small bills wrapped "just like a parcel of meat." She returned the money and was given $25.

The money, accidentally put into Mrs. Walker's order, belonged to the store.

Find New Drugs Provide Control Of Senile Folk

By FRANK CAREY

BOSTON (AP)—Use of a new drug combination which might keep many oldsters from going to mental institutions was described today to the American Medical Association.

Two Michigan scientists said in a prepared paper that experiments with the drugs among senile patients in hospitals indicate that control can often be achieved "at a time when the doctors for behavior problems ordinarily require institutional treatment for such people.

Researchers John T. Ferguson and William H. Funderburk of Traverse City State Hospital said their objective was to eliminate "abnormal behavior" — such as destructiveness, soiling of clothing or furniture, or faulty habits of personal appearance — which predominated in some cases regardless of the mental diagnosis.

The drugs used were reserpine, a "tranquilizing" substance, and methylphenidylacetate, which act as a stimulant of the central nervous system.

The idea was to produce "active tranquility" in the patients, the doctors said, declaring that doses of the respective drugs were designed to take care of both "overactivity" and "under-activity."

Describing studies among 215 female mental patients, the doctors said that in the large majority there was "marked improvement in the ability to co-operate and a new interest in their outlook on life and themselves."

For example, the staff beautician-shop operator was "swamped" with work following the drug treatments, and appointments for denial treatments rose sharply.

Twins Locked Together By Their Chins

LONDON (Reuters)—Twin boys, locked together by their chins, were born prematurely to a 22 year-old woman after one of the rarest births known to the hospital staff, it was revealed Monday.

The hospital spokesman said the first child was delivered feet first. "We were expecting that but when it was delivered as far as the shoulders the head of the second baby, still unborn, prevented further delivery."

The twins separated the twins, and they were born successfully. They are now five days old, are in good condition.

A doctor said the birth was "one in a hundred thousand."

Their mother, Mrs. Ann Showard, is expecting her home a London maternity home and return with the twins to her husband and two other children.

'14-Day Rule' Will Be Debated In Parliament

By ROBERT RICE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The Commons will debate Wednesday Britain's controversial "14-day rule"—a government edict that forbids radio or television discussion of any topic coming before Parliament within two weeks.

It promises to be a hot session. Both Conservative and Labor parties have told their members they may vote as they please on a government-sponsored motion dealing with the radio ban.

The 14-day directive, merely a "gentlemen's agreement" between party leaders and the British Broadcasting Corporation until the arrival of independent television, bans members from talking on the radio or TV about subjects on the parliamentary order paper. But it also bars private broadcasters in the same way.

NOT ON THE AIR

The effect has been odd. Nothing in the way of comment can be given on radio or television about Wednesday's debate, while newspapers are—and have been—blasting, it for all they are worth. Broadcasters are giving their opinions, not before a microphone, but in the pages of Britain's daily newspapers.

The debate will centre around a government motion asking the Commons to agree that it is in the interest of the public that the motion "to preserve the principle of effective limitation of the discussion of parliamentary debates by broadcasting." It also calls for an investigation to consider "whether any changes are desirable to the present methods of giving effect to this principle."

Prime Minister Eden will probably speak in support of the motion. And Opposition leader Clement Attlee is also expected to come out in favor of the principle of "limitation."

CLAIM PROTECTS PRESTIGE

Supporters of the rule claim it protects the prestige and authority of Parliament, and prevents broadcasting from usurping the time-honored Palace of Westminster as the place of debate and discussion.

They say radio discussion detracts from the interest and importance of parliamentary debates.

"This is nonsense," says Christopher Mayhew, a Labor member of who is also a TV personality. "It is absurd to think that broadcasting can ever rival Parliament as a forum for discussion. Parliament as a political force."

With the free vote, members will have complete liberty of expression—both in the debate and in the division lobbies.

Will Commission Patrol Vessels

OTTAWA (CP)—The navy will commission the first of four bird-class coastal patrol vessels, the HMCS Loon, Wednesday, navy headquarters announced Monday.

The Loon's crew consists of the Loon's clerat are being built at Midland, Orillia and Penetanguishene. They are scheduled to be completed in the spring.

La Prensa Case 'Resolved', 'Outrage' Will Be Repaired, States Argentine President

By SAM SUMMERLIN

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina's famed newspaper La Prensa, silenced and enslaved by dictator Juan D. Peron in an act condemned around the world, is on the verge of being returned to its exiled owner-editor.

Provisional president Pedro Aramburu, in his first meeting with the press Monday night, did not say outright that his government will give La Prensa back to Dr. Alberto Gainza Paz. But he declared that his regime has "resolved" the celebrated La Prensa case and that this would "repair the outrage committed against this great newspaper."

The interpretation of his words is that control of the paper will shift from Argentina's General Confederation of Labor (CGT) back to the Paz family, which since it founded La Prensa in 1869 had built it into one of the western hemisphere's leading journals.

CLOSED FOUR YEARS

Peron closed the outspoken newspaper more than four years ago and handed it over to the CGT, the big worker's organization with which he hammered out his dictatorship. La Prensa was transformed from a respected independent journal to just another rubber stamp for the Peronistas.

Aramburu's press secretary, Adolfo Lanus, said the decree ending Peron's seizure of the property of La Prensa unconstitutional had not been completed Monday night. However, he said it might be finished in time for the president to sign today or Wednesday.

High sources said Aramburu's decree might also be closing down La Prensa this week for a brief period to permit an inventory of the CGT's control, then for the paper to revert to Gainza Paz's management perhaps in mid-December.

Aramburu's statement was hailed by Jules Dubois, veteran LaTinAmerican correspondent for the Chicago Tribune and chairman of the Freedom of the Press Committee of the Inter-American Press Association (IAPA). Dubois, who has been in Buenos Aires for several weeks plugging for La Prensa's return, termed it the "greatest step for restoration of freedom of the press taken in Latin America for any government in modern times."

In New York, Gainza Paz termed IAPA's work "basic" in mobilizing world opinion against the dictatorship of Argentina's editor, who has been living in exile in New York, is expected to return here Thursday.

U.S. Government Asks $507,610 from Louis

DETROIT (AP)—Internal revenue authorities Monday filed a tax lien against Joe Louis, former heavyweight boxing champion. The government claims Louis owes a total of $507,610 in back taxes and interest for the years 1950 and 1951.

Louis also has been facing claims totalling $631,771 in taxes from 1946 to 1949.

TOUR A-PLANT

CHALK RIVER (CP) — Four officials of the Japanese government Monday toured Canada's atomic energy plant at Chalk River, included Ichiro Hatoyama, of the Japanese upper house, and Yasuhiro Sumio Hori, chief of the atomic energy section of the agency of industrial science and technology.

Exploding Cans Are Hazard As St. Kitts Plant Is Burned

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Exploding cans that shot into the air hampered firemen as they fought a $200,000 fire that destroyed the plant and warehouse of Treguno Canning Company here Monday.

Firemen said a new housing development, the nearest home of which was only 100 feet away, was saved by a 25-mile-an-hour wind blowing the flames in another direction.

The canning company, one of the Niagara fruit belt's largest, had completed canning of fall harvested fruit and vegetables. A 40,000 cases of canned goods were destroyed.

Firemen battling the blaze in near-zero weather said the exploding cans shot in all directions like pellets from a shotgun. They blasted through the warehouse's fire-weakened wooden walls and some flew 50 feet in the air. They were still popping when the fire was brought under control 11½ hours after it started.

Residents of the housing development turned in the alarm when they saw flames spouting from the two-storey main plant shortly before midnight.

All of St. Catharines' fire equipment, including seven trucks and 45 men, was called to the scene, on the city's northern outskirts.

Before they arrived the fire had spread to the warehouse which blocked one side. A large cold-storage locker adjoining on the side of the housing development was saved.

Two trucks, a car and a tractor in the plant were destroyed.

P. E. Treguno, the owner, said there was no one in the building when the fire broke out. Firemen started an investigation to determine the cause.

Mr. Treguno said the plant had just finished canning the peach harvest from his own farm. Also in the warehouse were cans of tomatoes and beans. Many of the cans were the large gallon size for restaurant use. Fire officials gave the damage estimate.

Russia Offers To Stop Testing Atomic Weapons

LONDON (AP)—Russia offered again today to stop testing nuclear weapons if the United States and Britain promises to quit also.

The offer, broadcast by the Moscow radio, came only three days after the Kremlin announced that the Soviet Union had exploded its most powerful hydrogen bomb.

Today's broadcast said:

"We cannot discontinue the production and testing of nuclear weapons so long as both the U. S. A. and Britain manufacture nuclear weapons and test them.

"Proposals which the U. S. S. R. put before the United Nations stipulate a total ban in nuclear weapons and their removal from national armaments.

TESTS PLANNED

Such as one of the first moves to disarm, the U. S. S. R. suggested that countries which possess nuclear weapons pledge to discontinue their testing. We are ready to do so here and now if the other powers possessing such weapons agree to do the same."

Both Britain and the U. S. plan to hold new nuclear arms tests next year.

Today's broadcast was a repetition, in the form of a new proposal to the U. S. and Britain, of a more general Soviet plan submitted to the UN sub-committee on disarmament last May 10. At that time Russia proposed that all countries possessing atomic and hydrogen weapons stop using them.

The West has frequently rejected Russian proposals for a ban on atomic and hydrogen weapons without guarantees of strict international supervision.

COMMUTE SENTENCE

CALGARY (CP)—A death sentence imposed on Michael Kormack, 50, for the knife slaying of Mrs. Mary Mound of Lethbridge on Monday was commuted to life imprisonment by the appellate division of the Alberta Supreme Court. Kuzmack was convicted twice on charges of murder. Ended by Supreme Court juries. He was sentenced to be hanged both times. Two weeks ago the appellate division reduced the conviction to manslaughter.

Veteran Labor Reporter Looks At Meany, Who Staged Merger

Editor's note: AFL and CIO will merge next week into a single, powerful alliance of 16,000,000 workers. What are the chiefs of this group, socially and politically? Will it succeed? Can it reconcile factions long at odds? The answers depend largely on one man, George Meany. In this article a veteran labor reporter looks at Meany the man.

By NORMAN WALKER

NEW YORK (AP) — George Meany, erstwhile Bronx plumber, became head of the AFL three years ago. He quickly announced his primary aim was to arrange a merger with the CIO.

It seemed an impossible task. Jealousies and conflicts among rival unions and their leaders had doomed many prior merger attempts.

Considering all the problems, three years has been a short time. For Meany, with his typical plodding, make-haste-slowly approach, has succeeded in steering the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations into a single, powerful alliance of 16,000,000 members. It will end a 20-year split in organized labor.

Will the new organization endure? What will this formidable combination mean in terms of new inroads against employers, in organizing more union members, in influencing politics—the stated union objectives for the merger?

Answers to these questions largely depend on Meany, the pudgy, 325-pound, coldly practical union veteran. Walter Reuther, dynamic young head of the CIO, has stepped aside and Meany, as the undisputed choice for president of the new AFL-CIO, will be No. 1 labor chief in the United States.

NO MONOPOLY

He has tried to calm the fears expressed by some businessmen and politicians that the merged union federation will become a "giant labor monopoly" seeking eventually to take over control of the government.

"To indicate that the united labor movement will attempt to horse-whip the rest of the country is a complete distortion of the facts," says the blunt-spoken, 61-year-old Meany.

"It is dedicated, not to predatory objectives, but to serve as a force for good in the progress of our country."

The merger is all set. It will be formalized at separate AFL and CIO conventions beginning Thursday, followed next week by a joint convention of the new AFL-CIO.

This joint convention, by the way, will be in an armory just a few blocks from Grand Central Station. The rail terminal is one of the structures Meany helped build when as a young man he was lugging his plumber's wrenches around New York.

Those were the days when Meany's wages were the chief support for his grandfather, his mother and seven younger brothers and sisters.

Meany's rise in unionism was swift. Becoming president of the New York State Federation of Labor in 1934, he pushed 73 labor bills through the state legislature in one year. His achievements led to his election as the AFL's financial secretary - treasurer five years later.

NOTED FOR STANDS

Ever since then, Meany has been a man to be reckoned with in union affairs. While the late AFL President William Green was inclined to compromise and avoid conflict, Meany as his chief lieutenant was constantly prodding Green to take more stands.

Gradually, both before and after he was selected to head the AFL on Green's death in November, 1952, Meany quietly took on all the old-line AFL chieftains in tests of strength and, by besting them one by one, has in practically every case earned their respect and support.

Out in San Francisco at the 1947 AFL convention, Meany tangled with John L. Lewis, head of the miners union. Lewis wanted the AFL to refuse to submit the non-Communist affidavits required by the newly-enacted Taft-Hartley labor law. He cowed AFL bigwigs with such scathing language as "I don't think the federation has a head—its neck has just grown up and haired over."

It was Meany who rose to answer the attack. "None of us," he reasoned with AFL leaders, "thinks it is a good law. But it was placed on the statute books under the democratic system, and the only way it is going to be changed is by our representatives under that system."

Rossmore

ROSSMORE — Owing to the death of Mr. "Jud" Thompson and Mr. Ashley Vanderwater, the weekly euchre has been cancelled. It will be held next week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Reddick on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Thompson and baby flew here from Germany and are with Mr. Thompson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bowen Thompson. After his leave, he expects to be posted to Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Alyea entertained company from Belleville, on Saturday evening last.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Kropenak and Mr. and Mrs. Hartley attended the Ajemite dance at Club Commodores, on Saturday evening.

Mr. C. Reddick celebrated his 70th birthday by attending the recent euchre party at Mr. and Mrs. Don Rupert's. This grand "young" man can still play euchre with the best of them. His many friends extend congratulations and hope he enjoys many more birthdays.

Mrs. Jessie Hill left on Thursday for Montreal where she will spend a week with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hill.

Sympathy of this community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Shelly Williams on the death of Mrs. Williams' father, Mr. Pratt. The funeral was held on Wednesday from the Belleville Burial Company funeral home and was largely attended by relatives and friends.

Mrs. Sherman Root spent the last weekend with relatives in Belleville.

The sudden passing of Mr. Jud Thompson on Saturday evening last has removed one of Rossmore's lifetime residents. He has been in failing health for some time but was up and around when health permitted.

Mr. Thompson carried on the baking business for many years in the village and was considered one of the best. A good neighbor and friend with always a good word for everyone, he will be greatly missed and the sympathy of this community is extended to the sorrowing relatives.

Mrs. Jock Craig, of Toronto, was with Mr. and Mrs. Curley Boulter several days last week.

Mr. Bob Mitchell's new home is nearing completion and when finished will be modern in every detail.

Mr. Wicky Ross arrived home from the north country on Sunday with his quota of deer. Wicky always takes his vacation at this time and needless to say, always gets his share of the fleet-footed deer.

Mr. Ashley Vanderwater, who has made his home in this village since retiring from the jewelry business in Napanee a few years ago, passed away in Belleville hospital on Tuesday morning. He was in his 82nd year and always had been an active man until the last year or so. Mr. and Mrs. Vanderwater spent their winters in Florida and when resident of the village, joined in the social activities, a good neighbor and a friend and will be missed from the community. He had no family. Sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. Vanderwater, in her sorrow by her friends in the village.

Mrs. Harry CenKaut, (nee Shirley Moore), expects to join her husband in Germany the last of January.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Thompson, Mrs. Nick Babcock of Detroit, and Mrs. Heffer, of Picton, were here for the funeral of their father, the late Jud Thompson.

After an absence of two years at Goose Bay, Labrador, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Brownly and son, Ranie, and Mrs. Mabel Russell, are expected to arrive here about the first of December. Friends and relatives are looking forward to their return. Sgt. Brownlie will be stationed at Ottawa after his leave expires.

Only 26 more shopping days till Christmas. So hurry — and also attend the Santa Claus parade at Picton this Saturday the 26th. The kiddies will love it and the older ones will enjoy seeing their faces light up as old Santa comes into view. Those not wishing to motor to Picton will be able to take in Belleville's parade on the week following.

SHANNONVILLE

United Church W.A. Holds Most Successful Bazaar

SHANNONVILLE. — Cloudy skies were forgotten, on entering the brightly lighted United church hall on Wednesday afternoon, where the Women's Association annual Christmas bazaar and tea was taking place.

Receiving the guests was the W.A. president, Mrs. Kenneth Vivian, who made all feel most welcome.

The prettily appointed tea table, extending across one end of the hall, with a white damask cloth, its lovely centrepiece of a silver basket of white, yellow and mauve chrysanthemums, its gleaming silver tea services at each end, was presided over by Mrs. Eliza McFarlane and Mrs. W. D. Robertson.

The little guest tables, assembled in the centre of the room were covered with snowy white cloths and centred with crystal vases of chrysanthemums.

SERVING

Serving the daintily arranged plates of sandwiches, cake, cookies, date loaf, salads and jellies, were Mrs. Kenneth Juby, Mrs Jim Hinchey, Mrs. George Osborne, Mrs. Malcolm Little and Mrs. Gerald Stratton.

Replenishing were: Mrs. Harry Sine, Mrs. Elmer Vivian, Mrs. Charles Wood, Mrs. Ross Shetler and Mrs. Robert McFarlane.

The six booths, which were arranged on each side of the hall, were also covered with white damask and adorned with chrysanthemums.

Miss Sarah Sidckney was the treasurer for the afternoon and was also in charge of the sale of cards.

Next in order came the 'country store' with Mrs. Orval Stratton, Mrs. Percy Moore and Miss Winnifred Eckhardt as conveners. Here was to be found many kinds of vegetables, including Spanish onions, carrots, and other vegetables; also pie pumpkins; different varieties of apples; gladioli bulbs; canned goods and plants including African violets cacti, yellow 'mums, pepper plants and others.

HOME-COOKING

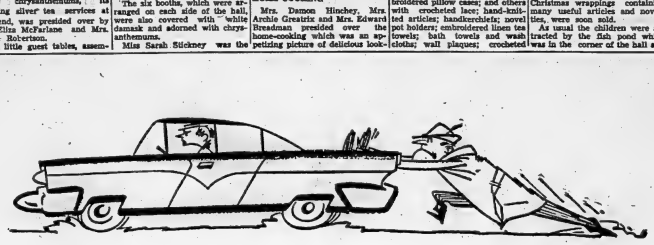
Mrs. Damon Hinchey, Mrs. Archie Greaists and Mrs. Edward Breadman presided over the home-cooking which was an appetizing picture of delicious looking cakes, pies, tarts, buns, date loaves, and cookies of various kinds, which attracted many buyers.

The candy table was in charge of Miss Elsie Hogerwaard and Mrs. Russell Wescott. Its delicious maple creams, chocolate fudge, peanut brittle and other confections, were most tempting.

The novelty and fancy work booth, with Mrs. Charles Keirl, Mrs. Arthur Houston as conveners had a large display of handicraft including a Dresden plate quilt; crocheted hot plate mats; a set of pansy doylies; embroidered pillow cases; and others with crocheted lace; hand-knitted articles; handkerchiefs; novelty pot holders; embroidered linen tea towels; bath towels and wash cloths; wall plaques; crocheted baby sets; and many other articles.

Mrs. Everett Stratton and Mrs. Earl Vivian were in charge of the apron booth, which again drew a goodly crowd. There was a nice variety in material, color and style, all over type, and half aprons made from prints, fancy aprons with organdy trimmings, each one pretty and worthy of a place on some Christmas tree.

The surprise package table was the centre of attraction and was convened by Mrs. Frank Dorrington and Mrs. Claude Clarke. The contents of the parcels with their Christmas wrappings containing many useful articles and novelties, were soon sold.



As usual the children were attracted by the fish pond which was in the corner of the hall and in charge of Mrs. William Ross and Miss Tina Hogerwaard.

Appreciative thanks go to the conveners of the bazaar and tea and to all those behind the scenes, who assisted in its successful culmination.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

THE PRESIDENT SPEAKS

Frank Buckland, president of the Ontario Hockey Association, during his address to the Ontario Minor Hockey Association in Toronto over the weekend and during a confab with members of the press at a post-banquet chatfest made no "bones" about the OHA's intention to stand four-square behind its referees.

"We are determined to eliminate rowdy play and abuse of officials," Buckland said, "and we are clamping down with a heavy hand on offenders—and will continue to do so. Then far we have handed out eight suspensions this season—so the boys should know we are not fooling when we state we will back up our officials."

Buckland reiterated to the press fraternity after the banquet his statement that the "amateurs walked into their agreement with the professionals with their eyes wide open—and had themselves partly to blame for existing conditions."

He quoted the Toronto Hockey League situation where four pewee teams were sponsored by professional clubs, who buy the kids everything they want in the way of equipment, etc. "Then, when one of these teams folds—big because every youngster wanted to play for the clubs under the aegis of the pro organizations."

"Chick" Appel, sports editor of the Stratford Beacon-Herald, who for years has advocated the banishment of the "C" farm which he terms "one of the most vicious documents ever foisted on a youngster," said the pro clubs in sponsoring pewees had these kids "sewn up" like they were. Some of sickly names mature age whose signatures are attached to the "C" farm.

Chick told the OHA prexy that the pros should keep their hands off young hockey players until they are 18 years of age and past. No club had the right, in his opinion, to become the slave of a boy and his hockey future before he was "dry behind the ears."

The fact that pro clubs had invaded the realm of minor hockey to the extent where they are sponsoring pewees stems cause to a lot of startling moves on the part of the delegates. In fact boo-hooed remarks many of them stated, including President Gault of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association, that their organizations would not tolerate any would-be minor hockey opposse the invasion of professionals into their own minor ranks.

"Taking away or signing or even sponsoring began of pewees calibre is something that minor hockey would not recognize," was the consensus of some minor officials this department queried.

If a youngster shows promise of professional ability he should at least have something to say about which team he would like to play with. Professional scouts drop into a town, talk with the boy, dangle a promise of money "to sign" under his nose—and which in some cases does not materialize—obtain his signature and he is their property for all time—or at least till they see fit to release him.

TEAMS BEING SHUT OUT

After Toronto Maple Leafs had been shoot out five times in their first 15 games this season, a number of people started to enquire: "What team was shut out the most times in one season"

It took some digging as that is one facet of hockey that hasn't been written about too much in past years. It was discovered that the record was set in the season of 1925-19. That was the season when more shutouts were recorded in National League play than at any other time.

Chicago Black Hawks were shut out 20 times in 1925-26. The played a 44-game schedule that season which means the Hawks were kept off the score sheet in almost half of their games. They went eight games in succession without garnering a goal in 1925-26. They were shut out on February 7 in a game against the New York Americans and failed to score a goal until March 5, eight games later, when they tallied against the Montreal Maroons.

Pittsburgh had a team in the NHL in 1924-25 and they were close on the heels of the Hawks in number of times being shut out. Pittsburgh were blanked 18 times in 44 games in 1924-25. That was the same season that George Hainsworth of Canadiens set a National Hockey League record for most shutouts in a season by a goalkeeper. He had 22 shutouts in 44 games, a record that will never be broken.

There were 130 shutouts recorded in the 1924-25 season by the ten clubs in the league, which is the greatest number for any one season. The 1927-28 season also saw a large number of shutouts. Pittsburgh were blanked 17 times that season. That was the season that Alex Connell, goalie of the Ottawa Senators, went six games in a row without allowing a puck to get past him.

Last season three clubs were tied with being shut out the most times. They were Chicago, Toronto and New York. Each team was shut out seven times. There were 24 shutouts registered in the NHL last season.

Eskimos Get Rousing Welcome From 100,000 Cheering Fans; Overwhelm Police, Tow Plane

By SEAN McCABE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—That's the Grey Cup is back today where thousands of football fans think it ought to be—on public display to remind sport fans that Edmonton Eskimos are Canadian football champions.

Won by Eskimos Saturday when they defeated Montreal Alouettes 34-19 in Vancouver the cup was returned to its display case here Monday night after a day of welcoming demonstrations as warm as the weather was cold.

Starting with a rousing reception at the airport as the Eskimos arrived with the cup in the morning, through a parade that drew an estimated 100,000 persons into sub-zero weather to cheer the players, and a civic banquet for the team, the chant was:

"The old Grey Cup is back where it ought to be, back with the Eskimos."

Federal Mines Minister George Prudham, urged at the banquet that the Eskimos make it three Grey Cup victories in a row in 1956. Club manager Al Anderson said he is confident the team will bring the trophy back in 1956.

Ken Montgomery of Edmonton, acting president of the Canadian Rugby Union, formally presented the cup to president M. J. (Moe) Michaluk of the Eskimos, saying it was the first such presentation Eskimos and they kept one window open a short distance "but it was so cold that by the time it reached the end of the route his cigar was frozen. It was the first time I ever saw an icicle burning at one end."

Miss Grey Cup, Barbara Bedonde, who is also Miss Edmonton on the back of the seat of an open convertible holding the Grey Cup.

Premier E. C. Manning set the theme of the praise during the banquet when he said the Eskimos "are a model of sportsmanship that has seldom been equalled or excelled anywhere you go."

Dancing and carrying banners, the spontaneously-formed welcoming committee mobbed the players for autographs and fullback Johnny Bright was carried across the field on their shoulders. End Frankie Anderson carried the cup in an inconspicuous parcel.

The big celebration centred around the parade. Police were helpless as youngsters, with a special school holiday, mobbed the cars and their elders pressed in so close the team almost needed to go to the air to make yards.

The procession had to be split up several times despite valiant police blocking. Newspaper confetti, ticker tape and banners fluttered in the chill wind. The crowd lined Jasper Avenue, the main business street, up to 10 deep and some assisted from stepladders and rooftops. Windows along the way were jammed.

At the general hospital, a group of nurses equipped with sound sheets serenaded the team from the curb while bed-ridden patients crowded the windows.

Some of the cars had a dozen youngsters clinging to them. The one in which fullback Normie Kwong was riding bore a cowboy reeding a comic book while perched on the roof.

Even though most of the players rode in closed cars, they were almost as cold as the fans. Manager Anderson said he rode with Eskimaus and they kept one window open a short distance "but it was so cold that by the time it reached the end of the route his cigar was frozen. It was the first time I ever saw an icicle burning at one end."

Miss Grey Cup, Barbara Bedonde, who is also Miss Edmonton, rode on the back of the seat of an open convertible holding the Grey Cup.

Gagnon Retains Bantam Crown

QUEBEC (CP) — Fernande Gagnon of Quebec City Monday night successfully defended his Canadian bantamweight boxing championship against Jerry Simpson of Montreal, winning a unanimous 12-round decision. Gagnon tipped the scales at 118, a pound heavier than the challenger.

There were no knockdowns.

It was a clear-cut decision for the veteran champion who kept the younger Simpson backpedalling throughout the bout with his heavier and sharper punching.

Gagnon left the ring unmarked while the Montrealer had a cut and swollen eye suffered in the sixth round.

Johnson Wins Over McNeece

NEW YORK (AP)—Tony Johnson of New York scored a technical knockout over Billy McNeece of McNeece's Corners in the eighth round in their scheduled 10-rounder at St. Nick's Arena Monday night. Johnson weighed 174, McNeece 171½.

Unable to absorb any further punishment, McNeece was helpless on the ropes when referee Barney Felix stepped in to stop the bout. McNeece's second defeat in a row from a fierce attack by Johnson in the fourth round. In this session Johnson caught his opponent with a right-left combination that left McNeece practically helpless.

Immediately after the bout was slapped an over-zealous spectator scrambled through the ring ropes in Johnson's corner to congratulate his apparent favorite, and in so doing, knocked Johnson to the canvas—something McNeece was unable to do all night.

Grey Cup Foes Meet

Crippled Kids Big Winners In Saturday's Dream Game

By WILF GUDSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Football's glamor guys will be working for a cause that couldn't be better when they play here Saturday in Canada's first all-star game.

For the big winner will be the crippled kids of Canada—those youngsters who can't dream of becoming slithering football players or stars in other big-time sports.

The net proceeds of the game between eastern and western all-star teams will be divided between Canadian Shriners' hospitals in Winnipeg and Montreal.

On the heels of the riotous whirl of the Grey Cup classic in Vancouver preparations for the all-star game swung into high gear today. The scene of operations until game time is being shared by Toronto and Hamilton.

IN VARSITY STADIUM

The western team will train in Hamilton and the eastern team in Toronto where they clash at Varsity Stadium here in what could be repeat performance on a smaller scale of the Grey Cup game.

Some of mythical dream teams, picked by fans across the country, are packed with players from Montreal Alouettes and Edmonton Eskimos who met in the Grey Cup classic, and the Shriners are going all-out to make the side attractions as colorful and glamorous as the occasion demands.

Plans call for a sparkling pregame parade and a half-time demonstration rivalling any seen in Canada. Cheerleaders, bands and floats from several Canadian and United States cities will be featured.

One thing required to make the show and game a smashing success is ideal weather. A capacity crowd of 27,000 is shrunk if it isn't too cold, or if rain or snow doesn't fall.

The first cold wave of the season hit Toronto Monday and as the temperature dropped several degrees below freezing, fears were expressed the cold snap might last and before Saturday.

Full practice sessions for both teams get under way today. Several western players held a light workout Monday after reaching Hamilton during the weekend. The complete squad will be on hand when coach Frank (Pop) Ivy of Edmonton and the Eskimo players get locked on the team arrive today.

The eastern squad assembled here Monday and coach Doug (Peahead) Walker of the Alouettes announced the addition of halfbacks Hal Waggoner and Ray Truant of Hamilton Tiger-Cats to the team. They will replace Joey Pal of the Als, injured in the Grey Cup game, and Corky Sharp of Toronto Argonauts, who has returned to his home in the United States to get married.

Walker Claims Larks 'Crocked' For Game Against Edmonton

TORONTO (CP)—Coach Doug Walker of Montreal Alouettes says the Als were in worse shape for the Grey Cup then he had at any time admitted.

Walker said Monday night that Alouettes "were crocked" for the cup classic against Edmonton Eskimos at Vancouver Saturday. Alouettes, four times Canadian champions, lost 34-19.

The Montreal coach, who arrived in Toronto Monday night from the West, said the Big Four final against Toronto Argonauts—which Alouettes won 39-36—took a heavy physical toll of his squad.

"Argonauts played hard football against us," he said. "When we got behind we had to give everything we had. We were crocked all right.

"J. C. Caroline wasn't ready, if John Bladek was only half right there, and Johnny Williams was about the same. Then we lost Joey Pal and then Hal Patterson."

He said he didn't feel Edmonton's game was affected by the sudden concentration on a ground attack in the Big Four. Edmonton beat the Als with a great ground offensive.

"If we could have defenced them," Walker said, "we'd have been more than out of the pass with our passing. They can't pass you because they can't spread you out. If you played them enough, you'd be able to defence their ground game better; then you could pass against them."

Walker will be in Toronto for the next few weeks, he coaches the eastern team in the East-West all-star game here Saturday.

Walker regretted what he described as a poor press in Vancouver but claimed it wasn't his fault.

"When we got in (to Vancouver) it was late afternoon and we wanted to get in a workout, I didn't know who anybody was; they looked pretty young to be newspaper men. I couldn't tell you if they were from Edmonton, or where.

"We could have had a press conference after the practice. But they didn't even ask me about that."

As Walker planned drills for the all-star game, there was talk around the city that Varsity Stadium may be outfitted with floodlights to permit night games in the Big Four next season.

Russian Puckists Renew Onslaught On London's Harringay Racers Club

By ROBERT RICE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — A visiting Russian hockey team renewed its onslaught on London's Harringay Racers Monday, coming from behind in the third period to edge the Canadian-bolstered squad 5-4.

The Soviet squad added Monday night's hard-earned victory to Saturday's easy 11-1 triumph over Harringay. The Russians meet Wembley Lions Wednesday in their third and final international match in Britain.

The spirited Harringay side—strengthened by five Canadian players from Wembley, including Wembley goalie Ron Kilby of Kitchener, Ont.—looked as if they could turn the tables on the speedy Russian visitors. The Racers entered the third period with a 4-1 lead, but the Soviets bounced gamely back to even the score and then slipped in the winning tally with less than three minutes to play.

Harringay's playing coach Bill Ciemsis of Portage La Prairie, Man., opened scoring in the first seconds of the game and added two more to get Harringay up with a 3-0 lead.

But Moscow Dynamo's set of second period, Nikby Thrasher, of Timmins, Ont., slipped in the Racer's fourth tally from a goalmouth scramble.

Then Vic Fildes of Montreal, off for a two-minute penalty for boarding Soviet Jack Tregubov rifled a chest-high shot past Kilby to bring the game to 4-1.

After six minutes of play in the third period, Evgeny Babich, a veteran of Russia's last two world tournament teams, caught Kilby flat on his stomach and shoved in Russia's second goal.

And then the Russian march began, in quick succession the score clicked up to a 4-4 tie. When the second side picked the winning goal, Harringay pulled its goalie and desperately tried to tie the score.

But Russia's renewed vigor held them off.

The Racer's goalie, Gordon English, was prevented from playing because of a cut over his eye suffered Saturday night. The Soviet Metal, while Quinn Distributors and Coca-Cola were 5 to 2 winners over Welding Gases and Elliott Motors.

Start of New Grid Era

Eskys Inaugurate New Trend In Sports Editors' Consensus

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Edmonton Eskimos' Grey Cup win in Vancouver Saturday proved conclusively that the West's football supremacy again this year, in consensus of sports editors who watched the game Indicates.

The Canadian Press survey shows many editors consider Grey Cup games no longer can be won by forward passing alone. Some said the 1955 game the start of a new trend in Canadian football—a move away from concentration on the aerial attack, long favored by the eastern Big Four League.

Ted Reeve (Toronto Telegram): "... 40,000 football fans watched sports history being made—a trend developing—a regime ending if you like. Up until now the overwhelming ground play with the best balanced backfield we have seen in years . . . It is going to take clear thinking and good organization by any club in the country to take back the cup from them for a time.

"We may have been watching the birth of a new football era and recalled a strangely similar day in Hamilton in 1933." (When Winnipeg Blue Bombers won the Grey Cup for the West for the first time).

Milt Dunnell (Toronto Star): "Frank Ivy threatens to fire all Canadian football. (He) has put the game back on just about everybody's feet in the West.

"The significant thing . . . is that Sam (The Rifle) Etcheverry smashed most of the records for passing . . . and still got beat."

Gerde Hunter (Calgary Herald): "There was no goat this year, for the Montreal Alouettes were whipped and whipped soundly by the greatest football team ever assembled in Canada.

"The Eskimos showed the East what the West has always all along —the most crushing, devastating and vicious ground attack ever put together in Canadian football."

Jack Matheson (Winnipeg Tribune): "You don't exactly need a slide rule and great perception to realize that Big Four rules to WIFU standards. Ivy . . . has moulded a team of superstars."

Vern Leatherdale (Montreal Star): "The Eskimos paraded an attack, headed by Jackie Parker, that was something the Alouettes had never faced before. They just played better football than the Alouettes."

(Fred Roberts (Montreal Herald) "(Alouettes) simply didn't have the defence to cope with the mystifying spin-O." When a team can rush you to death . . . it's pretty obvious that it's moving along terra firma with unbelievable and practically unchallenged power."

Pierre Proulx (La Presse): "Alouettes need not reproach themselves. They were beaten by a superior team, one that showed a sane balance on plays along the ground and in the air."

Lloyd McGowan (Montreal Star): "Alouettes had no excuses—and they offered none. They lost to a foolproof team with a great ground attack . . ."

Bob Mohr (Winnipeg Free Press): "There was the element of suspicion after the 1954 match that Montreal was unlucky to lose. They are lucky to be alive after the 1953 match. They were whipped as no other club has been pilloried by the West in the Grey Cup."

Bill Westead (Ottawa Journal): "... Not a bit over-rated was the speed and deception of Edmonton's running game behind terrific blocking. (Alouettes) were conquered by a team they couldn't keep the ball away from long enough to do much themselves."

Jim Vipond (Toronto Globe and Mail): "Edmonton clearly and decisively proved the better Grey Cup competitor. And behind the players on the field was the coaching genius of Ikeable Pop Ivy."

Frank McCool (Calgary Albertan): "Eaks were up for this one and nothing was going to stand in their way . . . And Alouettes found out that you can't win the Grey Cup on nothing but a pass and a prayer."

Hal Pawson (Edmonton Journal): "Through the Eaks, the West has forced legendary coaches to their brand of football out of the East. Because there are no stars, just Eskimos. If you want to know who was great for Edmonton, just read the team roster."

Creep Up on Canadiens

Gotham Blues Scoring Habits Cause of Concern for Habs

MONTREAL (CP) — It's no secret how the once-lowly New York Rangers are jamming Madison Square Garden to the rafters these days.

With almost a third of the National Hockey League season completed, the Broadway Blueshirts have lost only six starts and are making things mighty uncomfortable for the pace-setting Montreal Canadiens.

The Rangers won two and tied one of their last three games and have amassed 25 points, six less than the Canadiens whom one and tied one of their last three games.

The Rangers, behind their fiery coach, Phil Watson, are providing little Manhattan fans with plenty of scoring. They have dented the opposing nets 63 times in 21 games compared with Montreal's output of 63 goals in 23 games, the weekly NHL statistics showed today.

RELIVEAU LEADS

In the scoring department, Jean Beliveau of the Canadiens continues to lead with team-mate Bert Olmstead and Detroit's Gordie Howe tied for second.

Beliveau has 27 points—14 goals and 13 assists—while Olmstead and Howe have 23 points. Howe, who has come into his own after a poor start this season, has scored 10 goals while Olmstead has dented the twine five times. Olmstead's 18 assists is tops in the league.

Beliveau and Toronto's Ted Kennedy share the goal-getting honors with 14 goals apiece. Sloan has a total of 17 points and is tied with two other players for ninth place in the individual scoring race.

RICHARD FOURTH

In fourth place, behind Howe and Olmstead, are Maurice Richard of Montreal and Dave Creighton of the Rangers with 21 points apiece.

In the goaltending section, the netminders have racked up six more shutouts this season than for the same period a year ago. There have been 19 shutouts registered in the first quarter season, against 13 for the same period last year.

Montreal's Jacques Plante is setting a torrid pace. Besides registering a league-leading five shutouts, he has allowed only 37 goals in 23 games this season for a 1.61 average. Detroit's Glenn Hall is second with 42 goals-against in 22 games for a 2.04 average. Terry Sawchuk is second in the shutout department, with four.

Should Not Hog Grey Cup Game Says Premier

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier W. A. C. Bennett doesn't think Vancouver should try to "hog" the Grey Cup game and should give it up to eastern Canada for the next couple of years.

"I think it would be a mistake for Vancouver to get the game every year," the premier said Monday at his press conference. "They can't hog it all the time."

The premier, who attended Saturday's game, said Vancouver should wait again until 1958Uwhen British Columbia celebrates its 100th birthday.

Mr. Bennett thought Toronto, scene of most previous games, should have it back next year, and Montreal in 1957.

"If we have a national game it should be played nationally," he said. "It should be shared with other Canadian cities."

Sarnia Seniors Up for Sale

SARNIA (CP) — John Garvin, owner of the Ontario Hockey Association senior S Sarnia Sailors, said Monday he is through, and has offered the club for sale.

Two local businessmen, George Thompson and Fred Williams, took an option on the club Saturday. They said they were willing to purchase the franchise for $1,000.

The Imperial Athletic Association here said it also is interested.

The Sailors now stand sixth in a seven-team league. It has been plagued by player difficulties this season.

WAGNER ILL

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Honus Wagner, considered by many as baseball's all-time great shortstop, is gravely ill, a member of his family said Monday night. The 81-year-old former Pittsburgh Pirate player has been confined to bed since he fell in his home about two months ago.

Hornets Get Leafs' Cahan

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League Monday sent defenceman Larry Cahan to Pittsburgh Hornets, their American Hockey League farm team.

Cahan, a 21-year-old native of Port William, had been used sparingly by Leafs this season. He replaced Jack Bionda who caught on as a Leaf regular when called up from the Hornets to replace the injured Jim Thomson.

Weak Trading at Baseball Meeting Chicago Cubs Pick Up Monte Irvin

By JOE REICHLER

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Monte Irvin, whose big bat played a key role in the New York Giants' miracle finish in 1951, is coming back to the major leagues at the ripe old age of 37—this time with the Chicago Cubs.

The slugging outfielder, abandoned by the Giants last summer, was the only big name among the 30 minor leagers selected by the 16 majors in Monday's annual draft session which officially opened the winter baseball meetings. Today it was the higher minors' turn to draft players from their little brothers.

Although an unusual number of big league managers were in evidence at this minor league convention, only one trade was consummated—and it was not one to cause a great flurry of excitement. The Chicago Cubs sent Hal Jeffcoat, a fair relief pitcher, to the Cincinnati Redlegs in an even swap exchange for Hobie Landrith, a second-string catcher.

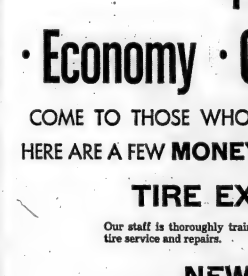
The Cubs, in desperate need of a strong righthanded hitting outfielder, plucked Irvin from Minneapolis in the Giants' farm club in the American Association, for the $10,000 draft price, basing it on at least two other clubs—Detroit and Cincinnati—to the aging flychaser. If Irvin can come anywhere near the .321 batting average he posted with the Millers, he will prove a real bargain. Chicago also took title to pitcher Vito Valentinetti from Toronto, a former Chicago White Sox chattel, Valentinetti had a 9-12 record with Cheatham last season.

The Cubs were the only club to choose more than one player in the lightest draft since 1945 when the same number of players were selected. The current crop represented an outlay of $115,000 by the big league clubs. The list included eight pitchers, an outfielder and a first baseman. Three of the players were taken from the Pacific Coast League, costing $15,000 each.

The biggest surprise was Washington's selection of practically unknown pitcher, righthander Conrad Grob, from Montreal, as the No. 1 pick. The Senators, exercising their privilege of making the first selection by virtue of their last-place finish in the American League, chose this 23-year-old "dark horse" in preference to other eligibles with superior records and better reputations. Grob was signed as a bonus baby by Montreal after being moved to Montreal.

'Sooners' Win College Crown

NEW YORK (AP)—Undefeated Oklahoma, winning at the polls in the same whirlwind fashion it won most of its games, today captured the 1955 U.S. college football championship in the 20th annual Associated Press poll.



The bowl-bound Sooners amassed 9,51 points to top Michigan State by four more 300 points. Maryland, Oklahoma's opponent in the Orange Bowl game Jan. 2, finished third in the balloting.

TV Prime Incubator of Talent For Movies and the Theatres

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Television has become the prime incubator of talent for the movies and the theatre, in the opinion of David Susskind, who certainly should be informed on the subject.

As executive producer and vice-president of Talent Associates, a TV packaging firm, he is responsible for such shows as "TV Playhouse," "Armstrong Circle Theatre," "Justice," and "Appointment With Adventure."

"The reason the theatre are not looking to television today as never before," he says, "Any half-decent TV show provokes a barrage of movie interest. Television has ceased to be the class-B league to its older brothers, the theatre and movies. Today TV's the 'name' medium.

The talented graduates of TV form an illustrious company, Susskind points out. There are such actresses as Grace Kelly and Eva Marie Saint, who got their start there and now are movie stars. But one of the most surprising developments is among writers.

TV'S NEW TALENTED

"The leading television draftsmen of a couple of years ago, with one or two exceptions, all have left to write for the movies and the theatre," Susskind says. "These places are being taken by a new crop of equally talented writers who are not imitative of their predecessors.

Many of the passing generation of personality TV writers were sometimes called "closet dramatists" because they focused their interest on small issues and reflected human personality.

"The newcomers are more interested in the cultural and sociological issues of our time," Susskind says. "They're moving dramas out of the living room and closer to the headlines.

The inevitable demand of television for good dramatic scripts is reflected in many ways. One of the most interesting is the $50,000 annual prize awarded by the Kraft Television Theatre to the writer whose original drama is judged best of the year This is the largest literary prize in the world today—beating the Nobel prize by nearly $20,000.

Since the prize was announced a few weeks ago there has been a noticeable improvement in the quality of scripts submitted, says Edmund Ludwig, editor of the Kraft Television Theatre. Committee of six critics of one writer that it would be better to add $1,500 a week to the purchase price of scripts, Rice said:

"To me that sounds like proposing that when a newspaper reporter wins the Pulitzer prize the amount should be divided among all the reporters on his paper."

Vancouver Mayor 'A Real Guy'

VANCOUVER (CP) — A warning note came out of last week's Grey Cup celebrations here involving Mayor Fred Hume of Vancouver and football booster Del Wornop of Toronto.

Mr. Wornop, chairman of the Kiwanis first Grey Cup dinner, was invited to be welcomed through international airport.

When he climbed his hotel, he found that his entire back pocket, contents included, had been cut away by a razor-wielding pick-pocket.

Word somehow reached Mayor Hume who phoned Mr. Wornop and said:

"I heard about your loss but don't worry about running short. Your credit is established at your hotel. I've personally guaranteed it."

Too small a gain, believe me, boss, is much less pain than too much loss. The guy who tries to get too greedy may wind up looking very seedy.

A deal that has several lessons is shown here:

NORTH
♠A K 10 8 5
♥A
♦Q 4 3
♣K 6 5 4

WEST
♠7 6
♥2
♦K J 10
♣Q J 10 8

EAST

♦8 5 2
♣9 7 3

SOUTH
♠4 3 2
♥K Q J 8 5 3 2

♣A 2

The players bid it like this:

South	West	North	East
1 S	Pass	2 S	Pass
4 W	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
4 N-T	Pass	5 ♦	Pass
6 ♠	Pass	7 ♠	Double
7 N-T	Pass	Pass	Double

West's two diamond opening overcalls made up in tactical value what it lacked in rule promises. In answer to four no-trump, a bid of six ♦ six diamonds is Gordon convention for two aces and one king.

The small cards in south are considered adequate support for a spade suit bid twice. The raise to seven spades by north was simple and arbitrary because he has no foundation thus far shown.

With a cinch winning trick, west is positive of defeating a grand slam in spades. To double for that reason is folly, however. Fellow opponents are warned to try something else. As for partner:

It may be wise to double a slam if you know you can defeat it no matter what the opponents may do. But if you are sure of beating the contract, why not bid one and chase them into a safer haven?

Defensive skill is a great saving in points. Do not jeopardize such a saving by trying for a measly extra 100 points or two. Even if they remain put, you tell them where to look for danger.

All a good player may need is one little hint. If you supply it you are your own partner's third opponent.

City Bowlers Take Part In Regional Play

Bill Bateman topped the list with the fine score of 1342. Then followed in order, Art Atkin, 1320; Jim Lloyd, 1183; Art Lalonde, 1156; V. Bellveau, 1131; Jim McKenzie, 1110; Jack Hull, 1087; Bert McGregor, 1086; Joe Lacault, 1032; Cec Hagdwick, 1030; Walter Moore, 1042; Frank Ballard, 1000; Ken LaBelle, 1094; Ron Saylor, 1004; Dave Batchelor, 999; Ken Smith Sagriff, 994; and Danny Moon 967.

The fifty highest-scoring bowlers from regional district centres, Brockville, Cannsoque, Napanee, Iroquois, Belleville, Picton, Tweed and Kingston, will compete in a regional tournament in Belleville on February 11. Ten games will be played. The high scorer will represent the region in the singles' tournament to be played at the Sportsmen's Show in Toronto in March. DeMarco Meets Basilio Wed.

BOSTON (AP)—For a fellow who took a sound shellacking from Carmen Basilio the last time around, former welterweight champion Tony DeMarco fairly breathes confidence. Tony is sure he is going to take back the 147-pound title from Basilio in the Boston Garden Wednesday night.

"I've been in a lot to do with it too. When the squat, little Boston-ian with the dynamite in his left fist won it in the 12th round and blew his welterweight crown to Basilio in Syracuse, N.Y., June 10, he flew out of Basilio's home town with it—and he could.

One of the first things he did when he returned home was undergo a nose operation.

The 25-year-old ex-champ says he feels 100-per-cent better now. He's had only one fighting chance to prove that, stopping Chico Vejar, the Stamford, Conn., fighter with the push-button chin, in 2:40 of the first round Sept. 14.

'Mister Roberts' In On The Screen In Wth's Highly-Heralded Lensth

The sensational Broadway comedy hit, "Mister Roberta," has been brought to the screen starring Henry Fonda, James Cagney, William Powell and Jack Lemmon.

Produced by Leland Hayward for Warner Bros., "Mister Roberts" has been filmed in CinemaScope and WarnerColor. John Ford and Mervyn LeRoy directed. The highly-heralded comedy is on the Belle Theatre screen.

"Mister Roberts" takes place aboard a navy cargo ship, the USS Reluctant, which has been given the nickname of "The Bucket" by the crew. Lieutenant Roberts, second in command, yearns for more active sea duty and in his efforts to transfer into combat duty has incurred the displeasure of the cruel, tyrannically portrayed by James Cagney. The cagney is eager for promotion and honors, such as the potted palm tree presented him as a sign of achievement. Roberts' loading and unloading cargo, refuses to relinquish it. Lack on Mister Roberts despite the combined efforts of the crew and the other officers to persuade him otherwise, Roberts' eventual transfer and the ship, Ensign Pulver's romantic encounter with a sexist Tokyo bar hostess and Cagney's bonebrewed Scotch whiskey.

In the title role of the film is Henry Fonda who created the role on Broadway in the play written by Thomas Heggen and Joshua Logan. Fonda "enlisted" into the stage hit soon after his discharge from the navy, capitalizing the same rank as that of Mister Roberts. The actor quickly helped to establish the show as the biggest hit of the season, which enjoyed a run of more than 1,000 performances on Broadway.

James Cagney takes the role of the captain, reportedly turns in a tremendous performance as does he bellows and struts in his portrayal of the captain with the pepot potted palm.

Returning to Warner Bros. for the first time since his award winning performance in "Life With Father," William Powell is at the benign "Doc."

As Ensign Pulver, Jack Lemmon climbs another notch of heights. Betsy Palmer, a vivacious blonde actress who played nurse who leads the romantic assault on the men of the USS Reluctant. Ken Curtis and Phil Carey also star in important supporting roles.

Steelers Pick Prize Player

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pittsburgh Steelers passed over three of the nation's top college football players to select a 25-year-old defensive quarterback as their bonus choice in the National Football League partial player draft.

Coach Walter Kessling of the Steelers named Gary Glick, a comparative unknown from Colorado and Al Conover, Duke fullback, club personnel director and son of owner Art Rooney, drew the lucky slip from the hat.

Green Bay and the Chicago Cardinals were the only participants in the annual bonus selection. Each National League team was given a chance to select two graduate players. The Cards and Green Bay will vie for the big prize.

The clubs went through only three of the seven rounds of the pro player draft. This early drafting of the players was designed to meet competition from Canada in signing America's top gridiren talent. The draft will be resumed in January while the Canadians get busy in their campaign.

After Pittsburgh dropped the bombshell by picking Glick, the first three picks in the Rooney draft quickly grabbed the players everyone thought were sure-fire bonus material. San Francisco and Detroit, tied for last place in the league standings, made the cards for first choice and the 49ers won Coach Red Hickey's unbeatenbeaten named Earl Morrall, the brilliant quarterback in Michigan State's multiple offense.

Detroit picked Howard "Hopalong" Cassady, rugged running halfback from Ohio State's Big Ten champions, and Philadelphia Eagles grabbed Bob Pellegrini, the standout University of Maryland linebacker. In all, the pros drafted 37 players from 25 colleges and universities.

MAY START HERE

HAMILTON (CP)—The annual all-women's international air race to Havana, Cuba, might start from Mount Hope airport here in 1956, Mrs. Dorothy Rungeling, Canadian chairman of the race committee, said Monday.

Mrs. Rungeling, of Fenwick, Ont., said she expects to discuss the race with civic and airport authorities Friday.

AT THE CAPITOL — Yes'ured Entertainer—Meg Myles is cast as a featured singer in a night club in "The Phenix Story", a Samuel Bischoff-David Diamond production at Capitol Artists now at the Capitol Theatre. The film tells of the corruption which drew headlines in Phenix City, Ala. On the same program the thrilling story of the "BIG TIP OFF" starring Richard Conte.

Toppazzini Tops In American Loop

NEW YORK (AP)—Zellio Toppazzini of Providence picked up seven points in three games last week to maintain his three-point lead in American Hockey League scoring. His total is 36.

Buffalo's Gil Mayer, also collected five points to keep pace with the Providence rightwinger on the scoring sheet. He had to share the runner-up spot with Paul Leswick, Hershey centre, who totalled six points for the week. Mayerram's 25 assists lead the league.

Toppazzini, teammates Camille Henry and Jacks Bartlett and Pittsburgh's Willie Marshall are tied for the goalscoring lead with 16 each.

Pittsburgh's Gil Meyer, fined $100 for "indifferent" play a week ago, leads the goalies for the first time this season. He's let in 53 goals in 18 games for a 2.94 average.

Mayor Loses Hat, Voice

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary's exuberant, high-stepping mayor, Don Mackay, returned home the Grey Cup without a voice.

"I was trying to keep up with Dick Cosgrave (Calgary Stampede arena director) shouting yippee," he whispered Monday night.

The cowboy-mayor lost not only his voice but also his fanned autographed white hat.

Columbus Rejects Bid to Rejoin American Body

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Columbus Jack Mooney has been rejected by the American Association for the jets to rejoin that league.

The Association at the International League to pass on the request to drop out of the International League session at the winter baseball meeting.

Columbus was a member of the Association for many years before the Jets transferred from Toledo last year.

Jet general manager Harold Cooper said it was his understanding the league would welcome the Jets back into even before it reached Columbus officials.

"We are very happy in the International League and we intend to stay there," Cooper said.

The decision of the Association to approach the International regarding the Jets followed the association's rejection of Milwaukee Brewers' application for their Toledo franchise in Miami, Fla.

The Braves, still hoping to win approval for the move, await an official vote from the league.

There have been reports that the Braves, if balked in the Miami move, might shift the Toledo franchise to the league and attempt to transfer the 39 players on the list to some other league.

The league has suggested the Braves consider a proposal to move to Knoxville, like Miami an "open" city with no baseball team. The Braves have said they would on Miami although it is about 2,100 miles away from Denver, the league's most westerly member.

CONSERVATION
Ketch's Korner
by the ROVING SECRETARY of the
CARLING CONSERVATION CLUB

This fall we have noticed that convictions in our courts for infractions of the game laws have had some pretty hefty fines attached. Good news, indeed. If anything will ever discourage wanton disregard of game regulations, same stiff fines are the answer. Unfortunately, there will always be the smart-aleck who figures he is smarter than the conservation officer. Sometimes he always is, but he gets away with it. For a time, sometimes permanently. Sooner or later, though, they land in the hot seat and they don't like it a bit. Especially when a magistrate gives him his well-earned deserts.

A few short years ago, there was a period when apparently the magistrates of the courts tended to favor the culprit. Conservation officers were being confounded time after time, when despite their best efforts to prove an air-tight case, either a nominal fine would levied or—shameful to relate—the case would be dismissed altogether.

You can see what this tended to do. Rather than overcoming a situation which to the individual conservation officer was disheartening, in many cases it actually made the poor man's job twice as tough. It made more work for him too, due to the human tendency for anglers and hunters to think "Well, if Joe Blow can get away with it, so can I."

Now however, things are different. With the confiscation of the tools of his trade, his gear, outboard motor boat—sometimes even his car—all in addition to the fine assessed, a poacher today will think twice, we feel before setting out to outwit a game warden.

This is all to the good, of course. Magistrates now realize the tremendous importance of our wildlife resources to the economy of the country—to say nothing of its aesthetic values. They realize that the days of "unlimited" game supplies are gone, and they can no longer extend their sympathies to those people who appear before them on charges of game law infractions. Maybe in the many years a game warden spends in the service of the Province he will never see a case where they completely threaten, David Knight and Margo Lorenz 'are seen as a young couple who meet at a airport and fall in love. This colorful and exciting film also stars Anthony Steel, Robert Beatty, Eunice Gayson and Francis Matthews. Pantomime Pictures presents Richard Attenborough and Virginia McKenna in Nicholas Monsarrat's "The Ship That Died of Shame" with Anthony Steel and Robert Beatty.

World's Greatest Ballerina Has No Yen to Dance in Russia

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Margot Fonteyn, generally acclaimed the world's greatest ballerina, has no great yen to dance in Russia. Here at the movie star with the Sadlers Wells Ballet, Miss Fonteyn indicated that she would not join the move of Western cultural attractions to Russia.

"I think it would be rather frightening to perform ballets in the place where they originated and are cherished," she remarked. But I wouldn't that present a challenge."

"Perhaps," she laughed, "but I'm not particularly interested in challenges."

DIFFERENT REACTION

The ballet star has danced in most of the major cities of Europe and North America, and has some interesting observations on differences in audiences. Audiences in England and the United States react differently, and in some ways she prefers the latter.

"In England, they wouldn't think of applauding during a performance," she explained. "But I'm very satisfying to the dancer; it gives me encouragement. The only time I don't appreciate it is when I'm in a mood for ballet like Sylphides' where applause would interrupt my thought."

American audiences also differ from place to place, those in New York being the most sophisticated.

"It's also according to the places we play. You get a much better reaction in the Metropolitan Opera House than you do in the huge movie auditorium here or the Loew's Capitol cinema in Washington, which is too small for ballet."

TV PERFORMANCE

On Dec. 12, Miss Fonteyn will display her artistry when she stars in NBC's telecast of the full-length "Sleeping Beauty." The network will be performing a first for she isn't especially thrilled by it.

AT THE McGARTHY — In "Out of the Clouds" now playing at the Odeon Quinte Drive-In, David Knight and Margo Lorenz 'are seen as a young couple who meet at a airport and fall in love. This colorful and exciting film also stars Anthony Steel, Robert Beatty, Eunice Gayson and Francis Matthews. Pantomime Pictures presents Richard Attenborough and Virginia McKenna in Nicholas Monsarrat's "The Ship That Died of Shame" with Anthony Steel and Robert Beatty.

"I don't like television, really," she commented. "I never watch it at home or when in touring. If I want entertainment, I go out to see a show."

"As for performing on TV, I generally do it without an audience, so there is no thrill in it."

It was talking and argewing with Glenda Magee, and he said, Hay, Flora and Dora just came out.

Meaning the 2 beety looking girls down in the next block, and I said, Aw, what of it?

Not wanting to sound intimidastic, and Glasses said, Well how about asking them to go and see the Science Fair Show at the Kid Grand this afternoon?

Him being stuck on Dora and me being stuck on Flora, and I said, Oh well, okay, if you want to, and we went down and talked about general conversation a while, and Glasses said, Hay, how would you 2 like to go to the Kid Show with us?

Oh, we'd love to Flora said, and Dora said, we'd adore to.

Dont take it too serious, though, I said, Me and Glasses never invitend to get married. We talked about it and that's what we decided. Didn't we, Glasses? I said, and he said, Sure, we're going to be old batchelors and some time when we want and stay out when we want. That's what we decided, he said.

Oh dont worry, Dora and I wouldn't marry the best man that ever escaped, Flora said. We made an agreement, didn't we, Dora? she said, and Dora said, You bet, we're going to cook for ourselfs, and that's all, isn't it, Flora?

Positively, except maybe our gerl freads, Flora said.

That suits us perfect, heh, Glasses? I said, and Glasses said, Sure, absilutely, it's just made to order.

Red Sox Buy Frisco Franchise In Surprise Deal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Boston Red Sox have bought the San Francisco franchise for $150,000 in a deal calculated to strengthen the Pacific Coast League and are negotiating the sale of their Louisville farm club in the American Association.

Joe Cronin, Red Sox general manager, announced the minor league convention Monday night by buying the Coast League outlet as Cleveland's Hank Greenberg sat back and waited for the club to fall into his lap.

Assured Red Sox would do "everything possible" to have a outstanding club in San Francisco, the league's directors approved the sale. One half of the reported price or $75,000 is to be paid Dec. 15, the balance by Feb. 15.

In addition to the franchise, Red Sox acquired the contracts of 19 players, including such veterans as Gene Bearden, Wally Judnich and Bill Serena. The league assumed all obligations of the former owners, the San Francisco Seals Inc., headed by Damon Mellor.

Greenberg and Milwaukee Braves at one time showed an interest in the franchise.

Cronin revealed a deal to sell Red Sox' Louisville farm was in "the talking stage." Cronin said negotiations were under way with a "local group" but he declined to name names.

South Renfrew Election Jan. 12

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost said today the election will be held Jan. 12 to fill the vacant South Renfrew seat in the Ontario legislature.

The premier said nomination day will be Dec. 29 and the returning officer will be Dr. John S. Findley of Arnprior.

The by-election, to fill the vacancy caused by the death last month of Thomas Dempsey, is the first since the June 9 provincial election.

Mr. Dempsey, the centre of a controversy over election expenses, had held the seat since 1945. He was said to have failed to report campaign contributions during a previous election and was to have made a statement at the spring session of the legislature, which, he said, would clear his name completely.

Present party standing in the 98-seat house is Progressive Conservatives 82, Liberal-Labor bloc one, CCF three and one seat vacant.

Riff Tribesmen Ambush Truck

RABAT, French Morocco (AP) More trouble from rebellious tribesmen in the Riff mountains was reported today as premier-designate Mohammed Bekkai continued conferences trying to form Morocco's first representative government.

Stretchy reports reaching here said a military truck was ambushed Monday in the Nador pass area near the Spanish Moroccan frontier. The bodies of five soldiers were found near the vehicle.

About 2,000 rebels have been clashing intermittently with the French in the Riff mountains since Oct. 1. Attacks by the rebels continued despite Sultan Mohammed Ben Youssef's triumphal return from exile and French promises of greater Moroccan home rule.

BUFFALO MAYOR DECLARES STATE OF EMERGENCY

Howling Blizzard Buries City in Snow

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Mayor Steven Pankow said he might call on the help of the national guard today as this industrial border city fought back from the buffeting of a record-setting November blizzard.

The mayor declared a state of emergency Tuesday night after a personal tour of southern sections of the city, where thousands of abandoned automobiles have made street cleaning an almost impossible task.

Governor Averell Harriman has offered state help, but the snowbound city, and Pankow said he might take the top offer if street crews find they cannot complete the task.

The clatter of plows and sanders echoed through the city's covered streets during the night as cleaning crews, aided by men and machines from Rochester, tackled the mammoth job of clearing the thoroughfares.

HAD HUGE DRIFTS

The storm howled in from Lake Erie about noon Monday, and by the time it was over late Tuesday Buffalo had a depth of 18 inches and many streets in the city and county had four feet, with drifts much higher.

The 18 inches for the city erased the previous November record of just over 17 inches for a 24-hour 1945.

The snow belt moved southward late Tuesday, bringing about three inches to the metropolitan area and about five inches in parts of Cattaraugus county.

Other than Buffalo, work state points reported numbing cold Tuesday, with readings of about 10 above. The Watertown area caught about a foot of snow from a storm that blew in off Lake Ontario, and was hit again Tuesday night by a shortlived but violent blizzard.

The task of clearing Buffalo's main traffic arteries was complicated by thousands of stalled cars, many of them abandoned in the middle of the street. One of the big trucks were bogged down in the middle of the Peace bridge, a main north-south highway along the eastern edge of the city.

SUMMER-LIKE WEATHER

Stalled traffic still stood bumper-to-bumper for miles along South Park avenue here, and on the Niagara Thruway today, and many marooned motorists spent a second night in overnight rooms or rooming houses

The giant Bethlehem Steel Co. plant in suburban Lackawanna was completely "dug out" by the storm Tuesday, but hopes were high that most employees could make it to their jobs today. The plant employs about 19,000.

The storm stunned at least five lives. Four men apparently died of heart attacks, and a fifth died from exposure. A sixth man after his house had been sealed up by drifting snow.

The stormy weather also hit sections of the Midwest and northeastern states, and temperatures in many areas was predicted for today.

Dakota and Nebraska formed the cold vanguard. Temperatures were generally below zero. The freezing line as a whole extended as far south as Oklahoma City and the Gulf of Mexico coast.

Michigan had snow and bitter weather as western New York state and at least three deaths were reported there. Schools were closed and roads iced up after a heavy snowfall.

An estimated 75,000 school children were idled in southwestern Michigan alone as 16 inches of snow settled by late afternoon. In Grand Rapids, where drifts were reported towered to six feet, all available auxiliary equipment was battling to keep at least one lane of highway open

Defeated Faure May Yet Get Early Elections He Desired

By HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS (AP)—The French cabinet scheduled a meeting today to decide whether to dissolve the National Assembly in a rare manoeuvre which would give Premier Edgar Faure the early elections parliament denied him.

Holding a confidence vote on a procedural question—but actually moving to stave off the early parliamentary challenge—the assembly overthrew the government Tuesday night, 318 to 278. But by the slim whopping majority against Faure, the over-enthusiastic deputies made it possible for the cabinet to oust them from office under a constitutional clause never applicable before.

Article 21 of the 1946 constitution says that when two cabinets have been thrown out within 18 months by "constitutional majorities"—more than half the assembly's 625 members—the cabinet can dissolve the assembly by decree. Premier Mendes-France was ousted from the premiership by a vote of 319 to 273 less than 10 months ago.

The constitution says the cabinet's decision to dissolve must be taken with the president of the republic presiding and after advice has been received from the presidents of the assembly.

Pierre Schneiter, assembly president, spent more than an hour Tuesday night with President Rene Coty at Elysee Palace. Reports said Schneiter declined to give his advice until after consultations with party leaders in the assembly today. After these talks he said he would make his recommendations to Coty in a letter.

The cabinet then could decide whether to order the assembly dissolved or merely hand in its own resignation. The latter action would set in motion the familiar routine of French politics — presidential consultation with party leaders, choice of a prospective premier, and negotiation to line up assembly support, and eventual announcement of a new cabinet.

Either way, Faure and his cabinet will continue in office in a caretaker role.

Weighing against assembly dissolution is the constitutional requirement that new elections be held within 20 to 30 days. That would put the balloting around Christmas, a time certain to be unpopular with the voters.

BRITISH REGIME IN CYPRUS CALLED 'TOTALITARIAN'

Archbishop Denounces 'State of Emergency'

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—Archbishop Makarios, leader of rebellious Cypriots seeking union with Greece, today accused Britain of imposing a "totalitarian regime" on Cyprus by proclaiming a state of emergency.

"British rule in Cyprus is doomed," declared the fiery prelate in his first public comment on the state of emergency proclaimed Saturday by British Governor Sir John Harding.

Makarios made a long reference to the proclamation and the Cypriots' struggle for union with Greece during a St. Andrew's Day sermon in a suburban church.

"The emergency regulations mean that all freedoms are abolished, human rights trampled and personal freedom banished," he said. "Everyone of us is now in the mercy of the first policeman or first British soldier who may lead us to a detention camp without charge, without trial, without any guilt."

Cheers went up as Makarios said: "Long live Greece" in English saying that it is darkest just before dawn. "With the declaration of the state of emergency, the darkness of slavery is at its bitterest. But dawn is near."

15 Killed As Jet Plows Through Six Housing Units

Plane Roars Out of Control At Big Alaska Air Base

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — A jet fighter plane, roaring out of control on a takeoff, mowed a deadly fire-swept path through six big Elelson air force base housing units Tuesday and wiped out at least 13 lives.

Two more persons were believed among the dead as the jet also incinerated year-old triplets whose parents and two brothers were spared.

Six of eight persons treated after the crash and fire received critical injuries. Possibly a score of firemen and volunteers suffered minor frostbite in the 16-below-zero weather.

Roaring along a few feet above the ground in a suburban attack, the F-84 piloted by Lieut. Alfred F. Pounders, 28, veered at almost a 90-degree angle as it left the runway, witnesses said.

SAW IT HIT

It soared over installations of the base for about a quarter of a mile, then plowed into the housing area. Rudy Hammer, an electrical engineer employed at the air base, saw the plane disappear between the six eight - unit apartment houses.

"The plane bounced on one building, throwing it all into flames," Hammer recounted later. "Then it bounced on another building and a wing flew off and it ripped down a high-tension power line. From there it came down right through an apartment house and scattered everywhere, crashing into a parked car and wrecking cars."

Debris from the smashed buildings covered the whole two-block area in which they stood. Confusion was compounded as residents and volunteers ran about attempting to salvage articles from the buildings.

The tremendous force of the impact sent apartment fuel tanks hurtling through the air, feeding the fires which had broken out in all the buildings.

ENGULFED IN FLAMES

Miss Pamela Harris, 21-year-old Elelson resident who had just started a new job at the base's civil defance away, said the oil tanks burst like bombs, and she saw the planes engulfed and group of school children coming home for lunch. She never learned what happened to them.

The triplets, children of Sgt. and Mrs. William Troup, had been over front room in the first building struck. Neighbors of them was found hours after the plane struck.

Nine bodies, all unidentified, were included among the dead, but that of the pilot, were found when the flames had been quelled by firemen and volunteers in a four-hour struggle. Subzero temperatures hampered the firefighting and the subsequent search of the ice-clad ruins.

OTHERS ESCAPE

Sgt. and Mrs. Pimple were listed as injured. Their two other children, Timmie and Dutch, apparently escaped unscathed.

Within a few moments after the crash, fire equipment from the air base and from Fairbanks and volunteers were fighting the flames or carrying on rescue work in the shocked and bewildered housing area.

Many of the rescue workers were air force men whose families lived in the damaged area. Most of them had no idea for hours whether their families were safe.

Judge Rules Spinster May Hunt Organist

CHICAGO (AP)—A judge has given Harriett Davis permission to attend any church she pleases, including one where he hunt down an organist who can't stand the way she stares at him.

The case of the reluctant organist and the staring spinster had been in court for the last nine months. Tuesday Judge Julius Miner dissolved an injunction which prevented Miss Davis, 35, from attending any church where organist Robert Metzler, 30, is employed.

Metzler obtained the injunction last March, charging that Miss Davis and her mother, Belle, 65, followed him from church to church and from pews and stared at him. This made him so nervous, he skipped notes in hymns, he said.

The women simply explained that Metzler's music affects them.

Forest Industry In B.C. Opposes High Tariffs

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's big forest industries joined today to oppose high protective tariffs for Canadian manufacturers and urged the federal government t okeep hands off federal competition in Canadian coastal shipping trade.

Appearing before the Gordon economic commission, spokesmen for B. C.'s lumbermen, loggers, pulp, paper and shingle producers forecast rising production and markets during the next 20 years.

But they complained costs over high transportation costs and the impact of growing labor power on B. C. wage levels, considered by the industries as the highest in Canada.

Peronista Party Dissolved, Family Gets Back La Prensa

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—The Argentine government today ordered the dissolution of the Peronista party,

At the same time the government issued a decree restoring the newspaper La Prensa to the Paz family.

The decree of provisional president Pedro Aramburu spelled a finish to the totalitarian political machine which Juan D. Peron organized six years ago to smother the opposition and tighten his reign.

Expropriation of La Prensa in 1951 was part of the steps Peron took to clamp his control on the nation.

The return of the newspaper to its rightful owners came only 10 days after Aramburu took office.

In publisher before expropriation, Dr. Alberto Gainza Paz, is expected to return from exile Thursday to resume control.

Conservatives Meet in January

OTTAWA (CP)—The three-day annual meeting of the Progressive Conservative Party's National Association, postponed from an earlier this month, will be held here next Jan. 16-18.

The meeting, which reviews organization, policy and business affairs of the party, was to have been held Nov. 14-16. It was postponed, however, because of the length of the last session of Parliament and this fall's cross-country tour by Hon. George Drew, party leader.

On the first of the three days the party's national executive will meet, concurrently with annual meetings of the Conservative women's organization and the Young Progressive Conservatives of Canada. General meetings will be held the next two days.

The last annual meeting was in March, 1954.

Eden Is Ready To Consider Ban On A-Bomb Tests

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden said today the government is "perfectly ready to consider" Russia's proposal for an immediate world-wide ban on nuclear weapons tests but cautioned Parliament against supporting unconditional British acceptance.

Eden told the commons the terms and scope of the Soviet offer, broadcast by Moscow radio, "are far from clear."

Russia offered to halt nuclear weapon tests if Britain and the United States would do the same.

Eden said the Soviet offer "might have appeared in a better light if it had been made before the recent Geneva conference at which Mr. Khrushchev has spoken in such enthusiastic terms."

He referred to the comments by Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet Communist party secretary, in Bangalore, India, last Saturday that Russia had recently exploded a hydrogen bomb which confirmed calculations that Russian scientists "are able to produce with minimum expense energy a maximum explosion."

Eden refused to commit the government to accepting or rejecting a Soviet party proposal that Britain should initiate talks with the United States and Russia with a view to ending further experimental H-bomb tests.

Woman Awarded $10,781 For Fall on Street

TORONTO (CP) — The northern Ontario town of Cochrane has been ordered to pay $10,781 to a 64-year-old woman, crippled in a fall on an icy, unsanded street.

Mr. Justice R. A. Ayles awarded damages Tuesday to Mrs. Pauline Benson of Cochrane. Mrs. Benson's counsel said she suffered a broken hip and now was able to walk only with the aid of canes.

Cochrane is 45 miles northeast of Timmins.

Dishes Drive Geiger Counter Crazy So Makers May Have Uranium Mine

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Dr. Lincoln Lapaz sat for a noontime meal, blowing a geiger counter on the table, and watched it go crazy over his dishware.

Before the day was through, Lapaz, head of the western world's only Institute of Meteoritics, at the University of New Mexico, theorized that a couple of plate manufacturers may be sitting on a uranium mine.

What Lapaz discovered was that the orange glaze on his pottery plates was sending out 1.5 milliroentgens an hour compared to background radioactivity in the air of .02. In other words, the plates from which he had been eating were radioactive, although not dangerously so.

Asked what he thought caused the radioactivity, LaPaz said: "The only thing I can say is this: I'd like to know where they get the coloring material."

Mrs. LaPaz, who figures scientific interest reaches a point where it gets better out in the laboratory, has laid down the law: No more radioactive dishes at her table.

Churchill Greets Birthday With His V-for-Victory Sign

LONDON (CP) — Sir Winston Churchill flashed a cherubic grin and gave the old V-for-victory sign today to show he is still enjoying life at 81.

Photographers and movie cameramen of the world's press grouped round the Georgian-style home in Hyde Park Gate for the eminent statesman's promised birthday appearance on the doorstep.

A butler opened the door and Churchill, wearing his favorite blue polka-dot bow tie and dark pinstripe suit, came to the doorway with Lady Churchill.

Both smiled broadly, greeted everybody with a bright "good morning" and waved as cameramen and bystanders called "happy birthday."

Churchill announced that he had received "far more presents" from friends known and unknown to me in this country and all over the world—than he did on previous personally.

"I hope that everyone who has been so kind as to remember my anniversary will know how much pleasure it has given me to receive their good wishes and how highly I value their thought of me," he said.

"I trust they will excuse me if I do not send them my thanks in writing."

Personal messages from the queen and other members of the Royal Family topped a deluge of birthday wishes. One cynic by the storm Tuesday, but hopes were high that most employees could make it to their jobs today. The plant employs about 19,000.

The stormy weather also hit sections of the Midwest and northeastern states, and temperatures in many areas was predicted for today.

Dakota and Nebraska formed the cold vanguard. Temperatures were generally below zero. The freezing line as a whole extended as far south as Oklahoma City and the Gulf of Mexico coast.

Michigan had snow and bitter weather as western New York state and at least three deaths were reported there. Schools were closed and roads iced up after a heavy snowfall.

An estimated 75,000 school children were idled in southwestern Michigan alone as 16 inches of snow settled by late afternoon. In Grand Rapids, where drifts were reported towered to six feet, all available auxiliary equipment was battling to keep at least one lane of highway open

Upset Conviction Of Manslaughter In Wife's Death

MONTREAL (CP) — Georges Bordeleau, convicted of manslaughter in the bunting of his shotgun wife Elizabeth Asbestos, Que., two years ago, has been granted a new trial by a unanimous court of appeal decision.

The appeal court Tuesday nullified the 25-year sentence Bordeleau, the mineworker's conviction and one-year sentence. It criticized the crown's case.

The prosecution had claimed that Bordeleau's story of the fatal shooting of murder, but new evidence was discovered too late to change the original charge of manslaughter.

"The crown made its own bed," commented Mr. Justice Rinfret. "It is unfortunate if the crown finally succeeds in the conclusion that it should have pressed a murder charge; but on the charge I unanswerable that it did so lay, it didn't have the right to attempt proof of murder."

Mrs. Bordeleau, mother of two small children, was shot Nov. 14, 1954, in the kitchen of the parents' home at Windsor Mills, Que. Her husband returned after a hunting expedition with her brother and was alleged to have had a row with the weapon on his knees.

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower's physicians reported after an examination today that he is "free of symptoms" and that his recovery from a mild heart attack "continues to be satisfactory without complications."

Thomas W. Mattingly, heart specialist of Walter Reed Army Hospital, Washington, joined Maj.-Gen. Howard M. Snyder, the president's personal physician, in issuing a medical bulletin which indicated Eisenhower's activities still are being restricted even as they are progressively increased.

Try Ironing-Out This Problem!

TORONTO (CP)—Somebody has mislaid 30 tons of steel bridging.

Metro roads commissioner Leslie Allan said today the stray bailey bridging is part of a 35-ton load sent to the city by the Ontario-Hydro-Electric Power Commission to replace a north Dufferin street bridge destroyed in October, 1954, by hurricane Hazel. Hydro officials protected 3½ tons were missing when Metro returned the unused parts after repairs were completed last year.

The Metro executive has agreed to pay the commission $1,422 for the deficit.

Judge Rules Spinster May Hunt Organist

CHICAGO (AP)—A judge has given Harriett Davis permission to attend any church she pleases, including one where he hunt down an organist who can't stand the way she stares at him.

The case of the reluctant organist and the staring spinster had been in court for the last nine months. Tuesday Judge Julius Miner dissolved an injunction which prevented Miss Davis, 35, from attending any church where organist Robert Metzler, 30, is employed.

Metzler obtained the injunction last March, charging that Miss Davis and her mother, Belle, 65, followed him from church to church and from pews and stared at him. This made him so nervous, he skipped notes in hymns, he said.

The women simply explained that Metzler's music affects them.

Columbus Club Hall Modern In Every Respect

Tomorrow Belleville will be introduced to its latest and most modern auditorium.

It is the new Columbus Club hall and needs only the finishing touches to its smooth layout on the first floor of the Knights of Columbus premises on Front St.

When complete down to the last touch of veneer it will provide a high-class location for the official social functions of the Knights of Columbus itself, and also will be available to the public for social events ranging from dinners to dances.

Laid out in an L-shaped design, the club hall has a floor area of about 2,500 square feet and an overall area of 3,000 square feet.

Here some 250 diners will find accommodation at a banquet.

Here, too, some 300 dancers will trip the light fantastic on a smooth maple floor under lights which while not approaching the fantastic in design and beauty fully balanced to lend any required mood to the atmosphere of the evening. Pairs of spotlights are trained at different angles on the floor and can be operated in pairs or singly to give any desired effect. Seven rows of metal chandeliers can flood the interior with brilliant light at the flip of a switch.

Concealed in the acoustic-tiled ceiling are seven strategically-located speakers which also can be operated individually. Together with the lighting system, they are manipulated away from the dance floor and can be heard on the floor.

Walled color of the hall is brown with the new antiba wallboard masking the walls of the clubroom.

MODERN KITCHEN EQUIPPED

Immediately off the floor is the pride of the entire setup — a modern model kitchen, complete with electric dishwasher, range, refrigerator and sinks. In red and white the kitchen provides an imposing array of cupboard and storage space.

A wide double-door entrance leads into a short, spacious corridor fronting the kitchen on the clubroom proper. Here the club's large clockroom has been installed. Off the street visitors immediately on entrance.

At the end of the floor towards the emergency exit are two modern washroom installations with up-to-date installations and finished in tile.

The premises' air-conditioning unit is guaranteed to keep the temperature at the proper level and provide a continuous current of cool air.

THREE-ZONE FURNACE

The entire premises throughout now is being heated by a new three-zone furnace, which heats the building's three floors at any required temperature. Thermostatic control on each floor allows for individual regulation of the unit throughout the building.

Under the supervision of Harry Carr-Brairt, general contractor, work started on the new clubroom nearly five months ago. However, the job was extended throughout the 1955 building owned by the Knights at Columbus. The second and third floors of the building presently are undergoing extensive work with most of the work well in hand.

When completed they will top off what is probably the most modern privately-owned hall in Belleville.

Deer Kill Slightly Down From Last Year

During the immediate past deer season much valuable information on Town and District deer was collected on the Lands and Forests Test Station and three checking stations located at Millbridge, Kaladar and Arnprior. All three stations were in operation on weekends of November 12th and 13th and November 19th and 20th and Department staff were able to check 2,918 deer. Skilled hunters checked 2,918; deer checked; hunters' success rate 38.9%; total days hunting 16,373; man days per deer 19.35.

Of the 733 deer sexed and aged 38.8% were adult bucks, 37.0% adult does and 24% fawns. Apart this season figures show a considerable increase in the fawn crop.

The 38.9% hunters' success is down as compared to the 1954 and last season. Readers are reminded that the hunters' success rate calculated from deer checking station figures is not a true rate of success, but merely an indication.

Many hunters passing through the deer checking stations with a bag less than that of last season reported as many or more deer signs and that weather conditions were the reasons for the decrease in their success.

During the month of October, Tweed district had a rain fall of 10.85 inches. This was 7.25 inches above normal. These heavy rains flooded the swamps and low land, enabling deer to hide in almost all. Lack of frost and snow during the season made tracking difficult and deer paid little or no attention to their usual runs.

Information and data collected on the checking stations this past season gives reason to believe that the deer herd is in good condition. Therefore, barring unforeseen factors, hunters should enjoy good hunting again next season.

Chief Probert Stresses Care On Safe Driving Day

Showing courtesy on the streets and highways is one of the best ways to avoid traffic accidents according to Police Chief Walter Probert who appealed today for motorists to show care and courtesy on December 1st which has been declared across Canada as Safe Driving Day.

In Canada the observance of Safe Driving Day is sponsored by the Canadian Highway Safety Conference and is being supported by the Federal Government as well as all provincial governments.

The objective of Safe Driving Day is the avoidance of any traffic accidents during the 24-hour period.

"This will require the whole-hearted co-operation of every person — pedestrians and cyclists, as well as motorists," the police chief urged. "Success cannot be achieved otherwise."

One key to accident prevention is awareness and anticipation the police chief added.

"Make courtesy your code of the road," Chief Probert asked as he appealed to all for co-operation toward making Belleville accident-free on Safe Driving Day.

"But don't be accident conscious for one day only, make it your code all year."

Four Young Men From N.B. Held On Theft Charge

Four young men from St. John, N.B., were taken into custody by city and provincial police early today and charged with assorted taking in a car allegedly stolen in Toronto.

City Constable Jack Kent spotted the car passing through the city and notified provincial police who set up a road block near the Point Anne lane.

Provincial Police Constables A. Corriveau and R. Mcdonald stopped the car and took John Cunningham, 20; Roy D. Israel, 22; Arthur Russell, 17, and Reuben Reid, 17, all of St. John, into custody. Police from Toronto later arrived in the city to return the men to Toronto.

City Debentures Sold in Day Over Counter

City of Belleville four per cent debentures are attractive to the public.

As result of a council recommendation some weeks ago approximately $15,000 in 4% per cent debentures were offered "over the counter" at city hall to the general public this week. City Treasurer Drury Denyes stated that the debentures were all sold within a day after they were offered for sale.

Expect Thousands to Watch Saturday's Santa Claus Parade

The city clock tolling 11 a.m. on Saturday morning will be the signal for the year's biggest mass treat, for children of all ages, to commence.

For at exactly 11 o'clock Saturday morning the Annual Santa Claus Parade will start to wend its way down the city's main thoroughfare.

The street surface of Front St. will be a laneway zoned at the curbstones by walls of eagerness for adults and children alike to take in all of the glittering procession that will wend its sparkling way down the main street.

And even if there is a cold-air blast blowing the way of the eager thousands, it's a hundred-to-one it will go unnoticed.

For the parade itself also will be a blast—a great big trumpet blast ushering in the warmth and cheer of Christmastime in Belleville.

And it will have, possibly, a more intimate appeal in that its scheduled and routed floats than similar processions in other larger cities for much unwonted effort has gone into the making of the twenty Big Parades.

Headed up by fire chief Gerald Vance, a committee of citizens has been working with a dogged effort to whip the parade into shape that will be a splendid spectacular for the community.

Up at No. 1 firehall on the Kingston Road fire inspector Bob Fair, assisted by young Gary Marriott, has been taking time out between alarms to construct some five floats for the parade. Willing-ly lending a helping hand in the big effort are Bob's fellow firemen.

Much of the same can be relayed for the pupils of the Ontario School for the Deaf, the BCIVS, the Quinte Secondary School and Mrs. J. G. Hubble, proprietress of the Doll Hospital on the Trent Road.

Come Saturday morning the results of their efforts will be there for all to see and enjoy. Together with floats on loan from the town of Trenton they will number in the sparkling locality of about 25, all present and meticulously correct.

MANY CONTRIBUTIONS

Neither has the community been backward in coming forward with contributions to foot the bill for the big event. Merchants' contributions plus a $200 grant from council swelled the fund.

But the biggest slice of community co-operation comes in the way of interest that will result in the work when Saturday the parade will wend its way—the number of people who turn out to admire and cheer the work of the hands few.

If conclusions can be drawn from last year's parade, which witnessed the first of the big-time Santa Claus parades ever held in Belleville, a record crowd will be on hand.

Biggest concentration of the parade, however, will be on Front St., but spectators along Moira West, Pinnacle St. and at the Fair Grounds, where the parade starts and ends, will also have a big part to play in the event.

The parade gets under way at 10.45 a.m. and will proceed down the upper bridge at 11 a.m.

Theme of the parade this year will be centred on three characters. Besides the colorful floats some six or eight bands are expected to be adding their music to the festivities, together with majorettes, clowns and all manner of walking characters.

Money Raised by Seal Sales Helps to Prevent TB Increase

Do you want to steal a march on Santa Claus?

Buy Christmas seals.

Money received from the sale of Christmas seals will mean a lot of lives and make thousands of people happier all year round. Christmas seals first sold in North America in 1907, are a universal symbol of public determination to eradicate one of the world's most crippling and disabling diseases.

Money raised by the sale of Christmas seals is used to check the spread of TB by early detection through mass X-ray surveys, to educate people in the necessity and value of detection surveys, to keep people well by the latest treatments and to assist in financing detection clinics and sanatoria.

The Christmas seals campaign in Belleville

The TB death rate today is only one quarter of the rate 10 years ago.

Despite the tremendous advances in TB prevention and treatment, 9,523 new cases of TB were discovered in Canada last year.

Today there are 18,000 Canadians in sanatoria undergoing specialized treatment that may last for as long as a year or two.

MASS X-RAY SURVEY

During the past summer the Hastings County TB Association conducted a mass x-ray survey survey in the county that included 18,585 persons.

During 1954, 25 persons from Hastings County were convalescing in sanatoria throughout the province. Of these, about 18 were from Belleville and district.

There were about 22 new cases of TB discovered in Hastings last year and there were four deaths.

The Belleville General Hospital had the second highest percentage of admissions per bed for a general hospital in Ontario.

Christmas seals are just one of the aids to the fight against TB. Christmas seals were mailed to every household in the city. Persons who have not received their seals by 1955 should contact Mrs. William Gault, John Street, or Woodland 8-9049.

Officials of the Hastings County TB Association are: president, Neil Hallowell; vice-president, D. A. Lloyd; executive secretary, Miss Bill Gault; treasurer, Ben Yanover and directors, Jack Bridge, Harry Rollins, Frank Lang and Murray Hunter.

Civil Defence College Earns Wide Reputation

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's federal civil defence college has earned a world-wide reputation for the high quality of its training, an Australian civil defence official said today.

Air Commodore A. G. Knox-Knight told reporters he is visiting Canada primarily to inspect the college at Arnprior, Ont., about 40 miles northwest of here, because Australia wants to learn several things there that can be applied in Australia.

He and Maj.-Gen. I. N. Dougherty, civil defence director for the state of New South Wales, will spend the next two weeks at the college and inspecting civil defence organizations in Toronto, Edmonton and Vancouver. They arrived here Tuesday.

Czechoslovakia Trying to Sell Planes to Canada

OSHAWA (CP) — The Times Gazette says an aircraft built in Czechoslovakia and now "stored in secrecy" at Oshawa airport will be used to spark a cross - country campaign to sell the Communist built twin-engined aircraft in Canada.

The paper says Field Aviation Ltd., of Oshawa confirmed the report. It adds the aircraft has been moved "quietly from Kitchener to Malton and then to Oshawa in an attempt to avoid publicity"

The paper says Bela Machinery Corporation (Canada), Ltd., are Canadian agents for the manufacturer and quotes W. Stonehouse, manager, as saying: "If we receive further adverse publicity, we will move the plane again."

The plane, the Aero-45 Motokov, is of all-metal construction and will sell for $25,000. Its closest rival produced in this country is the Piper Apache, a fabric - covered plane selling for $32,000.

BAD PUBLICITY

Mr. Stonehouse was quoted as saying that a Czech pilot flying the imported trainer "stole the show" at the last Canadian International Trade Fair.

"We received a great deal of adverse publicity at that time. The pilot was not even invited to have a cup of coffee with the other pilots," he said.

Michael Starr, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Ontario riding, said in an interview sale of Iron Curtain aircraft would "seriously interfere with" the Canadian aircraft industry. He said Communist-dominated countries are "taking advantage of Canada's free-enterprise system to sell government - produced products."

Eisenhower Sends Churchill Gold Medallion

WASHINGTON (Reuters) —President Eisenhower has sent a golden medallion and a special letter of greeting to Sir Winston Churchill on his 81st birthday, the White House announced today.

The medallion, three inches in diameter and of solid gold, bears a representation of Sir Winston's head and shoulders. On the reverse is a design of clasped hands flanked by the British and United States shields, and an inscription which reads:

"Presented to Sir Winston Spencer Churchill by President Dwight D. Eisenhower on behalf of his millions of admiring friends in the United States for courageous leadership and in recognition of his signal services to the defence of freedom in which cause his country and the United States have been associated in both peace and war."

Believe Egypt May Reject Red Aid to Build Dam

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. diplomatic observers said today chances now are better that Egypt will turn down a Soviet offer to help build its cherished dam on the Nile and go ahead instead with Western help.

The $1,300,000,000 Aswan dam project has become important in the East-West competition for the affections of the Middle East, especially since Russia has offered economic and other aid in that area Western observers' optimism about it came from these factors:

1. Egypt's revived negotiations with the World Bank for help in financing the project are reported going well, though a decision is still a considerable way off.

2. State Secretary Dulles and foreign aid director John B. Hollister in separate public statements Tuesday indicated the United States is not inclined to cut aid to the Middle East, but may increase it.

Ontario Health Plan Is Said Coming Next Year

TORONTO (CP)—The Star says the Ontario government is planning to go ahead on a modified health insurance plan next year. It says legislation likely will be introduced at the coming session of the legislature, scheduled to open Feb. 9.

The story says the plan probably will include catastrophe insurance and a home care plan, as well as diagnostic and laboratory services. It is expected the cost of the plan will be $30,000,000.

The provincial government's treasury board has been studying an Ontario health plan for some time.

At the federal-provincial conference in Ottawa last September, Premier Frost outlined a five-point program which The Star says will form the basis for the plan to be implemented.

FIVE-POINT PLAN

The program says: diagnostic services, home care, hospital mental care, catastrophe insurance and full hospital care.

Premier Frost submitted his plan to the conference as one that could be put into effect all at once or step by step.

The conference took no action on the plan.

Want to Hunt For 'Snowman' In Himalayas

KATMANDU, Nepal (Reuters)— An Australian expedition has applied to the Nepalese foreign office for permission to "seek out and identify the creature known as the yeti, or abominable snowman" on the Himalayas.

The application was signed by Peter Byrnes, a Sydney journalist. It is being considered.

Byrnes and his expedition hope to visit Nepal in January to hunt yetis in the Sherpa district of Solu Khumbu, near Mount Everest.

According to Nepalese folklore the yetis are large, semi-human, gorilla-like creatures, fierce and man-eating.

U.S. May Claim Territory In Antarctica

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (AP) —Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd said tonight the United States may make territorial claims at the Antarctic at some time in the future.

Byrd, who leads the latest American expedition to the Antarctic said: "This expedition is only temporary for the international geophysical year. Whatever we do, it will be in the best interests of New Zealand."

He said he doubted the United States would make territorial claims at this time, but added: "There may be claims in the future of course," but if there are they will be made in collaboration with New Zealand."

The American expedition is expected to leave New Zealand Thursday.

NEW COLD WAR STRATEGY

United States experts believe that the latest Communist strategy calls for continued efforts to expand Red influence in the Middle and Far East. This campaign, it is said, will not be based solely on military might, but will involve economic aid and trade concessions.

The United States plans counter measures. It would appear fairly obvious that the only way in which Soviet economic assistance and trade policies can be successfully fought is for the U.S. to surpass this aid.

A Soviet campaign of this nature may prove even more dangerous than military measures such as ravaged Korea and Indo-China. At the same time, it would appear that there certainly would be compensations.

Soviet assistance will have to be genuine if it is to serve any permanent ends in these Asian islands. Mere gestures might create a momentarily favorable impression, but the disillusionment which would follow failure to make good on promises of economic aid or in delivery of goods under a trade treaty would almost certainly end in a reaction, rather than an increase, in Soviet influence in these lands.

If Russia does give these "have-not" countries real help, and if this spurs the U.S. and other western nations to increase their present aid, these impoverished lands should benefit substantially.

That would be all to the good. The point which makes one wonder whether all is good will never be blown into the Middle and Far East by the ill wind of the cold war is the fact that any marked improvement in economic conditions in these lands would almost certainly make the inhabitants less contented with their lot and less likely to embrace Communism.

GOOD IDEA—BUT NO SIMPLE TRICK

Resources Minister Lesage has urged the 10th annual federal-provincial tourist conference to stage a campaign to secure a bigger share of the Canadian tourist dollar for Canada.

This is an excellent idea. Statistics quoted by Mr. Lesage showing that less than half of all adult Canadians have ever been in two provinces besides their own proves that most Canadians have many thrills waiting for them inside the borders of their own country.

At the same time it is not likely that such a campaign will prove very successful. People travel to see different sights and enjoy different customs. Most of us associate these experiences with a "foreign land." Although the word "foreign" has a rather strange sound to a Canadian when applied to the United States, it is still true that he regards the U.S. as differing from his own country. The great bulk of the population of Canada is concentrated close to the northern boundary of the United States. A comparatively short journey will take a Canadian out of his own country into a "foreign" land. We often a much longer journey is necessary to visit another province in his own land. The longer journey might actually produce sights and experiences much more at variance with those to which we are those seen in a short trip across the border. That, however, is a point too often overlooked.

Indeed, this tendency of many Canadians to visit the U.S., because life is "different" there, might provide us with a good tip on how to make Canada more attractive to U.S. visitors. They would find such an antidote as are Canadians to enjoy new experiences. We should, therefore, accentuate and stress the differences between Canada and the United States, rather than trying to explain away the differences. It sometimes done, that they will feel right at home in Canada, that when visiting us they will enjoy all the familiar services which they can obtain at home.

ONE MAN'S MEAT . . . .

One man's meat is another man's poison. That is a proverb with which we are all familiar and the accuracy of which is generally recognized. It is not often, however, that it is so graphically illustrated as in a news story from Winnipeg this week.

Canadians interested in the grain trade, it was stated, are waiting expectantly for Argentina's harvest to get under way next month. South of the equator, of course, it is now summer and Argentine wheat is developing.

If the crop is good, it will increase Canada's problem. It will make difficult for this country to market her surplus of wheat. But if the crop is poor, then the export demand for Canadian-grown wheat will be brisker.

Somehow, though, it seems difficult to hope for a crop failure in Argentina. A much better solution, but a much more difficult one, would be for the nations of the world to devise some method whereby so-called "surplus" supplies of wheat could reach the hungry in hard lands.

JUST FOLKS

I MUSN'T FORGET

I musn't forget that I'm gettin' old;
That's the worst thing ever a man can do.
I must keep in mind without bein' told
That old ideas must give way to new.

Let me be always upon my guard
Never a crabby old man to be.
Youth is too precious to have it marred
By the cranky whims of a man like me.

I must remember that customs change
An' I've had my youth an' my day;
My part is gone,
Mustn't be too surprised at strange
Or startlin' things that the younger folks say.

Mustn't keep the bit in their mouths too tight,
Which is something old people are apt to do.
What used to be wrong, may today be right,
An' it may not be wrong just becus it's new.

Want 'em to like me an' want 'em to know
That I need their laughter an' mirth an' song
An' I want 'em near, coz I love 'em so,
An' home is the place where their smiles belong.
They're growing up, and it seems so queer
When I see talk of the views they hold.
But age with youth shouldn't interfere,
An' I mustn't forget that I'm gettin' old.

Watch Earrings!

(Sydrovaska Daybladet, Malmoe, Sweden)

A doctor in Sydney has cautioned Australian women that they run the risk of getting cauliflower ears if they use earrings that are too heavy. Continuous irritation of the ear lobes caused by hard pinching clips produces the same kind of swelling that afflicts many boxers after they absorb too many blows on their ears, the doctor warned.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

There has lately been another uprising in parts of Canada against dirty literature. Salacious literature has always existed. The classics of Greek and Latin are full of it. Dr. Rabelais, in French prose can hardly read today, was avidly translated into English, where they already had some pretty rowdy literature of their own, back in 1650. Spanish, Italian, Arabic, Russian, if there is scarcely a tongue but which classics abound that give that sly look to those Ph..D's who are expert in those languages.

But life, for all its pretty romance that has been wrapped around it by artists and fanciful historians, was as rough a and coarse in those bygone days as the bread they ate or the cloth they wore to the straw beds they slept in under unwashed blankets. We can forgive them for being a little coarse in the mind, in their lighter moments. It went with their surroundings.

Where we can't forgive are, our contemporary novelists. They are just plain lazy. Or ungifted. They can't see life. Here we have cities with mile upon mile of streets full of quiet, decent, busy, generally happy homes. Think of them. Follow in your mind's eye your trip home this very day—the endless blocks of them, the quiet homes, the lens of thousands of them, the millions of them in the cities and towns of this continent. Life is in them. The overwhelming bulk of our world. But put a Hemingway or a Faulkner, let alone any of the lesser scrivenors who pour out the season's batch of minor best sellers in either the paperbacks or the cloth novels, in any one of those blocks or in the whole city, for a week or three hours up and down block after block of those streets that are full of those quiet houses the overwhelming majority of our people live in, and start digging and give us a story of real life, as it is really lived by overwhelming majority. They couldn't do it. They have never done it.

They have to seek out, with effectory rather than literary gift, the one home in each block that has a drunk in it, or a twisted character of some poor sort. They have to run away from all the plain streets and go down into the dark slums, (and they are little, if you take a good look at your town's street guide!), and the night spots, and the troubled flats, with the pathetic artiness, of our restless fringe. And out of such material, they make masterpieces.

That is the real novelists' in our time, they would make masterpieces out of the real materials.

For that, dear friends, is life, the stuff of life, the real thing. Not the artificial, the exceptional, the sordid and endlessly for him who has ears to hear. It tells man that time moves and ceases, that man and his hopes and dreams are the most transient of things, that eternity is endless and that love and beauty pass away, and that only God is the ete rnal. The paradox is this, that even as man feels fatalistic forces at work upon man's subconsciousness, even as the timeless murmur of the water washes through his ears and infiltrates the crevices of his brain, it fills him also with a deep wonder, mindless exhilaration, as if he and the universe were one, now and forevermore.

So it is with the who rests on the rock and gazes down into the deep darkness of the pool. The stillness brightly overbowed, and yet the pool seems to have taken on a mysterious, somewhat sayer, with depths beyond human imagination. Then, as he looks down at the bank gazes down, down, at the reflected, inverted trees on the pool's surface, he also infinite distance of the watery sky, and he seems to be suspended in air, floating. It is a world of stiffn things, and strangeness, and dim, mysterious darkness and shadowy to be recalled or communicated in the ordinary moon is born.

The man seated on the mossy stone gazes steadily through the trees and feels the stillness penetrate his consciousness, feels that the stillness is the sound that he has built up during the week. And the long week, filled with unsoftened now by plants and rocks. Now, as it is dissolved, comes growing old in the dying autumn, it tells a story of growing old in the dying autumn. Once again the squirrel scurries overhead, but the leaves have on the dry leaves below. The trees come again from over the And the long week, filled with unsoftened now by plants and rocks. Now, as it is dissolved, comes growing old in the dying autumn, it tells a story of growing old in the dying autumn. Once again the squirrel scurries overhead, but the leaves have on the dry leaves below. The trees come again from over the And the long week, filled with still as a stone in his revery, is many years. The man sitting posed to have faded away.

Letter to the Editor

Answers Editorial On CWL Book Drive

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer
After reading the editorial "Campaign Against Indecent Books," in the edition of Monday, November 21, I am at a loss to know whether the Editor is for or against the distribution of indecent literature to children.

This editorial does mention there may be some books containing unsuitable for children, but it also infers that even these books are worthwhile reading. The Catholic Women's League members, in fact, all those who have a parcel of any of these censored books were delivered as a gift to some young boy or girl, which would be found unacceptable for youthful minds.

Obscenity, indecency, pornography, immorality are just words to the average person. They are definite precisely, but the decent minded person instantly recognizes any and all of these qualities- instantly when encountered. Let's proceed in this way if possible to combat and eradicate them.

This editorial writer fails to recognize that any effort to censor is actually censorship, to which he is opposed. Is censorship not the very thing that is the defiling of a child's mind? Or is it just possible that the writer of this editorial censor do not expect there are others capable of this lofty stability?

Everything that appears in your paper is censored by the editors or your news agencies' correspondents. The suppression such as is taking place in Russia, Red China, and the state censorship in Communist countries, is to be desired in Canada so I am amazed your editorial suggests that censorship, strict as it is, should be exercised by the state." The decent, law abiding citizens in any country is the only element to be trusted not to infringe on the legitimate rights of others.

Your editorial writer's only suggestion is "more and better offering views" (from C.W.L. no doubt) "who have a definite program for the campaign as unwise." Could he be referring to the Catholic Women's League members of these questionable books? Your paper has been outstanding in the generosity of its appeals to assist any and all worthy causes, organizations in control of disease, for funds to aid crippled children and the blind. There is no needy of all ages. Why does your editor offer such fuzzy and unworthy advice to an organized solely at the prevention of diseased minds?

The efforts of the Catholic Women's League to suppress the sale and distribution of indecent literature for our youth should receive the wholehearted support of every right-thinking individual, especially those who love young people. The moral health of our people is of greater importance than their physical health, to say humble opinion.

On Planning Life Work

(Hamilton Spectator)

"What are you going to be when you grow up?"

Most small boys — and girls, too — have winced when some well-intentioned adult or relative or friend has asked them this question? And most have given the stereotyped answer: is: "I don't know", the feeling of hot-cheeked confusion grows and grows. They feel that God wants to be making up your mind soon, and you can't.

But this problem of making up the mind is a hard one for many people. Many people are being only too truthful when they admit they have no idea what they're going to be in future career. In a vague way they have dreamed of being engineers and a few days or weeks have stayed true to each of them but in the end they have found each quite distasteful. At the root of their indecision is the fantasy-weaving which is inseparable from youth. The boy who dreams of being captain of an ocean-going liner may change his mind after the Atlantic storm. He doesn't see the hours of study and examinations, and above all, the thirty years of service that so often divides the boy from the master. His state achievement is the same as that which divides the boy from the nurse without talking account of the years of devoted study that separate the hope from the achievement. That is the way of dreams.

This problem must be as old as the human race. Of course, there is one antidote for dreams and that is reality. When a career seems at last definitely to be desired it is possible, from a person who has had experience in the field, to catalogue and drawbacks can be weighed against inclination and the fantasy — so often misleading — will dissolve of its own accord.

The happiest person in the world is the person who is doing what he loves best. All work is honest if it is performed with right motives. The person who finds his financial recompense in his occupation is fortunate. But the person who works so that he may earn money to do something else that he really believes will give him greater pleasure.

Many of these remarks apply to the young person who has made up his mind to be a doctor, but from an early age. He is a fortunate one, free from indecision and fantasy. He can make plans about his future. Dreaming is not planning. Dreams are for something else than practical. And between them you still has the choice, as it has had in every generation.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

It Was A Good Season

Our son, nearly ten, has suffered from hay fever during the past three years.

This year our doctor said he should be tested for specific allergies and have regular shots. These are costly and inconvenient.

(Mrs. G. N. J., the boy's mother, reporting from St. Paul.)

Our son hates shots and we decided that we'd try the added calcium and D intake in June, as you advise. We did this, and he had scarcely a sign of hay fever this season. To say we are delighted is a mislead expression.

Thanks so much, Dr. Brady. Keep up the good work. My husband and I are college graduates, and put no believers in your advice and common sense. (Signed — Mrs.)

Hay fever is out of season now and some people are quick to complain if I discuss unseasonal subjects or harp on certain pet subjects.

If such a report as this boy's mother makes is not interesting now, but when next June comes readers?

The time to do anything about hay fever is precisely when hay fever is out of season. It is hard to get people interested in the prevention of hay fever after the hay fever season is over, except those who have suffered one season after another despite doctor treatment.

A Wisconsin mother writes: Our 12 year old son uses K and vitamin C for nasal allergy and it's like hay fever. He didn't want to use it at first, but one morning it was put out and disappeared. That afternoon when he came home he threw his arms around me and hugged me. He said it worked like a charm. Now he uses it and as he needs it and gets relief in short order.

K is potassium and C is vitamin C (ascorbic acid). This is neither treatment nor prevention, but, for many victims of allergy, of whatever type it works more or less like a charm," symptomatically. It is not to be regarded as either preventive or remedial, but as a relief. Theoretically potassium with vitamin C mobilizes adrenalin. Excess internal secretion of the suprarenal ductless glands (which are normally rich in both K and C), and when the body tissues depleted of K and/or C the physiological supply of adrenalin is impaired. Clear as mud, eh? Well, anyway, I tried to keep you properly confused.

Strength for The Day

FACING THE LIGHT

Have you ever realized that if you look at the sunlight, you see no shadow? The man who walks toward a light leaves darkness behind him. It is only when people turn away from the light that they turn their faces into the darkness.

It is strange that many of us, about to create the world, the first thing He created was light. The first "More light, more light," cried the dying man. We read in the Scriptures that God and Jesus Christ was life and that life was the light of men.

The first thing God gave the world was light. The first thing many of us want is light. We turn from it and walk in prejudice. We us.

turn from the light of purity and walk in lust. We turn from the light of love and walk in hate. "Let there be light" God said was the first in God's plan for us, and last so often in the plan we make for ourselves. Let us have our own way, let us have the appeasement we desire, let us have power over others—these we believe are the great treated values.

Jesus in his teaching had much to say about light. He called himself the light of the world, and he called his followers the light of the world. He said that the man walk in light, to walk in the light of day before the darkness of night overtook him.

Let us always remember that if our deeds are turned toward the light, darkness is always behind us.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

POWER IN DECISION

All through our lives we are called upon to make decisions. All through the years of history the United States of America owes its independence to the courage of decision which we prepared and signed the Declaration of Independence. Had not Patrick Henry probably all would have been lost.

Henry Ford, Sr., was a man of quick decisions, but he took plenty time to change them, right or wrong. His high courage was often given the credit for his great gaining power because of his faith in his own decision. Lincoln made his decisions slowly and after much thought and consultation, but in the end most of them proved to be good.

Every youth has to make a decision as to his life work, and both his success and happiness depend on that decision. It may be the most important of any he has to be asked to render, once made, however, many a hurdle in life will be courageously overcome. There is accumulated power gained from intelligent decisions.

Never in the history of the world were there such moments for grave decisions as confronted the leaders in America and Europe during the last two great world wars—and mighty decisions as yet, to be made, which war or peace may rest. Nothing can be so tragic as the thought of any war.

Patriotic youth must have flowed in torrents through the veins of Patrick Henry as he exclaimed: "Give me liberty or give me death!" No decision worth anything can be made without the will and courage to carry it out. That little word "No" gets plenty of exercise when decisions are to be made! Fear should have no place in their make-up. Like that line — from the Bible, I believe — "This one thing I do!"

For the third day in succession, the world auction record for a coin was broken at the concluding session of the four-day sale of the first part of the late Mr. R. C. The total for 1,474 lots gave £2,400 for the Attic silver Syracuse 412 BC dekadrachm by the engraver Eumenos, the leading century BC gold one-third stater and £2,200 for a Leontini silver tetradrachm.

Mayor Burtt Seeking Another Term Turns on Detractors

TRENTON, (Special.) — After listening to all candidates for municipal offices speak in the town hall here Tuesday night local political observers believe the election of Monday, December 5 will be the cleanest fought contest in many years.

Ross Burtt, retired railroader, seeking re-election to the mayoralty scored rumors he maintained were spread by certain local citizens. He clarified his stand on the question of the town buying land from O. G. Alves, B. W. Powers and the Riverside Dairy for the purpose of establishing a parking lot. He claimed the price asked for the property belonging to B. W. Powers and Son Ltd., was four times higher than the assessed value. He expressed belief that the ratepayers of the town should be given the privilege of voting on the outlay. He said he had been advised that the development of the parking lot was going to cost the taxpayers between $100,000 and $150,000.

Mr. Burtt explained his position on the sewage disposal plant the citizens authorized by a majority vote three years ago. His view was that it was not sensible to go ahead with a project that will cost between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 with only $500,000 on hand to do the job. He maintained that it would be better to increase the annual budget for sewage facilities enough to keep apace of required expansion.

The veteran municipal figure reported that over the people had made insinuations that he had refused to sign documents approved by the majority of his council. He denied the charge stating that "that sounds like the expression of a professional politician." He said also he had heard rumors that certain quarters sympathized with him because rats were leaving his sinking ship. "I think the man who made that insinuation is the biggest rat," Mr. Burtt countered.

LARGE CROWD PRESENT

Mr. Burtt disclosed that he had heard rumors indicating people would not vote for him because he was not well enough educated. He revealed that he had passed from entrance to high school and then went off to the First World War. "After a detriment to me offering myself to public service?" he asked. "I think it sounds to me like another insination from a professional politician."

Mr. Burtt asked the crowd-packed hall to judge who was causing the petty strife in Trenton. He pointed out that the council has tried to run the town's affairs. "But, boy oh boy, it's a job," he declared, adding we have a couple of gentlemen on our shoulders at all times. The present chief magistrate mentioned that he had been given to understand that all taxis in town had been hired for election day, "I can tell you they're not hired for me," he stressed. He explained that he had no money to spend.

Mr. Burtt said the Citizens' Committee should be re-named the Revenge Committee. He claimed it was made up of people who didn't get "something" when he happened to be mayor or on the council. He named Senator W. A. Fraser as one of the citizens who interfered in town affairs. "I'll never play dog to him," he declared.

In asking for the people's support Mayor Burtt said: "Give me a vote of confidence so that I can discard these men who are riding my back all the time." A great round of applause went up as the mayor walked to his chair to sit down.

Candidate for mayor, Dr. "Jack" Farley said his sole purpose in offering his services for such a high office was purely and simply to promote better relations among all the residents. He stressed that he had no axe to grind and no reason to be critical of Mayor Burtt.

WANTS BITTERNESS ERASED

He felt there was an important reason involved in running for mayor at this time. He said he would ask of some councillors could not be worked out whereby the feeling of bitterness and strife was erased and everyone pulled together harmoniously. "I feel I can do it," he assured his audience.

Dr. Farley stated that he did not work for any corporation, that he was not associated with any political party, although everybody knew he voted Liberal. "I'm like His Worship," he noted, "I don't want anybody riding my neck." He said he would like to see the town go ahead together as one unit.

"I have been told that I haven't got the time to spend," Dr. Farley continued. "But let me assure you this, that I will take the time. It will make arrangements to be away from my own business."

Dr. Farley, entering the local political arena for the first time, concluding his remarks said: "I have faith in Trenton and faith in its citizens." He asked the meeting to support him and was given a big hand when he returned to his seat in the audience.

Members of the 1955 council spoke briefly on their different departments. Two of them, councillor Claude Graham and councillor James MacDonald, asked for re-election. Gerald Weaver, Joe Gould, R. Smillie, and Maynor Burtt, speaking for retiring councillor N. J. McNair, expressed mixed reasons for leaving the municipal government at this time.

APPEAL FOR VOTES

Nine of the ten candidates in the field for four council seats all made straightforward appeals for votes. Candidate Grant Gooding pictured a 12-point platform. Former councillor Ben James gave the meeting a resume of what happens to fine money in Canada. Charlie Hilton expressed belief that the public should be given the opportunity to vote on the town's expenditure of $95,000 for a parking lot.

R. E. Bernier thanks the town's business people for their liberal usury retail business. He maintained he had the qualifications to run Trenton's affairs.

George Brown said he would serve to his best judgment and with fair consideration. Van Lange pledged his best performance. Former councillor Vic Ryan stressed his long years of experience. He felt he was particularly qualified for the job he was seeking. Jack Goldberg said he was in the race for the third time. Newcomer Del Topping said he favored everything that was possible to build a bigger and better Trenton.

Opponents in the Public Utilities election, Clifford Anderson and Arch McNeil sought the backing of the voters.

Mother, Kiddies Live 3 Days On Subway Train

NEW YORK (CP) — A young mother and her two children spent three days and nights living on a subway train after they were evicted from a one - room apartment in Brooklyn.

Mrs. Aurelia Perez, 24, lost her $30-a-week job in a dress factory a month ago. When she fell behind on her $12-a-week rent she was put out on the sidewalk.

She packed the family's possessions, three children, a paper bag and boarded a subway train with Tomula, 6, and Maria Louise, 18 months.

That was where they lived for three days, buying occasional meals and colas from passengers, until a transit authority official discovered all three huddled together early Tuesday morning.

They were taken to a police station where police chipped in to buy them sandwiches and milk, then were put in a hotel by the welfare department which undertook to help them.

Valley Parkway Cost $28,374,000

TORONTO (CP) — A proposed Don valley parkway, which its planners expect will become Toronto's eastern gateway, is to cost an estimated $28,374,000, it was learned today.

The parkway, a six-lane limited-access dual highway, is to link a projected Lakeshore expressway with Highway 401, which skirts the city to the north. It would be built by the province of Ontario.

Each of the parkway's three north-bound and three south-bound lanes is to be 12 feet wide with extra heavy-duty pavement. The artery is designed for speeds of 60 miles an hour.

Three commuter parking sites with a total accommodation for 2,200 cars are included in its planning.

The plan provides for both the expressway and the parkway to be completed in 1958.

On Saturday last, friends and families of members of the four branches of Odd Fellowship gathered at the Belleville Lodge Hall to do honor to Sister Irene Anne of Belleville, who has attained the signal distinction of being appointed president of the department association of the Ontario Ladies' Auxiliary Patriarchs Militant.

HONORED GUESTS

Honored guests of the evening were: Brother Newton Foster, Kingston, Past Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Ontario, I.O.O.F.; Brig.-General Earl Foy, Stirling, Grand Senior Warden of the Grand Encampment of Ont., I.O.O.F., and chairman of the evening; Sister Edith Hall, Kingston, Past President of the department association of L.A.P.M.; Sister Myrtle Wilson, Cobourg, P.P.D. of L.A.P.M.; Mrs. Ralph Hubbs of Picton; Lt.-Col. Geo. MacDonald, Belleville; Sister Alice Storms, president of Belleville Auxiliary; Major Gordon Miller, Belleville; Capt. Miller, Kingston; Captains Doug. Simpson and Larry Pellitt of Belleville; Sister June Carruthers, Noble Grand Quinte Rebekahs No. 183; Bro. John Heath, Noble Grand Belleville Branch I.O.O.F.

GUARD OF HONOR

Sister Anna and honoured guests were escorted through a colorful guard of honor composed of Chevaliers of the Encampment, Sisters of Quintena, and Ladies of the Auxiliary from all the surrounding branches of the district.

Gifts from the branches were showered on the Lady Irene, not the least of which was one from her own family.

Sister Hall, P.P.D. of Ontario L.A.P.M., explained to guests something of the meaning of L.A.P.M. likening the order of Odd Fellowship to a tree, in which the parent lodge was the trunk and from it were spread the branches in the form of the Encampment with their military aspect, their Ladies of the Auxiliary and the Rebekahs.

Brother Foster spoke of the year that lay ahead of Lady Irene, of the joys and the trials, out of which would come the enriching growth in friendships and character building and the pure knowledge of the pride of belonging to this great order.

Colorful drills were given by the Kingston and Cobourg Encampment and by the Kingston Auxiliary.

At the close of the meeting over 300 enjoyed dancing until midnight after which tasty refreshments were served by the ladies in the upper hall.

Weddings

PRICE—FLYNN

A wedding of local interest took place in Santa Barbara, California, on Monday, November 28, when Rev. Felix Aquistapace, S.J., united in marriage Miss Bridget Ellen Flynn, R.N., daughter of Mrs. R. A. Flynn of Renfrew and the late Dr. Flynn, and Arthur Victor Price of Hermosa Beach, Cal., son of Mrs. Arthur Price, Belize, British Honduras and the late Mr. Price.

The Nuptial Mass was celebrated at eight a.m. in the Church of Our Lady of Sorrows, Santa Barbara.

For her wedding, the bride chose a street-length original of white brocade, with a matching seven-eighths-length coat, lined with pale blue taffeta. Her accessories were of pale blue and she wore a white orchid.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Palmer, Mrs. Palmer wearing a suit of navy shantung and a green orchid.

DES ROCHERS—HANEKE

White pom-poms and roses, interspersed with ferns adorned the altar of Holy Rosary church, Belleville, on Saturday, November 12, for the marriage of Virginia Marlene Haneke of Belleville, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Morgan, Hastings, Belleville, and Mr. George Haneke, of Toronto, to Chapman Laurent Des Rochers, also of Belleville, son of Mrs. Isobel Des Rochers, and the late Mr. Laurent Des Rochers. The Reverend Michael Simson, officiated.

Mrs. Grant presided at the organ and rendered the wedding music, while the soloist, Miss D. Grant sang "Ave Maria," and "O Sacred Heart of Mother."

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. George Haneke, the bride was lovely in her bridal gown of white Chantilly lace trimmed with sequins, and seed pearls. Her three-quarter length rose-embroidered veil was caught to a small bridal hat, and she carried a mother-of-pearl Bible crested with red roses, and Sweetheart roses knotted streamers of feather-ed white satin ribbon.

The bride's attendants, Miss Evelyn Rochon of Belleville, was attired in a peach toned, floor-length gown with matching round net hat. She carried a nosegay of Briarcliffe roses with white bronze and pink pom 'mums, tied with rainbow bead ribbons.

Miss Helen Cadaret, of Toronto, wore a blue floor-length formal with blue feathered headdress, and carried a nosegay of Gloria roses, with white bronze and yellow pom 'mums tied with rainbow colored streamers.

Little Linda and Pearl Alton, of Newton, Ontario, cousins of the bride, were flower girls, in the former frocked in turquoise color-ed nylon, trimmed with black velvet with yellow headpiece, trimmed in green, while the latter was in yellow nylon trimmed in black velvet with green headdress enhanced with yellow trim. Both little girls carried bouquets of bronze, yellow and white pom 'mums, mingled with pink Demure Sweetheart roses.

Mr. Gilles Schmidt of Cornwall, Ontario, was groomsman, and Messrs. Rolland Rochon, Harold Moore, Stanley Morgan, Brian Donovan and Clarence Tuttle acted as ushers.

The reception was held at the Pine St., CNRAA hall where the bride's mother, attired in aqua marine crystalette fashioned on princess lines with matching jacket, and corsage of orange rosette roses, received, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, wearing teal blue with corsage of pink carnations.

Following the reception, the young couple left for Kitchener, and other western points, the bride travelling in a teal blue ensemble, with pale blue accessories, and corsage of pink Briarcliffe roses. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Des Rochers will reside in Belleville, Ontario.

Guests were present from North Bay, Cornwall, Toronto, Pembroke, Listowel, Newton, Kitchener, Aultsville, Kingston, and Napanee.

A short talk on India followed, the speaker emphasizing its politics, its culture, its language, its great need of the Gospel, and the wonderful benefits the Gospel brings to every land it reaches.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

Our inadequacy does not deter us from joining the multitude this day as the peoples around the world unit to wish "Auld Lang Syne" to Sir Winston Churchill. How many times will his eloquence be recalled as writers and commentators repeat his words of courage, defiance, and encouragement? Of all the adjectives used to describe the man, probably the word "universal" is the most appropriate. He has been universal in vision, in courage, in loyalties, in book-or on the world's stage, in personal integrity, in simplicity, in mind, in deed, in spirit and even in error.

He has been great whether it was his relentless refusal to use one gallon of government gasoline for personal use or his relentless refusal to retort in revenge in victory. He has been great in the mighty things because he could not be petty about the small. He belongs to his age, and to history at the summit. What reflection must be the possession of Sir Winston Spencer Churchill as he looks out to the future over the valleys of the past. To the man of Great Britain, the British Commonwealth—and Empire, and the world, we say simply "Happy Birthday."

Time is slipping by so quickly and there are so many things to do before Christmas, December 25th. We do not need to be reminded of this but it is the deciding what to buy for whom that always poses such a problem about this time of year. A new watch is always a popular gift for someone we love and we inquired into those things which a person should look for in a good watch. Our adviser told us to be sure to ask about the metal content. A good watch should have at least seventeen jewels, the special purpose watch, i.e., stop-watches must have more gems. The gems reduce friction and there really are few if any bargains in watches. You get pretty nearly what you pay for, but be certain in purchasing the watch for Christmas that there are seventeen jewels. Your jeweller will guide you.

There has been a persistent rumor that the price of eggs was going down but so far the anticipated reduction hasn't materialized. I am told that the supply of eggs is not plentiful enough to warrant the looked-for, lower price.

You have no doubt observed that as the Christmas season nears, there are more and more dried fruits on the shelves, dates, figs, apricots, prunes, raisins and so on. If your family likes dried fruits, it is a beneficial thing because dried fruits contain valuable minerals which are good for everybody. There is a fine assortment in the stores now to choose from.

Nearly two hundred years ago a man stated "what is true of a shopkeeper is true of a shopkeeping a nation." Dear me, what would he think of us? I think he would have to admit that Canada is full of wonderful shoppers with wonderful shops to browse and buy in. Belleville shops are second to none.

How would you like to wash your hands with a bar of Wedgwood? There is a gift package of this novelty soap looking exactly like a wiener in a bun, or pure Castile soap hand-painted in Austria. There were also three rose elephants in another package with pink ears, tongues and tails. A most useful soap gift had three cakes in a plastic silent butler with a holder on the corner for match folders and very reasonable, too.

Pork and lamb still are the best buy, with veal coming down in price a bit. Whole eviscerated and cut up young roasters are in good supply and quality.

Towels have taken on a new bright use for Christmas gifts. They are quite luxurious featuring glitter, heavy looped terry, vivid colors and extra large sizes. The rich color range includes pastels, beige, grey, coco brown, turquoise and rose as well as the very reddest red you ever saw. Some have a woven silver or gold metallic border which certainly adds a glamor touch.

The creator of Huckleberry Finn and Tom Sawyer was born ago today. Mark Twain was a humorist of note but it is as the master folk-writer that he lives and will continue to be known.

B.G.H. Nurses' Alumnae Hold Dance

The annual dance of the Nurses' Alumnae, Belleville General Hospital was held last Friday at the Club Commodore. This was one of the most outstanding social features of the association for the year.

Guests were received by Miss L. McCrver, president; Mrs. A. Lennox Smith, Miss M. Peart, director of Nursing; Mr. E. Box, hospital administrator.

Novelty and spot dances were included in the program.

A draw for a clock radio was held, the winner being Mrs. J. F. Dale, R.R. 2, Trenton.

The dance was convened by Miss N. Allison and committee.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU MAY BE ABLE TO FIGURE THIS OUT YOURSELF

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

After 30 years of marriage, I am almost desperate.

It seems to me that I love him more than ever. He knows this, too, yet the only time he's happy is when he is making those he loves miserable.

Please, for the sake of my marriage, help me. — Mrs. S.

Dear Mrs. S.:

If you have been married for 30 years, then, unless you married very young, you are in middle life. Presumably, your husband is at least a year or so older than yourself, which would put him definitely in the middle-age group, even though perhaps the earlier years of it.

Since I gather from what you tell me that your married life has been happy up until quite recently, my first thought is that your husband have started upon a phase which middle-aged men all too often go through. This is a time when many hitherto "model husbands" become suddenly aware that youth is passing; that ahead of them—and coming with what seems wholly unnecessary and relentless speed—lie the years when their interests, their activities, the enthusiasms of the first half of life must inevitably yield to the march of time. Hence they feel, that before it is too late they must delay the approach of those years which even in the distance look so drear and forbidding by having what is known as "a last fling" at youth.

With this in mind, such husbands begin to do things they never did before. They neglect home and children, and stay out at night, as you say yours is doing, for the sake of finding companions, and going here and doing things that will help them forget that youth is on the wane. Thereby they create for themselves an illusion of youth with which, for a time, they pretend to fool themselves.

Naturally, they don't want their wives to know that they are up to, lest they see that "there's no fool like an old fool," and so be reminded that their efforts to recapture the past are doing nothing to push the future farther away. So they gradually and mysteriously on their way, determined to devulge nothing, while their wives, lonely and unhappy and hopelessly bewildered at the sight of a puzzling stranger in the place of a dear and familiar husband, are left to wonder, wait and imagine the worst.

Moreover, during the waiting and the wondering, the silence and the mystery, that puzzling stranger is very likely, in addition to staying away from home to become wholly impossible to live with-cranky, irritable and unkind—at best downright hateful, even cruel, at worst. And the basic reason for his doing that way is usually because he is taking out on those nearest and dearest to him, the anger he feels toward himself for being such a heel as to neglect his home and doublecross his wife. So queer and contrary and wholly unreasonable are humans!

Sometimes the turnabout husbands are engaged in relatively innocent and harmless play, will tire of it before anything serious develops and come home again, blessedly sorry and ashamed. Then, if the wife has been able to control her speculation and her fears, has been mature enough to realize what has probably been going on, and to refrain patient, tolerant and loving despite all provocation, things eventually right themselves again and go on as before.

But sometimes, alas, those wives who have imagined "the worst" have their tragic fears confirmed, and then the road back to where things "go on as before" is a long and weary piece of travelling, if, indeed, the journey can ever be made at all.

Which of the two eventualities take place depends, I think, on the type of man the husband was in the beginning. If he was loving, loyal and ashamed to let his wife and family up until the middle-aged interlude, he will come through and be loving, loyal and ashamed again—perhaps even more so. If he was quarrelsome, neglectful and selfish throughout the marriage, middle-age philandering may only bring about the end of that marriage.

So, Mrs. S., think over all that I have said, and you, who know your husband better than anyone else does, may be able to come very close to figuring out the reasons for his present behavior and the outlook for the future.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

FRAGRANCE IN THE SHOWER

Shower addicts can enjoy as much fragrance while bathing as their tub-loving sisters.

What is the secret of that fresh, clean sweetness that seems naturally a part of sleek women while it eludes others? It's largely a matter of a planned grooming program with the emphasis on the bath. Proper bathing gives so much more than mere cleanliness. A bath can rest, soothe, and relax, or it can awaken and vitalize. It works for smooth, soft, glowing skin.

In these days of high pressure and high tension living, every woman should know that she is called on to accept many responsibilities. This applies even to the young students as well as to business and professional women and homemakers who don't have jobs away from home. That's one reason why it's important to consider organizing time and effort for the fullest results.

Soap and water is the basic formula for good health, beauty, appeal, and poise. The tub of pleasantly warm water and dense suds should be best taken at bedtime. Its deep cleansing and relaxing benefits are a lullaby for deep sleep. The use of a wash cloth or a bath brush will encourage a fine - textured, glowing skin, besides most thoroughly removing the perspiration and oil that readily accumulate on the active body. It is the deterioration of this skin secretion that produces that frankly embarrassing unclean suggestion.

Add to the daily habit of the real scrub bath the use of an anti-perspirant to keep the underarm dry and know that you can face the world . . . in suit, housedress, or coveralls. Dusting or talcum powder and eau de Cologne or pleasant adjuncts in the pursuit of daisy femininity, but none of these gives the true perfume except on clean skin and nothing can substitute for the true, sweet scent of exquisitely clean skin. The freshly bathed baby is a perfect example.

The brisk shower is stimulating. A quick, thorough sudsing, a good rinse, will set you all ready to go, feeling tingly and refreshed. And, if you happen to be a shower addict, don't think you have to do without the fragrance which tub-lovers can have through bath salts, perfumed oils, and other products which make the bath period one of luxury. A slathering of toilet water all over your body before stepping under the shower or a moistened with bath oil will surround you with a delightful fragrance. A shake of powdered sachet, or powdered bubble essence inserted into the top of the shower flutter will also permeate your shower stall or bathroom delightfully. After your shower another going-over with toilet water from head to toe will guarantee your aura of fragrance the whole day through.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

SHALL HE GIVE HER THE ENGAGEMENT RING FOR CHRISTMAS?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My fiancee and I are planning to be married in the fall of 1956, and I would appreciate your answering some questions for me about the engagement ring. How soon would it be advisable to present her with the engagement ring? Would this Christmas or New Year's or her birthday be an appropriate occasion to give her the ring? Should these matters be discussed with one's fiancee? — S.G.

To answer your most important last question first: Today's wise and practical procedure is for the fiance and the fiancee to talk over together most honestly and straightforwardly every idea for the engagement ring. Please don't have the mistaken idea that this frank procedure takes away any of the romantic idea of this wonderful ring. It's quite the contrary for it means that you and she are making every effort to meet what her preferences are for this ring she is to wear always. Some girls prefer a colored stone instead of a diamond—a ruby an emerald, a topaz perhaps; maybe the birthstone. So it makes sense for you to find out what you'll prefer . . . talk over your ring-budget with her. Then you go alone to visit the jeweler, explain her preference and your budget, have him set aside a few of rings or stones - with - settings within the prescribed price, and then you and she go together to the jeweler's to decide about the choice. (And also perhaps to consider wedding rings that will complement the engagement ring.)

Since you are actually engaged, even though it hasn't been announced, you may give her the engagement ring whenever the date of announcement is decided on. I have a feeling she would be enchanted to receive it as a Christmas present (this is very often the plan) or on her birthday, if that day is coming soon. Ask your lady about this!

THANK - YOU NOTE TO SPEAKER AT MEETING

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please give me some suggestions for thank-you notes to be sent to speakers who are asked to participate in coming to the meeting and also taking their part in the meeting? Thank you, if you will. — S.

The thank-you note for the courtesy of this cooperation might be worded something like this:

Dear Mrs. Leigh,

The Woman's Club of — has asked me, as secretary, to express to you the very special thanks of all the members for your charming and most gracious participation in our meeting of (date). We were enchanted with the interest and grace of your personality and your friendliness and sincere cooperation.

And thank you, too, Mrs. Leigh, for letting us share your wise and most valuable points of view about the subject under discussion at this meeting. The subject was, as you know, most important to us, and your talk that day was deeply helpful, highly stimulating. You made the meeting a memorable occasion, and we are most grateful.

Our friendliest greetings to you, our best wishes always, and again our appreciation of your goodness to us.

Sincerely yours.

ZOUR child may sometimes have a hurt that's too big to be covered by a ready-made bandage. Try holding the large dressing in place with cellophane tape. It keeps clean, doesn't irritate the skin, and won't be quite so bothersome to remove.

Steamed Puddings For Christmas

By Mary Moore

"An Interested Reader" (at least I have one!) writes: "Would you please give me a recipe for a rich plum pudding through the column?"

I hope there are plenty of interested readers who will make and like this or the recipe for a somewhat less rich Carrot Pudding I am dishing up today.

NOTE:

Do not store plum puddings in aluminum molds. They may "pit" at the spot where raisins or currants touch the metal. You may store them in pottery or glassware. Please clip this column.

ENGLISH PLUM PUDDING

One-half lb. each very finely chopped suet and mixed candied fruit peels, chopped, 1 1-2 cups each seeded raisins and currants, 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 1-2 cups brown sugar, 1-2 teaspoon each nutmeg, allspice, salt, soda, 3 well beaten eggs, 1 to 1 cup blanched almonds are optional but recommended. Mix suet, raisins, currants and chopped peels with half the flour. Mix together remaining flour, sugar, spices, salt and soda. Add the well-beaten eggs, and almonds if used. Stir the fruit and suet mixture into the dry mix. Blend well. Pour into well-greased pudding molds. Cover tightly and steam three hours. Serve this pudding with Hard Sauce or Sterling Sauce (see below).

POPULAR CARROT PUDDING

One cup each finely chopped suet, brown sugar, grated raw carrot, grated raw potato, raisins, currants, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons sour milk, 1 teaspoon each salt, soda and vanilla, 1-3 cup flour 1-3 teaspoon each cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg. As soon as potato and carrot are grated and measured add the sugar, suet and floured fruit to them and mix lightly (using an extra 2 tablespoons flour to flour the fruit). Sift together the 1-3 cup flour, salt, soda, spices. Stir into first mixture. Combine the egg, milk and vanilla and add last. Mix well. Pour into greased bowls tie on cloth or parchment covers (if cloth it should be floured) and steam 3 hours.

HARD SAUCE

(Serve chilled)

Six tablespoons butter, 1 cup powdered sugar, 1 tablespoon boiling water, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Cream butter and sugar together until very light. Add boiling water, salt and vanilla and beat until creamy. Shape into balls or chapp through icing tube into "drops" or press firmly in small pan and cut in squares. Chill until hard.

STERLING SAUCE

(To be served cold)

One-half cup butter, 1 cup lumpless light brown sugar, 3 tablespoons heavy cream, 1 teaspoon vanilla or sherry to taste. Cream butter and sugar well, slowly beat in cream until light then flavoring. Two tablespoons finely chopped nuts and dates are a recommended addition. Very festive.

The pump, always a great favorite with the well-dressed women of the world, is even more glamorous this year because it has taken on a more than-ever feminine and frivolous air.

This pair is a grand example of what goes to ground for after-dark dates. The shoes are in suede and are cut way down at the sides, cut out at the toes, and are so soft they can be folded in the hand. Rhinestones on the heels add a note of festivity.

Community Supper Held By Melrose W.I.

The November meeting of Melrose W.I. took the form of a "Community Supper" held in the township hall and was well attended by the neighboring families. The added facilities of the new kitchen are greatly appreciated when it comes the arduous duties entailed in a banquet such as was served last Friday evening.

Mrs. C. Hagerman and Mrs. G. McLaren were in charge of the "fish pond" which was well patronized by the children who seemed happy with their luck. Proceeds of this item were most gratifying.

A splendid program followed the bounteous repast and consisted of the following numbers with Mr. Charles Long acting as chairman: community singing led by Messrs. L. McLaren and Sherril Demill, with Mrs. L. Weese at the piano; solo by Tommy Hinchey, accompanied by his mother; reading by Miss Pascoe, after which Mr. Jack Weese gave a solo "The Bible Tells Me So."

The school children of S.S. No. 11, displayed their talents with a "chorus" as well as an excellent number by the "Rhythm Band" under the leadership of Mrs. A. Reilly, the music teacher.

Solos were also rendered by both Miss M. Blatherwick and Miss M. Craig. Master Lyle Clarke of S.S. 4, gave his speech on "Flying Saucers and Islands," which was entered in the recent oratorical contest. He is to be highly complimented on the splendid rendition of same. His teacher, Mrs. R. Richter, briefly explained the details of these worthwhile contests.

Two songs with guitar accompaniment were given by the Hart brothers of Roslin. All artists were generous with their encores.

Mrs. C. Weese, 1st vice-president of Melrose W.I. thanked all who had helped to make the evening such a success.

An amusing contest "Crossing the Ocean," with six men taking part provided much merriment.

11 Gamma Mu Members Receive Jewel Degrees

A lovely social event took place at the New Queens Hotel, on Monday evening, when Alpha Lambda and Gamma Mu chapters of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority held their ritual of jewels dinner.

Preceding the dinner, a sherry party was held providing a happy opportunity for everyone to get acquainted.

Grace was offered by Gamma Mu's president, Mrs. J. L. Acton after which Marie Ray, Alpha Lambda's president, led the opening ritual and proposed the toast to The Queen.

GAVEL PRESENTED

Following a delicious repast, Merle Ray welcomed the guests and presented a small gold gavel to past president, Mrs. G. E. Badgley, expressing the chapter's gratitude for her leadership of a successful year.

Mrs. H. V. McLean proposed a toast to the members of Gamma Mu, the silver anniversary chapter, fittingly expressing a wish for their success and happiness as Beta Sigma Phis and a hope that both chapters would enjoy working together toward the appointed goals. Her remarks were appropriately responded to by Mrs. W. O. Cochrane.

The gratitude of the sororities was reflected by Mrs. J. H. Joblin to the directors and advisers, Mesdames Mrs. D. I. McKinnon, Mrs. M. C. Ryan, Mrs. J. L. Smith and Mrs. A. J. Wolfenden, for taking the time and interest to give the sororities their capable assistance. Mrs. M. C. Ryan graciously responded.

The new pledges to Gamma Mu chapter were welcomed by Mrs. R. R. Brain with the hope that they would benefit from an energy sorority activity. Margaret Peart responded for the pledges.

Mrs. J. H. Lennox introduced the speaker for the evening Dr. Edith K. Feierkin, psychiatrician, who held her audience from the first word to her last, paying tribute to women and woman's place in the world through the years, stressing the fact that "as mothers we must reach out beyond our own lives and homes to be kind, and to mother those who need us and thus we find complete happiness."

Dr. Feierkin was thanked by Mrs. D. F. Carey for her very presented and enlightening address.

Following the dinner program, Merle Ray officially installed Mrs. J. L. Smith as social sponsor and Mrs. M. C. Ryan, as adviser of Alpha Lambda chapter.

The ritual of jewels degree was then conferred upon the charter members of Gamma Mu chapter in an impressive ceremony. Those receiving this degree were: Mrs. R. R. Brain, Mrs. W. O. Cochrane, Alix Hasty, Mrs. C. E. Mrs. D. C. Mallory, Mrs. J. C.

Parents' Part In Homework Topic at P.T.A.

At the recent last meeting of St. Michael's High School P.T.A. Mr. Herbert Brown presided. The largely attended meeting was keenly interested in the panel discussion on "Parents Part in Homework" on which the Rev. Sister M. Theresa was moderator, with the Rev. Sister M. Immaculata and Mrs. Kenneth Soden as panelists. A lively general discussion followed.

The Rev. Sister M. Lenore, who had recently attended the Ontario Curriculum conference in Toronto, said that one of the answers to the question of "Why some pupils find the work in Grade XIII so difficult" was the result of the habit of some pupils skipping grades in elem. ary school and early high school, and when reaching Grade XIII they are too young and unprepared for the courses they have to take and the work.

The usual committee reports were received and it was learned that the fund raising campaign was progressing most successfully.

Of prime interest was the annual euchre, bridge and turkey draw, being held in St. Michael's Academy on Friday, December 7th. Ten turkeys will be drawn for.

Following adjournment, refreshments were served by Mrs. C. Ryan and her committee.

McDonald, Mrs. G. A. Murray, Mrs. R. S. Morphy, Jean Thomson, Mrs. J. Sisson, Mrs. J. L. Acton.

The ceremony ended with the members repeating the closing ritual in unison after which the members of Alpha Lambda chapter congratulated those who received their degree.

Bringing Up Baby

A self-examining mother I know says: "Whenever I catch something unreasonably cross with Junior, I try to remember this charming and pointed bit of verse:

'If love be a very shining thing,
I think it lives inside polishing.'

It does wonders for bringing sweet my disposition."

Words to the wise. I heard a dentist say recently that the first tooth is the sweet tooth. But sadly, overly sweet cakes and cookies should not be encouraged as habit desserts. The best end-of-the-meal treats are those which satisfy baby's desire for sweets, yet give him some nourishment, too. Gerber Cereal and Junior Puddings are the answer. They're made with egg yolks and milk — in some cases, fresh wholesome fruits — and smoothly textured to please a delicate palate.

A basket, a basket, a gaily painted market basket makes an ideal catch-and-carry-all for a toddler's toys. You can teach him to put his little possessions into it and help promote good "pick-up"habits. Makes it easy as toy toys from room to room, too.

Handy idea. Those terry-cloth, fingertip guest towels are wonderful for grimy-fingered toddlers. The up 'n coming ones love to have their own special possessions — and the small towels are easier to launder.

Sparkling little teeth, shining through a smile, call for foods that encourage chewing. The finely-textured texture of Gerber Junior Foods is especially easy for little learners to manage. And the tempting, true flavors and naturally attractive colors make them especially appetizing. Over 22 Fruits, Vegetables, Vegetable-Meat Dinners, Desserts and Meats. Gerber-Ogilvie Baby Foods, Ltd., Niagara Falls, Canada.

SOUTH POLE EXPEDITION IS BYRD'S FIFTH

Rear-Adm. Richard E. Byrd is seen addressing a press conference in Washington before leaving to take command of the fifth and most elaborate of his expeditions to the bottom of the world. The veteran explorer, who has outfitted a ship for an Antarctic survey, said that the United States hopes to establish "permanent villages" in the highly strategic area. He predicted that as many as 500 Americans will be living at bases constructed under the snow in the South Pole region. At the same time as the U.S. survey, a Commonwealth expedition, using Canadian Canso planes, will be mapping the Antarctic's Graham Land, and a Russian expedition will be conducting its own Antarctic survey.

Traffic Deaths Increase in U.S.

CHICAGO (AP) — Nearly 31,000 Americans were killed on highways in the first 10 months of this year—a seven-per-cent increase over 1954 — the National Safety Council said today.

The council released its tabulation of traffic deaths for October and the first 10 months of 1955 to underscore the need for "safe driving days" Dec. 1, a 24-hour period proposed by President Eisenhower. Safety committees for traffic safety meetings are asked to make an extra effort to drive and walk safely.

TWEED

E. V. Clark Transferred To Peterborough

TWEED — It was announced during the past week that Ellard V. Clarke, manager of the Bellvue Finance Corporation Branch in Tweed, had been transferred to Peterborough, and has already taken up his position as manager of the Branch in that city. He has been succeeded by Wallis Moffat who has been in Kingston for the past ten months.

Mr. Clarke came to Tweed from Belleville in 1946, where he was a member of The Bank of Montreal staff, and took over the grocery store formerly owned by E. J. Curry.

In 1948 he and Mrs. Clarke opened a "Fashion Shoppe" which was sold out in April of this year to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Spencer, of Oakville.

Mr. Clarke has been a most active citizen of this community since coming to Tweed. He served a year on the Municipal Council, and was President of the Canadian Legion in 1952-53. He has passed through the different chairs of the Odd Fellows Lodge. He and Mrs. Clarke were active in Church work in St. James Anglican Church, where he served on the Board of Trustees.

The departure of Mr. and Mrs. Clarke will be regretted, as both have given liberally of their time, in the interest of all community activities.

Wallis Moffat who succeeds Mr. Clarke as manager of The Bellvue Finance, is a son of Mrs. Moffat and the late T. E. Moffat.

After graduating from Tweed High School, he attended Western University, and following his graduation there, he joined the local firm. He has always been interested in sports, particularly soccer, ball and hockey. He has already assumed his new duties at manager here.

BANCROFT

G.S. White, M.P., Speaker At High School Commencement

BANCROFT — George S. White, M.P. for Hastings-Addington, was guest speaker at North Hastings High School commencement exercises held in the school auditorium on Friday evening. An audience of 500 attended.

School board chairman Guy Bentley presided, and award winning students were introduced. Principal Gordon Wragg.

The valedictory was given by Carter scholarship winner Betty McKenzie.

Musical entertainment was provided by the school band under the direction of Charles Monteruli and the glee club, directed by A. F. Zettler.

EDUCATIONAL CHANGES

Introduced by Reeve Theodore Tryon, Mr. White spoke of the great changes made in educational system since the days of the small village school. He hoped that the many opportunities offered free to the youth of today would be used to full advantage.

The speaker urged his listeners to learn to enjoy the simple things of life. "To be happy, learn to enjoy that which is usual and ordinary. The search for the unusual is an increasing fever. The most miserable creatures on earth are the professional pleasure seekers."

Speaking of character and habits, Mr. White said, "there were people who believed that these were fixed attributes," in his opinion such a doctrine was socially subversive. He preferred the philosophy of Invictus:

"It matters not how straight the gate,
How charged with punishment the scroll.
I am the master of my fate,
I am the captain of my soul."

The speaker was thanked by Hastings County Warden W. J. Sprackett.

250 Forty-Pound Aluminum Ingots Per Day Are Poured At Mill in Kitimat, B.C.

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KITIMAT, B.C. (CP)—A metal found in the black soil of Jamaica and burned in powder in the smelters of British Guiana, passes in wild northern British Columbia on its journey to world markets.

Here, day and night for a year now, a five-inch-wide stream of molten aluminum has poured into the moulds which spill out 40-pound ingots at the rate of 250 tons a day.

At the end of another year, the stream will be pouring out 500 tons daily.

ALL FOR EXPORT

A. C. Turney, works manager for the Aluminum Company of Canada, is the man who must see that the stream never stops.

"All of our product is exported," he says. "We ship about 50-50 by rail and sea to the western United States, with some going to Britain and Australia."

And his work is getting bigger.

At present, there are two potlines in operation—the long, black furnaces which turn white, powdery alumina into molten aluminum.

Three more are under construction and five more are scheduled to be started next year. Depending on the market for the light, strong metal, an ultimate 18 potlines are visualized along the two - mile smelter site.

COSMOPOLITAN FORCE

The aluminum begins as bauxite in Jamaica. From there, it goes to British Guiana for first refining into the powdered alumina. Deep-sea freighters with holds like grain boats carry it to Kitimat, 400 miles north of Vancouver.

To bank the fires under this cosmopolitan metal, Mr. Turney has a cosmopolitan crew of 1,800 men, a force that is expected to number 2,100 within a year.

"About 40 per cent of the people in the plant have been in Canada less than three years," he says. "That holds generally throughout the area."

They live in temporary houses, trailers, motels, a hotel, apartment buildings and bunkhouses. They even live aboard a retired Seremans river paddle - wheeler, rammed hard ashore in the shadow of the works.

ALL IN FOUR YEARS

It took four years of one-way traffic to put the Kitimat aluminum smelter into production.

There was nobody here in April, 1951, when 19 woodsmen cleared ashore and began clearing bush and making roads. The nearest people were the Kitimat Indians in their village across the arm.

Now there are 1,200 persons in the district municipality—working in the smelter, constructing the additions and building homes.

There are 1,070 permanent homes in the first section of the townsite. There is a weekly newspaper, a beer parlor seating 600, a railway station, garage, liquid air plant, supermarket, restaurants and taxis.

An estimated 2,000 cars roll over 13 miles of roads.

Ships from the tropics tie up to a deep-sea dock and the alumina is moved from their holds onto a high conveyor spanning the roofs of the six long, metal buildings which comprise the two present pot lines. The alumina is fed by gravity into hoppers.

BIG POWER CONSUMPTION

Below are the rooms with the long, flat furnaces where sweating men in goggles and breathing masks keep the heat constant and the aluminum flowing.

In these rooms terminate the power lines that began 80 miles to the southeast, in Kemano, power generating station for Kitimat There, in an underground power-house, 120,000-horsepower generators turn out the power needed to make aluminum

It flows through heavy cables over the perpetual snow of the Kildala pass to Kitimat.

In the potlines it keeps the electrodes fiercely hot.

It takes 20,000 kilowatt hours of electrical energy to process one ton of aluminum—enough power to serve the average Canadian home for 12 years.

This initial stage of construction has cost Alcan $385,000,000—half the amount budgeted for the overall project.

CAN'T ESCAPE DENTIST EVEN IN ARCTIC!

Even up near Arctic Circle there is nowhere to hide from a dentist. Little Anay Aukuluk, resident of St. Lawrence Island, couldn't escape him, not with her mother holding on to her here while Lt. Fred Abramson, public health service dentist, from the U.S. coastguard cutter Klamath examines her teeth. During annual four-month cruise on the Bering Sea patrol, the Klamath carried dental and medical services to natives in remote villages of Alaska, as far into the Arctic as Wainwright. Attlee Supports Red Plea to Ban H-Bomb Tests

LONDON (AP)—The renewed Soviet proposal for worldwide renunciation of further H-bomb tests drew support today from Labor party leader Clement Attlee and several British newspapers.

Attlee said he will ask Prime Minister Eden in the House of Commons to explore the offer and seek an agreement with the United States and the Soviet Union without delay.

There was no immediate official comment from the government.

The News Chronicle and The Daily Herald, Liberal and Labor respectively, urge acceptance of the Soviet proposal, made via Moscow radio Tuesday.

SLEPT ON FLOOR

DENVER (AP) — Melvin E. Steele won a divorce Tuesday after telling county judge David Brofman that his wife, Janice, made him sleep on the floor. Steele said he works nights, and when he came home "she couldn't let me on the bed because I would get it messed up."

RE-ELECTING

MAYOR

JACK

CITIZENS OF BELLEVILLE NOVEMBER 30, 1955

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

FACTS SPEAK LOUDER THAN PROMISES

Budget first presented for 1954—78 mills. By checking with department heads and other spending branches, it was reduced to 70 mills.

Same procedure followed 1955. Budget first presented 74 mills, reduced to 71 mills. These savings represent taxpayers money.

Planning specialists are not new to the City of Belleville. A few years past a considerable amount of the taxpayer's money was spent, for which very little advantage or satisfaction was obtained.

Many planning organizations, since the demand for additional services and expansion, have set themselves up as specialists, and have collected much compensation for plans and theoretical schemes. At present the taxpayers money is required in more important and channels than on theoretical plans.

Planning is being impressed on you as one of the important obligations of our city. Has my opponent observed the development immediately adjacent to our city, and the effects which shall be experienced, as has been apparent, and realized, by other municipalities when development of provincial and federal improvements and readjustments have been completed.

Do not be alarmed, haste has caused repentance and foolish expenditures of yours and my tax dollar.

Do not be misled that services are needed, and, that streets are deteriorating, and that your investment and mine is being lost; this is only inexperienced thinking, without practical knowledge of conditions or the program of the committee of council, in charge of this phase of maintenance. Experienced engineers have details and schedules to follow, for protection and the resurfacing of streets, which vary according to heavy or residential traffic.

Do not be misinformed by arm chair critics who seek to pass a cloud of deception on to you of laxity in the operation of our public services.

It would be very easy to become popular in council, as your mayor, if representations, requisitions, recommendations, expenditures and obligations, were passed and the vital importance of requests were not given careful examination and considered appraisal.

I believe the taxpayers can, without any stretch of imagination, remember many programs proceeded with on hasty judgment, and were later discontinued, and structures costing thousands of taxpayers dollars dismantled.

Sound business administration cannot be maintained without all angles, and important factors being considered.

Do not be misled or get the false impression, by any attack on the mayor, that all is wrong, and that a Messiah has appeared to lead our community with its many problems out of chaos.

Your Vote And Influence, Respectfully Solicited

— Thank You —

Eastern Canadian Motorists Get Lower Insurance Rates

TORONTO (CP)—Because their safe driving habits have helped lower the accident figures, many eastern Canadian motorists will receive a New Year's gift of lower automobile insurance rates.

The Canadian Underwriters' Association announced the new scale Tuesday, crediting increasing safety-consciousness backed up by better law enforcement by provincial and municipal police authorities and greater realism in the courts in imposing appropriate penalties and suspending licences where justified."

The new rates cover Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick. An official said figures for the western and remaining Atlantic provinces will be announced later.

RATES VARY

The rates vary from province to province and within certain sections of individual provinces, but the association announced two benefits which are universal for accident-free drivers:

1. Those who have been driving for three years without insurance claims will get a reduction of 22 per cent on the general insurance rate as against 20-re-cent discount in 1955.

2. A new category is established for motorists with a two-year record free of claims, giving them a discount of 15 per cent.

The new scheme is effective Jan. 1, 1956.

The biggest single rate chop goes to commercial vehicle operators in Ontario, whose insurance costs will come down an average of 10 per cent. Private car insurance will fall an average of six per cent.

COLLISION DECREASE

The most important private passenger car insurance reduction will apply to collision insurance—coverage for damage to an insured motorist's own car. Reductions range from five per cent in some areas to 25 per cent in others, the announcement said.

Rates for bodily injury and property damage insurance will change only slightly, the association said, with no change in at least half the province and reduction of from five to 10 per cent in other sections.

The CUA said the largest reductions, ranging from 15 to 35 per cent throughout the province, will be in rates for fire and theft coverage.

For commercial vehicles, bodily injury and property damage rates will vary from no change to 25 per cent. Collision rates will range from no change to 20 per cent and fire and theft will drop from 10 to 25 per cent, the association said.

ARRIVE SUNDAY

TORONTO (CP)—A delegation of four Russian clergymen is expected to reach Montreal by air Sunday, it was announced Tuesday by Dr. E. E. Long, secretary of the General Council of the United Church of Canada.

INVENTOR DIES

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—Inventor Christian Steenstrup, 81, who once dug ditches for a living, died Monday night at his home here. Steenstrup invented the hermetically sealed refrigeration unit, among other things. He held 126 patents.

WHO'S KIDDING WHO?

Some Facts About Tax!

Here Is Some Financial Information About The TRUE MONEY POSITION OF YOUR CITY!

I wish to talk to you very frankly about your tax money.

I wish to talk to you about what you will be expected to buy with your taxes in the next year or two.

Belleville is a growing city. A growing city requires new schools, new sewers, new roads, new sidewalks. They all cost money. Maintenance of present facilities costs money and becomes increasingly expensive each year as the cost of material and labor increases. Increasing costs and increasing expenditures for the city, just like your own grocery bills, and household expenses are a virtual certainty.

During 1955 the city issued almost $1,250,000 worth of new debentures. First payment of these debentures is scheduled to begin in 1956. It will cost the Belleville taxpayers, in 1956, $60,000 or three mills, to pay for new debentures.

It will cost Belleville taxpayers $23,000, or about one mill, more in 1956 than estimated in 1955 to meet operating expenses in Belleville public schools. Estimates of high school operating expenses have not been completed but I have been advised these costs will be greater in 1956 than in 1955.

By June of 1956 Belleville will have to submit its plan for a sewage disposal system to the Ontario government. In Belleville this system will cost approximately $1,500,000 over a 20 year period.

The Derby Public Library has sought a $7,000 increase in its 1956 grant which is approximately ½ of a mill more than the 1955 grant. The cost of replacing defective sidewalks in Parkwood Heights has been variously estimated from $18,000 to $46,000 or from ½ to two mills.

The Welfare Department this year appears likely to overspend its budget by about $5,000 or ¼ of a mill. The Belleville General Hospital will need the $280,000 which the city has promised, for completion of the new 110-bed addition.

Police and fire department expenditures certainly will not be less in '56 than they were in 1955. The recreation commission will continue to require the same, if not larger, budget. The Parks Board has appealed for council to take over annual payments of $5,000 for debentures issued for the grandstand — without deduction from its compulsory one mill grant.

You can see that absolutely necessary expenditures next year will require from 5¼ to 7¼ mills.

Increased assessment of some $625,562 will make it possible at the present rate of 71 mills to raise about $40,470 in additional revenues. This is the equivalent of about 2½ mills. New revenue will help to some extent to keep the taxes down but it is not likely to offset the anticipated extra expenditures entirely.

Two years ago the present mayor was elected after he promised to reduce the tax rate. It was 76 mills and he promised to reduce it to 68 or lower. It remained at 76 mills. Last year he promised to keep the tax rate from rising. It rose to 71 mills because of necessary expenses. Quite likely he will tell you again this year that he will keep the tax rate from rising. It is far easier for him to say so than to do so.

The grandstand at the Fair Grounds has been built for two years. This coming year Belleville taxpayers will start paying for it at the rate of $5,400 a year. Why a two-year delay? This means that Belleville taxpayers have to pay interest on the grandstand for two extra years. Failure to pay this debenture debt for two years made it appear that the tax rate was being kept down but this is expensive economy and false economy.

During the present mayor's terms of office the fire hall on Front Street was sold along with several lots that might better have been saved by the city for parks and playgrounds. This capital money, roughly equivalent to one mill, was applied to the tax rate. In spite of this the tax rate rose an additional mill and would have been more if city assets had not been sold. In addition there was a surplus of roughly 1¼ mills carried over from 1954 largely as a result of failure to spend money on much needed work. Despite all these things—the tax rate went up.

In 1955 the city received an unexpected gift of approximately $30,000 from the provincial government of which approximately half went to schools. Street oiling and road maintenance work to the value of $25,000 which was approved by council was put off because the present mayor objected to spending money for much needed work. The residents of Harrview Heights may recall that the present mayor blocked for almost a full year, surface treatment of streets in that area.

Despite a rise in the tax rate, unexpected revenues, and unwillingness to spend money on necessary improvements, there does not appear to be much hope of showing a surplus this year — let alone a surplus of some $55,000 on these items mentioned.

Not even the present mayor — by post dating debentures, stretching out interest periods, failing to surface streets and by refusing to face the facts of Belleville's growth, can avoid the facts.

No doubt he will promise to keep the tax rate steady. He has promised this in the past. You are aware of the results.

Let us all face facts. I will not raise the tax rate unnecessarily. I feel that sound leadership of a kind which the present mayor has not given, will insure a realistic approach to the tax rate and to the spending of taxpayers' money — so that full value is received and not concealed or neglected.

I am prepared to accept the challenge which the growth and expansion of Belleville presents and I promise to work long and hard to protect the value of every one of your tax dollars.

I humbly ask you to support and to vote for Jane Forrester for mayor.

Officers Serve Writs on Unions Held Responsible for Four-Day Stoppage Marked by Violence

WINDSOR (CP)—Sheriff's officers today were scheduled to serve writs on employees and union officials held responsible by a suburban LaSalle company for a four-day work stoppage marked by violence.

President Lyle Browning, of Carsteel Corporation, who Sunday said he was held captive in the plant with three executives, described the writs as issued under a four-day county court order restraining picketing. He said they were authorized Tuesday by judge A. J. Gordon.

He said the writs, against six employees and four officials of United Auto Workers (CIO-CCL), will be followed today by action against them in the Supreme Court of Ontario for a long-term injunction and $25,000 damages.

A squad of 15 provincial policemen was sent to the plant Sunday to "rescue" the four company officials who said pickets were preventing them from leaving and had immobilized their cars. Police said five plate glass windows at the plant were broken during disorders.

AFTER LAYOFF

The walkout took place Friday after half the company's 100 employees were laid off. The plant, biggest industry in the town, has been centre of a lengthy dispute over union representation, pay and conditions, the picket leaders said.

Certification of Windsor Local 195 of the UAW was under suspension by the Ontario labor board when the strike started.

Board chairman Jacob Finkelman Tuesday said the suspension now has been lifted and the union is certified bargaining agent. He said the decision was suspended when appealed by a group of employees but re-affirmed "in view of circumstances in which signatures were obtained."

UAW officials said they have asked a labor department survey of the situation and will charge the company with using unfair labor practices.

ISSUES STATEMENT

In a lengthy statement on behalf of the company, Mr. Browning today said:

"The company has charged and will prosecute leaders and persons responsible for the wilful damage to private property, obstruction of business, loss of business and the entire cost of re-establishing the premises to the condition prior to Nov. 26.

"The officers and organizers of Local 195, UAW, have repeatedly admitted to the press and police their responsibility for the violence and destruction which has taken place.

"The company is prepared to prove in court by affidavits and witnesses that all the charges of industrial accidents as described by Robert Mackenzie (UAW organizer) are false . . . and that the company, not the union, invited an industrial safety inspector to visit the plant."

Mr. Browning said the court order would remove pickets altogether or reduce the number to a point "where they will be performing only an informative function."

He said union officials against whom the writs were issued are president Earl Watson of Local 195 and local officials Frank Burt, Herb Horton and Bob Mackenzie.

Mr. Browning said the company has been operating for three years and at present 30-per-cent of its production is automobile stamping work and 70 per-cent electrical work. He said last week's layoff was caused by a strike at General Motors shutdown and other market trends.

He said, however, the figure is higher than 50 cents an hour and some skilled workers receive as much as $2.25 an hour.

Steel Shortage Made More Acute By Expansion

NEW YORK (AP) — The steel shortage in the United States has been made more acute by the industry's own expansion program, says Iron Age, the national trade weekly.

Declaring that the steel expansion program "is heaping new burdens on steel supply," Iron Age asserts: "Producers are in the delicate position of competing (1) with their customers for available steel and (2) with each other in the race to expand."

"Everybody agrees that more capacity is needed. But a lot of people forget that it takes about 3,000,000 tons of steel to build 10,000,000 tons of new capacity."

Iron Age takes issue with "some people who feel that somehow or other things will ease up in the first or second quarter of next year."

"Those consumers are banking on cutbacks by automotive producers, but the auto makers themselves are predicting another good year for sales So are all of the major consuming industries. The aircraft industry is loaded to the hilt with orders."

DIVORCE GRANTED

LONDON (Reuters) — A policeman who arrested a London prostitute three times, later "succumbed to the temptations of a much closer association with her," a divorce court judge said here Tuesday. The judge ruled that Ian Grant had committed adultery with the prostitute, and granted his wife a divorce decree.

DETECTS FALL-OUT

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said Tuesday "the recent Soviet nuclear detonations have resulted in widespread radioactive fall-out." It added that the fall-out detected in the United States has been "far below" the danger level.

Nine Officials of New Labor Congress Already Designated

OTTAWA (CP)—Nine top officials to head major departments of the 1,000,000-member Canadian Labor Congress have been designated in advance of the CLC's formation next April.

Chiefs of the merging Trades and Labor Congress and Canadian Congress of Labor also have agreed upon a realignment of the functions of some of their departments in the new congress and the creation of a new one to deal with legislative activities.

The new setup, under discussion for months, became official Tuesday. It will absorb all TLC and CCL employees, at least at the outset of the new congress.

The key job of director of organization, it is learned, has gone to Joe MacKenzie, now in that position for the CCL. Gathering of the unorganized into the big congress—one of its main aims—will be under his administration.

DIRECTOR OF EDUCATION

Max Swerdlow, now TLC director of organization and education, will become director of education for the CLC. The CCL name has a department of education and welfare —the "welfare" end dealing with such matters as strike organization —but the welfare section is being dropped.

Dr. Eugene Forsey, CCL director of research, will take over that position in the CLC.

Leslie E. Wismer, TLC director of public relations and research, will head the new department of legislative activities. This will deal with preparation of submissions to governments and similar work.

Public relations director will be Jack Williams, who has that job in the CCL.

The CCL's political action committee—which promotes the CCF party—and the neutral TLC's political information department will be combined in a department of political education. It will be under Henry Weisbach, now CCL political action director.

At the moment, prospects are for political neutrality by the new CLC with its individual unions free to take any political stand they wish.

Tom Ward, now head of political information for the TLC, will become director for provincial federations and labor councils.

Executive secretaries will be Arthur E. Hemming and Norman S. Dowd, who now have those posts with the TLC and CCL, respectively. Dowd also will be editor of the CLC's official magazine, to be called Canadian Labor.

A department o international affairs also is to be established, but no director has been designated.

AID COMMITTEE

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Plowmen's Association Tuesday granted $10,000 to the Essex county local committee to help pay the expenses of the international plowing match held at Blythswood-Ont., Oct. 11-14. The grant was made after the committee said returns from the match did not meet costs.

Canada's Official Flag Apparently Is Red Ensign

The red ensign, which carries the Canadian coat-of-arms in the fly and the Union Jack in the masthead corner, is the only flag Canada now has, a high government official who asked not to be identified said Tuesday.

He said he does not see how a flag the use of which has been authorized by a government order-in-council, could be considered unofficial flag.

The question of a national flag often a topic of discussion in high places and others in recent years, arose in the Commons during the last session following a speech by Immigration Minister Pickersgill in London, Ont., March 9.

SEES NO DIFFERENCE

At the time there appeared to be a difference in the meaning of the words "distinctive" and "official" when used in relation to the flag. The spokesman said Tuesday he sees no difference between an official and a distinctive flag.

In his London speech Mr. Pickersgill said it is not true that Canada has no "distinctive flag" of its own.

He said an order-in - council passed by the federal cabinet Sept. 5, 1945, provides that "until such time as action is taken by parliament for the formal adoption of a national flag, it is desirable to remove any doubt as to the propriety of flying the Canadian Red Ensign wherever place or occasion may make it desirable to fly a distinctive Canadian flag."

He said the order declared it is appropriate to fly the red ensign within and without Canada wherever it is desirable "to fly a distinctive Canadian flag."

"Surely nothing could be clearer than that," he added. "Until Parliament decides to adopt some other flag, the Canadian Red Ensign is the flag of Canada."

"Jest a Second"

"I would have been home sooner, dear, but we had quite an argument as to who had the most understanding wife."

THREE NO's

DO YOU AGREE WITH THESE SUGGESTIONS FOR BELLEVILLE?

	My Answer
NO. 1—8 Aldermen can manage our affairs better than 14.	No
NO. 2—2 Engineering Departments can manage our affairs better than 1.	No
NO. 3—CUSTOMERS should build a River Parking Lot and also pay to use it.	No

THE SECOND NO!

There is an old saying that "Two heads are better than one" and perhaps that was the idea behind the move to create another Engineering department. In this case, however, the two heads will act independently and two complete sources of independent engineering action will be created. The only reason that I have heard of at the present time was to the effect that since the water pumped and supplied is under the control of the Utilities Commission, the water system that takes the water back to the bay should also be under the control of the same commission. On the face of it this explanation may appeal to many as it did to the present City Council but if it is true there is it not equally true that the Engineer who designs and constructs the outlet should also design and construct the intake. If both are true, why not amalgamate the water supply with the City Engineers Dept.

In a small community such as Belleville more than one engineering dept. is an unwarranted expense. The general day to day installations, repairs and maintenance are or should be handled capably by our City Engineer and our water supply should be brought in under one Engineering Head.

Before my time at some early date the Engineering of Belleville was split up into two separate, distinct and independent organizations.

It is time now to create a single engineering department under one chief engineer.

The Hydro service requiring a different set-up could remain as Hydro. The supply of Hydro power is not one over was part of a Civil Engineers Dept. Sanitary and storm sewers, water and roads is or should be the responsibility of the city Engineer.

Before any move is made to more confuse our Engineering procedure let a study be made to amalgamate our services under one head. Perhaps then a salary could be offered to tempt a qualified experienced engineer to apply for the job. What do elected utility commissioners contribute to solving water supply problems? Their pay could bolster up the amount available for expert services.

The greatest problems facing Belleville or to be faced shortly is the part Belleville will play in the supply of Engineering help and water, road and sewer services to Sidney and Thurlow.

Growing municipalities such as Thurlow and Sidney cannot long put off the hiring of permanent engineering services. Combined with Belleville, the three municipalities could easily afford the best Engineering service and at a very great saving. These three municipalities are paying through the nose (excuse the phrase) for what they get today from consultants brought in from Toronto. Particularly, coordination in all the different branches of engineering requirements is lacking.

Since I came to Belleville I have seen the most flagrant disregard for elementary engineering procedure and simply because there was no one head responsible for the proper coordination of the engineering.

I have friends in all these municipalities, in all branches of the engineering staffs doing work for the mykicipalities and it might seem unfriendly for me to criticize in any way what has been done or what is being done, but please remember I did not raise this issue and the issue is too big to allow my personal feelings to enter in.

Now that the issue of splitting up services has been brought up let us at least for the meantime kill it in no uncertain terms and seek a sound solution to our engineering problems with some imagination and planning for a future fitting a Greater Belleville.

A Works Commissioner at least is more of a necessity than a City Manager who would be a costly nuisance.

Please excuse the personal reference, but in my little one-man business I supply more engineering services across this county and neighboring counties over an average year than is paid for by the City of Belleville, Utilities Commission and Municipalities of Sidney and Thurlow, to their permanent engineer departments and consultants from Toronto all told and I am only one man and not in the best of health. I have trained my assistants from local talent, and I operate an efficient engineering and surveying service.

The public should be fully informed as to our present engineering set-up, both in the City and neighboring municipalities, perhaps taking in Trenton and full reasons backed by facts why so many engineering establishments are required to service these communities. Cooperation seems to be foreign to our local leaders.

Let Amalgamation be the slogan, not Disintegration.

Commissioners To Consider Bid To Ship Autos

OTTAWA (CP)—A fight is developing over a shipping company's plan to cut into the lucrative haulage of automobiles to western Canada by freighting them wholesale up the Great Lakes.

Already engaged in a stiff scrap with truckers for this business, the two major railways are opposing a project of Wilcan Shipping Corp. before the board of transport commissioners.

The company has filed an application for permission to operate between Windsor and the Lakehead a specially-designed vessel to carry between 600 and 800 vehicles, depending on their size. It would be the first of its type in Canada.

The board has set the case down for a hearing Dec. 8 after receiving preliminary objections from the CNR and CPR and Canada Steamship Lines, which operate conventional carriers on the lakes.

REMODEL FREIGHTER

Wilcan, whose head office is in Montreal and whose president is Alexander Wood of Cleveland, O., plans to remodel the Toronto-registered Laketon into a counterpart of vessel now operating from the automobile centre of Detroit to Cleveland and Buffalo, N.Y.

The company contends low-cost haulage by water to the Lakehead would result in substantial savings to western Canadian purchasers of motor vehicles.

It has an agreement with Chrysler Corp. to haul all westbound Chrysler cars not covered by an agreed charge contract under which Chrysler gives the railways 85 per cent of the business in return for lower-than-normal freight rates. This non-rail traffic of about 13,500 vehicles a year now goes by highway through the United States.

Wilcan has told the board savings on an average vehicle would amount to about $38 at Winnipeg and Regina, $36 at Edmonton and $32 at Vancouver.

In opposition, the railways have stated there is no "public convenience or necessity" involved in the new proposal. They describe it as "another body blow to the rail ways" and say it puts the whole agreed charge structure in jeopardy.

Federal-Provincial Study Of Tourist Industry Planned

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal-provincial study of Canada's tourist industry is to get underway immediately with a view to making Canadians more aware of their own vacation wonderlands.

The 10th annual federal-provincial conference, at its closing session Tuesday, set up a committee to include federal and provincial representatives along with those of the transportation companies.

It will have the twofold job of co-ordinating the advertising and promotional work within the industry aimed at Canadians on a "Know Canada Better" basis, and evaluating the industry and its impact on the Canadian economy.

D. Leo Dolan, head of the Canadian Travel Bureau, said selling Canadian vacations to Canadians might be a tough job because "people don't like to be told what to do." But with a co-ordinated effort the industry might be able to cut into some of the more than $300,000,000 a year Canadians now spend touring other countries.

He told the conference that despite pessimistic economists, he believed the tourist industry is bigger than ever. If a true figure of its value could be determined he believed it would be staggering. There now were more people engaged in the tourist industry than in agriculture in Canada.

Besides Mr Dolan, members of the committee will be H. J. Nevin, assistant general passenger traffic manager for the CNR; W. Gordon Wood, vice-president in charge of traffic for Trans-Canada Air Lines; R. R. Grose, Manitoba's deputy minister of industry and commerce and Georges Leveille, director of Quebec's provincial publicity department.

It will hold its first meeting today and later will confer with Resources Minister Lesage who proposed committee study of means to promote interprovincial travel by Canadians. He said it provided the greatest opportunity for expansion of the $600,000,000-a-year tourist industry, though efforts must be continued to attract more foreign visitors.

Little Benny's Notebook

The living room clock said after 9, and I was hoping I was the only one that noticed it, and ma said, Benny, bed time.

Aw heck, ma, I said, and she said, Oh dear, here it comes. William, do you think you can nip a long and fruitless argeyment in the bud by getting this boy started for bed before he launches into the full flow of oratory? she said.

Benny? pop said, and I said, Sir?

Freedom of speetch is a precious heritage of each and every citizen of this grate democracy, pop said. At the same time, true liberty is only a relative term, and unless you have a reasonable basis for loquacity, your immediate absence is earnestly requested, he said, and I said, Well, if I agree not pop, sure I've got real reasonable reasons why it would be good for me to stay up a while.

Really? Suich as which? pop said, and I said, Well, if I agree not to go to bed till you absolutely make me go, it will be a swell chance for you to selfishly keep me up till I'm so sleepy I'll be sorry I didn't go to bed when I had the chance, and the more I yawn the less you'll pay any attention to me, and the experience will be so paneful I'll probably never even think of staying up past my time again.

The citizen has fully exercized his right of free speetch and will now prove my contention that liberty is relative by bowing to the will of the majority and the judgment of the duly constituted authorities, pop said.

Meening go to bed.

Which I did feeling partly better on account of having stayed up at least enough later for the argeyment.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among those sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 30 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Hunt Lighthouse Keeper and Wife Off Cape Breton

INVERNESS, N. S. (CP) — A lighthouse keeper and his wife, who took over their lonely island vigil only 13 months ago, were the objects of a widespread land-and-air search today on Cape Breton's west coast, 10 miles from here.

A Canso aircraft dispatched by search and rescue headquarters in Halifax was due to scour the wind-tossed Gulf of St. Lawrence after daybreak in an effort to locate Alex John MacLellan, 52, and his wife Christina, 41.

An RCMP search along the shore Tuesday night, failed to turn up a trace of the MacLellans or the 20-foot launch in which they left the mainland on a three-mile trip to barren Sea Wolf island in the late afternoon.

RCMP were notified Tuesday night that the Sea Wolf light had not been turned on

Wets Win Recount

SUDBURY (CP) — A recount of ballots in a beer parlor plebiscite at Chapleau Oct. 18 shows the required majority in favor of men's beverage rooms.

This was announced today by judge J. M. Cooper of Sudbury who conducted the recount.

The original count supported establishment of women's beverage rooms and sale of beer in hotel dining rooms but the question of men's beverage rooms was defeated. The count showed 700 in favor and 467 opposed, but because of three-fifths majority was needed, 701 votes were required for approval.

ACQUIT TRUCK-DRIVER

SINGAPORE (AP)—Singapore's court of appeal today freed a Chinese truck driver from a death sentence in the mob slaying of American correspondent Gene Symonds last May 12. The three-man British court held that the trial judge had failed in his summation to the jury to mention three points in favor of the defendant, Ong Ah Too, 35. The conviction was quashed and Ong was released. Symonds was Southeast Asia manager for United Press. A Communist-led mob beat him to death while he was covering a bus strike here.

Chinese Threat To Veto Scheme Arouses Ire

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) Nationalist China's threat to veto Outer Mongolia's application for United Nations membership — a move which could kill present chances of 17 other applicants—has aroused growing resentment in UN circles.

There is speculation that Formosa's own foothold in the international organization might be loosened as a result.

Though Russia has promised 13 votes of all non-Communist applicants unless Outer Mongolia and the other four Red candidates make the grade, the Chinese and not the Russians are the villains to most sources who will comment.

Diplomats predict that the Nationalist decision, reported to have been made despite two appeals from President Eisenhower, will cost the Formosa government many friends it might need when the perennial question of seating Red China comes up in the next assembly.

Beer Telecasts On U.S. Station Are Opposed

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Temperance Federation resolved Tuesday to ask the United States Federal Communications Commission to put an end to the "sabotaging of Canadian anti-liquor advertising laws by beercasts on Buffalo television and radio stations."

It also heard a claim by Mrs. Ross Eaton of Sackville, N.B., that members of some Baptist women's groups are among the 94 per cent of Canadian women who drink.

Mrs. Eaton, wife of a Baptist minister, said:

"I have even heard that members of our missionary societies are drinking. I was told by one friend that they are even giving cocktail parties."

SAYS IN ORDER

Dr. H. M. Rae of Ottawa said the FCC resolution is in order since the federation had been advised to do it by temperance groups in the U.S. The resolution asked that the FCC restrain breweries, wineries and distilleries from using U.S. radio and television stations "to get their message across to Canadian audiences."

Rev. Ben Spence, a veteran temperance crusader, suggested the Ontario liquor control board "blacklist" all firms which use Buffalo stations to advertise their products.

Mrs. Eaton said the number of women alcoholics is increasing as rapidly as the number of men alcoholics. The figure had jumped 47 per cent during the last 10 years.

Women were needed who could "glamorize abstinence."

Tropical Storm Leaves 128 Dead

MANILA (AP)—Toll of an unseasonal tropical storm was raised today to 128 dead, scores missing and widespread destruction in the southern and central Philippines.

Manila Daily Mirror correspondents said 80 persons were lost in the sinking of six fishing vessels and motorboats between Cebu and Bohol islands.

Charge Woman in Death of Young Boarder

The death of three-year-old Darrel Bell, seen here with his twin sister, Darlene, has led Toronto police to charge the woman who was minding the children with manslaughter. Mrs. Margaret Daniels, 33, who had been boarding the children since Sept. 23—while parents searched for a home for the twins and their other three children—told police the boy had smothered in bed when his sister fell across him while he was asleep. Both children were found to be suffering from malnutrition and broken arms, which had been allowed to mend themselves.

Seek to Compel West to Ban Atomic Weapons

CALCUTTA (Reuters) — Nikita Khrushchev, visiting Russian Communist party chief, said today his government aims to compel the West to ban atomic weapons.

He told a public meeting that the Soviet Union stands for a ban on armaments, including atomic and hydrogen weapons, but that her policy has not received proper support from Western countries.

Entire Turkish Cabinet Resigns

ANKARA (AP)—The entire 18-member cabinet of Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes resigned Tuesday night during an uproarious meeting of Menderes' Democratic party.

The resignations came after hasted debate over Turkey's deteriorating economic situation. Some of the cabinet members, including Acting Foreign Minister Fatin Rustu Zorlu, quit in response to shouted demands.

Menderes himself did not resign and at the end of the seven-hour meeting was given a voice vote of confidence.

Can Western Ground Attack Whip Eastern Air Power, Big Game Poser

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

DON'T LIVE HERE

Up west o' here the scribe who writes the Whitby Dunlops' hockey games is wondering when the "Duncan twins are going to unmask themselves for the Belleville Mentos." At the last time of the dogsled mail from down-east, the Duncan duo were wearing Brockville Magedoma uniforms and unless they have changed their Toni characteristics, the tiny twins have been doing their puckchasing this season for Kitch Stanford's ice-lane menage.

There have been a lot of bleats coming out of Whitby thus far regarding opposing teams not using full strength teams when playing the Dunnies in their own garage. From the preceding paragraph it would appear the Whitby scrivener is not up on his attendance rolls of the various classes in the league. For his information the Duncans did not sign with the erstwhile Mentos, now known as the TPT's this season, but cast in their lot with the club nearest their home town.

The TPT's will take a revamped squad to Whitby tonight to battle the Dunlops in an effort to hang the second defeat of the season on the Blair-led crew. Jake Wade has dragged the skates and gear out of the moth balls and will line up on the defence with Dunmay Muldoon and Bob Wilson. Up front Toodle Greenlaw will line up with Chum Fryia and Gus Leonard, while the Goyer, Petre Jones, MacDonald line will be intact. Coach Cox has dropped the Taylor, Day, Gilmour trio for tonight and will use Davy Jones, Bert Hill and Max White, a newcomer, on the third line.

SOGI PARKES

If Jackie Parker, hero of the Edmonton Eskimos, Canadian football champions, ever needs to fatten his private exchequer he could pick up a lot of extra shekels through crystal gazing.

The Esky's "swami" did a spot of ball-gazing prior to the Grey Cup final and what the scampering, tousled quarterback phenom saw and wrote was almost uncanny. Jackie called the plays to the turn, so to speak, with emphasis on the "we will win" factor.

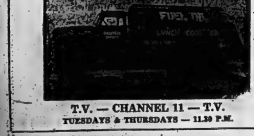
* * * * *

"The score will be close again (Jackie was a little off on that one) but I think we shall score four or five touchdowns. The Als will score, too. Sam hits too often and too quickly once he gets the ball. But he won't hit like he did last year. We'll score his receivers better."

Jackie must have blinked when he saw this. "It is the fullback that make the faking work. Kwong in particular. He will hit the line hard—every time. You just never know when Kwong hasn't got the ball. All our backs will power through. Bright bulls by himself better than most and Lindley slashes hard."

Jackie said he works closely with Coach Ivy. The best way to win a game is for a coach to have good material and a quarterback who knows what he wants. He has the material. There are times when our backs simply ground up our opponents. Bright and Kwong just beat through even without blocking."

"We won with the split-T last year," said Jackie, "but Pop Ivy didn't stand pat. He thought up that double fullback stuff and made use of the extra man better than anybody did before.



"We're ready for Montreal. We want to prove that beating them last year was no fluke. I'm glad it's the Alouettes and not the Argonauts. We'll move in with plays this Saturday—and the right ones. If we're stopped it will be because we stop ourselves; we'll bust a signal or miss a pattern or have a pass intercepted. It won't be easy. It never is. But win? My answer is 'yes'."

Annis Stukus, who is rated as one of Canada's top football men, had no qualms as to the outcome of the Grey Cup battle. He scouted the Argos-Alouettes game and came away more than convinced that the classic mug would remain in the Eskimo's Edmonton igloo.

Stake said Argos did a fair job of defending against Montreal before they tired, but they had enough holes in their defence to make them look like a Swiss cheese. He defended the statement about no passers like Etcheverry being in the Western Union. The Eaks didn't breeze through because they're a nice bunch of kids, is Stake's opinion. From what he picked up, he said, the Big Four was not as tough as the west. The Larks aren't much better than in 1954—they've just been around a year longer.

However, the Grey Cup and all its hysteria, glory and hangover is now history. The anti-climax comes on Saturday when the Eastern All-Stars tangle with their western counterparts in what has been dubbed the "dream game." Good Ole Hogtown will go all out in a reasonable facsimile of what Vancouver did in the way of parades, celebrations, etc., but the good folk of Vancouver need have no qualms about Phillipsville stealing their celebrative thunder.

It should be a gigving gridiron battle with the greater part of the Grey Cup contending teams taking part. The best feature of the whole set-up is the cause for which the game is being played—the crippled kiddies, those gallant little Joes and Janes who will benefit through the proceeds.

Eskimos' 'Varsity' Backfield Will Match Plunging Power With Eastern Air Artillery

TORONTO (CP)—The success of ground power over air power in the Grey Cup started an argument that gives this Saturday's East-West all-star Shrine game an extra attraction.

Fans across the country will be waiting to see if the ground attack of the western all-stars will prevail over the passing offensive of the eastern all-star squad. Edmonton Eskimos' split-T ground attack in the Grey Cup game overwhelmed Montreal Alouettes whose main weapon was the passing arm of Sam (The Rifle) Etcheverry.

The all-star game at Varsity Stadium here likely will provide fuel for the argument. The western squad has 14 Edmonton players on it and the eastern line-up includes 12 Montreal men. In addition the teams are being directed by the opposing coaches in the Grey Cup final, Frank (Pop) Ivy of Edmonton and Doug (Peahead) Walker of the Als.

The West is expected to use the split-T attack as its basic formation and Ivy will be able to field the entire Edmonton first-string backfield. It has Jackie Parker at quarterback, Normie Kwong and Johnny Bright in the fullback slots and Rollie Miles and Earl Lindley as the halfbacks.

The addition of Bright to the western lineup was made only Tuesday. He was named as a replacement for Kurt Burris, brilliant two-way Eskimo end who was stricken with food poisoning after the Grey Cup game.

One of the points of interest in the all-star clash is whether the eastern squad will be able to stop the West's plunging and running ace Bright than Alouettes did in the Grey Cup classic.

This time the Esk ball carriers may not have it so easy. The eastern team includes such defensive standouts as Billy Shipp and Bill Albright of Toronto Argonauts, Vince Scott and Eddie Bevan of Hamilton and Frank Dempsey of Ottawa.

The East's firepower will come from the passing of Etcheverry, who completed 30 of 39 passes in the Grey Cup game, and Tom Dublinski, the leading passer in the Big Four this season. They are the top two passers in the country and Walker has indicated he will rely more on aerial power than on a ground attack to baffle the West.

End Al Pfeifer of Argos, Dobilski's favorite target during the regular Big Four season, gives the easterners another brilliant pass receiver. Pfeifer caught 15 touchdown passes and led the Big Four in scoring.

LONDON (CP)—Russia's "glass jaw" in hockey—its tendency to crack under beefy Canadian body-checking—isn't so glassy any more.

The Soviet skaters, comparative newcomers to international hockey, are gradually building up resistance to hard-hitting style of play that unnerved them in the world championships last February. Canada's 5-0 victory then was partly credited to robot body checking.

"They're gradually catching on," said Hockeyman Richard (Red) Stapleford of Stratford, Ont., an Ontario government official in London who has scouts keeping tab on the Russians.

HAVE WON 2

The Russians are here on a three-game exhibition tour against teams—predominantly Canadian—of the English National League. They laced Harringay 11-1 last Saturday and just scraped out a 5-4 triumph over the same team Monday night. Tonight at Wembley Lions Thursday and then leave for Stockholm on another stage of their preparation for the next world championships, scheduled for Cortina d'Ampezzo Italy Jan. 26-Feb. 5 next year.

The second game against Harringay showed that the Russians, supremely fit thanks to frequent weight-lifting sessions, are getting used to playing for keeps. British crowds, brought up on a blend of Canadian toughness and continental agility, were surprised to see the odd Harringay player spilled in a collision with a Russian.

The Iron Curtain invaders also seemed to discipline themselves against too drastic retaliatory checks. It looked as though they wanted to learn the rugged style—but also how to extricate themselves when necessary.

EUROPEAN STYLE

Canada's free-wheeling hockey has sometimes jarred the European. The teams will be playing European style at the 1956 championships but the Russians apparently want experience in North American techniques. They also study movies of the Stanley Cup playoffs, and take full-length films of their own games for dressing room study.

The difference between Canadian and European styles has bedevilled some past championship matches. But Canadian officials here say Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, who will represent Canada in Italy, can adapt themselves to 'a pink-tea type of game if necessary.

Thirteen of the 17 players with this year's Russian team played for the club which bowed to Penticton Vs last February.

Mercurys Blank Dutchmen 4-0; Tie for Second

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

When coach Doug Gillespie of Owen Sound Mercurys came up with his plan to swap goaltenders, he didn't say whether it was designed to dazzle the opposition or sharpen up the netmen.

As it turns out, it works both ways.

He worked veteran Bob Gills a for 13 games this season, then put former pro Gordon (Red) Henry in for four, Tuesday night he had Gillson back between the pipes and it paid off with a 4-0 win for the Mercs over the league - leading Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

It was only the second shutout this year in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League. Don Head of Stratford turned the trick last Friday as Indians downed Windsor Bulldogs by an identical score.

Buck Forslund fired what developed to be the winning goal in the game at Owen Sound with the first period only three minutes old. John Lumley, Tom Burlington and Jerry Reid got the others.

The Dutchmen fired 28 shots at Gillson, many of them long ones, in showing their third loss in their last four games. The win boosted Owen Sound to a second-place tie with Bulldogs, seven points off the pace-setters.

Randy Turpin 'Jekyll, Hyde' Says Lawyer

NEW YORK (AP)—The $100,000 assault-damage suit against British boxer Randy Turpin went to trial Tuesday, and the former world middleweight champion was labelled a "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" type.

The description came from J. Roland Sala, lawyer for Adele Daniels.

The boxer's lawyer, Sol Strauss, entered a general denial.

Miss Daniels claims Turpin overpowered her "by his superior physical and violent assault." On the night he lost to Carl (Bobo) Olson two years ago she says he hit her because she refused his demands.

Said Sala in his opening statement to a state Supreme Court jury:

"She became aware she was in the presence of a maniacal person. She realized he had become converted from a Dr. Jekyll to a Mr. Hyde type—from a human being to a jungle monster in human form."

TO SETTLE HERE

MONTREAL (CP) — Tommy Hugo, all-star centre with Montreal Alouettes and the only Hawaiian in the history of Canadian football, says he plans to become a Canadian citizen. He said Tuesday he has bought a house and has a good job here.

Year's Best Slugfest Looms In Basilio-DeMarco Rematch

By DAVE O'HARA

BOSTON (AP) — Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio, a battle-scarred veteran unbeaten in more than two years, returns a coursey and defies his title against young Tony DeMarco tonight in a rematch of one of the year's best slugfests.

Basilio, a 28-year-old ex-marine from Canastota, N.Y., rules only a slight favorite to retain his title in his first defense since lifting the crown from the 23-year-old bombthrowing Bostonian in a sensational brawl June 10.

Odds dropped from 9 to 5 to less than 7 to 5 on Basilio against DeMarco, who held the title only 70 days. The Boston Garden is scheduled for the championship distance and for 15 rounds, but few experts figure the fight will go the distance.

ON HOME GROUNDS

Basilio, with an undefeated string of 14 fights, is returning a courtesy to revive DeMarco on the challenger's home grounds. Tony made his first defense in Syracuse, N.Y., and the crown on a 10th round technical knockout.

The last fights at the 15,000-seat Boston and New England will be blacked out by TV.

The prospects of another brisling punching duel and DeMarco's outfielding in training have resulted in a brisk ticket sale, Promoter Sam Silverman expects a near capacity crowd of 13,000 and gross receipts of about $180,000, far more than the record Boston "gate" of $154,00 0for the Jimmy Carter-Kid Gavilan fight in 1951.

Since winning the title, Basilio has gone 20 rounds in competition, outpointing Italo Scorchichi and Gil Turner in over-the-weight affairs. He has an over-all record of 47-11-7 with 21 knockouts and never has been stopped.

DeMarco has had only one fight since losing his title—a quick, first round TKO over Chico Vejar in Boston Sept. 14. His record is 41-5-1 with 26 knockouts. He has been stopped three times.

Boxing Brass Probes Report Fighter Doped

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania state athletic commission Tuesday announced it would open "an investigative hearing" concerning latest news reports that Coley Wallace was doped in his 1954 fight with Bob Baker at the Cleveland Auditorium.

Al Sabo, Philadelphia member of the three - man commission, said it was premature to announce that Wallace, his manager, Frank (Blinky) Palermo, and a second in the Cleveland fight, Jimmy Wilson, would be questioned in closed session.

NO CHARGES

Klein asserted that no charges are being made against anyone connected with the fight, and that the hearings were "purely of an investigative nature."

Asked why the Pennsylvania commission was investigating a fight in Cleveland, Klein said: "Palermo and Wallace were licensees of the Pennsylvania commission at the time of the fight, and if anyone was involved in conduct detrimental to the best interest of boxing it is not only our right but our duty to investigate it."

Baker, of Pittsburgh, won the disputed fight by a decision and subsequently won a rematch from Wallace, also by decision.

Cassady May 'Hopalong' To Canadian Team

CHICAGO (AP)—Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, Ohio State's brilliant halfback, will wait until spring to decide whether to join Detroit Lions, who drafted him Monday.

Cassady, attending a 4-H club ceremony, implied the Lions may have to bid against "some pretty fabulous offers from Canada."

Cassady, who has been called by his coach "the greatest player of this century" Tuesday was selected as 1953 winner of the Heisman Memorial Trophy. The trophy is awarded annually by the Downtown Athletic Club of New York to the "outstanding college football player in the United States."

At Detroit, general manager Nick Kerbawy of the Lions Tuesday night shrugged off the reported "fabulous offer" to Cassady.

Kerbawy said the Canadian bid "doesn't worry us—the Canadians talk to everybody."

The Detroit Free Press said the Ohio State halfback is interested in joining Cleveland Browns but Kerbawy said he now is negotiating with the Lions and salary talks will be held Saturday.

Gump Worsley Crowds Plante In Goalie Race

NEW YORK (CP)—Lorne Worsley of New York Rangers has completed a red-hot week of puck-stopping to crowd Montreal's Jacques Plante a spirited challenge for his position as the National Hockey League's most efficient goaltender.

Plante, who topped his rivals for ever since he stopped all but two of the first 80 shots fired at him as the season opened, still leads the pack with a .937 record on 474 saves out of 504 chances, a three-point drop from last week's figure.

But Worsley blocked 94 of 97 shots in his three appearances of the week for a .969 percentage that carried his record seven points up five points to .936 just one point behind Plante. He has stopped 672 of 699 for the season.

Terry Sawchuk of Boston, last year's outstanding goalie, is third at .851 for the week, blocking 103 of 121 shots. His season's mark fell 15 points to .917, dropping him to fourth place behind Chicago's Al Rollins, who lost two points at .925.

Detroit's Glen Hall is fifth at .916, unchanged, and Toronto's Harry Lumley dropped one point to .907.

Plante remains far ahead in the Vezina trophy competition, based on the lowest total of goals allowed, with an average of 1.61 a game to 2.04 for Hall and 2.33 for Worsley.

Say Race Track Could Be Turned Into Stadium

TORONTO (CP)—Promoters of a proposed automobile race track to be built near Toronto said Tuesday the site could be turned into a 75,000-seat football stadium in time for the 1957 Grey Cup game.

Hugh Green, an official of the newly-formed Maple Leaf Auto Racing Club, said in an interview it is hoped work on the $3,500,000 scheme will start in April. Under plan, if approved by the Ontario highways department, would involve construction of one and two-mile tracks on a 750-acre site near Kettleby, 35 miles north of Toronto.

Green said the initial plan calls for a permanent covered stand to seat 25,000. Two sets of steel-constructed bleachers would provide another 50,000 seats. This would be three times the accommodation afforded at Toronto's Varsity Stadium, regular site in recent years of the Grey Cup game, and twice the seating space of Vancouver's Empire Stadium, where this years' football classic was played.

It is reported the highways department now believes the track would be situated too close to Highway 400, from Toronto to Barrie, and would cause traffic congestion on weekends.

BABE IN HOSPITAL

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Babe Zaharias, the world's top woman athlete, had a "no visitors" sign on her hospital door Tuesday as doctors searched for signs of a third cancer attack. A lump in her right hip caused her to leave her Dallas home and enter the hospital Sunday. The long series of tests probably will take a week.

Junior Standing Scattered After Tuesday Games

Three games Tuesday night make up a pack of ties and left the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A loop standings more scattered than they have been since early in the season.

At Toronto, St. Michael's Majors held on to their first-place spot with a 4-3 victory over Barrie Flyers.

In the second game of the first round-robin doubleheader of the season, Toronto Marlboros climbed into fourth place with a 9-1 victory over Hamilton Cubs.

At St. Catharines, Kitchener-Waterloo Canucks downed the hometown Teepees 5-3 to move into second place, two points behind St. Michael's. Previously Kitchener was tied with Hamilton for second place.

Before Tuesday night's game, Hamilton were 10, with Barrie for fourth place. In the shuffle Barrie dropped to fifth place.

THREE INJURIES

Majors suffered three injuries during the game before 1,021 fans while saw Frank Mahovlich, the league's leading scorer, chalk up a pair of goals. Goaltender Bob Savage suffered a head injury early in the second period and captain-defenceman Bob Watt suffered a leg injury in the first. Spare goalie Pete Kelly was cut on the face in the third after he returned to action.

For the Flyers, Dan Patrick left the game in the third after suffering a leg injury.

Other Toronto scorers were Dick Mattiussi and Bob McKnight. Dick Cherry and Jim Pappin scored for Barrie.

The victory left Majors on top with 19 points, two more than Canucks and four more than Hamilton, Marlboros 14, Flyers and St. Mc'Catharines 10 and Guelph Biltmores nine.

Hamilton picked up the first goal when Ron Schmidt registered the mark at the eight-minute mark of the opening period. Marlboros' scorers were Don Fiford, Bob Nevins and Gary Collins.

TEEPS SCORE FIRST

At St. Catharines, Teepees struck first when Matt Ravlich scored at 2:40 in the first period. Sonny Lacroix evened the count 25 seconds later.

Dick Lafontain scored for Teepees late in the period and Al Martin evened the count midway in the second. St. Catharines moved ahead again on a goal by Gus Ronson only to see the score tied by Dick Baird 11 times Walt Brindley scored for Canucks.

In the final period Martin and Bradley scored their second goals of the night to give Canucks the victory.

New York Rangers, Chihawks Perched on Canadiens' Tail In Close Race for 2nd Place

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

No doubt about it, the National Hockey League is close and unexpected look.

The standings is almost one-third over and hanging in the tails of the leader are a couple of teams who haven't finished in the first division for so long they almost qualify as tipsters.

Only once in the last nine seasons have Chicago Black Hawks reached the playoffs. New York Rangers did it twice in the last 13 campaigns. In each case, the two teams just squeaked into fourth place.

The rest of the time the Rangers and Hawks were battling each other for the booby prize. They are still running close together—but this time up in second and third spots.

Rangers are second with 25 points, six behind the league-leading Montreal Canadiens and three ahead of Chicago. By the weekend, the Hawks could be in second.

The last time the New York were tonight in one of two games scheduled, Detroit Red Wings visit Toronto for a game against the Maple Leafs. The winner of that one will move into a temporary tie with Rangers for fourth place.

The Wings, who are defending league titlists for the seventh straight season, are tied with Toronto in fourth with 19 points. Boston Bruins are a point behind in the cellar.

Boston, who play host to the Canadiens in Thursday's only game, learned Tuesday that captain Fernie Flaman is a doubtful starter for that contest. The defenceman was injured Tuesday when struck by a wicked slap shot by teammate Doug Mohns at a practice.

TAKE QUEBEC LEAGUER

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Minneapolis Millers of the American Association took a catcher from Quebec's Provincial League as the minor league draft was held Tuesday. The Millers selected Valmy Thomas from St. Jean where he hit .352 last season.

Toledo Shift Is Big Problem

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The American Association Tuesday agreed to study a "dry run" schedule including Miami in a concillatory move toward the Milwaukee Braves.

The Braves' persistence in trying to shift their Toledo franchise to Miami and the Associations's strong unofficial opposition has involved the higher minors in weighty problems that overshadow the regular player draft.

In addition to the Miami hassle, president Ed Doherty's league picked up a new headache when the Boston Red Sox put their Louisville franchise up for sale after buying San Francisco in the Pacific Coast League for $150,000.

Doherty called in reporters to say that a schedule involving two trips each to Denver and Miami, over 2,100 miles apart, would be submitted this morning.

Reports Persist Belair Stud Will Be Sold

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite a denial by an executor of the estate, there were persistent reports today that the $5,000,000 Belair Stud, including the great Nashua and other race horses of the late William Woodward Jr., will be put up for auction within 90 days.

Several New York newspapers published the report. The Daily Mirror, under the byline of sports editor Dan Parker, said the decision had been reached by executors of the estate left by Woodward, prominent sportsman - socialite who was shot to death accidentally by his wife Oct. 30.

John W. Ludewig, one of the executors, denied the report.

"Everyone is free to speculate, of course," he said. "But no decision has been made on the matter."

A. R. Hancock Jr., owner of the Claiborne Farm near Paris, Ky., and a close friend of Woodward, also discredited the report. Nashua, who completed his 1955 campaign two weeks before Woodward's death, was shipped to the Claiborne Farm last week for the winter.

The newspaper reports said a decision was reached in discussion of the risky nature of a large investment in race horses when the estate is being handled for minors who will not reach legal maturity for a number of years.

Woodward's two sons, in line for the estate, are still of grade-school age William, III is 11. His brother, James, is six.

Disposition of the race holdings was not included in Woodward's will, since it inherited the Belair Stud following the death of his father in 1953—after the will was made. He did not revise the will to include the new holdings. The estimated worth of horses and the 2,500-acre Belair farm at Bowie Md.

Parson Protests Sunday Video Of Big Game

EDMONTON (CP) — A United Church minister doesn't want next Sunday's Grey Cup football game televised in Edmonton at noon Sunday.

Rev. Donald Bruce Macdonald of McDougall United church Tuesday asked members of his congregation to protest the announcement that the Toronto game will be shown on television here at noon.

He said TV already is making "heavy inroads" into church and Sunday suburban churches and "this intrusion into the morning service hours is a display of poor judgment."

LAYNE BEATS HAMMER

There were no knockdowns but both fighters suffered slight cuts above the eye.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN
by Elmer Ferguson

Nel long ago, the generally-recognized wrestling champion Lou Thesz of St. Louis flung a challenge at world heavyweight boxing champion Rocky Marciano, to meet him in a mixed match, wrestler vs. boxer. Such could be the form of mayhem. Of course, Marciano ignored the challenge, and a symposium of opinion indicated this was a smart move for him to do.

But the challenge revives an old debate: "Can a boxer beat a wrestler under mixed rules?" Phony efforts to test this have been made. The wrestler nearly always won. The wrestler has always believed a fighter would have no chance against a wrestler in such an encounter.

The wrestler would dive-bomb the boxer and bring him to the floor before the fighter could strike a blow. Once on the canvas, boxing would be nullified and the bout would become a mere wrestling match. A banana peel or a toe-hold would put the boxer quickly out of commission.

The boxer's only chance would be to disable the wrestler before his opponent could get his feet and hands on him. The chances are that this cannot be done.

If you ever saw a cajable wrestler employ the "kip" to bring an opponent down from the canvas to a position over him, you'd get the idea. Even Jack Dempsey, lightning puncher in his prime, wouldn't have had much chance with a wrestling flash like Joe Stecher, champion matman of the same era. Or even against a good middleweight.

Wrestling is a far better defensive weapon against attacks by unarmed thugs than boxing. A few years ago news columns carried a story of how a wrestler was waylaid by two would-be holdup men. He subdued them simultaneously, one with a scissors, the other with a hammerlock.

Wrestling is its more lethal form, including Judo, with its deadly punches, was taught soldiers likely to engage in close combat during the war, being considered more useful for such purposes than boxing.

Your comments and suggestions for this column will be welcome. by Elmer Ferguson, c/o Calvert House, 431 Yonge St., Toronto.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

As a bridge player improves his game, he does not give up w[h]at a contract sounds lost. Looking f[or] a possible squeeze becomes a habit. Even that type of squeeze known as Vienna coup.

You may play your best card in a suit and thus establish for an opponent his best card in that suit. If you then proceed to squeeze him out of that best card it is known as the Vienna coup. See it in this deal:

	NORTH
	♠A K 10 8 5
	♥A
	♦A Q 4 3
	♣K 6 5 4
WEST		EAST
♠7 6		♠Q J 9
♥5		♥10 9 7 4
♦K J 10		♦9 8 2
♣8 3 2		♣9 7 2
♠Q J 10 8
	SOUTH
	♠4 3 2
	♥K Q J 8 5 3 2
	♦6 5
	♣A 3

South wa. declare at seven no-the club queen. A cinch are 12 trump. The west opening lead was tricks. But a 13th trick looks hopeless. So, the only chance is a squeeze of some style.

South won the first trick with club ace, followed with dummy's heart ace and the spade ace and king. Then he got into his own hand again with a small dummy diamond to his ace.

Thus was founded the double Vienna coup. East was now spoiled to the best outstanding spade. West was spotted to the best unused diamond. Then south proceeded to put the squeeze on both.

Five hearts more permitted dummy to shed a club, a diamond, and all three of his remaining spades. This left each hand with no more than three cards; the best operating position for a squeeze.

South had left a tiny card in spades and hearts and clubs. Dummy had none the diamond queen and club king with small. West kept diamond king and two clubs. East clung to a top spade and two clubs.

The last heart was then led from south and the screws begin to turn on both opponents. West must hold diamond king against dummy queen. So, he gives up a club. Dummy diamond queen is flung.

Now, look at poor east. If he throws the spade queen, south's little spade is good. If east throws a club, both dummy clubs are good.

A player now and thenna duets off the old Vienna.

BANCROFT Minister Visits Village To Inspect System

BANCROFT — Minister of Municipal Affairs, the Hon. William Goodfellow, expressed himself as well satisfied with current progress, when he inspected the Madawaska Telephone Company's system on Thursday and Friday. Accompanying the minister on his two-day tour of the 250 square-mile-area serviced by the company were H. A. Rogers, O.B.E., chairman of the Ontario Telephone Authority; vice-chairman V. Flynn and Thomas Grindell, chairman of the Canadian Independent Telephones Association. Company superintendent Jim Ayres conducted the party through the area.

On Friday afternoon the officials were guests of the Bancroft council at a banquet, at which Geo. S. White, M.P., and the seven local wardens of the district were present. Reeve Theo. Tryon acted as chairman.

On completion of the company's program, the party got into his own hand again with a small dummy diamond to his ace.

Three of Five Households See Some Religious Program

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—A searching programa analysis of the general failure of organized religion to deliver its message effectively through television and radio is published today.

"The Television-Radio Audience and Religion" (Harper) bases its conclusions on the most comprehensive study of a major American city's viewing and listening habits ever undertaken. The city is New Haven, Conn., where a representative cross-section of five per cent of the population was interviewed.

The National Council of Churches of Christ, U. S. A., conducted the study under the supervision of Yale divinity school.

Here are a few specific findings of the study:

Religious programs tend to be sixth in popularity among audiences, but TV stations grant only one per cent of total time to such fare.

Of 3,500 families interviewed only one person said he was brought into a church through the direct influence of a radio or TV program.

Today's radio and TV communications has placed the church in a new kind of culture, the study points out. Television cannot be ignored by the church. It can, indeed, be used. But attempts by religious groups to imitate existing program concepts have generally been ineffectual. A profound reappraisal of the problem is necessary, including such a matter as training clergymen to be more aware of the new communications media in relation to their church policies.

The study concludes:

"The closest parallel (to television) in recent church history would seem to be what has been known as mass evangelism. Most of the pitfalls of mass evangelism apply also to radio and television: the temptation to use spectacular methods; the tendency of the least stable members of an audience to be most responsive; the advocacy of simple techniques as a substitute for long and sometimes arduous struggle for basic changes in life style; the reduction of the infinite variety of Christian life to a stereotypical least common denominator. . . .

"There is not as yet on the horizon of religious broadcasting the program that will compare in 'success' with the mass evangelist of earlier days. The danger is that there will be. The danger is that some creative genius will develop a program that is so 'successful' by the standards of the commercial users of the media that the fundamental purposes of the Christian church will be ignored or denied . . .

"And the sobering fact is that too many church leaders interviewed in this study seemed to be looking for this kind of program—'the answer to (Bishop) Fulton Sheen'—rather than planning a much more diversified, if less dramatic, ministry through radio and television to the varieties of human souls that inhabit this country."

AT THE McCARTHY — Sexy Jane Russell has her hands full fighting off admirers in the CinemaScope Technicolor musical "Gentlemen Marry Brunettes", which will open Thursday at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre through United Artists release.

Sport in Brief

WAS GLUE CANDIDATE

LEICESTER, England -(AP)— Polonius, nine-year-old jumper who was almost sold to a glue factory last year, will start in the Grand National Steeplechase next March if all goes well. The horse won his fifth race of the season Monday, and owner Mrs. Colon Hallstone said he would be entered for the world's toughest steeplechase at Aintree next March.

Hallstone decided to sell Polonius to a horse butcher 18 months ago because the horse was repeatedly lame. Mrs. Hallstone demurred, so he sold the horse to her for $70. She nursed him back to health.

LITTER IS COSTLY

VANCOUVER (CP) — Cost of cleaning city streets after the Grey Cup parade and the subsequent celebration Saturday night is estimated at $2,000, Urban Nelson, the city's litter controller, said Tuesday. He said 93 men who followed behind the big parade collected 16 truckloads of litter.

SNOW CANCELS BOUT

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The 10-round heavyweight bout at Memorial Auditorium scheduled for Tuesday night between Paul Andrews of Buffalo and Bob Satterfield of Chicago has been postponed because of Buffalo's heavy snow storm. The bout will be held next Tuesday, Dec. 6.

JEFFCOAT RETIRES

CHICAGO (AP)—Relief pitcher Hal Jeffcoat, 32, traded Monday by the Chicago Cubs to Cincinnati for catcher Hobie Landrith, announced his retirement from baseball Tuesday. He said he felt it "would be unfitable for me to pull up my roots and leave Chicago. I will remain here and continue in the insurance business."

TO WRESTLE AGAIN

TORONTO (CP)—Dick Huffman, a star lineman with Winnipeg Blue Bombers, and a former professional wrestler in the United States, will re-enter the wrestling field early in January promoter Frank Tunney announced Tuesday night.

Huffman, a 260-pound, six-foot 2½-inch tackle, now is in Florida training for the East-West all-star football game here Saturday.

Carlyle Mitchell Importer As Well as Character Actor

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Carlyle Mitchell is a man with a double life. One day he runs a million-dollar import business. The next he's a successful character actor in movies and television.

And let he be accused of taking jobs from actors, he has brought actors into his own business—with amazing success.

Mitchell has made more from the uranium boom than most prospectors. One of his products is a toy geiger counter that won a top prize among 16,000 entries in the national toy show.

BIGGEST KICK

But Mitchell will put his thriving enterprise aside whenever he gets a call from his agent to play in films. Such is the lure of grease paint.

"I must admit," he smiled, "that I get a bigger kick out of acting than anything else I've ever done."

He has been acting for less than two years. It happened by accident. A friend asked him to take the stage manager's role in an amateur production of "Our Town," which was put on for a March of Dimes benefit. Mitchell did it.

An actor who met the Hollywood drama school said Mitchell had promise, offered him the producer's role in a local production of "The Big Knife." This brought him to the attention of producers, directors and agents, and the jobs started coming in.

25 TV FILMS

In a year and a half, Mitchell has performed in 26 TV films and nine features, including "A Man Called Peter." "There's Always Tomorrow" and "The Eddy Duchin Story." It's a tribute to Mitchell's type casting that he often plays businessmen, doctors, lawyers, FBI men, doctors, generals, etc.

"One or two incidents gave me the notion that there might be some resentment over my taking parts from actors who might need them," he remarked. "So I hit on the idea of bringing actors into my company.

"It has worked out beyond my expectations. I find that actors are great salesmen, and naturally so—they have had the hardest selling job: selling themselves. Some of them are now earning as high as $2,000 a month. So you can see I'm happy not only for them, but for what it has done for business."

TIME OFF

"It's such a pleasure to see them come in here, beaten and discouraged from trying to make a living from acting, and then see them return after three months of selling, enthused and alive. For the first time they know some security.

"But we have an understanding in the firm—wherever an acting job comes in, they can take time off for it." That includes the boss, too.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Thurs., Dec. 1, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Today it would be well to check and double-check before starting out on anything. Before making decisions, plans etc. There could be hidden pitfalls which, with care, can be avoided.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — You may have to double effort, watch your answers and take criticisms gracefully now. P.M. configurations are more auspicious. Wait matters out if necessary.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Much introspection as well as much materialism is not wise. Be as careful in your thinking as in your actions. Avoid that sharp retort.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — You can profit by heeding advice to natives of Gemini now. Don't let your imagination or feelings run away with you. Determine your course calmly and review plans occasionally now.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Watch out for unethical ideas and people. Do not brag, flattery, too much praise. Additional study and research may be needed to bring desired gains now.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — With your knack for seeing ahead and judging right from wrong you can progress considerably now, this day should be productive, satisfying.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Avoid impatience, impulsiveness and strain now. Also anything else your intelligent mind cautions against. Listen the FIRST time; heed good advice.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Your planet Mars wars against scattering your energies. Rather, consolidate efforts for better, bigger returns in the future.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — A fairly good outlook for well-handled and well-planned programs, business, trading, banking. Sound investments could bring returns eventually, avoid speculative ventures.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Think about pleasant things as you go about daily chores. Disposition and attitude ARE big factors.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Ask for favors—but tactfully, deferentially and with good humor. And don't be disappointed at refusal or indifference; they are inevitable some days.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—You may have to work harder, have less time for recreation now but the rewards will be well worthwhile. Meet day's demands fearlessly, keep pace with events and don't take first objections as final.

You born today have many talents with which to attain lasting success, and you can achieve even late in life. Your ability to think clearly and act quickly, plus your fine insight equips you for leadership, organization work or a professional life. You should derive much from athletics, work with civic organizations; could excel in investment brokerage, politics, law, real estate, scientific research, religion. Likely faults; hasty answers, a blunt manner which you really don't mean and jumping at conclusions.

CUT OFF WRONG FINGER

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP)—Mrs. Lily Patten has won £2,500 in damages from a surgeon who cut off the wrong finger after the middle one was crushed in a press at the factory where she worked. Dr. B. H. Colman admitted in court Tuesday that the mistake in amputated the little finger of the same hand instead of the injured digit.

HAS REASON FOR LAMENT

Loudly and tearfully, this Chinese woman bemoans her fate after losing all her belongings in a fire that wiped out the squatter colony in which she lived on the outskirts of Hong Kong. The fire was one of three that razed two colonies within two days, destroying hundreds of homes and killing several persons. (Central Press Canadian.)

POLICEMAN DISARMED BY RIOTERS

Demonstrators grab a policeman's rifle during a series of riots in Bombay, India's second largest city. At least 13 persons were killed and 250 hurt. The violence was a protest against the decision of the central government to make a separate state of Bombay and to split the state of which it is capital into two separate states at the same time. (Central Press Canadian).

Leads Rescuers Merry Dance Amid Hydro Wires

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—An unidentified man who set among high tension wires atop a hydro pole for two hours dived into a fireman's net Tuesday.

Firemen rushed to the scene and had the power shut off when the man refused to come down. He thwarted rescue attempts by pushing away the ladder whenever a fireman approached. When an aerial ladder was put into action the man darted to the top of the pole.

As the ladder swivelled to a new position the man leaped onto some lower wires where he dangled 25 feet from the ground.

Finally, a fireman reached out from a ladder and broke the man's hold. He plunged into the net.

Toronto Firemen Save 2 Children

TORONTO (CP)—Firemen early today carried two children from their beds after smoke and flames trapped them in the rear of an east-central house.

Five adults and four other children also were taken from the house.

Mrs. Monro Algiers said her children, Donald, 4, and Beverly, 6, were trapped after flames suddenly broke out while she was in another part of the house. The father was at work, she said.

No one was injured in the fire, which broke out in a pile of papers.

BANDITS ROB TRUCK

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters) — A traffic policeman fought a running gun battle here Tuesday with bandits who held up a government truck during a traffic jam and fled with 1,750,000 pesos (about $100,000) The bandits got away.

Illinois Girl, 16, Shows Best Steer At Chicago Fair

CHICAGO (AP) — A 998-pound Aberdeen Angus steer shown by Nancy Turner, 16, Champaign, Ill., farm girl, Tuesday won the grand championship steer award at the International Livestock Exposition.

A junior yearling shorthorn shown by the University of Kentucky won the reserve grand championship.

Nancy's victory marked the third successive time that a girl has carried off the show's top award. Janice Hullinger, 17, of Manly, Iowa, won it last year. Sue White of Big Spring, Tex., was the 1953 winner.

Nancy, a bespectacled redhaired girl of 110 pounds, has been a 4-H club worker for eight years. Her sister, Joan, 13, also a 4-H club member, had the champion steer carcass at this year's show.

Both Nancy's steer and her sister's carcass winners were bred and raised on the 320 - acre Turner farm, about a mile north of Champaign. The elder Turner has a herd of 25 purebred Aberdeen-Angus cows.

LINEMEN KILLED

PUEBLA, Mexico (AP)—Seven telegraph linemen were killed by electric shock Tuesday when a cable they were working on came into contact with a high voltage electric line.

New 'Bath' of Ultra-Violet Light Used to Kill Virus in Vaccine

DETROIT (AP)—Development of a mechanical sterilizer which kills virus in vaccine with a "bath" of ultra-violet light was announced today by General Motors Corp.

At the same time Parke, Davis and Co., Detroit pharmaceutical firm and one of the major producers of Salk polio vaccine, said it already is using four such purifying units in an effort to produce a more-potent polio vaccine.

GM described the device, known as a "centri-flimer," as "highly effective." The company said it has been used successfully in purifying blood plasma, rabies vaccine and ACTH, a substance used in treatment of rheumatic arthritis and allergic eye and skin conditions, as well as in sterilization of a serum claimed to have wiped out an epidemic of hoof-and-mouth disease in Mexico.

Parke-Davis officials declined to comment on their tests with the centri-flimer on polio vaccine until extensive experiments are completed. They said they have not been using the device on Salk vaccine.

GM said medical experts believe that the centri-flimer will make possible many new vaccines. Among those now under experimentation are vaccines for the common cold, mumps, measles, tuberculosis and vaccines against the viruses causing shingles and other nerve diseases.

SOLDIER DIES

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Arthur Joseph McGarr, 57, long-time regimental sergeant major of the Lincoln and Welland Regiment, died here Monday night. He retired from the regimental post in 1951. He was a native of Niagara Falls, Ont. Survivors include his widow and a son.

Crown Witness In Murder Trial Freed of Bigamy

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) Donald Berry, 36, a key crown witness in the Sommerville murder trial here in September, Tuesday was acquitted of bigamy.

Magistrate W. O. Langdon dismissed the charge after defence counsel contended Berry did not know his first wife was alive when he married his second wife in 1954.

Berry was a witness in the trial of Marjorie Sommerville, 35, convicted of manslaughter in the death last summer of Caroline Mary Simmonds, 28.

Miss Simmonds died in a fire which destroyed a house in which she had been living with Berry and Miss Sommerville. Miss Sommerville said she set fire to the building but was unaware that the other woman was inside. She is serving a sentence of two years less a day in reformatory.

The crown charged Tuesday that Berry had gone through a form of marriage with Annie Palumbo in Korah township in 1954 while already married. He had married Eliza Jane Poore in Wharton, Ont., in 1924 and had one child.

Mrs. Eliza Berry, who now lives in Owen Sound, identified Berry as the man she had married in 1924. She said she had lived together until about December, 1926.

Armless Motorist Caught Speeding At 106 MPH

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—An armless motorist arrested after what undersheriff Clinton E. Haugh said was a wild chase of speeds up to 106 miles an hour said Tuesday "the officer must have got the wrong driver."

Edward Ernest Higgins, 29, of Pueblo, said he will fight charges of speeding and reckless driving "because they are untrue."

Higgins, born without arms, drives with his feet in a car equipped with automatic transmission and power steering. He said he uses his left foot for braking and accelerating.

"I worked too hard and too long to get a driver's licence to jeopardize it by breaking traffic laws," he said. He told reporters he has been driving since he was 13. He said his licence tests have been harder than the ordinary tests "because the state wanted to be certain I can handle a car."
